Background:

This collection came to the DAR Library from the National Genealogical Society in 2004. No further information is known about this collection.

Scope and Content:

The Matherly Collection is a collection comprised of the research materials compiled by James Matherly. It contains research correspondence, genealogical research summaries, and research documentation. The surnames that this collection focuses on are the Matherly family, the Tadlock family, and the Haddleston family. There is a robust collection of death records. Sometimes it is not clear how some of the records connect with the whole of the collection. The Matherly Collection is arranged broadly by document type: first is correspondence, then research, and last proof documents. This collection may have been rearranged before coming to the DAR Library and while at the DAR Library.

Subject Terms:

Matherly family.
Tadlock family.
