[1] It will be observed from the foregoing and Article IV, section 4, of the by-laws, that in order to facilitate the organization and extension of the society in all the states and territories of the Union, two methods of forming chapters are allowable under the constitution.

One method authorizes twelve members of the society living in one locality to come together to form a chapter and elect a regent, secretary, registrar, treasurer, other officers, and, if desired, a local board of management.

The other method contemplates the selection and appointment by the state regent (or in states that have no state regent, by the vice-president-general in charge of organization) of chapter regents, to whom authority is given to form chapters in given localities, and to appoint officers for those chapters for the first year.

Both methods are legitimate and consistent with the spirit of the constitution. Twelve members in both cases must be obtained before the chapter can be organized. No one shall be a member of more than one chapter at the same time.

SEC. 4. The sum of three dollars, covering initiation fee and the annual dues for the current year, must accompany each application presented to the national society direct. The sum of two dollars, covering the initiation fee and one-half the annual dues for the current year, shall accompany each application forwarded to the national society, through any local chapter.

SEC. 5. A member who shall remain in arrears for dues for three months after notice of her indebtedness has been sent her may be dropped from the rolls by the board of management; but no one shall be dropped until after two notices of arrears shall have been given her.

WORK OF THE SOCIETY AS A WHOLE.

PART I.

WORK OF THE SOCIETY AS A WHOLE.

The year which has elapsed since the close of the last report has demonstrated the strength and utility of our organization in an unusual degree. The increase of our numbers has been most gratifying. A membership of 18,000 was reported at the continental congress of 1897; at that of the congress of 1898 the estimated number was 23,000.

The admission of new members and the formation of new chapters has gone on steadily. Throughout the year there were organized 70 chapters, which, in addition to the 374 already existing, increases the number of these centers of influence to 444. The roll of new chapters is given on subsequent pages.

The library has grown slowly, but in directions of great usefulness. All additions which do not supply the needs of the registrar or the historian have been avoided, for the limited space at our disposal forbids the gathering of a general collection at the present time. The whole number of printed books is 1,125; of which 816 are bound, 309 are unbound. Besides these there are under the care of the registrar, 129 volumes, containing the thousands of application papers, a priceless and unique collection.

Our publications continue as heretofore. The American Monthly Magazine has nearly completed its thirteenth volume as this report closes, and has attained a much wider circulation than it had last year.

The Lineage Book has just reached its seventh volume, and is growing in favor among genealogists and librarians.

The financial condition of the society is prosperous. At our congress of 1898 the reported balance was $38,090.44, of which $29,810.74 belongs to the permanent or building fund, which has been accumulating since 1891, and is destined for the erection of a memorial hall. This will, at the same time, be a home for the society and a monument to the men and women of the Revolution. The itemized report of the treasurer-general will be found below:

SERVICE MEDAL.

LOVING CUP.

Given to Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Just a week before the congress of 1898 assembled the whole country was thrown into a ferment of amazement and grief by the destruction of the battleship Maine while in Havana harbor on a mission of peace. As the delegates hurried together from different states many were ready for almost any action which should be a protest against the outrage and should throw the influence of our large membership into the scale for war. Yet wiser counsels prevailed. It was felt that our very strength forbade any hysteric or inconsiderate action; that it was better to wait until the sober thought of the Government should determine the best method of redress; and that our efforts should be directed toward preparation for those emergencies of camp and hospital which womanly foresight assured us would call for womanly assistance. All expressions of sympathy with Cuban independence; all demands for vengeance; all resolutions voicing the feeling of hostility toward Spain were therefore withheld, and despite the anxiety which weighed heavily upon every heart the congress proceeded in orderly fashion. The minutes show no trace of the suppressed feeling except in resolutions of sympathy for the families of the men of the Maine. Routine business, reports of officers and committees, elections, and the consideration of amendments to the constitution occupied most of the session. But one evening was devoted to the presentation of the medals (Plate 1) ordered by the congress of 1897 for Miss Eugenia Washington, Miss Mary Desha, Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, and Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood. They were presented by Mrs. William Lindsay "in recognition of the women who commenced the great movement which the Daughters of the American Revolution hope to continue till the love of liberty and country shall animate every American heart." The ceremonies were made more impressive by thoughts of what might be in store for the society and for the country before another congress should convene.

At this congress a loving cup (Plate 2) was presented to the retiring president-general, Mrs. Letitia Green Stevenson (Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson), in recognition of conscientious and unswerving fidelity to the duties of her office.

When the national board of management met on April 26, 1898, war had been declared between Spain and the United States, and the society was at last free to act. Every member was eager to do something to help the Government. Yet the experiences of the war of 1861–1865 had proved that in any emergency indiscriminate effort is a hindrance rather than a help.

The following resolutions were therefore passed:

Resolved, That the board of management of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, desire to express to the President of the United States their earnest wish to be of all possible service to the Government and to our soldiers and sailors in the prosecution of the present war against the kingdom of Spain.

Resolved, That we recommend that the members of our society in every portion of the Union take immediate steps to the end that we be ready to serve our country in this grave national crisis.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be delivered to the President, with the assurance that the members of our society are ready and anxious to do everything within their power to support and assist him in the great and responsible work with which he is charged and ready and willing to respond to any suggestions he may be pleased to make.

The following reply was received.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, April 30, 1898.

DEAR MADAM: The President has received a copy of the resolutions recently adopted by the board of management of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is much gratified by this patriotic expression of support and good will.

In the President's behalf I beg that you will accept, for yourself and the members of the board, the assurance of his sincere appreciation of these resolutions.

Very truly, yours,

JOHN ADDISON PORTER,
Secretary to the President.

Mrs. MARGARETTA FRYER MANNING,
President, etc., Washington, D. C.

The limitations of our constitution prevent the board from using the funds in the treasury for anything but the current expenses of the office. No financial help could, therefore, be given to any relief work, however patriotic. Fortunately, one of the vice-presidents-general, Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, had so early as April 24 formed a plan whereby the society might render to the Government a service more valuable than contributions of money and at the same time gain for the trained woman nurse an official status and recognition not yet granted by the United States. Through the foresight of George M. Sternberg, Surgeon-General of the army, permission for the employment and pay of women nurses in the army had been obtained in April from the United States Congress. Hundreds of applications for such service were pouring in upon the Government from every side. They could receive no attention in offices already overwhelmed with the preparation of war material, equipment, supplies, and transportation. It was evident that the examination and sifting of this mass of applications from women nurses would be of real service to the Government. Dr. McGee therefore offered a resolution, which, as adopted by the board, reads as follows:

Whereas the Daughters of the American Revolution are the descendants of ancestors whose first duty and pleasure was to serve their country in the hour of its need and whose historic deeds they desire to emulate: Therefore,

Resolved, That the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution does hereby express its desire to render aid and support to the army and navy in any way acceptable to the military and naval authorities.

Resolved, That the president-general be requested to appoint a war committee which shall report promptly a practical plan for carrying into effect these resolutions.

In accordance with these resolutions a committee was appointed and letters were sent to the Surgeons-General of the army and navy. That to the Surgeon-General of the army reads as follows:

The national board of management representing the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution has the honor to submit for your consideration the following proposition, and hope that it will meet with your approval and sanction:

At the present time (and we hope indefinitely) the admirable corps of male nurses which has been trained under your direction, aided by newly enlisted trained nurses, will suffice for the needs of the service, but if the war is severe or long continued, it is possible that the employment of female trained nurses, especially in hospitals, will become necessary. To meet this condition, the national board of management of the Daughters of the American Revolution, an organization of 23,000 women, living in every state and territory and including a number of physicians and experienced nurses, proposes to form a corps of able trained nurses, from which you can select any number as needed, with the assurance that they will accept an appointment and respond to orders without delay.

The society would therefore be glad to receive from you a statement, as above suggested, of the standard of training, age, etc., which you may see fit to establish, or to consult with you on that subject. No woman will be placed on the list of the society except such as conform in all respects to that standard, and for whose good character and general ability some

D. A. R. shall be held responsible. In other words, members of our society who are unable to participate in person will be given an opportunity for representation in the army or navy by some substitute in whose good and faithful service they will be directly interested. In those instances, doubtless rare, where a nurse who wishes to volunteer is not acquainted with any "Daughter," members of the committee to be appointed for that purpose will make careful inquiry concerning her before enrolling her in the corps.

If it should be your desire, the society is willing to add to the above proposal the offer to examine into the qualifications of any or all women who may make application to you for appointment as nurses.

In whatever it undertakes in this direction, however, the board is desirous of confining its work strictly to what has your sanction, and can be carried out under such orders as you may give us. Therefore any change in this proposal which you may suggest will willingly be made, and if you wish to confer with the undersigned chairman of committee, she will hold herself in readiness to meet you at your convenience.

The society understands that no appointment of women as nurses in either army or navy can be made without authority of law, but it is ready at any time should you desire to assist in explaining the need of legislation to the Congress.

Since it is the wish of the board to cooperate with both the military and naval branches of the service, a communication of similar tenor is sent to the Surgeon-General of the navy.

The letter sent to the Surgeon-General of the navy was of similar tenor.

The answers to these two letters will be found in the following circular, which was at once issued to all state and chapter regents:

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

WAR CIRCULAR.

To Daughters of the American Revolution:

During the present war between the United States and Spain the services of women will doubtless be needed by the medical departments of the army or navy, and this need will afford opportunity for those Daughters of the American Revolution who desire to imitate the worthy example set by illustrious ancestors, to aid their country in a practical and effective way. At this early stage in the conflict it is impossible to estimate the extent of service which patriotic Daughters can render, or the number of volunteers required to meet the exigencies of modern warfare during an uncertain period. Much will depend on the length and severity of the conflict; but it seems desirable that the Daughters, like their husbands and sires and sons, should be prepared for emergencies.

The needs of the country and the eminent fitness of our society to aid in meeting them have been fully recognized by the national board of management. At the April meeting of the board the issues were discussed, and it was decided that, while the giving of aid and support to the families of soldiers and sailors would be an appropriate duty for chapters, it is fitting that the national society should cooperate with the national military and naval organizations, on whose success an honorable termination of hostilities must depend.

In accordance with this conviction, the board appointed a special committee, consisting of Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, chairman; Mrs. Russell A. Alger, Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, Mrs. George M. Sternberg, Mrs. Charles O'Neil, and Mrs. Charles H. Alden.

The committee proceeded to formulate a plan of work in accordance with a proposition made at the board meeting, and with the view of rendering the plan practical and immediately available they submitted it to the Surgeons-General of the army and navy. Replies were received from these officers, as follows:

BUREAU OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY, NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Washington, D. C., April 28, 1898.

ANITA NEWCOMB MCGEE,
Chairman of Committee of National Board of Management of National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

MADAM: The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy Department heartily approves of the proposition of your committee to form a corps of able trained nurses, from whose number competent nurses may be promptly detailed for such service as may be required in caring for the sick or wounded during the present war.

The standard of competency of these nurses will be left entirely to the discretion of your committee. The Bureau places the same reliance on your judgment as it does on your patriotism, and it rests assured that a manifestation of the same loyalty and the same zeal in good works will be shown in the labors of your committee as was shown by your ancestors, whose never-failing support and devotion sustained the courage of their husbands and brothers in the struggle of the nation for independence.

Very respectfully,

W. K. VAN REYPEN,
Surgeon-General, United States Navy.

WAR DEPARTMENT, SURGEON-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, April 28, 1898.

Dr. ANITA NEWCOMB MCGEE,
Chairman, etc.

MADAM: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 27, and to reply as follows:

I have received a large number of applications from trained nurses and other patriotic ladies who are willing to serve as nurses, but have been obliged to answer all of these offers to the effect that no trained nurses are needed at present, and I am uncertain as to what our requirements may be in future. It is not my intention to send any female nurses with troops to Cuba, and in case we have a number of general hospitals established I expect to depend principally upon our trained men of the Hospital Corps for service as nurses in the wards. I should, however, be glad to avail myself of the services of a certain number of trained female nurses for the care of special cases, and for the preparation and distribution of special diet in the hospital wards. I appreciate very highly the offer of the national board of management of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and am quite willing to turn this whole matter over to your committee, giving you the applications now on file and those which may hereafter be received, and allowing you to select proper persons for the service required in case I have occasion to call for the assistance of trained female nurses.

In this case I would expect you to anwer all letters of inquiry and to keep a list of eligibles from which to make your selections in case of a call from me. This list need not be a long one, and it is desirable that those selected should be from different parts of the country. Residents of Washington should not have a preference in this selection over those of other cities. As a rule, I think it would be better to have women of not less than thirty and not more than fifty years of age. They should, of course, be able to present proper testimonials as to training, capacity, and character. No special legislation will be necessary in order to make appointments if the services of female nurses are required. The compensation will be $30 a month, with board, and lodging accommodations in the hospital where this is practicable.

I shall be glad to confer with your committee at any time, and remain,

Very respectfully, yours,

GEO. M. STERNBERG,
Surgeon-General, United States Army.

At a later session the board adopted the plan reported by the committee and indorsed by the medical departments of the army and navy. And they now have the honor to submit it for the patriotic consideration of all members of the D. A. R.

1. The organization shall consist of a working corps, with a central body of officers in communication with the medical departments of the army and navy, the whole to be designated the "D. A. R. Hospital Corps."

2. The corps may comprise two classes, viz, corps members and volunteers.

3. The corps members must be Daughters, and may serve in person (if qualified) or by substitute.

4. The volunteers must be trained nurses or hospital assistants, and may either be Daughters or substitutes vouched for by Daughters with respect to their good character, trustworthiness, and general ability.

5. The personal qualifications of volunteers shall be determined by the officers of the corps.

6. Corps members incur no financial responsibility unless by voluntary arrangement.

7. Accepted volunteers must hold themselves in readiness to accept the appointment and respond to orders without delay. Transportation from their homes will be furnished by the Government.

The officers appointed by the national board are: director, Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee; assistant directors, Miss Mary Desha, Mrs. Francis S. Nash; treasurer, Mrs. Amos G. Draper.

Headquarters will be the same as the national society, 902 F street, Washington, D. C.

Further information and form of application for volunteers will be furnished on application to the director.

All State and chapter regents are invited to advise the members of their chapters of this action of the board and to organize committees immediately to cooperate with the director in strengthening the D. A. R. hospital corps.

As the board is not empowered to make expenditures except for ordinary current purposes, the sum required for stationery and postage of the corps is met by private subscriptions, and small contributions (not over $5) will be received by the treasurer, and accounted for to the national board.

By order of the board:

ALICE PICKETT AKERS,
Recording Secretary General.

APRIL 30, 1898.

The result of this circular will appear in the report of the chapter work.

Work at headquarters now began in earnest. The surgeons-general of the army and of the navy turned over to the D. A. R. hospital corps the applications received from nurses, the number of which in the course of the summer approximated 4,600. There were letters from eager and romantic girls and from aged matrons who had served as nurses in the war of 1861. Some appealed to the President, some to the Secretary of War. Some had sufficient knowledge to direct their application to the Surgeon-General. But their fitness for work ended there. A smaller number showed regular hospital training and service. Every one of these thousands of applications was examined, numbered, and filed in alphabetical order. Those which mentioned hospital training were answered by the following letter, and the name of some local D. A. R. whose indorsement would be valued by the hospital corps was inserted.

D. A. R. HOSPITAL CORPS.
For service in the Army and Navy of the United States,
Under the auspices of the
NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION,
902 F street N. W., Washington, D. C.

ANITA NEWCOMB MCGEE, M. D.,[1]
Vice-president-general.
Assistant Directors,
Miss MARY DESHA,[2]
Honorary vice-president-general,
Mrs. FRANCIS S. NASH,[3]
Ex-vice-president-general.
Treasurer,
Mrs. AMOS G. DRAPER,[4]
Ex-treasurer-general.

DEAR MADAM: Your application of recent date has been received. All applications from women for hospital positions, whether addressed to the Surgeon-General or to the director of the D. A. R. hospital corps, are placed on file in this office.

The reserve list is composed, however, only of those who have had hospital training and who answer satisfactorily to the inclosed questions. Nurses who receive appointment in the army must be between thirty and fifty years of age. They will be paid railroad fare to the place of duty and $30 a month with board. If practicable, lodging will be given, but other expenses must be met by the nurse.

Women may later be appointed to shore duty in the navy, but no provision has yet been made therefor.

Indorsements as to good character and general ability should accompany the application, and it is requested that, if possible, such indorsements should include one from some Daughter of the American Revolution.

[1] Daughter of Simon Newcomb, U. S. N.
[2] One of the founders of the society.
[3] Wife of Dr. Francis S. Nash, U. S. N.
[4] Wife of Prof. Amos G. Draper, of Gallaudet College.

With this was inclosed the following card to be filled out and returned:

CARD.

Name in full?

Address and nearest telegraph station?

Do you desire appointment in Army or Navy?

How soon after receiving an appointment can you leave home?

Have you had yellow fever?

Are you a graduate of a training school for nurses?

If so, what school and what year?

What other hospital experience have you had?

Have you nursed continuously since graduation?

If not, what has been your occupation?

What experience have you had in invalid cookery?

What is your age? Date and place of birth?

Color? Height? Weight?

Are you single, married, or widowed?

Are you strong and healthy, and have you always been so?

Have you a tendency to any disease?

Have you been successfully vaccinated, and when?

When the application cards came in with such indorsements as were furnished by the nurses, the superintendents of the hospitals at which they had trained were appealed to for an opinion as to the merits of the applicants. This immense correspondence was in charge of Miss Mary Desha. To facilitate ready reference, application cards were kept separate from other papers in the case, and on the backs of the cards were noted the names of the persons indorsing the applicants. None but graduates from training schools for nurses or from medical colleges were considered eligible. A physician's certificate that the applicant was in good health and strong enough for army duty was required.

When the Surgeon-General received a call for nurses he sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps for them. The desired number was selected, and their names and addresses sent to the Surgeon-General's Office. Up to the end of July that office sent to the nurse her contract, orders, and transportation, on receipt of which she proceeded to her destination.

The first call for nurses was received from the Surgeon-

General of the Army May 7, 1898, and within a few days four women nurses were on their way to the general hospital at Key West. The names of this advance guard of the regiment of nurses were as follows: Miss Margaret E. Shaffer, Miss M. Agnes Lease, Mrs. Johnetta Sanger, and Miss Alice Patton Lyon.

During May, June, and July the hospital corps experienced no difficulty in supplying promptly all calls, the total number of nurses selected during that time being about 100. During August, however, the great epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in the camps throughout the United States, and the demands for nurses came in ever increasing numbers. By the beginning of September, in spite of the thousands of applicants, the nurses on the eligible list had practically all been appointed, and it became very difficult to secure suitable women for the duties required of them. The delay of a week or two in the arrival of a nurse, which was occasioned by the official necessity of preparing her papers and mailing them to her, had always been a source of much annoyance and distress at the army hospitals. In order to avoid this a society in New York, the Red Cross Society for the Maintenance of Trained Nurses, auxiliary No. 3 to the American National Red Cross relief committee, offered to pay the traveling expenses of nurses that they might respond to a telegraphic order from the D. A. R. hospital corps without waiting for the contract and the transportation order to be executed and mailed. The offer was accepted by the D. A. R., and hundreds of nurses were ordered in this way during the month of August.

After September 1 the Quartermaster's Department refunded traveling expenses when telegrams were signed by the director of the hospital corps or order.

By arrangement with the Surgeon-General and with the director of the D. A. R. hospital corps, nurses indorsed by this branch of the Red Cross and by other societies sent in their applications through the hospital corps, made the usual contracts with the Government, and were regularly assigned to duty like the others, and $5,425.80 were placed at the disposal of the treasurer of the hospital corps by this Red Cross auxiliary to pay for their transportation to the front as soon as possible. Toward the end of August there were nearly 1,000 nurses in the army but the supply was inadequate for the enormous demand. It then became necessary to accept a number of nurses from several sisterhoods, and about 250 of these noble women were enrolled. This was effected mainly through the invaluable assistance of Miss Ella Lorraine Dorsey. The Sisters of Charity furnished 199; the Sisters of Mercy, of Baltimore, furnished 13; the Sisters of the Holy Cross, 12; the Sisters of St. Joseph, 11; the Congregation of American Sisters, made up of Indian women from South Dakota, furnished 4; the Protestant Sisters of St. Margaret furnished 2. The Episcopal St. Barnabas Guild Club also furnished quite a number. These were all accepted and were under contract and received pay like the other nurses. But individual applications were filed for all, through the D. A. R. hospital corps.

The correspondence involved in all this was enormous and could never have been accomplished but for the willing service of devoted friends who proferred help.

On September 7 the director of the hospital corps was appointed as Acting Assistant Surgeon in the army, and was assigned to duty in the Surgeon-General's Office, where she now has the supervision of matters pertaining to women nurses in the army. About the same time the following letters were received from the Surgeons-General of the army and navy, giving to our society an honorable discharge from the duty we had undertaken:

WAR DEPARTMENT, SURGEON-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, September 7, 1898.

DEAR MADAM: I desire to express to you and to the members of your committee my high appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered me in the selection of trained female nurses for duty at our general and field hospitals. The results have been entirely satisfactory, and I have received most favorable reports with reference to the value of the services of the trained nurses selected through you. The demand for nurses is probably about over, and in my opinion you could now discontinue your labors in this direction without injury to the service. I will therefore make other arrangements for the selection of female nurses if more should be required, in order that you may be relieved from the arduous labors which have occupied your time so completely during the past four months. I desire to express my sincere thanks to you and to each member of your committee for your patriotic and unremitting efforts and for your valuable assistance in enabling me to provide for the care of our sick soldiers.

Very truly, yours,

GEO. M. STERNBERG,
Surgeon-General United States Army.

Dr. ANITA NEWCOMB MCGEE,
Director D. A. R. Hospital Corps,
902 F Street N W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. D., September 14, 1898.

DEAR MADAM: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th instant, with reference to the custody of the papers relating to the trained female nurses who have recently been on duty at the Naval Hospital, Norfolk, Va., as well as the applications forwarded you from this office, and in reply I have to state that the Bureau does not desire the return of any of these records, such disposition to be made of them as in your judgment may be most desirable.

In this connection the Bureau desires to convey to you, and through you to the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, its thanks for the able assistance rendered the Department in the selection of trained female nurses for duty wherever their services have been required.

Their work has been unremittingly and intelligently performed, and has contributed largely to the comfort and welfare of the sick and wounded officers and men of the Navy, wherever they have been employed.

Yours, very sincerely,

M. VAN REYPEN,
Surgeon-General United States Navy.

ANITA NEWCOMB MCGEE,
Acting Assistant Surgeon, United States Army,
Director D. A. R. Hospital Corps,
902 F Street, Washington, D. C.

In the report of the Surgeon-General of the Army to the Secretary of War, made November 10, 1899, he says:

Most of the female nurses employed were selected by this committee (i. e., the D. A. R. hospital corps), with the exception of those immune to yellow fever, who were recruited in New Orleans and other Southern cities, and a few who were enrolled at Montauk Point, L. I., and Jacksonville, Fla., by the chief surgeons at these places. A number of patriotic societies offered to provide the hospitals with nurses, but the committee referred to answered its purpose so well that I did not feel the need of additional assistance, and was relieved from what would otherwise have been a serious responsibility.

A list of nurses sent under the auspices of the society will be found in Appendix D at the end of this report.

In addition to the work of selecting the nurses the hospital corps undertook to supply each one who enlisted under its auspices with one dozen aprons. Miss Desha took charge of this work, and under her direction more than 12,000 aprons were made by the Daughters throughout the Union, and presented to the nurses.

The supervision of cutting other garments, the distribution of their making to the needy wives of soldiers, the furnishing of patterns to distant chapters, and all the correspondence with regard to hospital supplies devolved upon Mrs. Draper, the treasurer of the hospital corps.

The selection of nurses did not, however, satisfy all the patriotic desires of many members of the society. They wished to aid their country in other ways. In response to this desire, the national board of management adopted new resolutions and ordered them sent to all our members in the form of a second printed circular as follows:

WAR-FUND RESOLUTIONS.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

At the regular May meeting of the national board of management the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas the President of the United States and the Surgeons-General of the army and navy have recognized and approved the action of the national board of management at its regular meeting, April, 1898, in placing the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the service of the Government; and

Whereas the efforts of the D. A. R. hospital corps have met with marked success, and found a cordial response in every section of the society; and

Whereas the efforts of the hospital corps have quickened the desire for further work in this hour of our country's need; and

Whereas we are informed that the time is approaching when a large amount of money will be needed for special demands, from sickness and other causes, consequent upon this struggle by sea and by land: Therefore be it

Resolved, That in addition to the work of the D. A. R. hospital corps, every chapter and member at large of our National Society D. A. R. be requested to aid needy families of men who have gone to the front, and to furnish comforts for soldiers and sailors, whether regular or volunteer.

Be it further resolved, That all members of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution are strongly urged to immediate and united action for the accumulation of a large sum, to be used in response to emergency and exigency calls, such as are attendant upon the conditions of a nation engaged in warfare, and in furtherance of this purpose we would recommend that the interest of all patriots be invoked in raising this fund, to be known as the "D. A. R. war fund."

Be it further resolved, That a war committee, composed of the members of the national board of management, with the addition of Mrs. George M. Sternberg, Mrs. Charles H. Alden, Mrs. J. C. Breckenridge, Mrs. A. W. Greely, Mrs. Philip Hichborn, and Mrs. Elizabeth Blair Lee, be formed. That the treasurer-general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution be elected treasurer of the war fund, and that the funds be disbursed by a subcommittee, under the authority and direction of the war committee.

Be it further resolved, That we advise the raising of such an amount as will be commensurate with the spirit and aims of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The result of this circular will also be noticed throughout the report of the chapter work.

By the kindness of the Washington Loan and Trust Company, in whose building the headquarters are located, an additional room for the hospital corps was furnished free of charge, and all the rooms assumed the character of a storehouse, where supplies of all sorts were received and shipped by the two committees. The hospital corps was at work daily from 9 a. m. until after 6 p. m. from the last of April until September 6. A subcommittee of the war committee met weekly, from early June until late in November, and money and goods were received in large quantities and distributed wherever there was a known need. As so many of the committee were wives of those directing the affairs of the nation, the opportunity for knowing and meeting any need was naturally very great. The final report of the war committee shows $335 sent to the Surgeon-General of the navy for use on the hospital ship Solace; $335 sent to the Surgeon-General of the army for use on the hospital ship Relief; $200 sent to the Sternberg hospital, Chickamauga Park; $100 to the hospital at Camp Wikoff; $510.99 to the diet kitchen at Fort McPherson, Ga.; $200 contributed for car and milk tickets for sick and convalescent soldiers near Washington; $100 for a sterilizing apparatus for the Massachusetts hospital ship Bay State.

A steam launch painted in the colors of our society and bearing the initials D. A. R. on the bow was purchased at a cost of $2,500 and presented to the hospital ship Missouri in the name of the society. (Frontispiece.)

The surgeon in charge of the Missouri, writing on September 6, says:

"The launch proved of the very greatest utility in bringing our sick on board. The surgeons at Santiago were very anxious for me to leave the launch behind, but, though they needed it very badly, I hesitated to do so, as it may be needed on my arrival.

"We put all the recumbent patients in the launch on litters, and towed those able to sit up in the ship's gig behind. (Plate 3.) In this way we transferred 106 patients from the shore to the ship in an hour and three-quarters.

"Yours, very truly,

"WILLIAM N. ARTHUR,
"Surgeon in Charge, Missouri."

The summer's work shows more clearly than ever before the advantage of working "along the lines of least resistance." Our society was organized for patriotic work long before the war was considered. Hundreds of chapters with regularly elected officers, in as many different localities, were all ready for work, and city officers and common councils turned to them as the natural channels through which to send relief. The splendid response of the chapters as shown in the report of the chapter work must be consulted to realize the magnitude of the war relief work of the D. A. R.

Our printed directory, containing the name and address of every member, enabled each to communicate at need with any other without loss of time, and in perfect confidence that the response would be as immediate and patriotic as the appeal. The wives and mothers at the North and West could send supplies for their boys at the Southern camps, sure that the boys would receive them from hands as sympathetic as their own.

The chapters at Atlanta, Jacksonville, and Chattanooga had but to send their appeal and the answer was returned in clothing and supplies, all along the line of communication, as fast as the telegraph and express could fly.

The feeling of helplessness among these mothers and wives was lightened a little by the busy work of their fingers. Each had personal interest in the nurse whom she recommended, for possibly the life of her own son might depend on that nurse's faith or unfaith.

That few perfunctory "recommendations" were given this summer is shown by the high character of the service rendered.

Another pleasant feature of the work has been the interchange of friendly services between our own and other societies engaged in relief work. Our chapters along the Pacific slope gave their help through the American National Red Cross. In Rhode Island we have acted with the Sanitary and Relief Association. At Chickamauga and Philadelphia the National Relief Commission found our word good for any help, however arduous. In Massachusetts the Volunteer Aid Association had its most loyal support in the Daughters of the American Revolution, while the work of the Woman's National War Relief Association was organized by one of the founders of our society, and $27,253.30 or about half its funds came from the purses of Daughters of the American Revolution.

STEAM LAUNCH D. A. R., LOADED WITH SICK AND WOUNDED MEN.

In preparing this report it has been necessary to review the reports of many of these associations to verify details, and it has been most interesting to note many names of our best-known members on the rolls of donors to each of these noble works of humanity. They generally appear only as individuals, not as Daughters of the American Revolution. Their relation to our society is therefore not apparent under these conditions, but the fact remains that their devotion to the D. A. R. made them ready for any work that needed to be helped, and they gave to all as they had opportunity.

When the rush and hurry were over and peace restored to the land, the following official letter was received from the Secretary of War, thus placing the final seal of the Government upon the work begun by our society under its direction.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington, July 25, 1899.

MY DEAR MRS. MANNING: Before leaving the office of Secretary of War I wish to extend to you the thanks of the War Department, as well as my own personal appreciation, for the work performed by the ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the care of our sick soldiers during the late war.

Your knowledge of the work of mercy that you and your organization have carried out should be a life-long gratification to you, and will be, I am sure, as thoroughly appreciated by the American people as it is by the sick soldiers who received the kind ministrations at your hands.

Sincerely, yours,

R. A. ALGER, Secretary of War.

MRS. DANIEL MANNING,
President General Daughters of the American Revolution, 153 Washington Avenue, Albany, N. Y.

The total amount received by the treasurer of the war fund was $5,441.59, and the amount expended for relief work was $5,371.37, leaving an unexpended balance of $70.22 remaining for future emergencies.

In addition to the cash received and expended, a summary of the articles received and distributed by the war committee shows twenty-two large consignments of food, clothing, bedding, and literature, numbering in all 3,057 articles.

The summary of the hospital corps work gives 53,373 garments received and distributed, together with tons of food supplies of all sorts, the value of all the goods being estimated as between $55,000 and $60,000. The cash received and expended by the hospital corps was $3,520.79, in addition to the amount received from Auxiliary No. 3 of the Red Cross for the transportation of nurses. (See page 54.)

This brings the relief work of the society at headquarters up to the following totals: Garments and food supplies 56,030 articles, valued at more than $60,000; cash, $8,962.38. Nurses supplied, 1,081.

The following accounts give the receipts and expenditures of these two committees in detail:

PART II.

WORK OF THE CHAPTERS.

PART II

REPORT OF CHAPTER WORK PREVIOUS TO OCTOBER 11, 1898.

The following report of chapter work is not entirely complete, since it has been impossible to obtain all the statistics. Many chapter officers have been prevented by illness or other causes from sending their reports until too late to be included in this summary. The excellent work of some chapters must be also omitted, because they have been so absorbed in the doing that no time was spent in keeping a record which could be sent to headquarters. Reports have, however, been received from the majority of the chapters, and these have been epitomized.

The stated number of members in each chapter is based upon the last report in June, 1898, as published in our directory. The membership is reported three times yearly—in November, February, and June. The June record is therefore the last one that could be given, and in most cases the numbers are probably not so great as the present membership.

The work has been arranged by states in alphabetical order, and the chapters are catalogued in the same order under the states. This is thought to give the best possible view of the work and to show the relative amount done in each state.

In reviewing that work it will be seen that it has been limited to no one line of activity; nor have the members cared who received credit if only aid were given where needed.

It has therefore been a work of no little difficulty to disentangle the records and to give each chapter its proper showing. In compiling the work references have been made, as far as possible, to direct reports from the chapters concerned. But state regents' reports and reports made by national officers have been compared with these. In many cases these two accounts have been compared with the reports of other organizations and verified. What one lacked the other would supply. Missing links have thus been fitted into place, and it is hoped that few errors appear. In covering so large a field it is, however, possible that some mistakes have escaped notice. If such should prove to be the case, they should be called to the attention of the compiler, in order that they be corrected in the report for next year.

ALABAMA.

Although the chapters in the state are few and the membership small, yet the women have done what they could.

Andrew Jackson Chapter, of Talladega, 14 members, contributed to the fund for removing to a more suitable place the bodies of soldiers killed in 1813 in the battle of Talladega. This chapter has memorialized Congress to erect a monument over these soldiers. A medal has been given in the public school and a contribution was sent for the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm, the home of George Walton, a Georgia signer of the Declaration of Independence.

General Sumter Chapter, of Birmingham, 30 members, sent a large box of hospital supplies to Fort McPherson, Atlanta, Georgia. Individual members assisted in nursing and caring for the sick soldiers brought home from Florida. Contributions have been made for the Meadow Garden Farm, in Augusta, Georgia, and to the war fund of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

By advertising in the newspapers throughout the state the graves of several Revolutionary soldiers have been discovered by the state regent, a member of this chapter. A picture of one of these, that of Capt. William Armistead, in the family burial plot in Clark county, will be found on plate 5.

Light Horse Harry Lee Chapter, of Auburn, 16 members, sent a box of hospital supplies to Fort McPherson, and assisted the other women of Auburn in putting up boxes of supplies for the soldiers stationed at Mobile. A contribution has been made for the Meadow Garden Farm fund, a medal has been given for excellence in history to one of the public-school pupils, and books of reference have been placed in the school library. A collection of relics has been begun.

Martha Wayles Jefferson Chapter, of Opelika, 15 members, contributed to the relief funds of the National Society, to the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm and to the fund for Lieut. Richmond Pearson Hobson. The chapter offers a medal for the best essay on American history written by a pupil in the higher grades of the public schools.

Peter Forney Chapter, of Montgomery, 15 members, was not organized until May, but began work at once by making aprons for nurses in response to a request of the D. A. R. hospital corps. The members also cooperated with other women of the city in caring for sick and needy soldiers. A handsome flag was presented to the city high school.

In towns where there are no chapters many members have been found who worked for the sick soldiers "single-handed and alone," and were so busy doing their duty that they forgot to make any record.

ARKANSAS.

When the call for war work came, the Little Rock Chapter, of Little Rock, 33 members, and the unorganized chapters of the state had adjourned for the summer. Those who remained at home, however, were earnest workers for the 2,000 Arkansas volunteers stationed at Little Rock. At least half of the members of all relief committees were Daughters of the American Revolution. Two days' rations were provided for these 2,000 men when they started on the journey to camp at Chickamauga Park. When sickness broke out among them, the Arkansas "Daughters" at home were foremost in raising funds for relief, while those away from home lent a hand to similar work wherever they were sojourning. The state regent, Mrs. Frederick Hanger, is a member of Little Rock Chapter.

CALIFORNIA.

California Chapter, of San Francisco, 39 members, since its organization in 1896 has followed a systematic course of study in American history, and has sent a contribution to the Meadow Garden fund. Like many other chapters in the West, it contributed its quota for relief work through the state branch of the American National Red Cross during the war with Spain, $125 being its subscription. Calls for assistance from many other organizations have also met with a ready response.

Eschscholtzia Chapter, of Los Angeles, 28 members, has found its greatest strength in cultivating the social side of our organization. Papers on political and educational subjects connected with American history have, however, occupied a large portion of each meeting, and general discussion has followed.

During the war the majority of the members united their efforts with those of the American National Red Cross through the state branch.

Oakland Chapter, of Oakland, 26 members, organized an independent society of the Red Cross on April 25, 1898, through the influence of the registrar. As the membership is small, it was later decided to unite with the Oakland branch of the American National Red Cross, then in process of formation. The registrar was made chairman of the ward promoting committee, which was of great assistance in interesting the citizens of the different wards in the work. Half the money in the treasury ($20) was devoted to the project, and work began at once. Two "Daughters" were Red Cross directors. One kept the daily records of meetings held at headquarters, and the other, as chairman of the enrollment committee, secured, in little less than two months, the names of 1,236 members, which, of course, meant $1,236 in the treasury. Another chapter member was chairman at headquarters, and, assisted by two others, had charge of the hospital stores and funds contributed. Two members were untiring workers on the literature committee, distributing reading matter to the soldiers encamped in California, and sending more than fifty large cases of books and magazines to those at Manila.

The chairman of the Red Cross badge committee was a chapter member, and another was prominent in the sewing department. One member kept a record of the Oakland boys who enlisted for Manila, a work valuable for future reference. Two others took charge of the social department, where the giving of "teas" netted several hundred dollars. Still another gave personal service in the hospitals. When a state society of the Red Cross was formed, a month after the Oakland society was in full operation, one of the members of the Oakland Chapter, D. A. R., was elected second vice-president of the California Red Cross. A special feature of her work was the identification medal given to 10,689 enlisted men going to the Philippines. In case of severe wounds, or death it will be possible by this means to identify many a man who might otherwise bear only a number on some hospital register, or fill a nameless grave in some distant jungle. This lady also gave largely of time and money for a home for convalescent soldiers. Thus a "Daughter" was first to take action in forming a Red Cross society in Oakland, and 15 members out of a chapter of 26 held positions of trust and responsiblity, and made possible the successful work of another society. In addition to all this service a number of boxes of books were sent to the regular troops in Alaska, at the request of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Santa Ysabel Chapter, of San Jose, 18 members, retains in its name the appellation bestowed by the old Spanish padres upon the mountains known now by the prosaic title of the Coast Range. This chapter has also made the social and educational part of our work its chief feature, since California has no spots of Revolutionary interest nor even the unmarked grave of a single Revolutionary soldier. Interest in the patriotic anniversaries has, however, been fostered in every way, and all possible effort has been made to familiarize the events of our early history. All this tends to unite the citizens of the West with those of the East by the bonds of a common ancestry and destiny.

In the early summer of 1898 the chapter met to make many comforts for the soldiers; afterwards many of the "Daughters" became members of the Red Cross Society, and worked to advance its interests. The regent of the chapter was vice-president of the San Jose branch. She received into her own home many of the convalescent soldiers, and nursed them back to health.

Sequoia Chapter, of San Francisco, 94 members, the mother chapter of the state, has paid special attention to securing proper respect for the flag of our country. It has also induced the city board of education to set apart the last Friday of each month as "Patriotic Day," for the holding of patriotic exercises in the public schools of San Francisco city and county. Cooperating with the Sons of the American Revolution and other kindred societies, the chapter has caused the 19th of April to be made a legal holiday in the state, and known as "Patriots' Day." Over $100 were contributed to the fund for the portrait of Mrs. Caroline Scott Harrison, and $200 to the Mary Washington monument. Pictures of this monument and of the portrait were included in the report of 1890–1897. Mention was then made of a liberty tree and an historic arch of trees planted by this chapter in 1894 and 1896. But pictures of these interesting memorials were not obtainable until that report went to press. They are therefore inserted here. (Plates 6, 7.)

The members are enthusiastic in preserving the traditions of the past and have established a chapter room for their meetings at 1620 California street, in which are gathered many interesting relics of the past, from a lantern like that of Paul Revere to an old mirror which did service in Salem, Massachusetts, in 1698. A list of these treasures will be found in Appendix A.

During the war the chapter was the first organization in the state to offer its services to the American National Red Cross Society in response to the call of Governor Budd, on April 25, 1898, and $650 were added to the funds of that organization.

One of the members, the president of Mills College, opened her beautiful home for convalescent soldiers, and the pupils of the college furnished a hospital room in the name of Sequoia Chapter. Another member gave $100, furnished entirely a room in the convalescent home, and a bed for another room. One member provided 30 dozen eggs for the soldiers, another, living out of town, supplied 750 dozen eggs during the summer, and a third collected 10,000 periodicals for the departing soldiers.

The state regent, Mrs. Virginia Knox Maddox, is a member of this chapter.

COLORADO.

Zebulon Pike Chapter, of Colorado Springs, 49 members, took the initiative in the war relief work in the state early in May, 1898, and raised a considerable sum of money, part of which was sent to the Red Cross committee at New York and the rest expended for the Colorado soldiers stationed at Manila. In July, when the distress became greater and the services of all loyal women were needed, this chapter organized Auxiliary No. 43 of the American National Red Cross, the regent being president and the other officers members of this chapter. This was the only auxiliary in the state. $1,945.17 was the total money raised. Thousands of soldiers in transit to the West and to Manila were provided with reading matter, food, and comforts for the journey, and hundreds of hospital garments and supplies were sent on the transport ships to the Philippines. Calls for help from Santiago to Manila, from Camp Thomas to Camp Merritt, have met with a ready response, and the ladies are still continuing the work. Large and frequent mails are sent to the soldiers over sea, and $2,500 has been raised for this work.

CONNECTICUT.

"On May 9, 1898, the state regent sent to each chapter regent in the state a circular letter requesting reports of the amount of money or kind of supplies that could be furnished by each chapter, should an appeal for help come from the headquarters of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution or from other responsible sources." The response was instant, enthusiastic, and generous. There was not a break in the ranks. "Every chapter was ready to justify by word and deeds its right to our name." "Each chapter reported the kind of work it could undertake, and a large amount of money was at once pledged to the state regent, to be called for as needed and expended by her for such relief measures as should be indicated by the Medical Department of the army and navy, under whose direction the society had been placed at the outbreak of hostilities."

The chapters generally pledged but a part of the money raised by them, and kept the balance to purchase material which was afterwards made into hospital necessaries and forwarded to one of the four shipping stations, under the care of a committee which represented two counties. The goods were then repacked in quantities desired and forwarded directly to the point indicated by the surgeons. In this way a duplication of orders was avoided, and the precise articles needed were placed where they would do the most good. Through these distributing stations 26,388 articles are reported as having been forwarded. But quantities of other serviceable things were distributed through individual channels, of which no record was kept. The cash reported as sent to the state regent amounted to $3,513.18.

The amount of money and supplies sent in response to the call of the state regent does not, however, by any means cover the sum total secured through the efforts of these chapters and individual members. In addition to the supplies sent to the D. A. R. shipping stations the chapters in Bridgeport, Fairfield, Southport, New London, and Norwich made direct contributions of garments and supplies for the sick soldiers transferred from Camp Wikoff to the hospitals in these towns.

Abi Humaston Chapter, of Thomaston, 16 members, furnished for the relief of the soldiers shirts, slippers, towels, bands, and like comforts to the number of 105, besides magazines and money.

Abigail Phelps Chapter, of Simsbury, 57 members, contributed for service of the soldiers shirts, pillowcases, bands, pajamas, sheets, towels, and other necessaries to the number of 883 pieces, with 105 magazines and $33.40 in cash.

Abigail Wolcott Ellsworth Chapter, of Windsor, 24 members, placed a flint bowlder, suitably marked, on the site of the first English settlement in Connecticut. Part of the Plymouth Colony landed here in 1633. (Plate 8.)

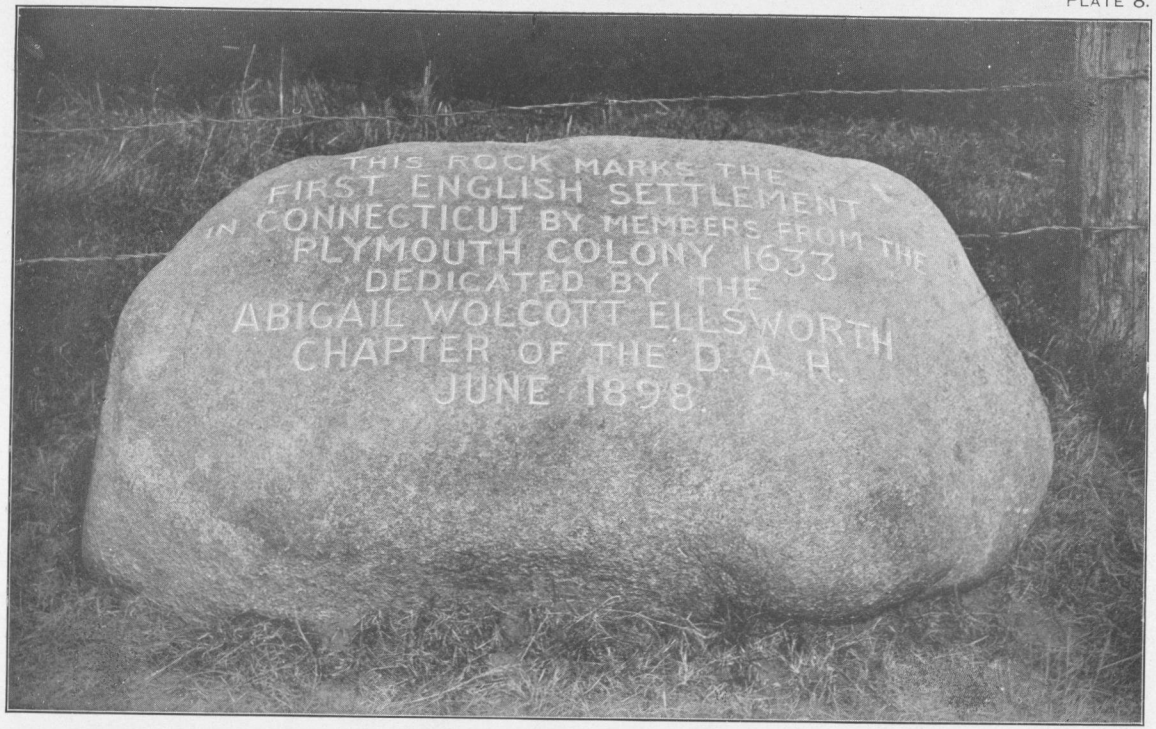
During the war 25 nightshirts and $10 in money were contributed by this chapter.

Anna Warner Bailey Chapter, of Groton and Stonington, 136 members, furnished 232 articles for the relief of the soldiers. The chapter is now preparing to raise the roof and make other improvements in the old monument house at Groton, mentioned in last year's report.

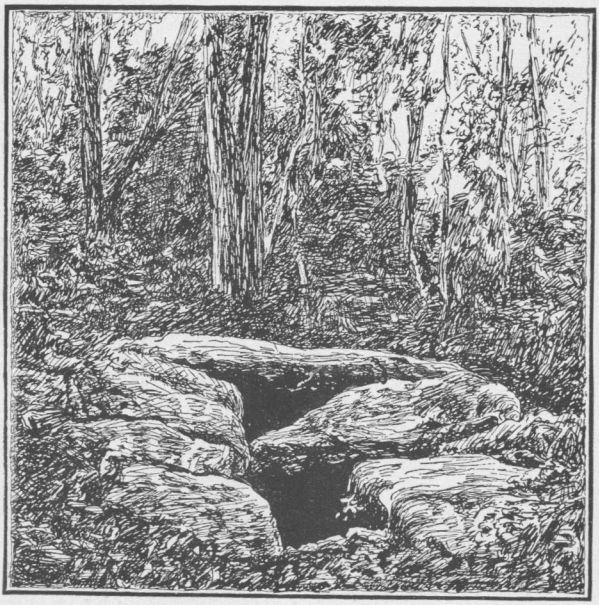
Anne Brewster Fanning Chapter, of Jewett City, 16 members, sent shirts and slippers for hospital use to the number of 40, besides a contribution of money.

Anne Wood Elderkin Chapter, of Willimantic, 58 members, furnished 101 articles for the soldiers and $85 in money.

It has contributed $50 to the purchase of the Putnam Wolf Den, at Pomfret, and has given prizes in the high and grammar schools for the best essays on historic subjects. Its present work is the raising of funds to erect a memorial stone for the soldiers of the Revolution buried at Windham.



MEMORIAL STONE, PLACED BY ABIGAIL WOLCOTT ELLSWORTH CHAPTER, WINDSOR, CONN



PUTNAM WOLF DEN, POMFRET, CONNECTICUT.

Deborah Avery Putnam Chapter, of Plainfield and Moosup, 18 members, gave a prize in the public schools for the best historical paper. In January, 1898, $20 were sent to the Elizabeth Porter Putnam Chapter for the purchase of the Wolf Den property. Two hundred pairs of slippers and 300 other articles were furnished for the soldiers.

Dorothy Ripley Chapter, of Southport, 52 members, furnished 264 garments for hospital use, besides 1,000 packages of tobacco, 1,000 pipes, envelopes of newspaper clippings, 8 books, 100 Testaments, and $144 in cash, and quantities of medical supplies sent to Fairfield (Conn.) Hospital.

Elizabeth Clark Hull Chapter, of Ansonia, 97 members, provided 100 beds, besides bands, nurses' aprons, and pajamas to the number of 445, with 2 barrels of literature and $35 in cash.

Elizabeth Porter Putnam Chapter, of Putnam, 76 members, named for the mother of Gen. Israel Putnam, purchased in October, 1897, the Wolf Den property, in Pomfret, Connecticut, the scene of the general's famous exploit with the wolf. (Plate 9.) The tract forms a beautiful forest park of 80 acres, and it is the intention of the chapter to improve and beautify the grounds and to make them accessible to the many visitors who wish to see the historic spot.

During the war the chapter has provided 243 articles for the comfort of the soldiers.

Emma Hart Willard Chapter, of Berlin, 21 members, sent 37 garments and a box of literature for the boys in camp.

Esther Stanley Chapter, of New Britain, 76 members, has as its historian Mrs. William F. Brooks, who has compiled the records of Farmington, Conn., from the original documents, which were fast being obliterated by time.

During the war this chapter provided at least 237 articles for soldiers' use and $150 in cash.

Eunice Dennie Burr Chapter, of Fairfield, 31 members, has renovated the old burying ground of the town. An old powder house of the Revolution located at this place and long fallen into decay, has been repaired by this chapter, and will be marked as a monument.

For war relief the chapter sent 274 pillowcases, towels, slippers, and rubber blankets, besides $75 in cash and medical supplies, to Fairfield Hospital.

Faith Trumbull Chapter, of Norwich, 116 members, is raising a fund for a building suitable for chapter meetings and for the preservation of relics.

The war contribution was 306 articles for the comfort of the soldiers, besides two cases of reading matter and a sum of money. To this were added fruit, delicacies, and magazines for the 30 soldiers from Montauk Point who were cared for at the Backus Hospital, Norwich.

Fanny Ledyard Chapter, of Mystic, 81 members, contributed to the soldiers' welfare 149 articles and some money.

Freelove Baldwin Stowe Chapter, of Milford, 73 members, planted in 1897 a flagstaff from which a flag floats constantly through summer's sun and winter's snow. As fast as one flag is torn to shreds it is replaced. The staff marks a signal station known in Revolutionary times and called "Hog Rock," because a party of young men playing "ye shuffle board" on Sunday in colonial times were here interrupted by his satanic majesty in the shape of a hog. It is now known as "Liberty Rock." Another staff and flag marks the site of old Fort Trumbull, at the mouth of the harbor. This was erected by the owner of the cottage on the site in deference to the wish of the chapter. A tablet is to be placed here by the chapter.

Year by year a generous sum has been given to the Continental Memorial Hall, and a contribution has also been sent to the Putnam Wolf Den fund. A house where Washington once dined is to be marked in the near future, and Revolutionary graves are to be designated.

In relief for the soldiers 279 articles of clothing were made and sent and $40 given in cash.

Greenwoods Chapter, of Winsted, 34 members, made or collected 224 articles for the soldiers, besides sending a sum of money.

Hannah Benedict Carter Chapter, of New Canaan, 46 members, procured 181 articles for the benefit of the soldiers, and gave money and a box of magazines.

Hannah Woodruff Chapter, of Southington, 37 members, gave 286 articles for hospital use, besides wine, a box of books, and $130 in cash.

Judea Chapter, of Washington, 21 members, furnished 461 articles, in addition to pins and tobacco.

Katherine Gaylord Chapter, of Bristol, 100 members, continues its work on the "Hill Green" of Revolutionary fame, and will erect a monument there.

Prizes have been given to pupils in the graded schools for the best historical essays, and a shelf in the public library holds the nucleus of a chapter collection of Americana. Funds are being raised for the care of Bristol's historical relics.

During the war a ton of reading matter was sent to the soldiers and sailors in Manila, Porto Rico, and Cuba, and subscriptions to current magazines.

Finding the old burial place of the town in a state of neglect, the chapter secured from the city authorities an appropriation of $200 for improving it, and a standing committee has the matter in charge.

Ever since October, 1894, the chapter has been working to raise a memorial to Nathan Hale, the patriot spy, and if possible to purchase the old schoolhouse where he taught.

A contribution of historic metal was given to the Columbian Liberty Bell, earth was sent for the Sequoia Chapter tree planting, and money was given for the portrait of Mrs. Harrison and for the John Winthrop monument. Contributions have also been made for the wounded soldiers in Cuba, for the Putnam Wolf Den, and for the Continental Memorial Hall fund. The beginning of a chapter library has been made.

Lucretia Shaw Chapter, of New London, 147 members, is named for a noble woman who gave her life in caring for the fever-stricken prisoners returning from the British prison ships in Wallabout Bay, N. Y.

During the summer a trained nurse was sent to the front, $25 were paid to another nurse to care for soldiers passing through the city, $10 were given to the Board of Trade to buy food for soldiers at the railroad station, and $100 were sent to the state regent for the Connecticut hospital ship. Bands, handkerchiefs, pajamas, pillows, shirts, towels, underwear, 964 articles in all, and $75 in money were sent to the soldiers. Besides this, garments, money, and delicacies were provided for the soldiers at New London Hospital.

Mary Clapp Wooster Chapter, of New Haven, 208 members, has given $50 toward the purchase of "Wolf Den," at Pomfret. Nearly 2,000 garments and other needed articles were given for the relief of the soldiers. One member was a nurse on the hospital ship Relief and received from the chapter an outfit costing $50. The fund in the hands of the state regent for war purposes received $310 from this chapter.

The state regent, Mrs. Sara Thomson Kinney, is evidently a favorite member of this chapter.

Mary Silliman Chapter, of Bridgeport, 176 members, placed a metallic wreath at the grave of Mary Silliman, in Wallingford (Conn.) cemetery, on Memorial Day, May 30, 1898. The cemetery at Stratfield has been placed in the care of the chapter and the stones are being straightened and cleaned and the grounds put in order.

For war relief this chapter gave 75 articles for soldiers' use and $61 to the fund in the hands of the state regent, besides direct contributions to Bridgeport Hospital.

Mary Wooster Chapter, of Danbury, 96 members, gave 54 pajamas, 32 nightshirts, 117 bands, and $115.18 to the care of the state regent for war relief.

Mellicent Porter Chapter, of Waterbury, 100 members, gave garments and other articles, numbering 297 in all, besides matches, stationery, pencils, whisky, cordials, crackers, tobacco, pipes, needles, thread, old linen and cotton, $25 for a nurse's outfit, and $39 sent for distribution by the state regent. Miss French, one of the members, was a Red Cross nurse.

Norwalk Chapter, of Norwalk, 116 members, furnished 371 garments for soldiers, besides 2 barrels of apples for Fort Wadsworth, 3 large cases of books, games, etc., 2 rubber bath tubs, and $126.50 for distribution by the state regent in war relief.

Orford Parish Chapter, of South Manchester, 33 members, has marked the graves of 10 Revolutionary soldiers. Three hundred and eighty-four garments for the use of soldiers were given during the war, and $10 to the state regent.

Putnam Hill Chapter, of Greenwich, 28 members, was named in commemoration of the hill down which Gen. Israel Putnam took his famous ride. Several of these ladies are charter members of the George Washington Memorial Association. Patriotic exercises have twice been held in the public schools at the request of the chapter.

During the Spanish war, 388 articles were given for soldiers' use, besides delicacies to the value of $25 for the hospital ship Relief, and $261 sent to the state regent for distribution.

The efforts of the chapter are now directed toward erecting on the brow of Putnam Hill a monument and tablet as a memorial to General Putnam.

Roger Sherman Chapter, of New Milford, 28 members, has placed on the outer wall of the Town Hall a handsome bronze tablet to the memory of Roger Sherman. The dimensions are 3 feet 3 inches by 2 feet 2 inches. Through the efforts of the chapter the town hall is now known as Roger Sherman Hall. The sum of $254.30 was sent to the state regent for war relief work. (Plate 10.)

Ruth Hart Chapter, of Meriden, 120 members, contributed 674 articles for soldiers' use, besides a medicine chest for Company L, First Connecticut Volunteers, and $50 for relief work in hands of state regent.

Ruth Wyllys Chapter, of Hartford, 200 members, continues its work of restoration in the old cemetery of the First church at Hartford. The tenement house property on Gold street, adjoining one side of the cemetery, has been purchased, the buildings torn down, and the street converted into a boulevard. The far-away descendants of many who lie in that cemetery have been interested in the work and have contributed funds for its continuance. The stones, when cleaned, and in many cases recut, have been treated with paraffin by the Caffal process to arrest further destructive action of the elements. (Plate 11.)

During the war, bandages and garments to the number of 2,473 were provided by this chapter, with 2 rubber bath tubs, 2 boxes of literature, and $255.

Sabra Trumbull Chapter, of Rockville, 29 members, contributed $32 for the benefit of the soldiers.

Sarah Ludlow Chapter, of Seymour, 60 members, gave $60 for the comfort of the sick and wounded.

Sarah Riggs Humphreys Chapter, of Derby, 125 members, has restored the old Colonial Cemetery of Derby from the most abject neglect to orderly respectability. (Plate 12.) Less than one-half of the 700 stones now in sight were visible when the work began in April, 1896. In grading the ground, stones bearing names long since forgotten by the living were brought to light from deep beneath the surface. It was necessary to consult the early town records in order to learn who these people were, and the part they played in the town's history. The ground was set apart for a burial place in 1660. The oldest stone deciphered with certainty is that of the town's first minister, Rev. John Bowers, who died in 1687. This stone was entirely covered with earth, having been broken at the point where it originally entered the ground. It has been inserted in a new block of granite, and is now secured against the ravages of time for many years to come. (Plate 13.)

The chapter is now having the early town records copied as fast as funds will permit, and expects to continue until the whole $500 necessary for the completion of the work is secured. The old leaves are so worn and fragile (Plate 14) that general use is almost impossible. Yet these records are constantly called for by people from many distant towns and states. When completed the work will be of incalculable assistance to all those who would know our earlier history.

During the war 100 pillows and $100.69 were given by this chapter for hospital uses at Chickamauga.

Sibbil Dwight Kent Chapter, of Suffield, 51 members, provided for the soldiers 1,036 garments, a box of magazines, and $50. Assistance in this work was given by many other women of Suffield.

Stamford Chapter, of Stamford, 80 members, provided 249 garments, soap, old cotton, box of literature, and $50.

Prizes are given to the pupils who pass the best examination in American history, on entering high school, and to the member of the graduating class who prepares the best essay on that subject.

Susan Carrington Clarke Chapter, of Meriden, 166 members, has located the graves of 98 Revolutionary soldiers. Seventeen "Real Daughters" are, or have been, members of this chapter. During the war, $40 was given in aid of the soldiers.

Torrington Chapter, of Torrington, 44 members, sent 139 nightshirts and $66 for the help of the sick and wounded.

Wadsworth Chapter, of Middletown, 91 members, has given a fine flag to the high school, and contributed generously to the Mary Washington Memorial Association, and to the portrait of Mrs. Harrison mentioned in last year's report. The restoration and inclosing of Riverside Cemetery has been the great work of this chapter, and is a splendid illustration of the power of united and persevering effort. During the war, 622 articles were given for the relief of the sick and wounded, besides a box of literature and $105.

DELAWARE.

While Delaware has but three counties, it has four chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Caesar Rodney Chapter, of Wilmington, 32 members, gave a prize in the high school for the best essay on the American Revolution, contributed $125 to the Delaware hospital, and another sum for the work of the society at headquarters in Washington. The state regent, Mrs. Elizabeth Clarke Churchman is a member of this chapter.

Colonel Haslet Chapter, of Dover, 20 members; Elizabeth Cook Chapter, of Smyrna, 18 members; and John Pettigrew Chapter of Milford, 15 members, contributed to the war work of the national society.

The four chapters in the little state, organized in May, 1898, the War Relief Corps of Delaware. Six boxes of hospital supplies were sent to Key West, Santiago, Tampa, Fortress Monroe, and Chickamauga, and barrels of books to southern camps, and another large box to the Twelfth Infantry at Camp Wikoff, in memory of Lieut. Clarke Churchman, who fell before El Caney. A large sum of money was also raised for the benefit of the destitute families of those who went into the service of their country.

Funds are now being raised for a monument to Lieut. Clarke Churchman, who was the only son of the state regent. The memorial is to be erected next year at West Point, New York.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Army and Navy Chapter, 68 members, has contributed to the Continental Hall fund, and to the relief of the families of those who perished in the explosion of the battle ship Maine. When war was declared this chapter took as its special duty the care of the families of soldiers and sailors of the regular service. A committee was appointed to organize a chapter relief society, and weekly sewing meetings were held throughout the summer. Intimate friends were invited to participate, and many contributions of money and material were promptly received. Three hundred yards of material, 50 new garments, and a large amount of partly worn garments were collected in this way, and $426.03 in money. During the summer 359 new garments, 200 second-hand garments, and $305.46 have been distributed, the money being spent chiefly for rent and daily bread for those whose husbands and fathers had been ordered to the front, many of them never to return. More than thirty families were assisted, living in Washington; at Fort Myer, Va.; Columbus, Ohio; Fort Clark, Tex.; Jefferson Barracks, Mo.; Fort Sherman, Idaho; Fort Keogh, Mont.; Fort Niobrara, Nebr.; Fort Thomas, Ky.; Leavenworth, Kans.; and Fort Brady, Mich. This relief work still continues, and assumes larger and larger proportions. As long as our troops are at war in the Philippines and on duty in Cuba, Porto Rico, and Hawaii, there will be destitute families to relieve, and widows and orphans to care for. Therefore the Army and Navy Chapter has taken up work which it can not lay down for years to come.

Columbia Chapter, 52 members, has done much work through individual members, in visiting the camps around the city and providing for the sick soldiers there. One member started and carried on for a long time a lunch room under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Soldiers walking into the city on leave from the camp could here find a comfortable meal free of charge, with writing materials and an opportunity to read and rest.

Continental Chapter, 62 members, contributed money to the D. A. R. hospital corps; to the D. A. R. war fund; to the Red Cross, and added fifty-four days of clerical work in the office at headquarters of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. One hundred and twelve articles were made for soldiers' use, and bedding, delicacies, books, and papers were carried to Camp Alger. The members then made, gave, or begged $150 in cash.

Dolly Madison Chapter, 60 members, published in 1894 a list, prepared by Mrs. A. Howard Clark, of those who took part in the original Boston tea party. It was entitled "Who were the Indians who emptied the tea?" and is a most useful book of reference. Miss Eugenia Washington, one of the founders of the society, has been a member of this chapter from its beginning.

The chapter has contributed money to the Continental Memorial Hall; to the D. A. R. hospital corps; to the Soldiers' Rest established in the city during the summer of 1898, and given clothing to the needy families of the soldiers on duty. Cash reported given by chapter for war relief, $59.

Elizabeth Jackson Chapter, 14 members, is but lately organized. It counts among its honored members Miss Mary Desha, one of the founders of the society, and assistant director of the D. A. R. hospital corps. Each member has been anxious to help during war time, and comforts for soldiers and nurses were provided by members of this chapter in abundance.

Martha Washington Chapter, 70 members, assisted the needy families of soldiers by employing the women to make up many garments for hospital use. The money given was thus made to do a double service, by feeding the hungry and thus enabling them to help in clothing their own destitute soldiers in the hospital.

Mary Washington Chapter, 200 members, the first chapter organized in the District, appointed, on May 20, 1898, a war committee, under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Marguerite Dickins,[1] to conduct relief work among the families of the District Volunteers gone to the front. This chapter was the first organization in the District to take up such work, and will not lay it down for months to come. All through the long summer these ladies traversed the hot city streets and the dusty roads of the camps, sparing neither time, thought, nor money in their efforts to assist the District militia and the soldiers' families left destitute through the unexpected delay in payment of the soldiers' monthly wages. With thoughtful sympathy the ladies have in every way tried to spare the feelings of those who have been forced to accept help, as this is not "a public charity, but only a slight exhibition of gratitude to the American soldier in our midst." Those who went to Cuba will not have to feel that the city has forgotten those they left behind.

The appeal of this chapter for help was answered by a generous subscription started through the "Evening Star," one of the local papers, and merchants, marketmen, landlords, and other citizens added handsome sums, knowing that these ladies would put the money to the best and most economic use. A total of $1,300 was thus placed at the disposal of the committee. In October the committee stated that for some time they had relieved 61 and fed 27 families, or 164 persons, paid $100 per month in rent for these same unfortunates, clothed at least 100 individuals, sent 5 families to the country for the heated term, and obtained work for as many more.

The committee has met each week to sew new garments and repair old ones donated. Each week they have personally done the marketing for their large family of helpless ones, in order to make the money go as far as possible and to provide the proper food. They visited the camps across the river in Virginia, and never went empty handed; milk, tobacco, pajamas, bedding, medicines, books, fruit, socks, were furnished in abundance to men in camp and to the "Soldiers Rest," where weary men passing to and from camp might stop for an hour's cool rest and refreshment, instead of going to a saloon. The regent of the District, Mrs. Simon Newcomb; Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, the director of the D. A. R. hospital corps; Mrs. Sarah H. Hatch, treasurer-general and treasurer of the war fund, and Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, editor of our magazine, are members of this chapter. Cash reported as given or raised by the chapter for war relief, $1,665.

FLORIDA.

As soon as war was declared the Jacksonville Chapter, 31 members, foresaw that their nearness to the scene of action would probably make their services necessary. Accordingly they prepared for emergencies by taking a course of lectures on the care of the wounded and proper diet for the sick. A woman's auxiliary association was formed which met weekly to sew for the soldiers. When the troops went to Tampa the goods in store were sent after the Florida boys every week. But when 20,000 troops were camped within the city limits the ladies found all they could do at home; sheets, pillowcases, nightshirts, mosquito nettings, soup, jellies, wine, flowers, and books were daily taken to the hospital, and the sick were helped and cheered in every way possible. The state regent, Mrs. John G. Christopher, is a member of this chapter.

This chapter and the Maria Jefferson Chapter, of St. Augustine, 15 members, are raising funds to restore the old gates of St. Augustine.

GEORGIA.

After the reception of the war circular from the headquarters of the national society, letters were sent by the state regent to each chapter in the state, asking cooperation for the relief of the soldiers and sailors. The sick soldiers at Fort McPherson were supplied with delicacies by individual members for a few weeks. When, however, that post was made a general hospital for the Department of the Gulf, the need of larger and united action was felt. A depot for supplies was furnished to this corps free of charge by the courtesy of the managers of the Austell Building, at Atlanta, and sewing machines and furniture were loaned by different firms. As this office was in the same building with the headquarters of the Department of the Gulf, the ladies could know exactly what was needed at anytime, and met the need at once. The rooms were open each day and a register of all articles donated was kept. Different ladies took turns in attendance. A sewing committee met daily for work at these rooms, and 186 garments were made by their hands. Supplies were carried to the surgeons at Fort McPherson twice each week, and 35 boxes and barrels of supplies were packed and shipped to other camps.

The report of P. J. A. Cleary, chief surgeon of the Department of the Gulf, made on August 10, 1899, at Atlanta, to the Adjutant-General, speaks of this work as follows:

> It is proper to call attention in this connection to the valuable services rendered by societies of ladies in aid of the sick. I refer to the Daughters of the American Revolution and Daughters of the Army and Navy League. Also to the Red Cross Society. There were branches of the first two named in this city, one presided over by Mrs. Porter King, the other by Mrs. Atkinson, wife of the distinguished governor of Georgia. Miss Junia McKinley and Mrs. Barnes, of the D. A. R., initiated the auxiliary or hospital branch of the society in this city, of which Mrs. Porter King was president.
> The Daughters of the American Revolution had rooms in the same building with department headquarters, and some of its members were in attendance daily. They had supplies of every description of food or clothing that sick men could need, and only required to be asked for what was needed; even the formality of a requisition was not called for. The chief surgeon, knowing the requirements of each camp and post, indicated what would be needed, and the articles were at once packed and turned over for shipment. Many of these articles were not on the regular supply list of the Medical Department. They were bountifully furnished and never seemed to tire the hands and patience of the noble ladies, who worked day after day, and month after month, and whose sole reward was the proud consciousness that they were benefiting the soldiers and sustaining the Government and their flag.

On August 6 a diet kitchen was established in one of the hospitals and a professional nurse and assistant were secured to superintend the preparation of all food, both for patients in the wards and for convalescents able to come to the dining room. Tickets designating the precise food to be administered were signed by the doctors and nurses, and given to the convalescent patients. On presenting these at the dining room, each man was served with the prescribed food by the ladies in waiting. An indiscriminate diet of so-called delicacies was avoided, and each man had that which was appropriate to his case. Three ladies were on duty each morning and three each afternoon. During the six weeks of its operation this diet kitchen furnished nearly 30,000 meals, at an expense of $1,367.19. The largest number of convalescents at any one meal was 100. This work, occupying as it did the entire time of many successive days, was very fatiguing, but the ladies in charge rendered their services with enthusiasm, "feeling it a great privilege to have been allowed to serve those who so much needed their ministrations."

On September 1 the National Society was unable to furnish any further help to the diet kitchen on account of the lack of funds, but it was continued by the ladies, through the request of the surgeon in charge, at his expense until September 17, when the reduced number of patients brought the work within the resources of the regular medical staff at the hospital.

In addition to this there was in Atlanta a branch of the Army and Navy League, organized by Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson, Miss Junia McKinley, and others, all of whom were Daughters of the American Revolution. This society was the largest relief society in the South, and expended $4,000 in relief of soldiers in camp and hospitals.

The same ladies composed the Atlanta committee of the American National Red Cross, and did much work through that organization. Another diet kitchen was established in August, 1898, at Camp Hobson, Lithia Springs, under the auspices of these ladies. This was continued until the troops were ordered north. In addition to the personal supervision of and labor in the diet kitchen there, Miss McKinley helped to nurse the typhoid-fever patients until trained nurses arrived in camp. So faithful and efficient were the services of this Georgia "Daughter" that the Red Cross has since presented her with the following certificate:

THE AMERICAN NATIONAL RED CROSS, WASHINGTON, D. C.—EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ROOMS, NEW YORK CITY.

This certificate is presented by the executive committee of the American National Red Cross to Miss Junia McKinley in grateful acknowledgment of her faithful, efficient, dignified, and painstaking services as agent of the Red Cross at the United States military camps, Lithia Springs, Ga., and vicinity during the war between the United States and Spain, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight.

Atlanta Chapter, of Atlanta, 119 members, is entitled to a large part of the credit due for the successful results attained by this war work, since Mrs. Porter King, state regent, Miss McKinley, and Mrs. Atkinson are members of this chapter, and all the others took part in the work.

With the other chapters of the State the ladies of Atlanta Chapter are now making special efforts for the preservation of the rare and invaluable documents in the archives of the state. The grand jury has been induced to recommend an appropriation for copying and publishing these treasures. When completed the work will be of incalculable assistance to students of our earlier history. Among the books is a very rare manuscript book of records, in which are inscribed in beautiful script many of the early treaties with the Indian tribes. Only about 400 of the original 1,414 pages of this book remain. Fifty dollars have been contributed by the chapter for copying these records, and another sum was given to the Continental Memorial Hall.

Augusta Chapter, of Augusta, 60 members, has for its special object the purchase and restoration of Meadow Garden, a spot closely connected with George Walton, one of the Georgia signers of the Declaration of Independence. The chapter has given to the Columbia Liberty Bell; to the Mary Washington Memorial Association; to the Georgia room at Mount Vernon. During the war literature and stationery were sent to the convalescent soldiers through the Georgia Army and Navy League.

Macon Chapter, of Macon, 38 members, gave $50 to the Continental Memorial Hall fund and prizes in the schools for essays on historic subjects. A beautiful copy of the Washington portrait in the Boston Athenæum has been given to the Gresham High School. This chapter aided in sending to Sequoia Chapter a young catalpa for the historic arch of trees at San Francisco.

Oglethorpe Chapter, of Columbus, 38 members, sent earth for the planting of Sequoia Chapter's liberty tree, and also contributed to the expense of sending the young catalpa for the historic arch of trees planted at Golden Gate Park.

The spot where Oglethorpe crossed the Chattahoochee River, on his way to Alabama to make the famous treaty with the Indians, has been located by this chapter and marked with an appropriate stone. (Plate 15.) The inscription is as follows:

The stone is located at the end of First avenue, formerly known as Oglethorpe street, Columbus, Ga.

Piedmont Continental Chapter, of Atlanta, 54 members, has contributed to the Continental Memorial Hall fund and to that for Meadow Garden Farm.

Pulaski Chapter, of Griffin, 15 members, gave money to the Meadow Garden Farm fund, and "contributed with enthusiasm to the Georgia Army and Navy League for the relief of the sick and wounded."

Savannah Chapter, of Savannah, 22 members, made a fine exhibit of Revolutionary relics at the Atlanta Exposition in 1895, and contributed to the Continental Hall fund.

During the war much money was raised by persistent efforts, to aid volunteer soldiers.

Sergeant Newton Chapter, of Covington, 12 members, offered a medal for the best essay on a colonial theme by any pupil of the Covington High School.

Wilkes County Chapter, of Washington, 15 members, is trying to preserve the public records, some of the oldest in the State.

Xavier Chapter, of Rome, 29 members, is named for John Sevier, the name being spelled as it was pronounced in his day. Fifty dollars were sent to the Mary Washington monument fund, $15 to the fund for Mrs. Harrison's portrait, $38 to the Woman's Club in this town, and other contributions to the National University and to the fund for the purchase of Meadow Garden. The largest and best work of the chapter was done during the present war. There was very little money in the chapter treasury at the beginning of hostilities, but an entertainment provided the necessary funds for purchase of material for soldiers' garments. A sewing circle, formed under the auspices of the chapter, met each week and made many garments.

HAWAII.

Aloha Chapter, of Honolulu, 29 members, was present at the ceremonies when the island was transferred to the United States, and when the troops landed on their way to the Philippines, everything was done by these far away "Daughters" to make "our boys," as they call them, fee' at home, and to give them everything which it could be imagined they might need or want.

ILLINOIS.

The State of Illinois is far from the center of war movement on the coast, but the intensity of patriotic fervor displayed by her citizens could scarcely have been exceeded by the most loyal of historic colonial states. Her women gave without stint of their time, money, and strength, with a spirit of loving service that could not be surpassed. Early in the summer an urgent appeal was sent by the state regent to each chapter in the state, and the result will be seen in the work reported by each chapter.

Chicago Chapter, of Chicago, 626 members, is the largest chapter in the society. During the past year it has contributed $225 to the Continental Memorial Hall fund, and $43 to the public school art society for pictures of Washington and Columbus. The chapter also supports a "Real Daughter." A prize consisting of a life membership and three years' chapter dues was awarded to a member for the best essay on an historic subject. A petition has been sent to the state legislature asking that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the use of the flag for advertising purposes.

Through the courtesy of one member, whose only son was in the army, the rooms of a large dressmaking establishment were placed at the disposal of the chapter when the relief work was begun, and the cutting and sewing committee worked here steadily day after day as long as the need continued. The number of articles thus made by chapter members was 2,065, requiring the use of 3,082 yards of cloth. Three boxes, containing in all 2,397 articles, were sent to the hospitals at Chickamauga, Ga. Similar boxes, containing 2,264 articles, were sent to the hospitals at Santiago de Cuba, to Fort McPherson, at Atlanta, Ga., and to the camps at Jacksonville, Fla. When the Illinois troops returned to Fort Sheridan another box was sent to them also, and the families of the soldiers were befriended.

The money contributions, which made possible all the work accomplished, amounted to $809.54. The Government could not have purchased these supplies for three times the amount spent for material by these devoted women, who counted their time as naught. As more than half the chapter had left the city for the summer before the call for relief work came, this task fell upon the comparatively small number who had tarried later than the others. These resigned all thought of summer rest, glad of the opportunity to spend and to be spent for their country's need. At the central station and at the homes of the members the busy whirr of the sewing machine could scarcely keep pace with the anxious thoughts of many a worker, who fashioned each garment as if it might be needed by her own husband or son in fever-stricken Cuba.

The state regent, Mrs. Henry M. Shepard, is a member of this chapter, and the number of garments which fell from her busy hands alone would number several hundreds.

A committee undertook the selection of nurses to be indorsed and sent out under the auspices of the D. A. R. hospital corps. Sixty applicants were examined and 51 were indorsed by the committee. Twenty-five of these trained women became regular Government nurses through this means. Their names will be found in the Roster of nurses, Appendix D.

Dixon Chapter, of Dixon, 13 members, not organized until May 27, 1898, reports its work as "so very little it did not seem worth while to send a report." Yet a total of 57 articles, 1,000 grains of quinine, and a small cash contribution sent to the soldiers seems no mean showing for so small a chapter.

Dorothy Quincy Chapter, of Quincy, 19 members, established a soldiers and sailors' relief society of Adams and Quincy counties, and from time to time raised sums of money which resulted in the accomplishment of the following work: Two hundred and twelve bed ticks and pajamas, $174.16 expended in ice, milk, malted milk, expressage, etc.

Breakfasts and dinners were given to state troops on departure for and return from service. A typhoid fever patient of Company I, Fifth Illinois Regiment, was maintained for weeks at the Blessing Hospital in Quincy. The chapter joined with the citizens of Quincy in giving to the sailors a beautiful flag and breakfast at a cost of $350, and sent books and magazines to eight of the United States war vessels.

Fort Armstrong Chapter, of Rock Island, 42 members, contributed 161 articles suitable for soldiers' needs to Company A, Sixth Illinois Regiment.

The general work of this chapter is purely literary, but all thoughts of personal improvement and instruction were laid aside when the call for help came, and the members worked with all zeal for the common need.

Fort Dearborn Chapter, of Evanston, 101 members, was represented at the Leiter Hospital, Chickamauga Park, by a trained nurse of many years' experience. Generous contributions of money and many dozens of garments were given by individual members through other patriotic societies in the town. Contributions have also been sent by this chapter for the purchase of Meadow Garden, in Georgia, and prizes have been given in the public schools.

George Rogers Clark Chapter, of Oak Park, 54 members, worked with the Army and Navy Relief Society, sending boxes of delicacies and 280 other articles through the Chicago corps of that organization. A money contribution and 298 garments were also sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps of the National Society and by them forwarded to the camps at Dunn Loring, Va.

The monument planned to commemorate the services of George Rogers Clark has taken the shape of a gift of books to the Scoville Library and Institute at Oak Park. Twenty volumes on subjects connected with the American Revolution have already been given. Others will be added each year and will supply a long-felt want in the library.

Illini Chapter, of Ottawa, 38 members, contributed 232 articles for use of soldiers and nurses. The citizens of Ottawa raised $1,100 for war relief work, a large part of this sum coming from the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The monument to Henry Misner, mentioned in last year's report, was completed in June, 1897, as shown by the accompanying plate. (Plate 16.) The inscription is as follows:

HENRY MISNER,

A soldier of the American Revolution,

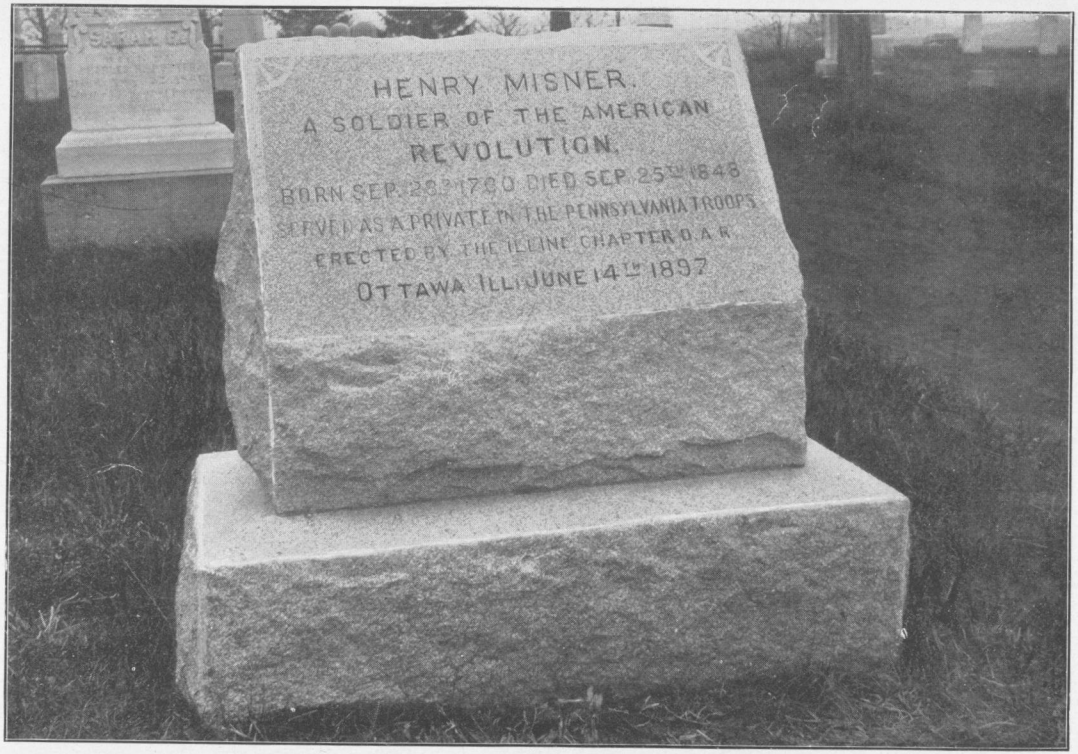
Born Sept. 23rd, 1760. Died Sept. 25th, 1848.

Served as a private in the Pennsylvania troops.

Erected by the Illini Chapter, D. A. R.,

Ottawa, Ill., June 14th, 1897.

Contributions have been made to the Continental Memorial Hall fund, and 20 historic pictures have been placed in the public schools at a cost of $220.



MONUMENT TO HENRY MISNER, REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER. ERECTED BY ILLINI CHAPTER, OTTAWA, ILL.

Letitia Green Stevenson Chapter, of Bloomington, 82 members, worked with the Woman's Army and Navy League of McLean County, which sent 1,207 articles for the soldiers to Company D, Fifth Regiment, and Troops B and F in the First Regiment, besides a barrel of literature. The chapter is paying the rent and supplying groceries and clothing for four or five families left destitute by the absence of father, son, or husband at the front.

Lincoln Chapter, of Lincoln, 26 members, sent $89 to the National Society for use among sick and wounded soldiers. A prize has also been given to the grammar school pupils for the best essay on a Revolutionary subject.

Moline Chapter, of Moline, 38 members, contributed to the work of the National Society and to the need at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga, $45 in all. The members also worked individually with the National War Relief Association and gained the aid of many other workers. With other societies in the town, the chapter is now working to sustain a course of university extension lectures.

North Shore Chapter, of Highland Park, 36 members, is located within 3 miles of Fort Sheridan. Its efforts for relief were, therefore, reserved for the care of the families of the regular troops who went to the front and were known as the "Fighting Fourth" in the charge at El Caney. The chapter members continued their ministrations to the families of these brave men during their absence and cared for the widows of those who did not return. The expenses of two boys, whose father was killed at Santiago, were paid during the school year at Allendale Farm. On the return of the cavalry to Fort Sheridan the members made daily visits to the hospital, supplying sheets, pillowcases, towels, stationery, and all sorts of delicacies for the sick.

Peoria Chapter, of Peoria, 24 members, has contributed $50 toward the erection of a monument to the soldiers of the civil war who went from Peoria. During the war with Spain the chapter cooperated with the Ladies' Memorial Day Association in furnishing hospital supplies, and sent $20 to the ice fund for Camp Thomas, Chickamauga, Ga. This Memorial Day Association is the same society which, in 1860, was known as the "Ladies Soldiers' Aid Society," and did noble work through the civil war. It has never since disbanded, and lately has been raising funds for the monument mentioned above. The individual members of the chapter have also contributed funds for this project.

Princeton Illinois Chapter, of Princeton, 27 members, devoted its efforts to the men of the Sixth Illinois Regiment, sending supplies and hospital necessaries to them, both at Camp Alger, in Virginia, and at Porto Rico—299 articles in all. One member of this chapter raised $700 for Company K, of the Sixth Regiment.

Reverend James Caldwell Chapter, of Jacksonville, 37 members, sent money to Company I, Fifth Illinois Regiment, and assisted the Woman's Club of Jacksonville, with 140 articles, which were sent directly to Santiago.

Rockford Chapter, of Rockford, 96 members, sent 141 garments to the D. A. R. hospital corps of the National Society and $25 to the hospital at Jacksonville, Fla., with 82 garments. The Continental Hall fund also received a contribution of $25. Two fine historic pictures, handsomely framed, have been placed in two of the public schools of Rockford.

Springfield Chapter, of Springfield, 26 members, was the first chapter in the state to make an organized effort in aid of the soldiers. Camp Tanner and Camp Lincoln were located near Springfield, and the need of hospital supplies was daily evident. Hardly had the troops departed for Chickamauga Park when a contribution of $267 was sent by the chapter to supply the hospital needs of the First Illinois Volunteer Cavalry and Fifth Volunteer Infantry. Later $25 were sent to Washington for the relief work of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and $75 expended for the sick soldiers in camp on their return home. In all, $362.75 were raised by these few devoted women.

Warren Chapter, of Monmouth, sent two nurses to the Sternberg Hospital, at Chickamauga Park, and afterwards sent a box weighing 100 pounds, with sheets, shirts, and other supplies, for the same station. Individual members of the chapter also sent a large quantity of supplies.

To summarize the above report from Illinois, it may be stated that a total contribution of $3,675.95 and 7,442 articles have been reported for war relief alone.

INDIANA.

Caroline Scott Harrison Chapter, of Indianapolis, 118 members, has organized the patriotic work of the children very effectively, and has held one instructive exhibit of Revolutionary pictures.

During the war with Spain the chapter assisted the Society of Colonial Dames in making garments for the soldiers and in raising money for hospital needs. Over 650 articles of clothing were sent by this chapter alone, besides quantities of canned fruits and jellies, and literature in bulk. A beautiful silk flag was presented to the Second Indiana Regiment.

The state regent, Mrs. Sarah F. Atkins, is a member of this chapter.

Dorothy Q. Chapter, of Crawfordsville, 18 members, sent aprons for the nurses at Atlanta, Ga.

General de Lafayette Chapter, of Lafayette, 82 members, sent a large box of supplies to the soldiers encamped in Florida, and did much other relief work in cooperation with ladies connected with the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

General Van Rensselaer Chapter, of Rensselaer, 28 members, presented, in March, 1897, an immense flag to the new courthouse. The public library of the town received a contribution of books on colonial history valued at $65.

Huntington Chapter, of Huntington, 23 members, sent $103.31 and large quantities of miscellaneous supplies to Washington for the war work carried on by the National Society. More than nine-tenths of all these articles were gathered by two women, Mrs. J. S. Brown and Mrs. Adaline Machan, the latter being an invalid who also gave money on her own account. A contribution has been made for Meadow Garden Farm.

Paul Revere Chapter, of Muncie, 16 members, raised $300, and by much enthusiastic labor converted it into supplies for the hospitals.

Spencer Chapter, of Spencer, 13 members, sent one nurse to the hospital at Fort McPherson, Ga., and contributed 2 boxes of hospital supplies to McPherson and Chickamauga hospitals.

The graves of 9 Revolutionary soldiers have been located by this chapter. The names and records are as follows:

1. Samuel Alexander, buried in the "Old Union Cemetery," 2 miles west of Gosport, Ind.

2. Thomas Ashbrook, buried in the "Secret" graveyard across the river from Romona.

3. James Bryant, came from North Carolina. Lived and died on what is known as the "Rebarger farm," north of Spencer, Ind. Was about 106 years old when he died, in the fall of 1853. Buried in the old cemetery at Spencer. No children.

4. Andrew Ewens, buried on the Allen Asher farm, north of Gosport, Ind.

5 and 6. Joshua Kelley, buried 2 miles north of Spencer, Ind. He drew a pension. His son, of the same name, served in the war of 1812. They are buried side by side.

7. John Snoddy, born in North Carolina, enlisted in Revolutionary army at age of 15 and served during the war. He received a pension. Was married in North Carolina and moved to Kentucky. Came to Owen County, Ind., in 1823 and settled 4 miles north of Gosport. Died in 1843 at age of 93. Several years before his death he donated a burial place on his farm, where he is buried with many others. He has a daughter living.

8. Ninian Steele, came from North Carolina to Benton County, Ky., about 1800. Came to Owen County, Ind., in 1819. Died in 1831, and is buried 4½ miles north of Gosport, Ind. The first church of Gosport was organized in his home, 1820.

9. Peter William, born in Wythe County, Va., December 25, 1749. Was in the battle at the Cowpens. Drew a pension. Died December 25, 1847, his birthday and Christmas day. Has a son yet living. Is buried in the old cemetery at Spencer, Ind.

An immune nurse, Miss Cora Painter, sent by the regent of a forming chapter at Brazil, Ind., found on reaching her post that no man or woman was willing to cook for the sick soldiers. She resigned her position as nurse, went into the kitchen of the hospital and cooked without complaint during six hot weeks the nourishing food that was to bring life and strength back to 100 men.

About $700 in all has been reported as the money contributions from Indiana for war relief work, but this does not include the vast quantity of clothing and supplies sent for the use of the soldiers.

IOWA.

Abigail Adams Chapter, of Des Moines, 52 members, was one of the early contributors to the Continental Memorial Hall.

During the war this chapter provided flannels and a regimental banner for the Fifty-first Iowa Regiment, at a cost of $100, gave cash and supplies to the Red Cross Society to the value of $28.35, and sent $25 to the hospital at Camp McKinley. The treasurer of the chapter, Miss Mary L. Gaylord, gave personal service, three days and nights per week, during the illness of 100 typhoid-fever patients in the hospital at Fort McKinley.

Clinton Chapter, of Clinton, 95 members, contributed $400 to the relief funds of the National Society, and $165 for hospital supplies sent to Company L of the Forty-ninth Iowa Regiment, this being the company recruited from Clinton.

Council Bluffs Chapter, of Council Bluffs, 19 members, has contributed to the Continental Memorial Hall fund. With the Woman's Sanitary Commission of the city it joined in sending money for the needs of the Fifty-first Iowa Regiment, in service in the Philippines; $25 was the portion given by this chapter.

Elizabeth Ross Chapter, of Ottumwa, 45 members, offered in May of 1898 a prize in the local high school, but the offer was refused by the school board.

In June, 1898, $54.50 was raised by this chapter and sent to Company G of the Fiftieth Iowa Volunteers for the purchase of a mess tent at Jacksonville, Fla. In September, 1898, the Ottumwa "Daughters" furnished coffee, milk, fruit, and delicacies to the Third Regiment of Nebraska Volunteers passing through the city on their way to the West. In October, 1898, game, fruit, flowers, and delicacies were supplied to the sick soldiers in and about the city.

Keokuk Chapter, of Keokuk, 8 members, sent to Chickamauga chapter a large box containing 143 articles of bedding, food, and clothing for the soldiers in hospital.

Martha Washington Chapter, of Sioux City, 19 members, joined with other local societies in sending funds and hospital supplies for the needs of Iowa soldiers.

Mayflower Chapter, of Red Oak, 19 members, cooperated with the citizens of the town in generous gifts to the home company.

Sarah McCalla Chapter, of Chariton, 15 members, worked with the Woman's Relief Corps and helped to raise much money by subscriptions.

Stars and Stripes Chapter, of Burlington, 35 members, contributed $25 for the soldiers at Chattanooga, Tenn., and worked with the local branch of the Woman's Relief Corps in sending hospital supplies and literature to the boys in southern camps and in Santiago de Cuba.

As so much of the work of Iowa "Daughters" was done through other organizations, the exact statistics can not be given here. The total reported money contribution of six chapters, numbering in all 261 members, for war relief, amounts, however, to $862.85.

KANSAS.

Betty Washington Chapter, of Lawrence, 37 members, contributed to the Cuban relief fund through the "Kansas City Star" and to the war funds of the national society. "Endless chain" letters in behalf of the Red Cross Society were helped by the score.

Eunice Sterling Chapter, of Wichita, 22 members, sent two trained nurses who were ordered to Florida and Georgia hospitals. Contributions of money were sent to the relief funds of the National Society, to the Cuban relief fund, and to the fund for the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm.

Topeka Chapter, of Topeka, 45 members, raised $37 for the war fund of the National Society. Two nurses were recommended by this chapter.

The State regent, Mrs. Martha A. Hand, is an honored member of this chapter.

As the Kansas "Daughters" are so far removed from the spots connected with the Revolution, they are now working to raise funds to preserve the site of the Pawnee Indian village where Lieut. Zebulon Pike, in 1806, hauled down the flag of Spain and unfurled the flag of the United States, by order of President Jefferson.

KENTUCKY.

Bryan Station Chapter, of Lexington, 17 members, is located near Camp Hamilton. The members, as individuals, united with the Soldiers' Aid Society, and through that organization sent many comforts and delicacies to the soldiers. When a diet kitchen was established at Camp Hamilton, the ladies gave zealous personal assistance to the work there, as well as to the sewing department of the Soldiers' Aid Society. It is interesting to note that the soldiers in camp were supplied with water from the same well whence heroic women brought water to the beleaguered garrison more than a hundred years ago. The wall erected by this chapter around this well was mentioned in last year's report.

Elizabeth Kenton Chapter, of Covington, 55 members, gave 373 articles to Fort Thomas and Fort McPherson hospitals, and books to Chickamauga and Camp Lyttle. The local company of the Kentucky Volunteers was bountifully supplied with provisions when they started for camp.

General Evan Shelby Chapter, of Owensboro, 14 members, in conjunction with the local relief society, made many garments for the hospitals.

General Samuel Hopkins Chapter, of Henderson, 17 members, exhausted the resources of its slender treasury by sending to the soldiers at Chickamauga a box of groceries weighing over 1,000 pounds and three large boxes of tobacco, with a check for $10. An application was then made to the general public, and received a generous response. Under the auspices of the chapter, the merchants and business men gave material and goods of various kinds, and most of the church societies vied with each other in lending a helping hand. The number of articles thus secured was 789, besides a bolt of material for bandages, table covers, napkins, sanitary pillows, old linen, quinine, pease, soups, corn starch, canned goods, and a generous supply of literature. The total money contributed was $141.18, of which $60.65 was expended for hospital supplies and expressage, $50 devoted to the purchase of drugs for the hospital at Chickamauga, and the remainder forwarded with the box to Fort Thomas.

Jemima Johnson Chapter, of Paris, 38 members, has contributed to the Continental Hall fund $20, to the Meadow Garden Farm fund $4.50, and to the silver service of the battle ship Kentucky $10. When the boys of Company I, Second Regiment Kentucky Volunteers, left for camp May 6, 1898, they were followed by substantial evidences of interest in the form of two large boxes of good things, weighing 208 pounds, to the value of $56. When illness was raging in the camps boxes of lemons valued at $30.75 were sent to Chickamauga, Fort Thomas, and Camp Hamilton. The chapter hopes to assist in erecting a monument to those who fell at the battle of Blue Licks.

John Marshall Chapter, of Louisville, 93 members, placed markers on the graves of three Revolutionary soldiers. It has also furnished 2,500 aprons for army nurses during the war with Spain at an expense of $100.

This chapter claims the state regent, Mrs. Edward N. Maxwell, among its honored members.

Judge Samuel McDowell Chapter, of Cynthiana, 16 members, gave all its energy to the work of the D. A. R. hospital corps. The members collected $29.60 in cash, made 91 garments, and sent three boxes of food supplies weighing 250 pounds. The value of the gift thus made by this small chapter amounted to about $400.

Keturah Moss Taylor Chapter, of Newport, 21 members, sent $20 to the relief fund of the National Society, and 88 articles to Fort Thomas and the Leiter Hospital.

Lexington Chapter, of Lexington, 81 members, offered, in February, 1898, a gold medal to the white pupils of Lexington schools between the ages of 12 and 14, a silver medal to the white pupils under 12, and a gold medal to the colored pupils under 18 for the best essay on "George Rogers Clark and his expedition." This prize to the colored pupils seems something unique, as it is the only one of the kind reported.

The first war work was done in conjunction with the Bryan Station Chapter and the Washington and Lafayette Society of the Children of the American Revolution. The object was the presentation of a regimental banner to the Second Kentucky Volunteers. The cost was $75.

In June the chapter became an auxiliary of the Woman's National War Relief Association, and contributed to its work $90 in cash. By earnest effort $80 more were raised for materials for sewing, and in this way 156 articles were made for the soldiers, and 5 large boxes of garments and supplies were sent to the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga. The war fund of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution received $11 in addition.

Madison County Chapter, of Richmond, 19 members, in the spring of 1897 offered a gold medal to the pupils of the public schools for the best essay on a Revolutionary subject. In 1898 a large portrait of Washington was given to the Madison Female Institute. A generous contribution was also made to the silver service of the battle ship Kentucky. A box of supplies containing 312 articles and valued at $25 was sent to Atlanta in aid of the relief work there.

Paducah Chapter, of Paducah, 15 members, raised $200 for relief work during the war. Of this sum $100 was sent to Miss Clara Barton for the Red Cross work, $25 to the captain of the Paducah company for use in sickness among his soldiers, and the remainder devoted to the purchase of material which was made into garments and sent to the hospital at Fortress Monroe.

Rebecca Bryan Boone Chapter, of Newport, 20 members, sent a supply of sheets, pillows, etc., to the Second Kentucky Infantry hospital at Chickamauga and Fort Thomas, also an outfit of aprons to a Red Cross nurse, 112 articles in all. A weekly subscription of $5 for medicines and ice was continued until all the sick of the Second Infantry were well.

Susannah Hart Shelby Chapter, of Versailles, 20 members, contributed $85 to the D. A. R. war fund for use among the wounded at Santiago, and 58 sheets and towels to the Protestant Infirmary at Lexington, Ky., where many sick soldiers were brought from Chickamauga.

LOUISIANA.

Spirit of '76 Chapter, of New Orleans, 31 members, sent two large boxes of supplies to the hospitals at Tampa, Fla., and Santiago de Cuba. A contribution of $10 was sent to the war fund of the national society, and $6 contributed to the local war fund.

MAINE.

Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter, of Portland, the largest in the state, 122 members, appointed a committee on war work early in the summer of 1898. Through the courtesy of Bosworth Post, Grand Army of the Republic, a large room was provided for sewing, and the Singer Sewing Machine Company furnished and daily kept in order machines enough for the work, free of charge. A large box containing 412 articles, besides a large quantity of reading matter, was sent to the Chickamauga chapter, in response to its urgent appeal. The whole value was about $75. On the return of the soldiers, the committee, acting directly under the instructions of the surgeons in charge of the hospital at Portland, made daily provision of delicacies for the sick, amounting to 873 articles in all. The work went on until all the patients were dismissed from the hospital, and was then continued among the soldiers' families.

Eunice Farnsworth Chapter, of Skowhegan, 15 members, contributed $15 to the American National Red Cross.

Frances Dighton Williams Chapter, of Bangor, 31 members, sent to the soldiers a large box of literature. Papers on Revolutionary topics are prepared by this chapter each month, and will be printed in time as a nucleus for a chapter library.

General Knox Chapter, of Thomaston, 31 members, was not formed until July, 1898, but began work at once for the sick soldiers at home and for their families. One hundred and forty-eight dollars were raised for this purpose by the chapter.

Lady Knox Chapter, of Rockland, 13 members, worked with the relief corps of the city and accomplished a large amount of work.

Mary Dillingham Chapter, of Lewiston, 36 members, sent 50 articles for the soldiers to Augusta and 111 to the headquarters of the national society. This chapter has the honor of counting the state regent, Mrs. Wallace H. White, among its members.

Rebecca Emery Chapter, of Biddeford, 13 members, is forming a collection of relics and making efforts to have the old burying ground of the city put in proper order and fenced. Over 56 articles were prepared by this chapter and sent to the soldiers through the relief society of the city.

Samuel Grant Chapter, of Gardiner, 17 members, has presented framed lithographs of the flag to the public schools, raised $25 to mark the graves of Revolutionary soldiers in the locality, and begun a collection of relics. Forty articles were made and given to the local relief corps, to be delivered as theirs. A generous provision of towels, sheets, and old linen was given to the hospital at Camp Power, Augusta, and the chapter would gladly have given more, but the need was supplied.

Silence Howard Hayden Chapter, of Waterville, 21 members, worked with the local relief society, and has undertaken the care of the soldiers' families for the winter. A small contribution was sent to the hospital corps of the national society. The nucleus of a collection of relics has been formed.

Koussinoc Chapter, of Augusta, 16 members, worked with the city relief corps and provided 160 articles for the soldiers.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore Chapter, of Baltimore, 133 members, contributed $118 to the relief funds of the national society, while individual members gave $77.50 more for the purchase of materials, afterwards made into garments, the total result being $195.50 and the making of 233 garments for soldiers' use. The chapter gave $25 to the Continental Memorial Hall fund in April, 1898. Mrs. J. Pembroke Thom, the state regent, is a member of this chapter.

Maryland Line Chapter, of Baltimore, 28 members, made 1 dozen aprons for nurses. The gift of these ladies to the Continental Memorial Hall fund amounted to $25 in April, 1897.

MASSACHUSETTS.

In response to invitations of Hon. Roger Wolcott, Governor of Massachusetts, the Volunteer Aid Association of the State was formed on April 30, 1898, within ten days of the call of the President for volunteers. Mrs. Wolcott, wife of the Governor, and a Daughter of the American Revolution was a member of the board of management and was constant in attendance as long as need lasted. This organization had branches in nearly every town of the State, and accomplished for the soldiers and sailors of Massachusetts and other States an amount of good which is incalculable.

In townships where there are chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution these ladies were generally the organizers of a branch volunteer aid association, for it was, of course, an advantage to the central body to utilize the energies of a patriotic society already in existence without the need of seeking for suitable officers to begin such work.

Through this association a ship was purchased and refitted as a floating hospital, with all the appliances for the relief and comfort of patients which scientific skill could suggest or patriotic devotion provide. It was christened The Bay State (Plates 17, 18, 19), and transported the sick and wounded from Cuba, Porto Rico, and the various southern camps to the vivifying air of their northern home. Here they were carefully and patiently nursed back to health and provided transportation to their homes when able to travel. Employment was also found for those who had lost their means of gaining a livelihood for the sake of the country's service. The first cost of the ship, $50,000, was advanced by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and was afterwards repaid to the state treasury. The outfit, stores, and the maintenance of the relief work were provided by private contributions. In the record which follows it will be possible to gain some idea of the part borne by the Massachusetts Daughters of the American Revolution in making this enterprise of mercy a shining success.

Abiah Folger Franklin Chapter, of Nantucket, 24 members, had been organized but a few months when hostilities were declared between Spain and the United States. To aid the soldiers it joined its forces to those of the Nantucket branch of the war relief association. Its present work is the collection of funds to purchase the site of the house of Peter Foulger, father of Abiah Folger the mother of Benjamin Franklin.

Abigail Adams Chapter, of Boston, 127 members, is composed entirely of young women, engaged in the study of American history. During the Spanish war it contributed $54 to the fitting of the hospital ship Bay State, and sent $105 to the relief work of the national society at Washington.

Betsey Ross Chapter, of Lawrence, 42 members, sent 150 articles to the Volunteer Aid Association, besides a quantity of old cotton and linen.

Boston Tea Party Chapter, of Boston, 96 members, has contributed to the hospital ship Bay State and to the Volunteer Aid Association during the present war. A member of this chapter served as a Red Cross nurse. It is now preparing to place a slab in the sidewalk to mark the site of the house where Nathaniel Bradlee and his two sons disguised themselves as Indians for the first "Boston Tea Party."

Bunker Hill Chapter, of Boston, 95 members, contributed $25 to the Aid Association, and supplied two companies at Camp Dalton with many necessary articles. The regent, Miss Marion H. Brazier, collected and published during the summer the many war reports of the Massachusetts chapters.

Colonel Thomas Lothrop Chapter, of Cohasset, 18 members, gave two framed pictures to the Osgood public school and added to the public library. It has also been active in the Cohasset auxiliary of the Volunteer Aid Association, and is now engaged in writing the histories of the old homes in Cohasset.

Deborah Sampson Chapter, of Brockton, 52 members, offered to the high school of Brockton a prize for the best essay on the "Women of the Revolution and the part they took in it." The prize was awarded to Miss Marion Nasey. The essay was published in our magazine. The graves of 5 Revolutionary soldiers not before known have been located. As the members were widely scattered during the summer of 1898, the chapter as a body could not do much toward aiding our soldiers, but many of the individual members worked with the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association in the places where they were located for the summer.

Dorothy Brewer Chapter, of Waltham, 31 members, contributed its work to the local branch of the Volunteer Aid Association.

Dorothy Quincy Hancock Chapter, of Greenfield, 31 members, has located the graves of 32 Revolutionary soldiers and placed bronze markers on 13 of them. The historian of the chapter, Lucy C. Kellogg (Mrs. H. W.), is continuing the work of identifying these graves in adjoining towns, in the hope that they may be marked at a future time. (Appendix B.)

During the Spanish war the chapter has contributed to the hospital ship Bay State and to the Greenfield branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association. A handsome pennant, in the society colors, was presented by the chapter to the local company, L, Second Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers, and a war fund was raised for its benefit. The needy families left behind were also not forgotten.

Faneuil Hall Chapter, of Wakefield, 48 members, celebrates annually the "Boston Tea Party" with many interesting ceremonies, among which is the drinking of tea grown on American soil.

"During the war with Spain, the members joined the Melrose branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association, and worked assiduously for the cause." As a body, the chapter took especial interest in Company L of the Sixth Massachusetts Regiment, the only colored regiment in the state. One hundred and six brown denim packs filled with all the small necessities of camp life were sent to this regiment in Porto Rico, and many other things were done for their comfort.

Fort Massachusetts Chapter, of North Adams, 61 members, assisted the Historical Society of North Adams in raising funds to establish "historical rooms" for the preservation of the town's antiquities. In February, 1898, ten handsome bunting flags were presented to the Miner School of the city, one to each room.

The "Nathaniel Bosworth Society" of the Children of the American Revolution has been organized under the auspices of this chapter.

Prizes were given to the pupils of the high and grammar schools of the city in March, 1898.

When Company M of the Second Massachusetts Volunteer Militia were starting for camp on their way to Cuba, the chapter presented them with a set of resolutions in grateful recognition of the service they were about to render to the country. Each man also received a badge made by the ladies' own hands, and many wore them through the campaign. Afterwards bandages, socks, stationery, and other comforts were sent to the company in Cuba. After the battle of Santiago, contributions were sent through the Volunteer Aid Association to the hospital ship Bay State. Fifty dollars in money and 50 hospital shirts were sent, in the pocket of each a handkerchief stamped with the insignia of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Towels and canopy nettings were added.

Framingham Chapter, of Framingham, 50 members, is raising funds for a monument to the brave men who went from the town to serve in the Revolutionary army. A member of this chapter went as nurse, under the auspices of the D. A. R. hospital corps, and is still on duty. Several members of the chapter sent their sons to the front. The chapter also worked with the town's branch of the Volunteer Aid Association in sending comforts to the soldiers of Company E, Sixth Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers.

General Benjamin Lincoln Chapter, of East Boston, 53 members, sent 1 nurse and furnished 7 dozen nurses' aprons through the D. A. R. hospital corps. The chapter also worked through the summer under the auspices of the East Boston Branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association, some of the chapter members being officers of that society. Several families of soldiers and sailors were assisted by the chapter. A contribution has also been made for the Continental Memorial Hall to be erected in Washington.

General Israel Putnam Chapter, of Danvers, 62 members, raised $50 for the relief of the local company (K) of the Eighth Massachusetts Regiment. The members have assisted also in the work of the Volunteer Aid Association.

General Joseph Badger Chapter, of Marlboro, 35 members, roused the town authorities to mark the graves of Revolutionary soldiers, a committee being appointed by the mayor for this purpose. An account of this committee was printed in the Seventh Annual Report of the City Government of Marlboro, and reprinted in the Marlboro Times of January 13, 1898. Sixty-five graves were marked. Money was also contributed to the ship Bay State, and to the branch of the Volunteer Aid Association in the town.

Hannah Goddard Chapter, of Brookline, 45 members, profiting by its study of the past, has this year worked with such energy for the present need that $1,200 were raised for the Cambridge Branch of the Volunteer Aid Association, $600 of which came from the chapter members, and 1,100 articles were contributed for soldiers' needs. Many cases of distress among the families of the soldiers were relieved, and delicacies provided for the sick through the gift of $50 from one member.

Hannah Winthrop Chapter, of Cambridge, 69 members, began work for the soldiers almost as soon as the war with Spain was declared. The quota of men from Cambridge was sent into camp in such haste that most necessaries were left behind, but their needs were met by the ladies of this society. The services of the chapter were offered to the Governor of Massachusetts and promptly accepted. By the efforts of these ladies the Cambridge Branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association was organized, and through this society 6,876 articles of clothing and hospital supplies were sent out, "besides all kinds of delicacies for the sick," and money for the hospital ship Bay State.

John Adams Chapter, of Boston, 54 members, in the two years since its organization has been most generous of gifts. In addition to those enumerated in last year's report, it has contributed to the Continental Memorial Hall fund, to the Massachusetts Aid Association, to the D. A. R. hospital corps, and to repairs in the Old North Church, a total of $225 in the two years. In addition to these money gifts of the chapter, the regent, Miss Floretta Vining, gave a load of lumber and the services of eight carpenters to repair the hospital ship Bay State, she serving them with meals. She was instrumental in raising $1,000 for supplies for the ship, and was the last to leave it when it sailed. She made with her own hands many night shirts, pajamas, and bands, and tendered her land and cottage at Hull to the Governor for the use of the troops, all in the name of John Adams Chapter.

Lexington Chapter, of Lexington, 20 members, is composed entirely of those whose Revolutionary interests trace to Lexington. It has given prizes to both grammar and high schools for essays on historic subjects, and presented to each school in the town copies of the coats of arms of the 13 original states. Relics made from old timbers of the belfry where the alarm was sounded on April 19, 1775, have been presented to several patriotic societies. Miss Julia Goddard, a member of this chapter, has given to the town a life-size oil portrait of her grandfather, Maj. William Dawes, who started at the same time as Paul Revere to give the famous alarm, but having to go a much greater distance, by the way of Brookline and Brighton, arrived at Lexington half an hour later than his comrade, thus missing the glory which clings to the "musical name of Paul Revere."

The personal efforts of the regent, Mrs. Sarah Bowman Van Ness, raised $959 for the preservation of the Clark-Hancock house. John Hancock and John Adams were asleep in this house when aroused by the alarm.

As the chapter was disbanded for the summer before the war with Spain was declared, it did no war work as an organization. But the individual members worked with the branches of the Volunteer Aid Association wherever each happened to be located for the summer.

Liberty Tree Chapter, of Boston, 21 members, has as its regent Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, author of the Battle Hymn of the Republic. During the past summer the members contributed to the Massachusetts Relief Association, sending many flannel bands for the soldiers. Funds are now being gathered for a collection of prints and photographs illustrating events in the war of the Revolution. When completed the pictures are to be given to the Association of Libraries for circulation.

Lucy Jackson Chapter, of Newton, 52 members, sent to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association 50 suits of pajamas, 100 bands, boxes of delicacies, and $125 in money, besides quantities of aprons for the nurses under the D. A. R. hospital corps, and $410 in money to the relief work of the national society.

Lucy Knox Chapter, of Gloucester, 36 members, was busy with relief work during the summer.

Lydia Cobb Chapter, of Taunton, 71 members, sent several boxes of eatables to the battery of heavy artillery which went from the town to Fort Warren. It also cared for the family of one of the men until aid was no longer needed, and sent money to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association. It has offered a prize to the senior class of the high school, and raised $100 for the associated charities of the town, at the time of sore need. It also sent $50 to the hospital ship Bay State.

Marthas Vineyard Chapter, of Edgartown, 57 members, placed bronze markers at the graves of 20 Revolutionary soldiers, buried at Edgartown, whose names are as follows:

Col. Beriah Norton.
Joseph Thaxter, chaplain.[1]
Capt. Benjamin Smith.
Thomas Beetle.
John Butler.
Ezra Cleveland.
Thomas Coffin.
Joseph Dunham.
Jonathan Fisher.
Luke Grey.
Joseph Holley.
Joseph Huxford.[2]
Cornelius Marchant.
William Norton, jr.
Henry Osborn.
Noah Pease.
Zechariah Pease.
Timothy Smith.
Elijah Stuart.
Dr. Samuel Whelden.

During the summer the chapter formed the nucleus around which was gathered the Edgartown branch of the Volunteer Aid Association. Over two-thirds of its members and most of the officers were also chapter members. This organization sent for the relief of the soldiers $92 in money, and sheets, shirts, pillowcases, bands, pajamas, and other comforts, amounting in all to 247 pieces.

Mary Draper Chapter, of West Roxbury, 50 members, could not act as a body during the recent war, as the members were scattered during the summer. But 17 of them worked with the Volunteer Aid Association in sewing and raising funds for the cause. Plans are taking shape for a memorial to Mary Draper, who melted her pewter dishes into bullets, and kept three ovens hot to bake bread for the men passing her door on the way to Lexington and Concord.

Mercy Warren Chapter, of Springfield, 250 members, has sent $50 for the relief of the starving Cubans, and the same amount for the work of the D. A. R. hospital corps at headquarters. When the Springfield auxiliary of the Volunteer Aid Association was formed, many "Daughters" of Mercy Warren Chapter served as officers or private members of the new organization. Nearly $5,000 have passed into the treasury of this auxiliary, to provide supplies for the Massachusetts men in Cuba, in hospitals, and at home when ill, through the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association. The state regent, Mrs. T. M. Brown, is a member of this chapter.

Molly Varnum Chapter, of Lowell, 152 members, held a very interesting exhibit of Colonial and Revolutionary relics in December, 1897, in connection with the Old Newbury Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, and Captain John Ford Society, Children of the American Revolution. The articles shown numbered 847, and comprised almost everything from a hand-woven baby dress to the musket carried at the battle of Lexington.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain an executive committee of Lowell ladies, with the regent of the chapter as chairman, was at once formed and began raising funds for relief work. As the result of one unique entertainment, $2,303 were raised. Of this amount, $1,400 were sent for the purchase of the steam launch Lowell (see plate 19), attached to the outfit of the Bay State. Another $100 was given to the naval hospital ship Solace, $150 went to Fort Myer, Va., for hospital supplies, and the balance was turned over to the Lowell branch of the Volunteer Aid Association.

This branch association had been formed in June, under the auspices of the Molly Varnum Chapter, and included representatives from the different wards in the city and from the adjoining towns of Tewksbury, Tyngsboro, Dracut, and Chelmsford.

A committee was appointed for each of the nine wards of the city to make a canvass for money and supplies of all kinds. The chairman of each of these committees appointed a sub-committee to act in each precinct of her ward, and the result was an astonishing proof of what may be done by systematized effort. The treasurer's report shows a total of $1,871.46 contributed directly in cash. Over 4,000 articles of clothing and bedding were made up and sent through the association and many thousand yards of bandages, 1,500 yards of sterilized bandages being sent by one lady alone. The boxes sent also contained 800 cans of cereal foods, 450 pints of jellies, etc., and large quantities of stationery, towels, and other necessaries. On the return of the sick men from the South, each ward chairman was given a list of the soldiers in her ward, and was held responsible for their well-being. This included the regulars as well as the volunteers. In all, 214 men, suffering from typhoid fever, enteritis, malarial fever, anæmia, and lung troubles were cared for, and but one died. The work will continue until the last man is mustered out and provided with warm clothing for the coming winter.

Old Colony Chapter, of Hingham, 51 members, contributed money for the Mary Washington monument at Fredericksburg, Va.; for the preservation of "Elmwood," the home of James Russell Lowell, and for the purchase of the Putnam Wolf Den property, under the care of the Elizabeth Porter Putnam Chapter of Connecticut. Prizes were given in the two grammar schools of Hingham for essays on patriotic subjects.

Three hundred dollars in money and 1,555 articles, such as bandages, bands, canopies, handkerchiefs, nurses' aprons, pajamas, pillowcases, sheets, shirts, slippers, and tobacco, were sent to the Volunteer Aid Association, to the D. A. R. hospital corps, and to Montauk Point for the relief of the sick, besides a box of delicacies, condensed and malted milk, etc. Through the personal efforts of Miss Sara W. Daggett, 72 women were sent as nurses to the general and field hospitals at the call of the D. A. R. hospital corps and other organizations. The outfit for three of these was provided by Miss Daggett herself, at an expense of $210. To the high character of these noble women is due much of the present honorable status of the woman nurse in the army. Two of these nurses were among the first volunteers for navy service in the United States, and received in recognition of their services a letter from Secretary Long. Miss Daggett also furnished for the Bay State 523 bandages of plaster, cotton, gauze, and flannel, and 586 other articles of clothing and bedding, besides large quantities of tobacco and slippers for the naval hospital of Norfolk, Va., and 8 dozen aprons for nurses, all in the name of Old Colony Chapter. She also looked after the nurses ill in hospitals, and arranged matters for them so that their wages were properly paid, a matter of considerable importance to those dependent on their labors for their daily bread.

Old Concord Chapter, of Concord, 40 members, contributed to the fund for the Continental Memorial Hall and to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association.

Old Newbury Chapter, of Newburyport, 59 members, held for several days in March, 1897, an instructive loan exhibit, part of the proceeds being sent as a contribution to the fund for the Continental Memorial Hall to be erected in Washington. During the war it has given aid to Company A, Eighth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, and to their families left behind, and cooperated with the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association. Four hundred dollars were raised for these purposes. In conjunction with the Daughters of the Revolution and the local Historical Society, it is raising funds for a monument to the revolutionary and colonial soldiers of Newbury and Newburyport.

Old North Church Chapter, of Boston, 17 members, gave to the Paul Revere schoolhouse in Boston, a valuable picture of Old North Church. During the war the chapter joined in the work of the Massachusetts Aid Association and all the members contributed. It has also raised $75 for repairing the Old North Church.

Old South Chapter, of Dedham, 138 members, seems to have been the only chapter which tried to influence Congress not to declare war against Spain. But when the war was upon us no one held back. Contributions were sent to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association and to the D. A. R. hospital corps. Many members spent a large part of every day, all through the summer, in making and collecting garments, supplies, and funds for the soldiers. Ten thousand volumes of magazines, and barrels of illustrated papers were sent to hospitals and camps, to relieve the tedium of convalescence. The chapter has also contributed for the repair of the Old North Church.

Paul Jones Chapter, of Boston, 13 members, was but newly organized when hostilities began between Spain and the United States, but a contribution was promptly made for the Volunteer Aid Association. The regent collected and shipped to various camps, ships, and hospitals nearly 10,000 current magazines. She offered herself as a nurse under the Woman's National War Relief Association and sent flags and literature to the schools of Cuba and Porto Rico.

The relics collected are in most cases connected with some event in the naval history of our country. The regent is especially interested to secure the return of the body of Paul Jones to this country, and to have a suitable monument erected to his honor.

Paul Revere Chapter, of Boston, 119 members, placed in the Paul Revere School of Boston a fine portrait of the hero, copied by Walter Gilman Page from the original painting made by a daughter of Gilbert Stuart. A contribution of $175 was given to the fund for the restoration of Christ Church.

The members were separated during the summer but were actively engaged in war relief, sending contributions to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association and working for its various branches; also, sending money to the war fund of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Peace Party Chapter, of Pittsfield, 36 members, has located the graves of 49 Revolutionary soldiers buried at Pittsfield. Their names are as follows:

It has contributed to the work of the American National Red Cross, to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association, to the hospital ships, to the gospel tents of Mr. Moody, and sent 4 boxes of books to the soldiers encamped in Tennessee. Mrs. Zenas Crane, a member of this chapter, opened and formed all the branches of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid in Berkshire County.

Prudence Wright Chapter, of Pepperell, 19 members, is named in honor of a Revolutionary heroine who prevented a threatened attack of the British upon the town by organizing the women for its defense, thus capturing a tory messenger who was carrying important dispatches.

During the summer the chapter joined with the local branch of the Volunteer Aid Association in sending aid to the soldiers "and every Daughter worked until the close."

Quequechan Chapter, of Fall River, 72 members, has given generous help to the Fall River Branch of the Volunteer Aid Association and to the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic. Twenty-five families of men at the front were relieved from distress, and the vice-regent, Mrs. Mary T. Hartly, raised $480.54 by 3,903 "chain" letters for the purchase and maintenance of the Massachusetts hospital ship Bay State. The chapter is now raising funds for a tablet on the city hall marking the site of the battle of Fall River in 1778.

Sarah Bradlee Fulton Chapter, of Medford, 48 members, bears the name of a daughter of Nathaniel Bradlee who helped to empty the tea. She disguised her brothers for the first "Boston Tea Party," carried despatches and served as nurse during the siege of Boston.

The members have located the graves of 28 Revolutionary soldiers in the three cemeteries of the town. They have also presented a clock to the Medford Historical Society. The site of Sarah Bradlee Fulton's home has been marked by a tablet (Plate 20) erected by the chapter. The summerhouse on the Royall estate, General Stark's headquarters in June, 1775, has been purchased and will be restored. During the war help was given to the Volunteer Aid Association, and many comforts were made and sent to the soldiers, while personal interest was maintained with the Medford men by correspondence. The total amount expended for war relief was $70.

Sea Coast Defence Chapter, of Vineyard Haven, 40 members, gave two instructive exhibits; one of relics and one of old portraits and daguerreotypes. The memorial, reported last year as in preparation, has since been completed, and was dedicated July 4, 1898. It is in the form of a liberty pole, encircled by a band (Plates 21, 22), on which are inscribed these words:

To commemorate the patriotism of three girls of this village, Polly Daggett, Parnell Manter, and Maria Allen, who destoyed with powder a "liberty pole" erected near this spot, to prevent its capture by the British in 1776, this pole, replacing the other, is erected by the Sea Coast Defence Chapter, D. A. R., 1898.

Three young women, descendants of these three heroines, assisted in the ceremonies of dedication.

During the war the chapter organized the Vineyard Haven Volunteer Aid Association, and the utmost exertion was made to contribute such articles as were suitable for the sick and wounded soldiers.

Submit Clark Chapter, of Easthampton, 20 members, has continued the work reported last year by making the prize for historic study an annual feature of the public schools.

In April a committee was appointed to locate the graves of any Revolutionary soldiers who might be buried in the local cemeteries.

As the selectmen of the town were erecting a new bridge over the Manhan River, the chapter appointed a committee to prepare an inscription for the tablet to be placed upon the structure. (Plate 23.) The names of the bridge builders and of the selectmen, inscribed in large letters, left small space upon the tablet for the historic data arranged by the chapter. But the use of small letters made it possible to crowd into the short space allowed several items of information which will be of interest to future inquirers. The inscription is as follows:

This bridge, the sixth at this site, replaces a covered wooden bridge, built in 1838, from the town's share of the French indemnity of the war of 1812 and donation of Samuel Williston. The first bridge was erected in 1742. The first permanent settlement in the town was made near this point by Samuel Bartlett early in the eighteenth century. A sawmill was built on the brook above in 1674.

During the war the members worked under the auspices of the Volunteer Aid Association.

Timothy Bigelow Chapter, of Worcester, 8 members and not yet fully organized, is identifying the burial places of Revolutionary soldiers and trying to discover as far as possible to do so where are resting "the 400 men whom Worcester sent into the war for independence." One member is endeavoring to ascertain the personal history of the patriotic woman who melted her clock weights to mold into bullets for the Lexington fight.

Warren and Prescott Chapter, of Boston, 100 members, has contributed this year to the maintenance of the collection of Howard Pyle pictures in the Boston Public Library, to the Continental Memorial Hall, to the preservation of the Clark-Hancock house at Lexington, to the library at Mount Vernon, Va., "and to many private charities which do not get into print." Individual members gave large subscriptions of money, time, and strength to the Volunteer Aid Association for the benefit of the soldiers in the present war.

This chapter has the honor to count among its members Mrs. Edith P. Wolcott, wife of the Governor of the State. Her connection with the management of the Volunteer Aid Association has already been mentioned on page 127. Her money and time were given freely to the soldiers all through the summer, but with characteristic modesty she kept no record of either. One of her acceptable gifts was a large hospital tent made of wire screening, with canvas cover for roof and sides when needed. This tent was portable and was sent to Chickamauga Park. It proved a great relief to the patients there exposed to the flies and the depressing heat.

Watertown Chapter, of Watertown, 40 members, was organized in January of this year. Its first work was a search for the graves of Revolutionary soldiers buried in the town. In time these are to be suitably marked. The city authorities have been requested to publish a list of those sent from the town to all the wars in which the United States has been engaged, including the present war with Spain. It is proposed to give, when possible, parentage, age, and enlistment of each man. Such a record would be of great assistance to genealogists.

The figure of a rooster which was once the weather vane on the old Methodist church of the town has been placed in the custody of the chapter, which is endeavoring to trace its history. It is said to have been made by Paul Revere.

At the outbreak of the present war the chapter offered its services to the Governor of the state, who promptly accepted them. The chapter organized a Watertown branch of the Volunteer Aid Association, and much effective work was done toward the furnishing of the hospital ship Bay State. Two hundred and seventy-six articles were made for the soldiers. Many garments were forwarded to the soldiers at the front, quantities of reading matter were sent to the various military hospitals, and a call for help from the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic was met by a generous gift of money.

MICHIGAN.

Through the efforts of Mrs. J. C. Burrows, one of our vice-presidents general and wife of the United States Senator, the ladies of Kalamazoo were organized on June 30, 1898, for relief work, under the title of the "Ladies' Patriotic Aid Society of Kalamazoo." Work was continued all summer, until the demand for supplies was made less urgent by the return of the Michigan soldiers from camp and battlefield. The neighboring towns of Galesburg, Augusta, Richland, Schoolcraft, South Haven, and Dowagiac joined in the work, several of the city churches gave liberally, and the Southworth Lodge of the Knights of Pythias added its contribution, while other citizens of the city and country raised an emergency fund of $1,500. The articles of clothing and bedding sent to the soldiers of the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, and Thirty-third Michigan regiments numbered 1,642, besides barrels of jellies and fruits, dozens of fans, and large quantities of old linen and reading matter. As no chapter has yet been formed in Kalamazoo, this result of one woman's efforts is the more remarkable.

Genesee Chapter, of Flint, 21 members, provided many aprons for the army and navy nurses in service.

Lansing Chapter, of Lansing, 47 members, sent 86 articles to the hospitals at Old Point Comfort, Virginia, and to Camp Poland.

Louisa St. Clair Chapter, of Detroit, 182 members, raised funds to the amount of $610.52 in aid of the soldiers. Contributions for relief work were sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps at Washington; to Chickamauga Chapter; to the Sternberg Hospital; to the nurses in the service; to Porto Rico; to the surgeons of several Michigan regiments, and to the families of the regular soldiers in the field. In all, $701.91 were expended, and 2,335 articles of clothing, bedding, and hospital necessaries were forwarded where needed, besides 12 large boxes of books, and mosquito netting and old linen in great quantities. Twenty nurses went to the field with the recommendation of this chapter. One of these, Miss Ella May Tower, died in the service. Plans are forming for a monument to her memory. Her name will be found on our roll of honor, page 87.

Among the honored members of this chapter is Mrs. Wm. Fitzhugh Edwards, the state regent.

Sophie de Marsac Campau Chapter, of Grand Rapids, 71 members, secured a room in the central part of the city for a depot of supplies, and kept it open for two months, from June to the last of August. Here some members were in attendance every day, receiving and listing the various articles prepared, answering letters of inquiry, and packing boxes for shipment to the points where needed. Gauze bandages to the amount of 3,510 yards were rolled by these ladies, besides many of unbleached cotton. All of these were sterilized through the kindness of the hospital authorities of the city, and packed in sealed pails furnished by the Grand Rapids Packing Company free of charge. Contributions of 179 articles and $112.25 in money were received, and 12 boxes, containing in all 557 articles, some quite large and heavy, were forwarded to meet the requests of surgeons and nurses at Fernandina, Key West, Chattanooga, Chickamauga Park, Jacksonville, and Island Lake. Six nurses from the Grand Rapids Training School and one from an Illinois school went to the front with the indorsement of the chapter. Plans are now forming for the erection of tablets to mark the location of early missions to the Indians.

Ypsilanti Chapter, of Ypsilanti, 23 members, sent 123 articles for hospital use to Chickamauga, and 90 to a nurse at Jacksonville, Fla., or 213 in all.

Other members of the society in chapters not yet fully organized, at Marquette, Muskegon, and Pontiac, gave $133 and 633 articles for the use of soldiers and nurses at Chickamauga and Santiago de Cuba.

MINNESOTA.

Charter Oak Chapter, of Faribault, as yet scarcely organized, assisted in the welcome home extended to the soldiers of the town on their return from service.

Colonial Chapter, of Minneapolis, 116 members, organized in May, 1898, an auxiliary of the American National Red Cross, and expended all the funds in the chapter treasury for material from which to make hospital garments. At the suggestion of the late Major Wilkinson, of the Third Infantry, these garments were sent to the division hospital of the Third Infantry, where they were much needed. One company of 106 men in the Fifteenth Regiment, at Camp Ramsey, was supplied with stout bedticks, which each man could stuff with straw or leaves or grass on reaching any camp. These added greatly to the comfort of the men. When the Fourteenth Regiment brought home its sick men from camp there was again a great need for hospital shirts, and, as always, the need was met by the willing ladies of the chapter.

The work for the living soldiers of the Spanish war had scarcely closed when the local disturbance with the Indians at Leech Lake called for the tribute of flowers to the dead who so gallantly paid the penalty of other men's blunders.

The summary of the work accomplished by this chapter is the raising of $93 and the making of 150 articles for soldiers' use, besides the purchase of material for 300 more, given to the Red Cross.

Daughters of Liberty Chapter, of Duluth, 28 members, contributed to the relief work of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Distaff Chapter, of St. Paul, 25 members, had but just organized when the call for relief came. The first work was the making of garments for the destitute women and children of Cuba. In May, 1898, a set of hospital flags was made and presented to the regimental hospitals of three regiments encamped near the city, while individual members of the chapter supplied delicacies, old linen, and books. Contributions were also sent to the relief funds of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and several nurses were recommended who were afterwards accepted for service by the D. A. R. hospital corps. During July and August the majority of the members freely gave their time to the work of the local Red Cross Society, the vice-regent being the head of the movement in that locality. In September, a contribution of aprons was sent to the nurses at Jacksonville, Fla.

Greysolon Du l'Hut Chapter, of Duluth, 18 members, recommended four nurses who went to the field from Duluth.

Minneapolis Chapter, of Minneapolis, 68 members, sent in June a box of hospital supplies valued at $40 to the hospital department of Minnesota's Fourteenth Regiment, then encamped at Chickamauga Park. An entertainment for the benefit of the regiment was also given, resulting in the sum of $25, which was held until it should be needed.

On September 6, 1898, the anniversary of the massacre at Fort Griswold, Conn., the chapter planted a tree in earth sent by Eastern "Daughters" from points of historic interest. Mrs. E. Torrance, the state regent, honors this chapter by her membership.

Nathan Hale Chapter, of St. Paul, 45 members, contributed to the relief work of the National Society and sent aprons for a nurse at Chickamauga. This was probably the first chapter in the state to respond to the call of the national society.

St. Paul Chapter, of St. Paul, 166 members, appropriated $20 from its treasury in response to patriotic calls, and the individual members gave generously of work and money and time, but no record was kept.

Wenonah Chapter, of Winona, 23 members, made 401 articles for soldiers' needs before a local branch of the American National Red Cross was started. Afterwards their war work was done through that organization.

MISSISSIPPI.

Natchez Chapter, of Natchez, 14 members, is the only organized chapter in the state. For two successive seasons the members were driven from their homes by floods or yellow fever, hence the war work there was meager. Contributions were, however, sent in response to the appeal of Chickamauga Chapter.

MISSOURI.

Before war was declared between Spain and the United States a note was sent by the state regent to all the chapters in the state asking them to be ready for whatever service might be possible for them to render in the coming crisis. The injunction was obeyed to the letter, as will be seen below.

Elizabeth Benton Chapter, of Kansas City, 113 members, set the example of generosity in a way very pleasant to the soldiers. As the regiments passed through the city lunches were served to hundreds of men.

Jane Randolph Jefferson Chapter, of Jefferson, 22 members, and St. Joseph Chapter, of St. Joseph, 18 members, sent dozens of nightshirts, and "Daughters" from Kirkwood and all near towns where the name of Daughters of the American Revolution is known, furnished aprons for nurses and dainties for the sick through these chapters.

St. Louis Chapter, of St. Louis, 188 members, is the mother chapter of the society in the state, the largest in membership, and counts the state regent, Mrs. George H. Shields, among its honored members. During the war St. Louis was a rendezvous for southwestern troops, and many thousands passed through on their westward journey. A box of food sufficient for thirty-six hours was furnished by this chapter to each man of these departing regiments, and proved a great relief to the tired and hungry boys who had been so many hours confined to the slow-moving troop trains. Money amounting to $824.62 was also collected and wisely disbursed by this chapter, in paying the expenses of some of the nurses sent from the city to the front. Eighteen of these noble women, trained for their profession and enthusiastic in their work, went to this arduous service from Missouri. One of them, a physician as well as a nurse, Dr. Irene S. Toland, of St. Louis, gave her life to serve her country in its need. Being immune to yellow fever she seemed peculiarly fitted for the task, and left home in the best of health. In one of her letters she says:

> Yesterday morning I went to the cot of a naval officer, very ill with the fever. * * * His life had been hanging as by a thread, * * * and the first sign of interest he gave was to look at me and say, "I am glad to be nursed by a woman; now I shall get well."

He did get well, but in a few days Dr. Toland had paid with her life for her devotion to duty. Her name will be found on our honor roll of those who died for the country. (Page 87.)

MONTANA.

Silver Bow Chapter, of Butte, 14 members, has aided the George Washington Memorial Association and sent a contribution to the relief work of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution. The chapter takes its name from the beautiful stream that runs through the valley below the city, forming a silver bow among the Rocky Mountains.

NEBRASKA.

Deborah Avery Chapter, of Lincoln, 63 members, gives annually a costly gold medal to the young lady graduate of the Lincoln High School who prepares the best paper on some historical subject chosen by a committee from the chapter.

During the summer of 1898 contributions for relief work were as follows: To the war fund of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, $27.50; to hospital at Chattanooga, $5; to the Red Cross Society at San Francisco, to be forwarded to Manila, $48; a total of $80.50. One bale of hospital clothing and 40 pounds of food supplies for the sick were also sent to Manila.

The chapter furnished a large register in which the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution inscribed their names when they visited the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha in 1898. The book is now in possession of the state historical society.

In April, 1898, a fine loan collection was held at the home of the regent in Lincoln, and afterwards placed in the joint loan collection exhibited at Omaha during the Trans-Mississippi Exposition by the "Sons" and "Daughters" of the American Revolution. The chapter's part of the exhibit numbered about 70 peculiarly choice specimens and comprised a great range of articles, from a brass cannon captured on a British ship in Boston Harbor to a pair of ironbound spectacles worn by a Vermont soldier of the Revolution.

Omaha Chapter, of Omaha, 39 members, has offered a medal to the pupils of the eighth grade of the Omaha public schools for the best essay on Colonial manners and customs. During the Spanish war, aprons were sent to the McPherson hospital at Atlanta, and hospital supplies went to Manila to testify the good will of this chapter.

Unorganized chapters at Seward, Loomis, Havelock, Hebron, and University Place sent contributions, amounting to $53.10 in cash, 64 garments, and 60 pounds of delicacies for the sick.

The most important work accomplished by the Daughters of the American Revolution in Nebraska was due to the far-reaching influence of a letter written from Havana, March 11, 1898, by the late Mrs. Thurston, a charter member of the Omaha Chapter and a vice-president-general of the National Society. Mrs. Thurston went with her husband, Senator Thurston, to Cuba on a visit of inspection, and was so overwhelmed by the terrible suffering she witnessed among the reconcentrados that she wrote a most touching appeal for the starving Cubans. This letter was published in the Omaha World-Herald, and, followed two days later by the news of Mrs. Thurston's death, was republished under the title "Mrs. Thurston's last appeal." The managers of the paper state:

> This letter not only moved the World-Herald to open a relief bureau for the benefit of the Cuban sufferers, but it also inspired thousands of citizens to contribute to the relief bureau, with the result that within thirty days the World-Herald was enabled to dispatch to New York City a memorial train of 22 cars of provisions for Cuban sufferers, estimated to be worth $18,000 and, in addition thereto, something like $4,000 in cash. It is proper that the World-Herald should acknowledge the important influence of Mrs. Thurston's letter in promoting this good work, which achieved its size largely through the effectiveness of this appeal, which seemed to come from the tomb.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The library of the national society has been an object of special interest to most of the chapters in New Hampshire, and nearly every one has sent its town history to our shelves. As a result, New Hampshire is far better represented there than many of the larger and wealthier states. This is due to the interest and attention of the state regent, Mrs. Josiah Carpenter, and worthy of special mention.

At the outbreak of hostilities with Spain a State Aid Society was organized in New Hampshire under the direction of Governor Ramsdell. Committees were appointed in all parts of the state to cooperate with the central body. As a general thing the chapters of our society in New Hampshire planned and worked for the soldiers through local branches of this aid society. The total result of their efforts can not, therefore, be detailed here, and the report must necessarily be "unsatisfactory as far as public credit is concerned." But the endeavors of these patriotic "Daughters" were "grandly noble when looked upon in the light of our foremothers' example, who worked solely for the good they could accomplish."

Anne Stickney Chapter, of North Conway, 30 members, has placed a flag pole and flag on the public-school building and presented lithographed flags to each school in town, as well as to those of the neighboring town of Bartlett. It has also rendered substantial aid to one of its "Own Daughters," who in her old age is blind and without relatives. A generous sum of money was raised and sent to Governor Ramsdell, together with many hospital necessaries made by willing hands for the relief of New Hampshire troops.

Ashuelot Chapter, of Keene, 42 members, placed a tablet of slate upon the house where 30 men gathered for the march to Lexington, Mass., on the alarm in April, 1775. (Plates 24, 25.) At that time the house was the village tavern, and it still retains many of its ancient characteristics. The names of all these 30 resolute men can not be stated with certainty, since the company rolls were lost. Twenty-two names, however, have been saved from oblivion, and they will be found below:

Captain Isaac Wyman.
Lieutenant Jeremiah Stiles (afterwards captain).

New Hampshire men at the front, and two boxes of reading matter. In connection with the American National Red Cross $300 more were raised for the relief of the sick and wounded.

Buntin Chapter, of Pembroke, 26 members, has contributed the History of Pembroke to our library, sent $20 to the relief work of the national society, and 106 articles to the State Aid Society for the New Hampshire troops.

Exeter Chapter, of Exeter, 23 members, gave the History of Exeter to the library of the national society, sent $10 for the relief of the suffering Cubans, and worked with the State Aid Society, and also with the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association.

Margery Sullivan Chapter, of Dover, has given the History of Dover to the library of the national society. In the absence of any regular relief society in the town, the regent called meetings for sewing in aid of the soldiers. In this way there was secured for relief work a large number of articles valued at $100, which were forwarded through the D. A. R. hospital corps to Jacksonville, Fla. Two boxes of reading matter were also sent.

Matthew Thornton Chapter, of Nashua, 58 members, has given prizes of $5 and $10, respectively, to pupils in the high school for essays on the "Causes of the American Revolution." The History of Nashua was presented to the library of the national society. In war work it has joined with the State Aid Society and other clubs in raising money for the soldiers' relief.

Milford Chapter, of Milford, 21 members, has designated with bronze markers the graves of 27 Revolutionary soldiers buried in the town, and of 5 buried elsewhere in the State, as follows:

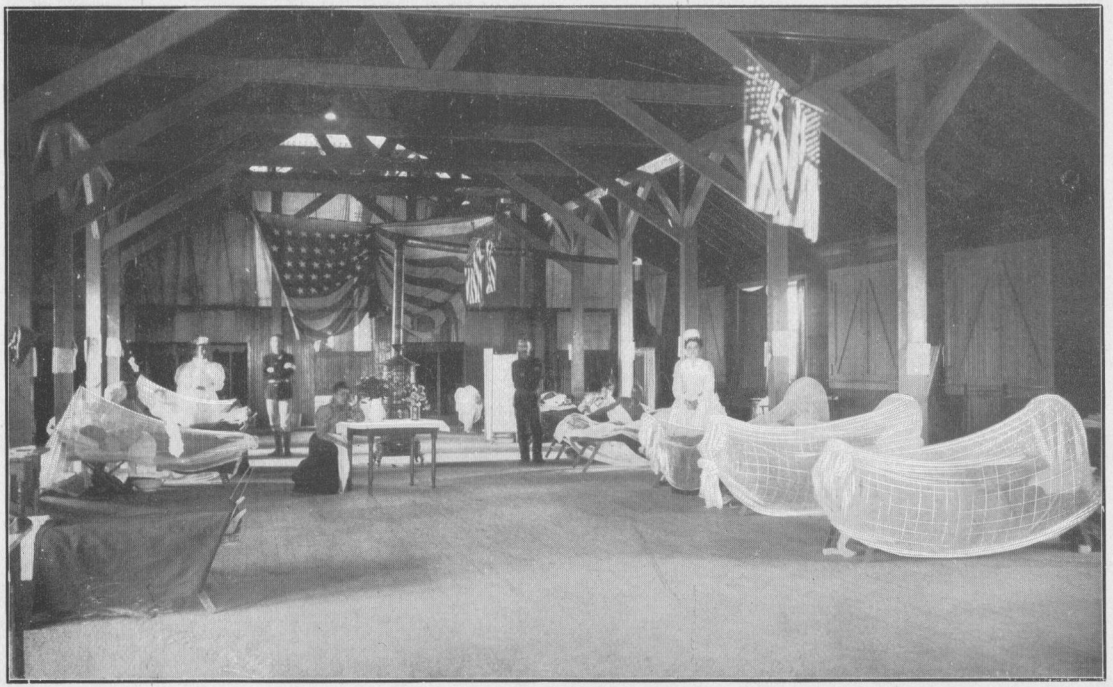
Molly Reid Chapter, of Derry, 42 members, has rescued from oblivion the spot where Maj. Gen. John Stark was born. A substantial granite monument, plain, strong, and simple, like his character, has been erected at the site on an orchard-crowned hillside in East Derry. (Plate 26.) The national library of the society has also not been forgotten by the chapter, and several books testify to its faithfulness in giving. Its war work was done through the State Aid Society. A contribution was also given for the Continental Memorial Hall to be erected in Washington.

Molly Stark Chapter, of Manchester, 101 members, donated 51 valuable books of history to the library of the Hyde School in the town, accompanied by the recommendation that the study of American history be given greater prominence in the curriculum. The library of the national society has also received a donation of books from this chapter, valued at more than $25. The war work was done through the State Aid Society, the Colonial Dames, and local patriotic societies. This chapter rejoices in having the name of the state regent, Mrs. Josiah Carpenter, upon its roll of members.

Reprisal Chapter, of Newport, 29 members, presented a large, framed photogravure of Washington to the high school, and gave to each pupil in the grammar and intermediate schools a booklet on the Origin of Our Flag. The fallen and discolored headstone of a Revolutionary soldier, Samuel Church, was made clean and white, and firmly reset, by the individual efforts of the regent, Mrs. A. C. Bradley, who also gave a history of Newport to the library of the national society. In the war work $50 were sent to Captain Stowell, of Company M, New Hampshire Regiment, for the use of sick soldiers in the hospitals. One hundred and fourteen articles were made for the soldiers, besides a well-filled comfort bag given to each man who enlisted from Newport, before he left home.

Samuel Ashley Chapter, of Claremont, 33 members, has contributed to the fund for the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm in Georgia, and to the Continental Memorial Hall fund. The History of Claremont has been given to the library of the national society. The chapter joined forces with other societies in the war work.

STONE ERECTED BY MOLLY REID CHAPTER ON SITE OF GEN. JOHN STARK'S BIRTHPLACE, EAST DERRY, N. H.



INTERIOR OF HOSPITAL AT SEAGIRT, N. J., WHERE THE NEW JERSEY D. A. R. NURSED THE SOLDIERS.

NEW JERSEY.

In May, 1898, a general meeting of representatives of the New Jersey chapters was held at Plainfield, and it was voted that each individual member should contribute $1 to form a fund for the special relief of New Jersey soldiers. This was to be disbursed by the state regent, Mrs. David A. Depue, under the advice of the adjutant-general of the state. The amount thus placed at the immediate disposal of the state regent was $982.17. But it was supplemented by bountiful supplies of delicacies, medicines, and almost every known appliance for the treatment of the sick.

On the return of the First New Jersey Regiment from Camp Alger, it was sent to Seagirt, N. J., and the adjutant-general telegraphed the leaders of the New Jersey Daughters of the American Revolution to come and care for the sick. The state regent and the regent of Nova Cæsarea Chapter responded at once, and opened a hospital (Plate 27) in one end of the mess hall at Seagirt, assisted by the voluntary service of trained nurses from Newark, Trenton, and Philadelphia. Over 50 soldiers, most of them seriously ill, were received and so skillfully treated that but one death occurred at this hospital. After the regiment was mustered out, and the men returned to their homes, the "Daughters" still maintained a watchful care over them, and thus prevented or alleviated much of the illness which occurred in other states where this care was not exercised. When the temporary hospital at Seagirt was closed, the large supply of hospital stores and utensils was turned over to the hospital at Long Branch, and to the Government hospital at Camp Voorhees.

Boudinot Chapter, of Elizabeth, 38 members, contributed $30 toward maintaining the camp hospital at Seagirt, N. J., and gave many books and hospital supplies. Markers have been placed at the graves of Revolutionary soldiers in the vicinity.

Broad Seal Chapter, of Trenton, 19 members, contributed to the Woman's National War Relief Association during the war with Spain. A box of supplies was sent valued at $40. Gifts have also been made for the restoration of the Wallace House, mentioned in last report, and to the Rocky Hill Association.

Buff and Blue Chapter, of Trenton, 46 members, contributed to the furnishing of Rocky Hill headquarters an old tea table and china tea set. The china is of luster ware and over 100 years old.

For war relief $20 were given by the chapter to the hospital at Seagirt, supplemented by many large individual gifts, through other relief societies.

Camp Middlebrook Chapter, of Bound Brook, 30 members, offered a prize to pupils in the public schools for the best work in United States history. A contribution of $50 helped to restore the Wallace house.

Graves of Revolutionary soldiers have been designated by bronze markers at an expense of $20. (Plate 28.) A volume entitled "First Things in Somerset County," was given to the library of the national society. The town is indebted to that chapter for the free drinking fountain erected through their efforts. (Plate 29.)

For relief work $18 were contributed to the war fund in the hands of the state regent for the use of the Seagirt Hospital.

Captain Jonathan Oliphant Chapter, of Trenton, 29 members, gave $22 to the relief work of the national society, and 65 hospital shirts. In addition large donations were made by individual members.

Continental Chapter, of Plainfield, 34 members, contributed $200 to the restoration of the Wallace house. Seagirt Hospital received $60 as a gift from this chapter, and $80 were sent for soldiers' relief to Santiago de Cuba. The families of needy soldiers have been aided by the chapter to the extent of $60 more.

Eagle Rock Chapter, of Montclair, 37 members, gives an annual prize to schools, and is furnishing with antique furniture a room in the public library building.

During the war $80 were given to Seagirt Hospital, $84 to the American National Red Cross, $37.50 to the Second New Jersey Regiment, $40 to Mountain Side Hospital, and $50 to the care of disabled soldiers. The restoration of the Wallace house received help to the amount of $50.

General David Forman Chapter, of Trenton, 23 members, contributed $56.20 in cash to the hospital at Seagirt, and over $100 for delicacies for the sick.

CEMETERY AT BOUND BROOK, N. J., SHOWING REVOLUTIONARY GRAVES MARKED BY CAMP MIDDLEBROOK CHAPTER.

DRINKING FOUNTAIN AT BOUND BROOK, N. J. ERECTED BY CAMP MIDDLEBROOK CHAPTER.

General Frelinghuysen Chapter, of Somerville, 27 members, gave $260 toward the restoration of the Wallace house. A picture of the room restored by this chapter was in last year's report. Many articles of colonial and Revolutionary history were placed in the old house.

Local patriotic work was aided by $100, and $25 were sent to the hospital fund for use at Seagirt. Individual members did most helpful relief work through other societies.

General La Fayette Chapter, of Atlantic City, 43 members, voted $10 annually to the Continental Memorial Hall fund. The chapter has aided the George Washington Memorial Association and is furthering other educational work.

A contribution of $20 was made to the fund in the hands of the state regent, and two members took each one soldier to her home and nursed him until he recovered.

Haddonfield Chapter, of Haddonfield, 24 members, worked through the American National Red Cross, and sent $11 to the D. A. R. war fund. Two barrels of literature were sent to the receiving ship at Richmond navy-yard, 1 barrel of delicacies to Fortress Monroe, and another to the D. A. R. hospital corps at Washington. The needs of sick soldiers in passing trains were also met, and large quantities of hospital garments and supplies were sent to the German hospital in Philadelphia.

Jersey Blue Chapter, of New Brunswick, 35 members, reports $100 given to the Wallace house, and $85 to the war work of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, and of the Soldiers' Relief Society, of New Brunswick. In August, 1898, a large box of hospital stores was sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps.

An annual prize is given to that pupil in the city high school who has made the highest average record in United States history.

Morristown Chapter, of Morristown, 30 members, worked with the Naval Aid and American National Red Cross societies for war relief, but not as an organization. Individual members, however, gave thousands of dollars. The chapter has also contributed money for a memorial sundial to be placed on the grounds of the hospital at Morristown. Contemporaries state that this was the spot where Washington, at his own request, partook of the communion with a congregation of dissenters, though he himself was a member of the Church of England.

Nassau Chapter, of Camden, 18 members, contributed $300 to the state regent's hospital fund, besides much individual work in other ways. One member supported two trained nurses, worked herself in the hospitals, and took a soldier to her own home until he was convalescent. They have erected a pole and given a flag for the Foster Home at Camden.

Nova Cæsarea Chapter, of Newark, 149 members, is the parent chapter of the state, and has the honor of counting the state regent among its members. A contribution has been made to the fund for the Continental Memorial Hall. Several fine prizes have been offered in the public schools for patriotic essays, and a handsome flag and staff were given to the Foster Home at Newark.

During the summer of 1898 over $300 were collected and expended in hospital work at Camp Voorhees, Seagirt, N. J. Delicacies and other comforts valued at $45 were sent to the ship Badger and to the First and Second New Jersey Volunteer Regiments at Camp Alger, Va., and Jacksonville, Fla. One member supported two trained nurses in the camp hospital, besides working there herself and caring for one soldier at her own home until he was convalescent. Other members and friends gave garments and delicacies valued at $500.

The one "Real Daughter" belonging to the chapter has died since the last report. She was one of those pensioned by Congress. Her funeral expenses were paid by the chapter, and a suitable monument is to be erected.

Princeton Chapter, of Princeton, 36 members, contributed $50 to the Washington headquarters at Rocky Hill. For war relief $30 were given, besides valuable medical supplies, and 5 boxes of clothing and other comforts.

Trent Chapter, of Trenton, 26 members, reports the furnishing of a room in the Rocky Hill headquarters.

During the war a contribution of $50 was made to the war relief fund for the hospital ships, and many little comforts and necessaries valued at $25 were sent to the soldiers in various camps. The chapter is working for the erection of the sundial at Morristown, and several historic tablets are soon to be placed.

NEW MEXICO.

In the last directory there were but 15 Daughters of the American Revolution resident in the whole Territory of New Mexico, and but one organized chapter. But from May to October these few women made up in activity what they lacked in numbers. The troopers of the "Rough Riders" will long remember them. The state regent, Mrs. L. Bradford Prince, was present at the formation of the Colorado Soldiers' Aid Society in May, 1898, and assisted in providing garments and luncheons for a company of Torrey's Rough Riders. On May 25, she made an appeal to the Daughters of the American Revolution in New Mexico, urging them to organize a soldiers' aid society of their own. She also wrote to other influential women in the territory, sending patterns and directions for making garments, and asking their help for the 500 New Mexico Rough Riders. Within forty-eight hours after receiving the letter, one lady had 420 articles ready to send to the "boys" at San Antonio, Tex. Aid societies were formed in East Las Vegas, Las Cruces, and Albuquerque.

Sunshine Chapter, of Santa Fe, 13 members, called a public meeting and formed a soldiers' aid society, whose officers were all chapter members. When the First Volunteer Cavalry, or Rough Riders, were mustered out, silver medals for those deserving special recognition were presented by the "Daughters" of Santa Fe, and a great banquet was given to all these soldiers by the aid society and the Daughters of the American Revolution. The care of the sick, who succumbed to the deadly Cuban fever after their return home, occupied the women of the chapter long after the war closed. As a matter of course, the state regent is the life and soul of this chapter.

NEW YORK.

New York City was the headquarters for two of the important relief organizations of the country, nameiy, the Woman's National War Relief Association and the American National Red Cross.

The Woman's National War Relief Association was organized by, and was under the general direction of, one of the founders of our society, Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, who gave up her time, her service and her daughter's life to its exacting demands. Its Assistant Director-General, and one of its most earnest workers, was Miss Helen Miller Gould, a member-at-large of the Daughters of the American Revolution. For her benevolent work in this association and for her generous gift to the Navy she has received the thanks of the Congress of the United States.

The head of the American National Red Cross is Miss Clara Barton, who is known throughout the world. She is one of the honorary vice-presidents of our national society, having been elected for life in 1896. (See page 19.)

It will be noted that a large number of the war contributions from Daughters of the American Revolution were sent through one or other of these societies.

Astenrogen Chapter, of Littlefalls, 23 members, gave a medal to the public school pupil who made the highest record in the rigid examination in American history conducted by the regents of the University of the State of New York. One hundred and thirty-two articles and $26 in cash were given for the relief of soldiers in hospitals.

Baron Steuben Chapter, of Bath, 27 members, offers annually two prizes for the first and second best essays on a subject assigned. A contribution was also sent to Georgia to aid in the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm. In war work, this chapter makes a showing of 99 articles and $100 in cash, of which $60 were sent to the war fund of the national society. It is now raising funds to restore the monument to Baron Steuben.

Bronx Chapter, of Mount Vernon, 15 members, held a very successful loan exhibit of relics relating to the Revolutionary period, and was thereby enabled to offer a prize to the graduating classes of the high schools for the best essay on an assigned topic in American history.

Three hundred and six articles for soldiers' use were contributed, besides a large consignment of groceries and hospital supplies.

Buffalo Chapter, of Buffalo, 370 members, has given especial attention to the educational part of our work, as this city has 75,000 Poles and 25,000 Italians among its population. The adults of these people will never learn to read the English language, though the men will in course of time become voters. The chapter finds its nearest duty to be the instruction of these men in American history and civil government.

The best and most earnest writers in the chapter have prepared lectures for this purpose, to be translated into these languages and delivered during the winter of 1899. The work requires much care, as the lectures must meet the needs and interest of adult foreigners who were little more than children in their native lands.

The display of flags on the public-school buildings in the state of New York is largely due to the efforts of this chapter.

From June until October of 1898, the members were busily working for war relief, the result being 1,273 articles of clothing for the soldiers and nurses, 3 barrels and boxes of stores sent to Cuba, and cash contributions to the amount of $372.57. Nineteen nurses went to the front with recommendations from this chapter.

Camden Chapter, of Camden, 32 members, reports 36 garments made for soldiers, and a contribution of $12 in cash for relief work.

Prior to the outbreak of hostilities the chapter was raising funds for a memorial to the survivors of the Revolution who settled Camden. The need of war work during the summer prevented the completion of the task, but efforts are now being renewed and the work will be finished in 1899.

Catherine Schuyler Chapter, of Belmont, 35 members, has contributed to the purchase fund for Meadow Garden Farm, and has helped many more needy chapters in marking historic graves and places. It is now working to mark such spots in Allegany County, N. Y. The war work was very large, but the records have not been given.

Cayuga Chapter, of Ithaca, 27 members, offered a prize to the girl in the high school who should write the best essay on "Fort Ticonderoga; its history, and the reason why its capture in May, 1775, was considered an important event." The prize was won by Miss Sarah E. Burgess, the essay being illustrated by maps.

The graves of 6 Revolutionary soldiers have been marked by this chapter, as follows:

In Ithaca.

Michael Burgess,
Capt. Benjamin Coykendall,
Joshua Ferris,
Absalom Johnson.

In Ulysses.

Jeptha Lee,
Abner Treman.

The reported war work was $20 in cash and 3 boxes of articles valued at $16.45. One nurse was sent through the D. A. R. hospital corps to Porto Rico, with the recommendation of this chapter.

Chemung Chapter, of Elmira, 52 members, provided 324 articles of clothing and $15 in cash for war relief work.

De-o-on-go-wa Chapter, of Batavia, 32 members, made 70 garments for hospital use and sent 2 barrels of supplies valued at $180. Its next work will be the marking of Revolutionary graves in Genesee County and the furnishing of a chapter room in the Holland Patent land office. One nurse recommended by this chapter was sent through the D. A. R. hospital corps to Fort McPherson, Ga.

Fort Greene Chapter, of Brooklyn, 204 members, contributed $75 for war relief. The best efforts of these ladies have long been devoted to the raising of funds for the monument to the prison-ship martyrs of Wallabout Bay. Through their endeavors the name of Fort Greene was restored by the legislature to the spot where these martyrs are buried. The chapter was largely instrumental in forming the Prison Ship Martyrs' Monument Association in Brooklyn, and handed over nearly $5,000 collected for the monument. Several members of the chapter have also contributed generously to the Continental Memorial Hall, more than $1,200 in all.

Fort Plain Chapter, of Fort Plain, 21 members, reports the making of 46 garments for soldiers and the sending of 2 barrels of books and a box of delicacies, together with other supplies valued at $31.

Fort Stanwix Chapter, of Rome, 72 members, has given two prizes for essays on the American Revolution. The reported war work consisted of 321 garments and other articles for soldiers' use and $107 raised for relief purposes. The chapter is now preparing to mark the site of Fort Stanwix, the first fort over which the flag of the United States was unfurled. Twenty-five dollars has been given to the Continental Memorial Hall fund.

Gansevoort Chapter, of Albany, 61 members, made 31 articles for nurses and contributed $152.50 in cash for relief work.

General Nicholas Herkimer Chapter, of Herkimer, 37 members, provided 207 articles for the comfort of the soldiers and gave $10 in cash.

Hendrick Hudson Chapter, of Hudson, 53 members, contributed 160 articles for hospital use, 900 pounds of supplies for a Thanksgiving dinner to Company I, of the Two hundred and third New York Regiment, and $100 in money.

Irondequoit Chapter, of Rochester, 174 members, purchased in October, 1897, an appropriate lot in which the remains of Rev. Ebenezer Vining, a Revolutionary soldier, were placed after removal from the potter's field. A suitable marker was placed at his grave. Fifty dollars has been given to the Continental Memorial Hall fund.

A relief corps was organized under the auspices of the chapter early in May, 1898, and almost all the philanthropic associations of the city and vicinity were enlisted. Thirty-eight of such organizations took part in the work and the Watson House was made headquarters. A total of $1,852.55 was secured in this way for soldiers' relief. The actual output of the chapter in war work was 4,949 garments and $85 in cash.

Kanisteo Valley Chapter, of Hornellsville, 25 members, reports $10 as contributed to war relief and another $10 to the Continental Memorial Hall fund.

Keskeskick Chapter, of Yonkers, 39 members, worked with Auxiliary No. 4 to the American National Red Cross, which made 7,000 garments. The individual part borne by the chapter is therefore merged in the report of that auxiliary and can not be separated.

Knickerbocker Chapter, of New York City, 76 members, contributed $100 to the Continental Memorial Hall fund and sent a small contribution to Camden Chapter, New York, for its memorial stone.

The war work consisted of 250 garments and 200 books for soldiers; $100 for the hospital ship Relief; $23.50 for the relief work of the national society, and 161 articles sent to the Soldiers and Sailors' Family Protective Association. One trained nurse represented this chapter in the hospital at Fort Myer, Va.

A beautiful custom of these ladies is the observance of April 26 in each year as a memorial day, on which occasion a suitable service is held in memory of the chapter members who have passed "beyond." This day was chosen because the first death in the chapter occurred on that date.

Le Ray de Chaumont Chapter, of Watertown, 71 members, provided a luncheon for the Ninth New York Infantry, gave 172 articles of clothing, 150 books, 5 daily newspapers for two months, and collected $186.18 for relief work.

Mahwenawasigh Chapter, of Poughkeepsie, 95 members, is trying hard to raise funds for the restoration and furnishing of the old Clinton house.

During the war with Spain the chapter cooperated with the local auxiliary of the Woman's National War Relief Association. This auxiliary raised $1,006.13, cared for 11 soldiers, fed 500 men, supplied with food 1069 sick and penniless soldiers on trains stopping at Poughkeepsie, sent 4 boxes to Montauk Point, 4 barrels to Hampton, 9 barrels and 4 boxes to Honolulu, besides supporting a sick soldier and his family for nine weeks. As the chapter is large, it is fair to assume that a good proportion of this work is due to the chapter members.

Mary Washington Colonial Chapter, of New York City, 109 members, has placed a beautiful bronze tablet on the interior wall of the General post-office, to mark the spot where a liberty pole was repeatedly destroyed by Tories from 1766 to 1776 and as repeatedly replaced by the Sons of Liberty. (Plate 30.)

A large number of nurses were sent on recommendations of the regent, but no record was kept. The war contributions of this chapter amounted to $720.

Mary Weed Marvin Chapter, of Walton, 22 members, sent 45 books to the soldiers and contributed $25 for relief work. Its literary programme planned for the season of 1898–99, is most attractive in its promise of earnest work.

Melzingah Chapter, of Fishkill, 33 members, gave a prize to the girl in the town who wrote the best essay on the subject: "The failure of the Burgoyne expedition and the reason for it."

On October 14, 1897, a monument was erected by the chapter to mark the last resting place of the Revolutionary soldiers found buried at Fishkill. (Plate 31.)

On May 30, 1898, the chapter became the owner of a fine granite monument erected by Lafayette Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and placed in the wall adjoining the Brinckerhoff house, where Lafayette was ill for six weeks during the Revolution. (Plate 32.)

With the help of the other ladies at Fishkill a large barrel of useful articles was prepared and sent to the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga. A contribution was also sent to Lafayette Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of New York City, for the flags to be raised over schoolhouses in Porto Rico. Contribution boxes were placed in the public buildings of the town by the chapter, and individual gifts were solicited. With the revenue thus derived material was purchased for garments and bedding, which were sent to the hospital at Montauk Point. The total amount of money given by the chapter alone for war relief was $65.

Mohawk Chapter, of Albany, 88 members, has the honor of counting upon its roll the president-general, Mrs. Daniel Manning. A prize for the best examination in American history was given in the Albany High School.

The first relief work was the starting of a war fund, from which a generous contribution was sent to the colonel of the Albany regiment for the needs of his men. Other sums were sent to the relief funds of the national society through the state regent. The total money contributions amounted to $433.39, and many delicacies were sent to the soldiers and sailors.

Mohegan Chapter, of Sing Sing, 53 members, established a society of "Children of the American Revolution" in October, 1897, and it is still under the direction of the chapter.

During the war with Spain the chapter organized Auxiliary 13 to the American National Red Cross, and furnished 10,000 towels for the soldiers, besides 7 boxes of books and 2 of delicacies for the sick. The total money contributions amounted to $20. On the return of the Seventy-first New York Regiment from Cuba, the chapter presented it with a handsome silk flag.

Monroe Chapter, of Brockport, 19 members, entertained 54 veterans of the Cady Post, Grand Army of the Republic, on Decoration Day, May 30, 1898.

An entertainment given on July 4, 1898, netted the sum of $174, the larger part of which was sent to Miss Clara Barton of the American National Red Cross for use in the hospitals in Santiago, and the remainder was forwarded to Camp Alger, Va., for similar purposes.

An appropriation of $25 has been made for the perpetual care of a lot in the village cemetery where the Rev. Amos Frink, a Revolutionary soldier, and his wife, lie buried.

New York City Chapter, of New York City, 377 members, began preparations for relief work on April 7, before war with Spain was declared. The regent appointed each member to act on a war committee in case the need should arise. With the funds secured from an entertainment and from contributions the following work was accomplished: A consignment of hammocks, each marked with the chapter name, was sent to each camp in the country, and to the Rough Riders and the Seventy-first Regiment in Cuba. A large assortment of illustrated periodicals containing accounts of the victory of Manila Bay were sent to Admiral Dewey's fleet at Manila by the earliest possible June transport. A circulating war library of 10,000 volumes was collected for distribution in camps, hospitals, and naval stations, and Auxiliary No. 7 of the American National Red Cross was organized by the chapter. A fine flag was sent to Admiral Schley for use in Porto Rico, and 1,000 books were given to the American National Red Cross for distribution. Two large consignments of delicacies were sent to Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, N. Y., and other like supplies went to the Brooklyn Hospital. Contributions were made to Chickamauga Chapter in response to its appeal for the sick soldiers, and to the Ninth and Seventy-third New York Regiments on their return. In June the chapter contributed $900 for the purchase of hospital tents, hammocks, and supplies. The whole amount of money expended by the chapter was about $2,000. In addition to this $2,000, one of the members, Mrs. Herbert Grayson Armitage, raised the sum of $2,515, which was expended in relief work at Montauk Point. Thirty double wagon loads of supplies were sent to that hospital and personally distributed to the sick soldiers. Four hospital tents were purchased and equipped. Forty-eight soldiers critically ill from malarial fever and other tropical complaints were brought from Montauk Point and placed under the care of private families. Thirteen sick soldiers were brought to Mount Sinai Hospital, in New York City. All of these 61 men were slowly brought back to health, under the more personal care made possible by this chapter. Help was also rendered to sick and destitute soldiers found on trains and leaving camp for their homes. This makes a total of more than $4,000 raised by this chapter for relief work.

An additional scholarship in history maintained as a series of lectures each year has been formed at Barnard College and is named in honor of the regent, Mrs. Donald McLean.

Olean Chapter, of Olean, 31 members, though a very young chapter, not a year old, made 133 articles for the soldiers and furnished a substantial dinner to 110 men of the home company on their return from the field.

Ondawa Chapter, of Cambridge, 34 members, gave two prizes in the public schools for the first and second best essays on "New York's share in the Revolution."

A member of this chapter has made a design which she hopes to have adopted as the official marker to be placed by the society at the graves of Revolutionary soldiers.

A Society of the Children of the American Revolution has been organized under the name of the Pompanuck Society.

The sum of $12.50 was given for relief work.

Oneida Chapter, of Utica, 197 members, collected in April, 1898, $500 and 1,343 articles of clothing and 13 large boxes of food supplies for hospital use. These were sent to the American National Red Cross for the starving Cubans.

The number and value of the annual prizes offered in the schools were increased in 1898, and the number of competitors evinced an increased interest in American history. The influence of the chapter on this study won the attention of the superintendent of public schools in his annual report.

A contribution of $50 was given to the Continental Memorial Hall fund in 1897.

In instant response to the call of the national board, Oneida Chapter joined the D. A. R. hospital corps, and aided the war fund. As rapidly as willing fingers and flying feet could ply needle and sewing machine, 1,534 garments were made and on their way, while 12 large boxes of hospital supplies, and 3 of groceries followed the order from headquarters to camp and hospital as fast as they could be packed. More than $1,700 were disbursed by the chapter for relief work during the summer of 1898, besides the individual contributions of many members to the Woman's National War Relief Association, the American National Red Cross, the Army and Navy Christian Commission, and other kindred agencies.

Miss Florence Wright, who went as the representative of this chapter to nurse in the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga, battled through all that hot summer for the life of her fever patients, supplied her helpless charges as far as she could with comforts purchased from her own slender means before the chapter knew the need, and stood at her post until her ward was closed in September, though the fever was throbbing in her own veins. Then she succumbed to an illness from which she barely escaped with life.

Oneonta Chapter, of Oneonta, 20 members, contributed $10 for war relief.

Onondaga Chapter, of Syracuse, 91 members, enjoys the privilege of having the name of the state regent, Mrs. James M. Belden, on its membership roll. There were contributed $234.56 in cash, and 510 articles for the needs of soldiers. Six nurses went to the front at the summons of the D. A. R. hospital corps, with the recommendation of this chapter. One, Miss Clara H. Ward, served well and faithfully at Fort Myer, Va., where she died of typhoid fever, aged 24. Her name will be found on our roll of honored dead, page 87.

Otsego Chapter, of Cooperstown, 74 members, gave 288 articles and $20 in money for war relief, and contributed to the Continental Memorial Hall fund.

Owahgena Chapter, of Cazenovia, 21 members, gave $61.50 in money, and 304 articles for relief work.

Owasco Chapter, of Auburn, 40 members, gave $10, and the regent paid traveling expenses for one nurse sent to Camp Cuba Libre, at Jacksonville, Fla.

Philip Schuyler Chapter, of Troy, 27 members, and the forming chapters at Cohoes and Fort Edward, contributed $155 in money and more than 266 articles of clothing and bedding for the soldiers; besides boxes of delicacies for the sick, and hospital supplies.

Quassaick Chapter, of Newburgh, 57 members, provided 484 articles of clothing and bedding, besides 2 barrels of books, a large consignment of hospital necessaries and groceries, and $128 in cash to meet the needs of sick and wounded soldiers. Funds are now being collected for a memorial to mark the site of the old Palatine Church, at Newburgh.

REUBENA HYDE WALWORTH.

SWEKATSI CHARTER ROOM, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

Sa-go-ye-wat-ha Chapter, of Seneca Falls, 46 members, gave 130 articles of hospital use and $33 in money to the relief of destitute soldiers.

Saranac Chapter, of Plattsburg, 54 members, contributed $35 to the Continental Memorial Hall fund in 1897. Annual prizes are given in the public schools for the best historical essays.

For war work the chapter gave 130 articles and $33 in cash, besides paying a trained nurse $122.70 to care for the men in hospital at Plattsburg Barracks. The patients at this place received many comforts and delicacies, provided regularly for several weeks, at an expense of $40.

Saratoga Chapter, of Saratoga Springs, 79 members, furnished 142 articles of clothing and $190 in money.

Among the honored members is Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, one of the founders of our society and the organizer and Director-General of the Woman's National War Relief Association, whose branches served the soldiers in many distant places. The name of her daughter, Reubena Hyde Walworth, another member of this chapter, will long be remembered as the faithful nurse and the unconscious heroine whose earnest young life was sacrificed with such high and loving devotion to the sufferers at Montauk Point. Deeming it wrong to accept money for such service to her country, she worked as a volunteer under the auspices of the Woman's National War Relief Association at Fortress Monroe and in the contagious ward at Montauk Point, where no other woman served. She stayed at her post until her last patient was discharged, but the fever had its hold upon her even then. She died October 18, 1898, and was borne to the grave with military honors, rendered by some of those whose lives she had saved. A monument commemorating her services will be given to the care of this chapter. (Pl. 33.)

Seneca Chapter, of Geneva, 17 members, gave 12 garments and $170 in money to aid the suffering soldiers.

Swe-kat-si Chapter, of Ogdensburg, 38 members, has given prizes in the public schools for the best essay on American history and contributed to the Continental Memorial Hall fund. A room for chapter meetings has been opened and furnished with many interesting relics of early days. (Plate 34.)

Two streets in Ogdensburg were originally named in honor of the Revolutionary generals Greene and Lafayette. In course of years the spelling of these names had been corrupted to "Green" and "Fayette." By the efforts of the ladies of this chapter the common council were induced to correct this spelling officially. A contribution of $44.50 was given to Ogdensburg public library for the purchase of books on American history.

Thirty-one garments, a barrel of books, and $24 were given for war relief work, and one nurse represented the chapter at Camp Wikoff.

The present efforts of the chapter are directed toward raising funds for a monument to mark the site of Fort La Présentation, erected at Ogdensburg by Abbé Piquet in 1749, and held successively by the French and English until finally evacuated by the English in 1796.

Tuscarora Chapter, of Binghamton, 92 members, contributed 185 articles of clothing and bedding and $60 in money, and sent to Chickamauga Chapter, Georgia, 1 barrel of hospital supplies containing 95 articles for the use of soldiers and nurses.

Miss Susan B. Crafts, ex-regent of this chapter, has prepared a list of the Revolutionary soldiers who settled Broome County, N. Y., and are buried within its limits. The services of each man and his place of burial are given. The work is most valuable, and is a much needed supplement to the records published by the state.

Vassar College Chapter, of Poughkeepsie, 24 members, is particularly interested in the history connected with the Hudson River. The alcove of history in the college library, mentioned last year, is slowly being filled and all the books bear the chapter bookplate.

Washington Heights Chapter, of New York City, 21 members, organized the Woman's Patriotic League of Washington Heights. The president of the league was the secretary of the chapter, and other officers and members were prominent in both organizations. Six sewing machines were kept busy for weeks, and the ladies of the Heights spent their afternoons at the cutting tables, preparing garments and necessaries for sailors of the Oregon, the Yankee, the Yosemite, the Nahant, and for the soldiers of the Twelfth, Twenty-second, Sixty-ninth, and Seventy-first New York Volunteers and Third Connecticut Volunteers. Clothing and supplies were sent to Chickamauga Park, to the Marine Hospital at Brooklyn, to Montauk Point, and to Jersey City. A money contribution was also sent for the electric fan on the hospital ship Relief. The chapter's part of all this work amounted to 798 articles of clothing and $300 in cash.

Willards Mountain Chapter, of Greenwich, 19 members, gave a fine gold medal to the student of the high school who, in June, 1898, had shown the greatest proficiency in United States history, as determined by the examination conducted by the regents of the University of New York. A "Real Daughter," Mrs. Eliza Stevens Thompson, belonging to this chapter, has some interesting relics used during the Revolutionary war by her father, Simon Stevens, jr. They are a bullet holder, bayonet, pistol holder, powder horn and flask. (Plate 35.)

In September, 1898, the chapter sent 30 garments to the invalid soldiers in the hospital at Plattsburgh Barracks, New York.

Wiltwyck Chapter, of Kingston, 116 members, provided the Fourteenth Company with a set of camp cooking utensils, sent three nurses to the front, gave books, newspapers, tobacco, and jellies, furnished 1,000 articles of bedding and clothing for war relief purposes, and $235.12 in cash, besides $66 collected from patriotic citizens outside the chapter. On July 6 a notice signed by the regent was printed in the local papers "inviting all ladies to meet at the city hall to help prepare supplies for the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors." This meeting will long be remembered by those who attended. It was followed by daily meetings for a week, and resulted in the sending of 4 large barrels of supplies to Santiago and 3 others to Chickamauga. One member volunteered to meet the troop trains carrying the returning soldiers, and $60 were spent in providing them with food.

The total gifts of New York chapters, as reported by the state regent, are as follows: Garments and bedding, 25,750 articles; books, 11,959 volumes; newspaper cuttings for hospital use, 622 envelopes; in all, 38,331 pieces; cash, $9,199.40. In addition to this, many large consignments of delicacies and hospital supplies were sent, but not enumerated.

NORTH DAKOTA.

William Mason Chapter, of Fargo, is as yet the only organized chapter in the state. The members worked with the local branch of the American National Red Cross during the war. This organization sent one nurse to Manila, and paid the expenses of her outfit and her salary. The state regent, Mrs. Frances C. Holley, raised sufficient money for the purchase of material for pajamas, shirts, and other hospital supplies, and enlisted the ladies of Bismarck to sew the garments. Just as work was well under way a destructive fire occurred in Bismarck, destroying the best business houses in the city, and among them the building containing all work prepared by the ladies of the D. A. R. The loss at that time was irreparable, and for some time no further war work could be done.

OHIO.

Immediately after the declaration of war between Spain and the United States, the state regent of Ohio, Mrs. Estes G. Rathbone, issued a circular letter to every chapter in her state, requesting them all not to disband as usual for the summer, but to be ready for an emergency call. This suggestion was very generally followed, and the ready response of the Ohio "Daughters" to all calls upon them was largely due to this foresight of the state regent.

Many of the members decided to join forces with the older organization known as the "Army and Navy League," which has a membership of over 3,000 men and women in Cincinnati alone. Mrs. Rathbone herself worked with this band of the league, and was placed in charge of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad stations, and also of that at the junction. It was at once decided that relief work should not be confined to the care of Ohio soldiers alone, but that every soldier traveling on Ohio railroads from any state should receive all possible comfort and relief. At several stations temporary hospitals were established through the courtesy of the railroads. Bands of doctors, nurses, and helpers were on hand at these places to meet every incoming train, and the contributions of money to sustain this work were liberal and constant. They endeavored to provide every soldier with food and money when necessary. If he were ailing, a doctor gave him medicines and a nurse arranged for his comfort on the train. If too feeble to proceed on his journey an ambulance was sent for and he was taken to a hospital, where his needs could have proper attention.

At the station, immediately under Mrs. Rathbone's care, volunteer regiments from Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, New York, and Ohio, and the Twelfth and Sixteenth regiments of regulars, or 12 regiments in all, were thus cared for, besides the Michigan, Ohio, and Connecticut hospital trains, containing 600 sick men from all parts of the country, and a battery of Ohio artillery and the Ohio cavalry, making a total of 20,257 officers and men. Of course this great work can not be claimed as belonging entirely to our society. But the active part taken by the state regent links it so closely with ours that it can scarcely be separated in a report.

Catherine Greene Chapter, of Xenia, 28 members, held in October, 1897, a loan exhibit of colonial relics so complete and instructive as to astonish all who saw it, and hundreds were in daily attendance. The china display alone numbered 500 pieces, and many articles in the various departments dated back 200 or 300 years.

A prize was offered to the pupils of the high school for the best essay on "The Spirit of '76."

The chapter began work for war relief early in the spring and continued as long as there was any need. In July, 1898, many of the patriotic citizens joined with the chapter in sending to Fortress Monroe barrels and boxes of supplies to the value of $90. The share given by the chapter was 440 articles, while the citizens provided 134.

Cincinnati Chapter, of Cincinnati, 236 members, worked under the Army and Navy League and the D. A. R. hospital corps at headquarters. One member proposed the plan of a hospital car and had charge of it with a force of physicians and nurses and all necessary appliances, clothing, and supplies for the comfort of the sick and wounded. The expense of this car was defrayed by the chamber of commerce and the Army and Navy League, $1,500 being given for the purpose. It was sent to the southern camps and brought home many invalid Ohio soldiers. The work was managed with such energy and discretion that but a part of the money donated was used, the remainder being returned to the organizations which gave it.

The emergency hospital at the Pennsylvania station, Cincinnati, was for a period of over two months also under the charge of the same member who conducted the hospital car. During this time about 1,000 sick and convalescent soldiers received attention, being provided with cots and food, or money and transportation, as the occasion required. At whatever hour of the day or night the trains might be due a corps of willing workers was always ready to attend to the needs of the soldiers.

Two other members had especial charge of furnishing nurses, and also established a diet kitchen at Fort Thomas. Another member served on the executive board of the Army and Navy League as chairman of the forwarding department of the D. A. R. branch. She spent every day for weeks supervising the shipment of supplies to southern hospitals. The regent of the chapter was chairman of the auxiliary D. A. R. hospital corps. They enlisted the interest of all classes of patriotic citizens, and sent boxes of hospital supplies to the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga Park; to Fort Thomas, Ky.; to Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.; to Fort Myer and Fortress Monroe, Va., and to Fort McPherson, Ga. The contents numbered 2,970 articles, and the money expended amounted to $530.49.

Cuyahoga Portage Chapter, of Akron, 37 members, has presented to the public library of Akron a complete set of "American Ancestry," with a large flag, to be draped at the entrance of the history section. During the war two boxes of fruits and delicacies were sent to the soldiers.

Dolly Todd Madison Chapter, of Tiffin, 18 members, assisted in every possible way Company C, of the Second Ohio Volunteers, enlisted from their city. A box, valued at $50, filled with necessaries and delicacies for the sick, was sent to the hospital at Chickamauga Park.

Fort Findlay Chapter, of Findlay, 23 members, provided 4 dozen garments for hospital use.

George Clinton Chapter, of Wilmington, 30 members, responded promptly to the call of the national society in soliciting, sewing, and packing goods for the soldiers. Hospital supplies to the value of $96.75 were sent to the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga Park. A nurse recommended by this chapter was accepted, and the chapter helped to provide her outfit. She served at Fort Thomas, Chickamauga, until herself too ill for longer service.

The chapter is now working to establish a public library in Wilmington.

Hetuck Chapter, of Newark, 30 members, devoted all its efforts to relieving the two companies of soldiers who went from the town to the front.

John Reily Chapter, of Hamilton, 30 members, decided unanimously to work under the D. A. R. hospital corps. Sewing meetings were held at the homes of the different members once each week through June, 1898. In July the meetings were held daily in a public room, where a large number of other women came to help, and where contributions were received. As a result 376 articles were made and forwarded for hospital uses to Porto Rico, and Fort Thomas, Ky., the money expended being $72.05. This chapter enjoys the privilege of having the state regent among its members.

Joseph Spencer Chapter, of Portsmouth, 38 members, contributed to the necessities of the soldiers a box of books and 2 boxes and 4 barrels of food supplies, with $15.50 in cash.

Mahoning Chapter, of Youngstown, 42 members, was assisted by the patriotic women of the city in sending 3 boxes to the Fifth Ohio Regiment at Tampa and Fernandina, Fla. The boxes contained 1,067 articles, and were valued at $325.

Martha Pitkin Chapter, of Sandusky, 17 members, began relief work early in the spring, and with the help of other citizens of Sandusky made and forwarded through the Western Reserve Chapter large quantities of garments for the soldiers, as long as there was need.

Mary Washington Chapter, of Mansfield, 19 members, has given for two successive years a medal to the pupil presenting the best essay on subjects connected with United States history.

During the Spanish war the chapter invited the cooperation of other patriotic women of Mansfield, and together they worked all summer with the following results: $14.49 expended for materials, 496 articles made for soldiers' use, $50 in money sent to Chickamauga Chapter and to Company M of the Eighth Ohio Regiment, when at Montauk Point.

Muskingum Chapter, of Zanesville, 34 members, in addition to its gifts mentioned last year, has contributed to the Mary Washington Memorial Association and $10 to the Continental Memorial Hall.

In May, 1898, 2 large boxes of magazines and other reading matter were sent to the soldiers in camp at Chickamauga.

In June, 1898, 4 large barrels and several boxes of groceries were sent to the same camp for the men of Battery C, First Ohio Volunteer Light Artillery, their home organization.

In July, in response to the appeal of Chickamauga Chapter, two more boxes of such hospital supplies as were asked for were sent to the sick soldiers in hospitals at Fort Thomas, Chickamauga Park. In all, these boxes contained 240 articles of clothing and bedding. In addition $22 contributed by the chapter, in conjunction with the Elizabeth Zane Chapter of the same town, were sent to the regent of Chickamauga Chapter for distribution where need should be most urgent.

Nathaniel Massie Chapter, of Chillicothe, 20 members, has given two prizes in the city high school for proficiency in United States history. A copy of the portrait of Nathaniel Massie, founder of Chillicothe, presented by the chapter to the city, will be found on plate 36.

During the war it contributed to the equipment of Company H, Seventh Ohio Volunteer Regiment, and to the Chickamauga Chapter. Also to the war fund of the national society and to the monument to the martyrs of the battle ship Maine, the whole sum for work connected with the war being $67. Gifts have also been made to the Continental Memorial Hall and to the Mary Washington Memorial Association.

New Connecticut Chapter, of Painesville, 21 members, sent a large box of supplies to Company M, Fifth Ohio Regiment. A general meeting of the town was then called by the chapter, and a soldiers' aid society was organized, the regent being president and other chapter members filling most of the offices.

Large consignments of goods were forwarded to the Fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, to the American National Red Cross in New York, and to the camps and hospitals at Tampa and Fernandina, Fla. The treasurer-general of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution received $15 toward the purchase of the steam launch for the Missouri, and $25 were sent directly to Surgeon-General Sternberg for hospital purposes.

Piqua Chapter, of Piqua, 20 members, contributed 295 articles of clothing and $25 in money to Company R, Third Ohio Volunteers.

In February, 1898, $15 were given to the Continental Memorial Hall, to be erected in Washington.

Springfield Chapter, of Springfield, 18 members, sent a box of useful articles to Company B, Third Ohio Volunteers, and 170 sheets with $10 in cash to the Chickamauga Chapter for its relief work among the soldiers.

Urbana Chapter, of Urbana, 25 members, responded to the first call for help by appointing committees and beginning work. In a short time two boxes containing 602 articles of clothing and bedding were sent to the Chickamauga hospitals. The chapter then organized a branch of the Army and Navy League, which continued the work all the summer, with constant aid from the Daughters of the American Revolution.

An alcove in the public library of Dayton has been furnished by the chapter and is slowly filling with books for reference in history and genealogy.

Ursula Wolcott Chapter, of Toledo, 51 members, worked with the local branch of the Woman's National War Relief Association, and their contributions were sent to Chickamauga Park and Fort Thomas. The exact share in this work which might properly be credited to the chapter can not therefore be determined now. But it may fairly be estimated as more than half.

Waw-wil-a-way Chapter, of Hillsboro, 18 members, is a small chapter in a small city, yet its influence is felt. When the fine, new high school was erected, the committee in charge asked this chapter to take some part in the dedication. The Declaration of Independence, inscribed on a large, white panel, 10½ by 5½ feet, was chosen as the most fitting patent of nobility to ornament the wall of the auditorium. The lettering and decorations are all in blue and the panel is inclosed with a symbolic arch, having the head of Washington as the keystone and the old time mother as the center of the foundation. (Plate 37.)

During the war the chapter worked with the Army and Navy League, and the members were industrious in making and sending delicacies, money, garments, and literature for the soldiers.

Western Reserve Chapter, of Cleveland, 195 members, has reached out to touch the life of the city in many directions. The Western Reserve Historical Society has received from these women $50 for a genealogical library. Prizes have been given to those public schools which show the highest average in their essays on historical themes. The graves of Revolutionary soldiers near Cleveland are also not forgotten. The Cleveland branch of the Needlework Guild of America has a section formed by ladies of this chapter.

A committee is charged with raising funds for a chair of American History in the College for Women at Cleveland, to take the form of annual courses of lectures from distinguished authorities. For the first year $300 were given. Another committee is collecting Revolutionary relics for the Continental Memorial Hall, while a direct contribution of $85 was given to the fund for the building itself.

During the war the chapter organized the War Emergency Relief Board of Cleveland, and conducted it for five months. To this organization of its leading women the city government of Cleveland intrusted its war relief work, and $40,000 in money and supplies were sent through the two great centers of distribution, the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the American National Red Cross.

Many of these same women were engaged in the work of the United States Sanitary Commission during the war of 1861–1865, and learned by that large experience how best to organize the work on a scale commensurate to the need. Gifts from this Emergency Relief Board appear in the reports of many other organizations, but the Daughters of the American Revolution know that they were all due to the Western Reserve Chapter whose wisdom planned the work and whose energy carried it through.

The forming chapter at Jefferson organized several active auxiliaries to the Western Reserve Chapter's work.

Wyoming Chapter, of Wyoming, 23 members, has given to the public school a handsome picture of Washington.

A woman's relief corps was organized by this chapter, assisted by the other women of Wyoming, and 797 garments were provided by this means for nurses and soldiers, while $200 were expended to carry on the work. The soldier boys in Fort McPherson, Santiago, Fort Thomas, and Fernandina felt the benefit of this activity.

The chapter at Troy, though not yet organized, raised $67, which were sent directly to Surgeon-General Van Reypen for supplies on the hospital ships.

The "Daughters" of Washington Court-House, not yet chapter members, gave their time and assistance to the Army and Navy League, and did much good work.

The unorganized chapter at Eaton sent 75 articles of food and clothing to the regent of the Chickamauga Chapter for her relief work among the soldiers in camp and hospitals.

The number of nurses sent from Ohio was 43. The amount received and disbursed by Ohio chapters for relief work was $2,638.76, while the articles of clothing and bedding reached the number of 19,104, all this being exclusive of the work done by Western Reserve Chapter.

OREGON.

Multnomah Chapter, of Portland, 31 members, is as yet the only chapter in the state. During the early months of the war the members worked individually with the Oregon Emergency Corps. Forty-eight hospital garments were sent to Manila, under directions from the D. A. R. hospital corps, and $75 were sent directly to the colonel of the Second Oregon Volunteers, to be invested in hospital stores for the sick and wounded Oregon soldiers at Manila. Of course the State Regent, Mrs. James B. Montgomery, belongs to this chapter.

PENNSYLVANIA.

As in other states, the citizens of Pennsylvania were anxious to assist the Government and the soldiers in all ways possible, and this desire culminated in the organization of a bureau known as the "National Relief Commission." As will be noted, many of our chapters in Pennsylvania and elsewhere sent their contributions through this organization. It should, however, not be confounded with the "Woman's National War Relief Association," previously mentioned, and organized by Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, one of the founders of our society.

On June 8, 1898, the state regent, Mrs. Thomas Roberts, called the chapter regents together for a conference on war relief work. The meeting was addressed by Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, director-general of the D. A. R. hospital corps, and "the delegates went home prepared to organize where there was no organization, to cooperate more fully where they had joined forces with those already organized, and, in short, resolved to do their utmost."

A large contingent of nurses from Pennsylvania offered their services and a goodly proportion were accepted. In many cases those nurses were "Daughters" themselves.

The industrial relief of families of men in the field has been a special feature in the work of the Pennsylvania Daughters of the American Revolution.

Bellefonte Chapter, of Bellefonte, 30 members, offers two annual prizes in the schools for the best essay in American history.

At the junction of the Kishaccquillas turnpike with that leading to Bellefonte and Aaronsburg, a handsome Mills granite monument has been placed to indicate the location of the old fortified log house situated 10 miles from Bellefonte, built by Captain Potter in 1773, and known in 1777 as the "Upper" or "Potter's Fort," one of the frontier posts in Penn's Valley (Plates 38, 39). A portion of the foundation wall still remains in the midst of a cultivated field at some distance from the turnpike. The stone was placed near the roadway, as it would thus more readily call attention to the spot than if it had been placed on the exact site. The inscription is as follows:

Daughters of the American Revolution

known in 1777 as Potter's Fort, which stood 650 feet
north of this marker.

For war relief the sum of $400 was raised, and garments, bedding, and food supplies were sent in large quantities to those serving in the army. The chapter united with other relief organizations for the care of the soldiers and their families, and kept a list of the men serving in various places. Two trained nurses went from this chapter.

Berks County Chapter, of Reading, 28 members, offers annually to the girls of the Reading High School a prize of $10 in gold for the best essay upon some historical subject connected with the Revolution. A contribution was also made for the restoration of Mount Vernon.

The money raised for war relief amounted to $25, and many delicacies for the sick were sent to Camp Thomas. Two hundred and seventy-two articles of clothing and bedding were sent to Porto Rico, carried by the hospital ship Relief. The members also worked through the National Relief Commission.

The Conrad Weiser Society of the Children of the American Revolution, an offshoot of the chapter, sent $46 to Camp Thomas.

Chester County Chapter, of West Chester, 59 members, has contributed to the Pennsylvania room at Mount Vernon and to the Continental Memorial Hall to be erected in Washington.

The sum of $50 was sent to the war fund of the national society, and the members worked untiringly with several relief associations from April 19, 1898, until they were notified by the Government that their aid was no longer needed.

Colonel Crawford Chapter, of Meadville, 28 members, organized itself into a relief board at the earliest stage of the war. But as it was found to be too small a band to meet the situation, the chapter sent out a call to every woman's society in the town. The result was the "War Emergency Relief Board of Meadville," officered by chapter members, with the regent as president. Sagerstown, Venango, and Conneautville were also included in the work.

The list of articles furnished by this relief board includes 1,394 books, magazines, and papers; 1,181 garments; 255 articles of bedding, and 903 articles of miscellaneous use, chiefly food supplies of all kinds, with $12.60 in cash.

For the Continental Memorial Hall $60 has been given by the individual members of this chapter.

Colonel Hugh White Chapter, of Lockhaven, 26 members, gave $5 to the diet kitchens, and clothing and delicacies valued at $20 for sick soldiers in local hospitals. A box containing 456 articles and supplies valued at $65 was sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps at Washington for distribution where needed.

Colonel William Montgomery Chapter, of Danville, 20 members, worked with the National Relief Commission. Through this agency 109 articles and boxes of delicacies were sent by the chapter to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Regiments of Pennsylvania Volunteers, besides $20 given to the George C. Thomas Auxiliary of the National Relief Commission.

Conrad Weiser Chapter, of Selinsgrove, 14 members, contributed to the fund for Meadow Garden Farm at Augusta, Ga.

For war relief, $10 were sent to the war fund of the national society, and the members cooperated with other larger organizations, but no details can now be secured, as their work appears only in the total reports of the other societies.

Cumberland County Chapter, of Carlisle, 21 members, worked with the local Young Men's Christian Association and with the American National Red Cross in the relief of soldiers and their families, and contributed $12.50 in money. A repsesentative of the chapter is on the board of management of the Todd Hospital.

Delaware County Chapter, of Chester, 55 members, collected as a chapter $180 and sent to the D. A. R hospital corps a box containing 109 articles of clothing for soldiers in hospitals. Individual members gave $100 and one dozen garments to the Woman's War Relief Association and sent one box of supplies to Cuba. To the American National Red Cross, $20 in money and large quantities of bandages and bedding were sent by individual members. Much work was also done in this way through the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames, the Wallingford Auxiliary of the American National Red Cross, the "Home Relief Society" of Chester, and the Delaware County Auxiliary to the National Relief Commission.

Dial Rock Chapter, of Pittston, 22 members, keeps in memory the old name of a picturesque crescent-shaped rock on the mountain above the town. Precisely at noon this rock receives the direct rays of the sun, and for many years it served as the town's timekeeper. Later innovations have given to this rock the name of "Campbell's Ledge," but the chapter chose to perpetuate the old name in preference to four others offered for selection.

The members of the chapter and the ladies of Pittston contributed 864 articles for soldiers' needs, besides large food supplies for the sick. One nurse was sent through this chapter at the call of the D. A. R. hospital corps, and served at Fort Myer, Va. A contribution of $10 was sent for the relief work of the national society.

Donegal Chapter, of Lancaster, 65 members, has started a library, and has a fine book plate. (Plate 40.) The church there delineated is the old Donegal church. This plate has been adopted by the other Pennsylvania chapters, with the simple change of the chapter name below the picture.

The chapter raised $140 in money, sent 12 boxes of delicacies to Washington, Atlanta, and Montauk Point, and provided 346 articles of clothing and bedding for the soldiers.

In connection with the Iris Club of Lancaster the members of the chapter devoted themselves with untiring zeal to the hardest kind of work. Thirty-nine boxes of hospital garments and bedding, valued at $290, were sent to naval hospitals, and 17 more, valued at $105, to army hospitals. "In the opinion of the war committee two-thirds of all the work of the place was done by the 'Daughters.'"

George Clymer Chapter, of Towanda, 32 members, has made its influence felt throughout the community. Two nurses were indorsed by this chapter, 238 articles were provided for soldiers, and $25 in cash sent to the diet kitchens.

George Taylor Chapter, of Easton, 42 members, is struggling under much discouragement to raise funds for the purchase of the house formerly belonging to George Taylor, one of the Pennsylvania signers of the Declaration of Independence. A contribution to the Continental Memorial Hall was made in 1897.

Fifty-four hospital garments were sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps for distribution.

Germantown Chapter, of Germantown, 13 members, was not organized until June, 1898, but 14 hospital shirts were made by these ladies from muslin furnished by the D. A. R. hospital corps. The members also worked through other relief societies.

Harrisburg Chapter, of Harrisburg, 52 members, gives annually a handsome medal in the high school for the best essays on American history. Contributions have been made to the Continental Memorial Hall; to the Meadow Garden Farm fund, and to that for the purchase of the George Taylor house at Easton.

The regent of the chapter called a meeting of the patriotic women of Harrisburg, on June 12, 1898, to assist in making garments for the sick and wounded soldiers. "The Soldiers' Rest," of Harrisburg, was the result of this appeal. At this place a good luncheon was furnished daily for five months to soldiers in transit, and rooms were provided for reading, writing, and resting. The soldiers encamped on the river bank, or lying sick in the Harrisburg hospitals, received daily ministrations of food and clothing from members of this chapter.

The contribution of the chapter to the D. A. R. war fund was $25, while $64 were given to the home relief work, besides a large box of garments sent to Santiago through the D. A. R. hospital corps, and another, valued at $38, sent through the war committee.

Lebanon Chapter, of Lebanon, 18 members, sent to the Newport News hospital a box containing 180 articles of clothing and bedding. The sum of $200 was distributed among the families of Company H, Fourth Pennsylvania Volunteers. A supply, valued at $35, of delicacies for the sick was sent to Montauk Point. Forty-nine soldiers were cared for at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Two chapter members acted as volunteer nurses here, and other members sent daily supplies of beef tea and gelatine.

Liberty Bell Chapter, of Allentown, 26 members, has a library which bids fair to be the historical library of Lehigh County. All volumes are marked with the chapter's bookplate, which is identical with that of Donegal Chapter, with the exception of the chapter name below the picture. (Plate 40.)

The amount of cash raised for war relief was $30. Boxes of medicines, delicacies, and necessaries were sent to Companies B and D of the Fourth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, and three nurses, indorsed by this chapter, were sent to the front. A chapter member was assistant to the chief surgeon at Sternberg Hospital. Individual members sent large supplies of towels and bandages to various field hospitals, and many united with the American National Red Cross. Through the influence of the chapter money was raised by subscription for the purchase of an ambulance, which remained with the local company wherever it went and was the means of saving many lives.

Lycoming Chapter, of Williamsport, 52 members, presented on June 14, 1898, a flag pole and a large handsome flag to the county, with appropriate ceremonies. The flag is 12½ by 24 feet, and the pole 79 feet high, surmounted by a brass eagle.

Companies B, D, and G of the Twelfth Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers received many little comforts from the chapter.

Contributions have been given to the funds for the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm and for the home of George Taylor.

Funds are now being raised for the furnishing of a room in the Home for the Friendless, to be occupied by a worthy woman well known to the chapter.

Merion Chapter, of West Philadelphia, 30 members, furnished 2 tons of ice, 200 ice bags, soap, milk, cereal foods, and other delicacies for the sick soldiers in large quantities to the Jefferson Hospital and to the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital at Philadelphia. Thirty-five yards of flannel were sent to the Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia. To the Presbyterian Hospital were sent 82 articles of food and clothing and a year's subscription to six different periodicals. The St. Agnes Hospital received supplies of ice cream and the Norton Fite Auxiliary $5. Through the D. A. R. hospital corps 178 articles of clothing for hospital use, and a box of lime juice, jellies, etc., were forwarded to the hospitals at Fortress Monroe and Washington Barracks. One nurse went to Santiago with recommendations from this chapter.

The war fund of the national society was increased by $36.50.

One member took to her own home six convalescent soldiers, and another, seven, and cared for them until they were completely recovered.

The members of this chapter deserve mention for their activity not only in the war work but in all the ways by which the national society seeks to encourage patriotism.

Philadelphia Chapter, of Philadelphia, 289 members, has given $100 to the Continental Memorial Hall and individual members have added $128 more.

The war relief fund raised by the chapter was $640. The regent collected by personal letters $3,050 more, which was used for the soldiers at University Hospital, Philadelphia. The sick and wounded at Manila received $529. Supplies were distributed as follows: 1,040 garments, and 1 cow to the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga; many rolls of bandages and jars of jelly to the American National Red Cross. The chapter members personally assisted in the care of the sick soldiers brought to Philadelphia, and volunteered in the camp hospitals.

The regent personally examined 100 applications of nurses for the D. A. R. hospital corps. Other members worked extensively with the Montgomery County Auxiliary to the American National Red Cross, Delaware County Auxiliary to the National Relief Commission, Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames, and several other societies of Philadelphia and Chester, for the relief of soldiers and their families. The applications of 200 nurses were examined and forwarded to Washington.

Phœbe Bayard Chapter, of Greensburg, 15 members, being so small an organization, determined to throw in its work with that of the local auxiliary of the American National Red Cross. Through this society a large box was sent to the Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteers at Manila, and one to the hospital at the same place. Three boxes went to New York City for distribution. The chapter as a body gave $10 and 1 dozen aprons for nurses to the D. A. R. hospital corps, and is still sending comforts to Manila.

The Continental Memorial Hall fund has received $30 from the members of this chapter, and they are now agitating the question of raising a state fund for the benefit of needy descendants of Revolutionary soldiers.

Pittsburg Chapter, of Pittsburg, 340 members, had organized a war fund and was fully equipped and at work for the soldiers before the call of the state regent was issued. This chapter claims among its members one of the first four women nurses sent to the front, Miss Alice Patton Lyon, assigned to duty at Key West, and afterwards at Manila.

A large box of hospital supplies containing 564 articles, valued at $86.99, was sent to help her in her work, and was most serviceable. The families of soldiers received also special care from this chapter. The whole amount raised for relief work amounted to $388.12.

Presque Isle Chapter, of Erie, 35 members, is working with much interest for the new public library in Erie, and has formed the nucleus for an alcove of American history there. All the volumes are marked with the bookplate of the Pennsylvania chapters, and the name of the chapter is printed below. (Plate 40.)

Portraits of President Lincoln, Commodore Perry, and Anthony Wayne have been placed by the chapter in the women's assembly room of the library, and further gifts are planned.

One hundred and three articles were given by the chapter for the soldiers, besides generous aid to men in the field, to their families at home, and to the destitute Cubans, furnished by individual members through the Needlework Guild and the Relief Society of Erie.

Quaker City Chapter, of Philadelphia, 92 members, called a large public meeting which inspired an extensive usefulness among the residents of that part of the city, and made possible the efficient relief work accomplished. One member is on record for organizing a relief corps of her own, and personally superintending the distribution of its supplies in camp and hospital before the larger work was fairly established.

At least $500 were given to the National Relief Commission by the chapter, and 668 articles of clothing, with quantities of books and groceries, were forwarded through the D. A. R. hospital corps. The work of the American National Red Cross was also helped. The total amount reported for war relief is $902.70.

This chapter has among its members the oldest "Real Daughter" known, Mrs. Sarah Terry, nearly 107 years old.

Shikelimo Chapter, of Lewisburg, 55 members, has given prizes to the high school students for the best essays on local history, has contributed $50 to the Continental Memorial Hall and other gifts have been made to the Mount Vernon Association.

The relief work consisted in making 184 garments for soldiers and nurses, and in sending a large number of barrels of food supplies for Company A of the Twelfth Pennsylvania Volunteers. The money raised for relief work amounted to $260. Of this $100 were spent on local military organizations, $60 for clothing, and the rest divided equally between the Sunbury and Williamsport hospitals.

Sunbury Chapter, of Sunbury, 20 members, has given a prize for the best essay on an historical subject written by a graduate of the high school. The chapter is also endeavoring to interest the state authorities in the purchase of Fort Augusta.

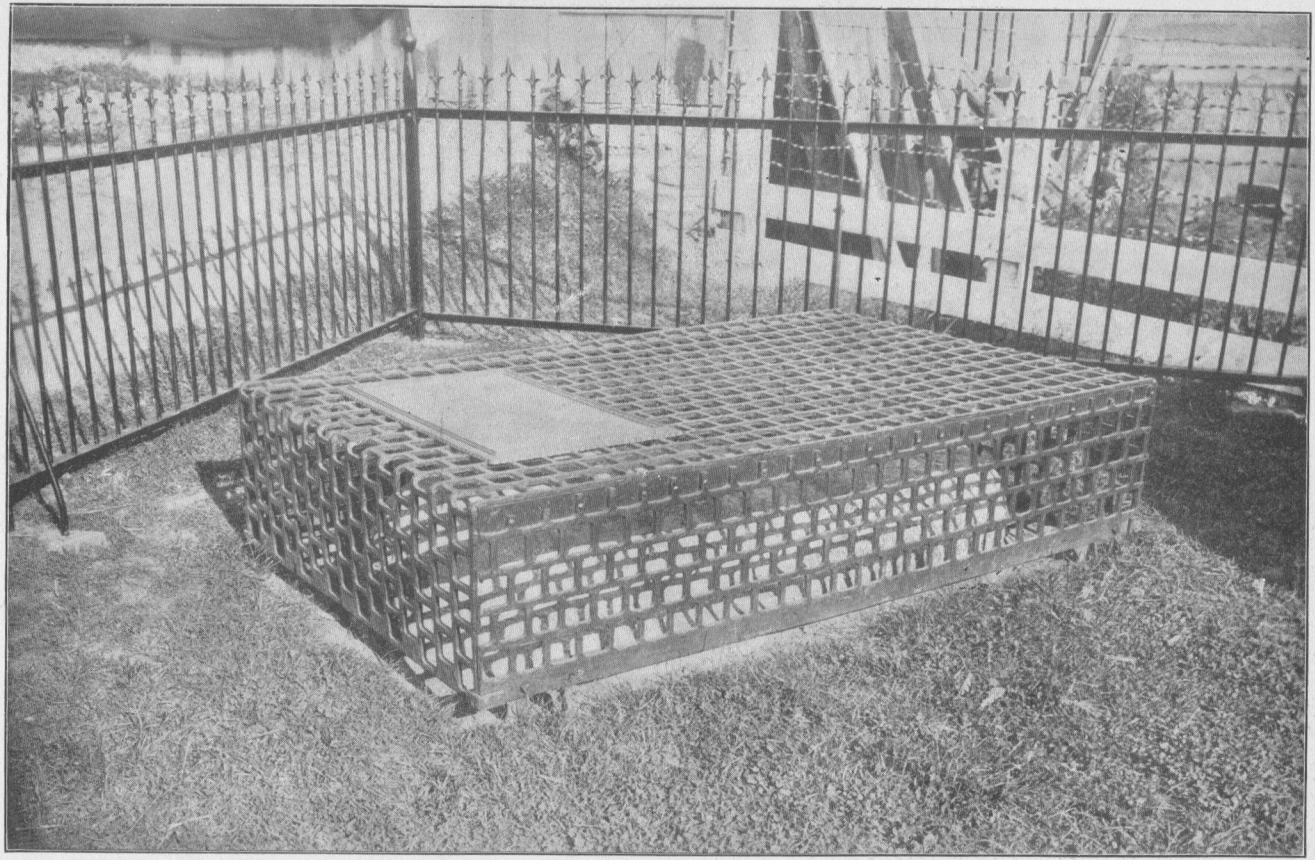
The war relief work includes the sending of 483 articles of food and clothing for hospital use and $17.35 collected in cash.

Susquehanna Chapter, of Clearfield County, 16 members, gave to each man of Company E, Fifth Pennsylvania Volunteers, a badge, as the ladies of old sent forth their knights to battle. Two large boxes of supplies were also sent to this company. The chapter recommended one nurse who was accepted and sent through the D. A. R. hospital corps to Chickamauga. On the return of the two companies sent by the town, the chapter worked with the Woman's Relief Corps in providing a bountiful supper as their "welcome home."

Valley Forge Chapter, of Norristown, 37 members, has made contributions for the suffering Cubans, for the Continental Memorial Hall, for Mount Vernon, and for the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm. An annual prize is given to the high school students for the best historic essay.

The sum collected for war work amounted to $150 and supplies of necessaries and delicacies were sent to Company F, Sixth Pennsylvania Volunteers, to the hospitals at Camp Bristow, Camp Meade, and Norristown, and to the families of soldiers. Two members of the chapter were in our regiment of nurses.

Venango Chapter, of Franklin, 14 members, provided 64 articles of food and clothing for the soldiers, besides the individual work of members with other relief organizations.



QUEEN ESTHER'S ROCK, IDENTIFIED AND INCLOSED BY WYOMING VALLEY CHAPTER, WILKESBARRE, PA.

MONUMENT TO GENERAL SULLIVAN'S ADVANCE GUARD, NEAR WILKESBARRE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Washington County Chapter, of Washington, 15 members, helped to raise a purse of $310 for Company H, Tenth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers at Manila, and sent 267 articles of food and clothing for soldiers through the D. A. R. hospital corps.

Witness Tree Chapter, of Columbia, 16 members, has furnished wood for gavels to several other chapters and historical associations.

Forty-six articles of clothing for soldiers were given through the D. A. R. war committee, and $13 in money. The local relief fund also received $8.10, and a box of medical supplies, valued at $25, was sent by several members to Porto Rico. The chapter is now working to raise funds for a monument to the soldiers of Donegal.

Wyoming Valley Chapter, of Wilkesbarre, 105 members, has inclosed with a steel frame and fence "Queen Esther's Rock," famous in the tragic history of the Wyoming massacre. (Plate 41.) As stated by contemporaries, many captives were placed in a circle around this rock and tomahawked by an Indian squaw, Esther Montour, or "Queen Esther," in revenge for the death of her son.

A memorial, erected to Capt. Joseph Davis and Lieut. William Jones, members of General Sullivan's advance guard slain near this point, 1779, has been placed in the joint care of the chapter and of the Wyoming Valley section of the Sons of the Revolution. (Plate 42.)

Nearly $700 were collected for relief work, and 15 trained nurses went to the front with the recommendation of this chapter. An organization was formed for the relief of soldiers' families and nurses who returned from their service "physical wrecks." Contributions of literature and hospital necessaries were sent to Chickamauga and to the home hospitals. Throughout the war the chapter combined with the citizens of Wilkesbarre in relief work, which was coextensive with the city itself, and the families of soldiers in the field will long remember the help of the Wilkesbarre "Daughters."

Yorktown Chapter, of York, 23 members, gives an annual prize to the public schools for the best essay on American history. Their tablet, reproduced in the last report, bears the following inscription:

A contribution of $25 was made to the Continental Memorial Hall in 1898. During the war $25 were given to the Volunteer relief fund, and hospital clothing for soldiers, numbering 57 articles and valued at $12.14, was sent through the D. A. R. hospital corps.

The unorganized chapter known as Canadohta, at Titusville, collected $220 for relief work, gave many little necessaries for the local company on duty in Porto Rico, and sent supplies of clothing and provisions through the Red Cross auxiliary in Philadelphia.

Another chapter in process of formation in Philadelphia, which has chosen the name of Independence Hall, raised $139.50 as a war fund, and distributed large quantities of literature and supplies to the general hospital at Key West, and to that at camp Bristow. Over 600 articles were furnished for Companies K, L, and M of the Sixth Pennsylvania Volunteers. Two large consignments of literature and bedding were sent to Camp Wickoff through the National Relief Commission, and 6 cases of canned soups and fruits were sent to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt for distribution among his men. The regular troops of the Sixth United States Cavalry also received a supply of food, clothing and bedding.

In September, 1898, these "Daughters" took charge of the National Relief Commission luncheon served daily to soldiers being discharged from the city hospitals. The number of men thus fed was 1,721, and 3,659 sandwiches, 1,033 plates of soup, and 963 quarts of milk were consumed.

In addition to this, the ladies investigated the cases of those soldiers whose transportation furnished by the Government left them at the place of their enlistment, sometimes hundreds of miles from their homes, and by this means the relief commission was enabled to help the needy men with clothing and transportation, and to put them in communication with their families.

In recognition of the valuable service of the regent of this chapter, Miss Harriet J. Baird-Huey, the flag which floated over the tent of the commission at the quartermaster's office on Fifteenth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, has been presented to her by the officers of the commission.

RHODE ISLAND.

Early in April, 1898, before the outbreak of hostilities, plans for systematic relief work were formulated by the Colonial Dames of this state, and they organized a society under the title "Sanitary and Relief Association of Rhode Island." This society had a semi-official connection with the state government, and was the recognized channel through which money and supplies were distributed for relief. Eighteen thousand garments, many tons of food, and $20,120.76 were thus collected and distributed.

The amount accomplished by this state seems, in proportion to its size, like the value of some rare book, in an Elzevir edition.

Somewhat later in April the state regent of the Rhode Island Daughters of the American Revolution called a meeting, at which representatives from the eight chapters of the state were assembled. Resolutions were passed, pledging loyal service to the work of the National Society of the Daughters, and also offering aid to the Governor of the state in the work of the Sanitary and Relief Association, or in any other work which women could do to encourage the "soldiers fighting for the relief of an oppressed people."

From the date of this meeting until the close of the war the work of relief did not cease. As will be seen in the following record, almost every chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Rhode Island shared in the work of the Sanitary and Relief Association. A member of Gaspee Chapter was its president and organizer. The state regent, Mrs. Susan A. Ballou, was its first vice-president. One chapter regent was its assistant treasurer, and most of its finance committee were "Daughters," as well as Colonial Dames. It is therefore difficult to assign to either society the share which properly belongs to it in this great work for suffering humanity, though the Colonial Dames must ever have the honor of proposing and organizing the work. Neither society stopped to make separate record, but both worked together for the common need. A few separate items of work done by "Daughters" have, however, been secured by diligent search, and they will be found in the following pages.

Bristol Chapter, of Bristol, 74 members, contributed $50 toward the portrait of Mrs. Harrison, first president-general. The same amount was given by two members for this object. These items were not secured in time to be mentioned in last report.

One of the small liberty bells, cast from the overflow metal of the Columbian Liberty Bell, was placed in the high school at Bristol, with appropriate ceremonies. As the result of three entertainments given by the chapter, a contribution of $300 was sent to the Continental Memorial Hall fund in 1896. Through the Rhode Island regent of Mount Vernon $30 has been sent to the Mount Vernon Association from the reserve "patriotic fund" held by the chapter. In accordance with the vote of our Continental Congress 100 copies of the Declaration of Independence have been placed in as many post-offices of the state, and one copy in each schoolroom in the town of Bristol.

The chapter cooperated with the other chapters of the state in offering its services to the governor of Rhode Island for any needed war work. One hundred and ten dollars were given for this purpose through the Rhode Island branch of the National Relief Association, and $50 more for the hospital ship Solace, besides 335 articles of clothing and many delicacies.

The chapter is slowly forming a cabinet of relics. (Plate 50 and Appendix C.)

Gaspee Chapter, of Providence, 281 members, has completed its historical prize fund of $100 for the Woman's College of Brown University. By this means the prize mentioned last year is now made annual.

A contribution of $10 was sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps at headquarters, and $85 for medicines to the surgeon of the First Rhode Island Regiment. This chapter counts the state regent among its honored members, and also Mrs. A. Livingston Mason, president of the Sanitary and Relief Association. In addition to her other work in that wonderful organization, this lady converted a cottage on the grounds of her summer home at Newport into a complete hospital or convalescent home. During the four months of its operation 49 men, in all stages of exhaustion from typhoid and other fevers, were here restored to health and sent home rejoicing. While this home was probably the first private hospital to which soldiers were taken by permission of the Surgeon-General, it also received the last consignment when the hospitals at Montauk Point were closed; and of all who were here treated, not one man died. (Plate 43.)

General Nathaniel Greene Chapter, of East Greenwich, 34 members, has received from the general assembly of the state the right to use a room in the old historic court-house. The room has been furnished with many relics of Revolutionary times. The chapter has assisted the Sons of the American Revolution in finding and marking the graves of Revolutionary soldiers. Prizes have been offered in the public schools for the best essays on Revolutionary topics.

During the war, fruit, vegetables, books, pajamas, and other clothing, with lint and bandages, were given by the chapter and its individual members through the branch of the Sanitary and Relief Association located in the town, and a contribution was sent to the war fund of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Narragansett Chapter, of Kingston, 19 members, organized a branch of the Rhode Island Sanitary and Relief Association in the city. Money, pajamas, surgical shirts, and a box and barrel of delicacies, with $35 in cash, were provided for the sick and wounded soldiers.

The chapter room in the old court-house at Kingston is the resting place of many choice relics gathered by the members.

Pawtucket Chapter, of Pawtucket, 66 members, gave $26 to the fund for the portrait of Mrs. Harrison, placed in the White House, and $100 to the Continental Hall fund in 1897, besides the fund for the Woman's College previously reported. Ten of the small liberty bells were placed in the public schools. Assistance was given in February, 1898, to the Sons of the American Revolution in marking the graves of Revolutionary soldiers; and a contribution of $25 was sent to the Mount Vernon Association. The graves of two Revolutionary soldiers at Dudley, Mass., have been marked by members of this chapter.

In June a box containing 54 hair pillows, 108 pillowcases, and a fan for each pillow was sent to the D. A. R. war committee, who forwarded it to the hospital at Fort Point, Tex. Fifty-two dollars were sent to the D. A. R. war fund.

Several members of the chapter served as officers of the Pawtucket branch Sanitary and Relief Association. Through members of the chapter $83 were contributed to this branch.

Phebe Greene Ward Chapter, of Westerly, 35 members, contributed, in October, 1897, $25 to the Rhode Island Society for the Collegiate Education of Women. In January, 1898, $10 were sent to the George Washington Memorial Association. In February, 1898, a prize was offered in the Westerly High School for the best essay written by a young woman upon some topic connected with the Revolution.

During the war $25 were sent for the relief work of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution; $30 to Company K of the First Rhode Island Regiment; $25 to Company B of the Third Connecticut Regiment; and $70 more to various other places where relief was needed, or $150 in all.

William Ellery Chapter, of Newport, 31 members, presented to the Coddington school a handsome engraved portrait of Washington with appropriate ceremonies. Contributions have also been given for the relief of the suffering Cubans and for the Continental Memorial Hall.

The character and fitness of about 40 nurses were investigated by the regent, and many received indorsements from the chapter. One nurse was provided with her outfit. When a large number of nurses returning from Cuba and Porto Rico were unexpectedly landed at New York without money or baggage the regent assisted the director of the hospital corps in promptly arranging for their lodging and board until their salaries could be paid and their next orders received. Much work of individual members was given to the Jamestown Branch of the Sanitary and Relief Association. The regent was the chairman of this branch, which sent large supplies of food and clothing to Fortress Monroe and Montauk Point.

In one direction the work of this chapter has been unique. A young girl of Revolutionary stock, left without provision by the death of father and grandfather, is maintained by the chapter while completing her education at the Townsend Industrial School. Surely this is a living monument.

Woonsocket Chapter, of Woonsocket, 47 members, sent $11 to the D. A. R. war fund, and expended $225 for the sick soldiers in Woonsocket hospital.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Daughters of the American Revolution of South Carolina "did not straggle into the war work reluctantly, but went into it with all the zeal of their nature," and even those who did little did so only from lack of opportunity, not from want of inclination. Other states may have done more for the cause in munificent financial gifts, but "in esprit de corps, personal zeal, personal effort, and in personal sympathy, few have surpassed the Daughters of the American Revolution resident in South Carolina." "Is this not as truly fighting our country's battles as serving in the Army?"

Catawba Chapter, of Rock Hill, 14 members, was named in recognition of the friendly services rendered to the white settlers during the Revolution by the Catawba Indians. A remnant of this once powerful tribe still lives about 9 miles from Rock Hill, on the banks of the Catawba River.

A prize medal was offered to the State Normal College for the best essay on South Carolina in the Revolution. Contributions have also been made to the Emily Geiger monument.

During the Spanish war a box of much-needed clothing was sent to Mrs. Porter King, of Atlanta Chapter, and state regent of Georgia, for her work among the soldiers at Fort McPherson, and many aprons for nurses went to the D. A. R. hospital corps at Washington for distribution. Many soldiers on passing trains also received food and clothing, handed in through open car windows.

Columbia Chapter, of Columbia, 33 members, is the mother chapter of the State. Though the thermometer ranged high in the nineties, the members made with their own hands a large bale of hospital garments which were forwarded to Washington. Another similar package was sent to the First South Carolina Regiment of Volunteers, stationed at Shandon, not far from Columbia. They also made 250 pillows for the soldiers. The regent of the chapter, Mrs. Sarah A. Richardson, was in Washington at this time and devoted her energies to helping in the heavy war work at the D. A. R. headquarters. She went without her customary summer vacation this year for the sake of the sick and dying. The state regent, Mrs. Malvina S. Waring (Mrs. Clark Waring), is an honored member of this chapter.

Cowpens Chapter, of Spartanburg, 30 members, held a loan exhibit, which was interesting and instructive to the community. A cabinet of relics belonging to the chapter contains several interesting things, many of which are connected with the battle of Cowpens. (Plate 44.)

A medal was given for the best paper on a Revolutionary heroine of South Carolina written by a member of the senior or junior class of Converse College. A prize was also given to a ninth-grade pupil of the public schools for the best paper on colonial history. Contributions have been sent to the Continental Memorial Hall fund and for the purchase of Meadow Garden Farm.

The members were widely scattered during the summer, and no troops were stationed anywhere near them. Hence they could not personally minister to any soldier's need. They, however, did the next best thing, by sending money to assist the members of Chickamauga Chapter in their overwhelming task of caring for the thousands of volunteers from distant states encamped at their very doors.

King's Mountain Chapter, of Yorkville, 14 members, assisted by the other women of the town, sent three boxes of provisions for the soldier boys. These things appear in the returns as coming from "The Ladies of Yorkville." But the inspiration to the work came from the members of King's Mountain Chapter. Contributions have been made for the Continental Memorial Hall and will be sent for the Meadow Garden Farm fund.

Rebecca Motte Chapter of Charleston, 40 members, has contributed to the Continental Memorial Hall and to other objects of historic interest. In war work $201.06 were expended. Their work for the soldiers began early in July, 1898, when the Sixth Massachusetts, Sixth Illinois, Sixteenth Pennsylvania, and Second and Third Wisconsin regiments arrived in Charleston en route for Cuba and Porto Rico. The energetic regent, Mrs. Frances Mather Jones (Mrs. Alexander D. Jones), offered to the major-general commanding these forces any service the chapter could render. As he suggested the care of the sick, a special meeting of the chapter was called and an appropriation made from the chapter treasury. Broth, soup, milk, ice, delicacies, books, and magazines were sent each day to those in hospital, to help while away the hours of imprisonment. The regent, accompanied by some of the members, personally visited the hospitals with supplies every day. The Red Cross Corps of the Sixteenth Pennsylvania had an improvised hospital on the wharf near the camp, but no provision of bedding and necessaries. In response to the appeal of the surgeon in charge, this hospital was almost completely equipped with sheets, pillowcases, and towels by the willing fingers of members of this chapter. The Woman's Relief Corps of Wisconsin, hearing of the work of this devoted band, entered into correspondence with them and sent contributions of money, clothing, and hospital supplies. Such was the gratitude of the Wisconsin women for the kindness shown their boys, that the department council of the Woman's Relief Corps of Appleton, Wis., adopted the following:

Resolved, That the department officers and executive board here assembled, in behalf of the Woman's Relief Corps throughout the State, tender a vote of thanks to the citizens of Charleston, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and others who have so kindly and generously cared for the Wisconsin troops. This resolution to be made public through the press of the city and State.

When the unseasoned men were ordered out in flannel uniforms and full marching kit for a practice march of 10 miles under the torrid July sun, 530 out of 650 fell by the wayside, prostrated by the heat before half the march was done, and some never recovered from this experience. All the hospitals of the city threw open their doors, but even then beds were lacking for many men until the Rebecca Motte Chapter provided them. The labors of the regent at this time were unceasing. Twice and three times a day she visited the hospitals with supplies. She called in all soldiers passing her house and fed them. In every phase of the work she was interested. She ministered beside the sick beds; she wrote letters to the anxious mothers waiting for a word from their boys; she asked a donation from her church; she prepared food; she spent money; she spent time; she took the sick into her own home and nursed them as if they were her own sons, for each of them was "somebody's boy." When, worn out by her labors, she was induced to take a short vacation, the same work was continued by the daughter of the state regent. The good example was infectious, and the whole city of Charleston vied with the chapter in attention to the soldiers. Capt. C. A. Green, writing just before starting for Porto Rico, said that during the many years he had been in the service he had "never seen such hospitality as was shown the soldiers in Charleston." When the men boarded the transports for Porto Rico, the population turned out en masse to bid them farewell.

One patriotic citizen, at his own expense, marked the graves of four soldiers who were buried in Magnolia Cemetery. The graves were afterwards photographed by the chapter and prints sent to the families represented.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

There are but 14 members of the society in the State of South Dakota, who, in the words of the state regent, Mrs. Andrew J. Kellar, comprise "one chapter-at-large, known temporarily as the Hot Springs Chapter." The scattered membership prevented active work as a body during the war. Individual "Daughters" have aided our soldiers, either alone or in conjunction with other orders. This work has been unostentatious but faithful. They have also actively and strenuously opposed the desecration of the flag, and have accomplished much through the press. One strong protest against every type of desecration appeared in the Hot Springs Star, written by a "Daughter." A petition approving the work of the George Washington Memorial Association has been signed by many ladies through the efforts of the D. A. R. in South Dakota. A beautiful room in the famous Wind Cave is to be dedicated to the Daughters of the American Revolution.

TENNESSEE.

Bonny Kate Chapter, of Knoxville, 52 members, has contributed to the fund for the Continental Memorial Hall, the regent and the chapter together giving the sum of $100 during the years 1896–1898. Money was also provided for the Francis Scott Key Monument, and the tuition of Cuban students in a Knoxville school.

Fifteen dollars were sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps at Washington. Fifty-two aprons were made for the nurses at Camp Poland and Fort McPherson. Miss Mary Boyce Temple, one of the vice-president's-general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution and a member of the chapter, gave almost her entire time for three weeks to nursing the sick in hospital. A contribution was given by the chapter for the flag presented to the Third Tennessee Regiment. On the return of the First and Sixth Tennessee regiments, the ladies were foremost in preparing the reception to these young veterans from Cuba.

Prizes are to be given to the University of Tennessee for the student who shall present the best essay as the result of original research in Tennessee history.

Campbell Chapter, of Nashville, 76 members, gave a large and handsome silk flag to the First Regiment of Tennessee Volunteers in May, 1898, before they were ordered to San Francisco. The chapter also gave $10 to the D. A. R. Hospital Corps, and many of the members worked with other aid societies. Many soldiers passing through the city on their way to the front were provided with luncheon by the hospitable ladies of this chapter.

The state regent, Mrs. Margaret Campbell Pilcher (Mrs. James S. Pilcher), honors this chapter by her membership.

Chickamauga Chapter, of Chattanooga, 25 members, did for the soldiers a work whose record might well fill a separate volume. The town of Chattanooga, Tenn., is near to Chickamauga Park, Georgia, where was located the great instruction camp and rendezvous for over 45,000 volunteer troops from all over the Union. Any boy, left to his own devices, will disregard every law of health. Very naturally, an army of such boys, with volunteer officers almost as inexperienced, was soon a prey to typhoid fever and pneumonia. No hospitals equal to such an emergency had been provided, and the surgeons were powerless to deal with the problem. "But women are knights errant to the last." By unanimous vote the ladies of the Chickamauga Chapter pledged their time, efforts, and money for relief work among the soldiers at Camp Thomas. One surgeon said: "You ladies can do nothing. We need everything before our Government supplies arrive. We need cots—we have typhoid patients on the ground. We need 50 blankets before night for soldiers sick with pneumonia." The surgeon had evidently never gauged the capacity of a woman's good will. Before night a volunteer committee of 20 "Daughters" had supplied every one of the articles enumerated as necessary. They did not wait for somebody to furnish transportation, but procured a wagon and went themselves with the goods to see that no mistake was made by a careless servant in the distribution. An appropriation of $50 was made from the chapter treasury, a regular committee appointed, known as the hospital committee of the chapter, and each member worked as if each day might be her last.

The following circular letter was sent to other chapters asking for help in the work.

CHICKAMAUGA CHAPTER, D. A. R.,
Chattanooga, Tenn., June 2, 1898.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION:

Chickamauga Chapter, D. A. R., finds itself overwhelmed by the urgent calls of the sick and needy among the soldiers now at Camp Thomas (Chickamauga Park), near this city. Over 45,000 new recruits are now with us, and it is not strange that among this vast number, in the sudden change of climate, food, and habits, many should be seriously ill.

We are doing what we can to relieve the situation, but need the help and cooperation of our sister chapters.

Dr. W. J. Trimble,* a man eminently fitted for the place, has been chosen by our chapter to receive and oversee the distribution of all supplies contributed, and we can guarantee that whatever is sent to his address here, will be used to the best advantage.

We need for hospital use shirts, sheets, small hair pillows, and all kinds of general supplies for the sick. Money is also needed to purchase eggs, milk, fruit, etc., which can not be brought from a distance. This money had better be sent Mrs. K. D. Rathburn, treasurer of the chapter.

May we hope for a response?

Sincerely, yours, AMELIA I. CHAMBERLAIN, Regent.

A depot of supplies was established at Chattanooga, and three diet kitchens maintained at the division hospitals at Camp Thomas. (Plates 45, 46.) Two young ladies who had learned cooking under Mrs. Rorer were in attendance at each of these every day.

As Chattanooga is some distance from Chickamauga Park, where the troops were located, it was daily necessary to pack in ice everything needed for this work and send it 14 miles in a wagon while the thermometer ranged in the nineties. When the camp was reached the ladies were often obliged to stand in the rain, and to hold an umbrella with one hand while stirring their cooked mixtures with the other, over a small oil stove. The perseverance which overcame such difficulties can scarcely be too highly appreciated.

Besides the generous contributions given by citizens of Chattanooga, many boxes, containing all kinds of hospital supplies and stores, were received in response to the above appeal, and the members of the committee were kept busy in answering letters of inquiry about the formation of new relief circles.

*Dr. Trimble was the representative of the National Relief Commission, having headquarters in Philadelphia and a depot of distribution at Camp Thomas. (See report of Pennsylvania chapter work, page 175.)

Every morning the surgeon in charge of each hospital tent sent his written request for the day's supply of bedding, stores, and delicacies as freely as if he were ordering on a Government requisition. And these requests were filled day after day with unfailing promptness and patience.

In August the distressful situation of the sick and wounded at Atlanta appealed so strongly for help that 1,075 articles of hospital clothing and bedding were sent to sustain the noble work of the ladies at that point. This took all the articles in the supply room, but the women of Chickamauga chapter felt that having freely received, they must freely give, trusting to be sustained in their own work by the patriotic citizens of other localities. Their trust was not misplaced, and money was sent from elsewhere to supply the needs at Chickamauga Park. The whole amount of money received and expended by the chapter was $2,059.15, while the number of articles received and distributed was more than 4,533. The regent, Mrs. Chamberlain, and the treasurer, Mrs. Rathburn, with one or two others, were on duty through the whole of this arduous task, beginning early in May and working until the very close, though living on Lookout Mountain.

In the final report of W. J. Trimble to the National Relief Commission he speaks thus of the diet kitchens:

> From our rapidly depleting treasury we feared to draw the funds absolutely necessary for this work. The ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution had already placed to our credit $200 for the purchase of butter, and now they came forward to relieve all anxiety, saying, establish your kitchens and we will pay all the expenses. And they have more than made good their generous offer. The light-diet kitchens of Camp Thomas, with their untold blessings, belong to the women of Chattanooga.

Cumberland Chapter, of Nashville, 59 members, supplied baskets of lunch to three regiments of soldiers passing through their city, and sent $10 to the D. A. R. hospital corps at Washington.

Hermitage Chapter, of Memphis, 76 members, has fitted up a room in the Aged Woman's Home at Memphis for any descendant of a Revolutionary patriot who may need such help. The war work was done in connection with Watauga Chapter.

Margaret Gaston Chapter, of Lebanon, 13 members, is named in honor of a noble woman whose husband, Dr. Alexander Gaston, was killed by tories before her eyes. Her son, Judge William Gaston, bore through all his life the impress of her high training. The chapter has contributed to Meadow Garden Farm fund, and sent $25 for the Continental Memorial Hall. A small contribution was sent to the D. A. R. war fund, and the members assisted in supplying comforts for the soldiers.

Old Glory Chapter, of Franklin, 17 members, has located two places where important Indian treaties were made, and the graves of four Revolutionary soldiers. One of the treaties was made on November 5 and 6, 1783, at the French Lick on the Cumberland River, 4 miles northwest of Nashville. Joseph Martin represented North Carolina and Virginia, John Donaldson represented Virginia, and the Indians were represented by the Red King of the Chickasaws. By this treaty the whites secured a section of country extending about 40 miles south of the Cumberland River to the ridge dividing its tributaries from those of Duck and Elk rivers. This treaty was further ratified by Hopewell in 1785. The other treaty was made in the old Presbyterian Church at Franklin, Tenn., about 1825, by Andrew Jackson and John W. Eaton on behalf of the white settlers, and Kenhichee, chief of the Creeks from Alabama and Georgia, on behalf of the Indians. It concerned the removal of the tribes to the West. One of the chapter members remembers seeing the Indians on that occasion, as her aunt painted a portrait of the chief at that time.

The four Revolutionary soldiers whose graves have been located are as follows:

Lieut. Thomas Hardin Perkins, born in Virginia May 3, 1757; served in Capt. Peter Dun's company, Sixth Virginia Regiment, during the Revolution; died in Tennessee November 18, 1838; buried 4 miles northwest of Franklin, Tenn., at the old Perkins homestead, on the Del Rio pike.

Samuel Henderson, born in 1759; fought the Indians during the Revolution; buried near Bethesda, Williamson County, Tenn.

Minos Cannon, father of Governor Cannon, of Tennessee; born in Maryland; died in Tennessee May 10, 1829; buried at the old Cannon place, in Williamson County.

George Neely, buried 2 miles south of Franklin.

Nineteen hospital shirts, each pocket containing a note of encouragement, and 19 Bibles were sent as the chapter's contribution to war relief.

Watauga Chapter, of Memphis, 62 members, organized for war work soon after hostilities were declared, resolving themselves into a "committee of the whole," called in their neighbors to form the "Watauga Relief Circle," and enlisted "for the war." The needs of the Second Tennessee Regiment of Infantry were adopted as their special charge, as that regiment was composed of the husbands, sons, brothers, and friends of Watauga members. This regiment was stationed at Camp Alger, near Washington. Many hundreds of magazines and other reading matter, enough for a really valuable soldiers' library, were sent to these men. Boxes of stationery, hospital supplies in large quantities, several dozens of ice and water bags and other similar appliances for illness, and a hundred hospital shirts, each with a soft handkerchief in the pocket, were sent successively. One especially comfortable article was furnished in large quantities; this was a small pillow tick of linen crash, stamped with the name of the chapter and regiment, and fastened with buttons. On the march, this can be emptied and rolled into small compass; when the tents are pitched it can be filled with grass or hay and is a much more restful pillow than the "rock or chunk" which usually serves that purpose for the tired soldier. It can also be so easily washed that even the ordinary boy will find no trouble in keeping it clean. In addition to these comforts several hundred dollars were sent for the relief of the sick among the soldiers.

TEXAS.

George Washington Chapter, of Galveston, 36 members, has given $150 for the furnishing of a Texas room at Mount Vernon. One nurse went from this chapter to serve the sick soldiers in the Spanish war, and the chapter responded whenever called upon for aid.

Jane Douglas Chapter, of Dallas, 47 members, gave a medal and a prize of books to the best scholars in American history in their public schools.

They presented a flag to the First Texas Regiment, and sent several boxes of hospital garments and bedding to the D. A. R. hospital corps.

UTAH.

Spirit of Liberty Chapter, Salt Lake City, 19 members, is the only chapter yet organized in the State, and "has endeavored to uphold patriotic ideals in a community where such ideals were little understood." Through the efforts of these ladies, patriotic and historical books have been purchased by the public library.

The members have been very active in work for the George Washington Memorial Association and have helped to raise a large sum of money for that organization.

At the suggestion of the D. A. R. hospital corps, a box containing 113 articles for hospital use was sent to the soldiers at Manila, and 25 aprons for nurses went to Fort Myer, Chickamauga Park, and other points where nurses were in need of them. Over $60 in money was contributed. Two nurses recommended by this chapter received an appointment through the D. A. R. hospital corps. They would have been glad to report much larger results, but many of the members were out of town for the summer when the call for help came, hence the work fell upon the 10 members remaining, and they did all that they were able. The state regent, Mrs. Clarence E. Allen, is a member of this chapter.

VERMONT.

Ann Story Chapter, of Rutland, 46 members, sent $7 to the D. A. R. war fund, and 3 boxes of hospital supplies to Fortress Monroe, in July, 1898.

The regent, Mrs. Abigail J. Dyer (Mrs. Horace H. Dyer), with other chapter members, organized a "Soldiers' Aid Society," which, in conjunction with the Woman's Relief Corps of Roberts Post, Grand Army of the Republic, sent supplies to Fort Ethan Allen and Fort Hamilton, and gave assistance to the soldiers lying ill in the town and to their families.

The chapter members sent boxes of books, magazines, newspapers, handkerchiefs, socks, and stationery, together with soap, towels, and tooth powder for each man in Company A, First Vermont Volunteers. Underclothing valued at $85 and 170 other articles, besides pipes and tobacco for each man, were furnished by friends and forwarded by this chapter.

The name of Ann Story has been carved upon her tombstone at Salisbury, Vt. By a second marriage her name became Goodrich, and her identity would in time have been lost but for this timely action of the chapter.

A tablet to the Revolutionary soldiers of the vicinity has been placed in the Memorial Hall at Rutland. (Plate 47.)

Ascutney Chapter, of Windsor, 16 members, sent $8 to the D. A. R. war fund.

Bellevue Chapter, of St. Albans, 17 members, sent $12 to the D. A. R. war fund.

Bennington Chapter, of Bennington, 35 members, sent $8 to the treasurer of Chickamauga Chapter on June 28, 1898.

Brattleboro Chapter, of Brattleboro, 48 members, met on April 19, 1898, and decided to take the initiative in work for the soldiers. A public meeting at the town hall was therefore called by the chapter, and a Soldiers' Aid Society formed on April 27. The regent was chosen president and the secretary of the chapter was elected secretary of the new society. A collection was taken, and it was determined to provide comforts for the soldiers and during their absence relief for their families. Meetings were held every three or four days, and 164 articles were made for the soldiers. On May 16 a committee met at 6 o'clock in the morning and provided a substantial lunch for Company I of the First Vermont Regiment, which was starting that day for camp at Fort Ethan Allen, near Burlington. On May 21 a lunch was prepared for the entire regiment of 1,200 men, passing through the town that day en route to Camp Thomas, at Chickamauga Park. On June 6, 900 pounds of groceries were sent to these men at Chickamauga. Three entertainments were given, which provided a good sum of money for the soldiers and their families. The aid society sent 430 bandages, towels, and sheets, and $300 in money for hospital use. Doctors and nurses were secured for the soldiers, and groceries and other necessaries were given to their families. On the return of Company I a substantial dinner was given to them, and $400 were used in providing for their families, as the men were not yet mustered out of service. Finally, on the evening before they were mustered out, a reception was given to them, their friends, and the general public. The total amount of money raised for this work during the summer was $1,750.50.

Brownson Chapter, of Arlington, numbers about 25 members, scattered in many different places. They therefore worked for war relief in the towns where they resided. As, however, one of the members, Mrs. Jesse Burdette, is the state regent and another member, Mrs. Amos G. Draper, was the treasurer of the D. A. R. hospital corps, the chapter was well represented in war work.

MONUMENTS TO MARY BROWNSON, WIFE OF ETHAN ALLEN, AND TO HER TWO CHILDREN. ERECTED BY BROWNSON CHAPTER AND BY CHILDREN OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION AT ARLINGTON, VT.

At the time of making the report last year it was impossible to secure a picture of the stones erected by this chapter and the Children of the American Revolution to Mary Brownson, wife of Ethan Allen, and to her two children. They are therefore inserted here. (Plate 48.) The stones are of granite from Barre, Vt., and the inscription on the larger one is as follows:

MARY BROWNSON, wife of
GEN. ETHAN ALLEN,
Died Feb., 1783.
Erected by the
BROWNSON CHAPTER,
D. A. R., 1895.

On the smaller stone are these words:

Joseph and Mary
Her children.

Ethan Allen Chapter, of Middlebury, 39 members, reports 268 garments for soldiers and nurses, sent through the war committee to Camp Wikoff, valued at $52; $50 sent to the D. A. R. war fund, 2 barrels of reading matter to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association, 1 barrel literature to First Vermont Regiment, at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga Park. The whole amount of money raised and expended for war relief was $108.50.

Green Mountain Chapter, of Burlington, 45 members, sent in June, 1898, $50 to Chickamauga Chapter for the relief of the sick, in response to the appeal. In July another $50 was sent to the D. A. R. war fund at Washington. On the return of the First Vermont Regiment, in August, to the camp at Fort Ethan Allen, delicacies and other comforts were sent by individual members to the camp hospital.

Heber Allen Chapter, of Poultney, 37 members, sent 36 garments to the D. A. R. war committee for distribution and $6.50 to the D. A. R. war fund at Washington. More would have been done had not illness of the members prevented.

Lake Dunmore Chapter, of Brandon, 22 members, began work soon after war was declared. A meeting was called under the auspices of the chapter, the Woman's Relief Corps, and the King's Daughters, and an aid association was formed, with the regent of the chapter as president. A box of supplies was sent to the hospital ship Bay State, one to their local company in the Vermont regiment, one to the Red Cross, one to Fort Myer, Va., and one to Fort Ethan Allen, all valued at $50 or more. They also continued to assist the sick soldiers on their return and their families.

Marquis de Lafayette Chapter, of Montpelier, 33 members, sent, as a chapter, $25 to the D. A. R. war fund, while through the personal efforts of one member, Mrs. Horatio M. Taplin, one of the vice-presidents-general of the national society, medicines, delicacies, and other comforts, amounting in value to $163.29, were sent to the various soldiers and sailors' relief organizations in Washington, to the division hospitals at Camp Alger, Chickamauga, Mobile, Tampa, and to the fever-stricken patients in the hospital trains. Magazines and books were also sent to these various points in large quantities.

Ormsby Chapter, of Manchester, 17 members, contributed, through one of its members, $30.27 to the D. A. R. war fund, sent a large assortment of literature to the hospitals, and collected for the suffering Cubans $130 in money, and food and clothing valued at $80.

Ox-Bow Chapter, of Newbury, 19 members, held a union service on July 31, 1898, to raise funds for the sick soldiers of Vermont. The local branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and other relief organizations joined in the efforts, raising $108 for the work of the chapter.

St. John de Crêvecœur Chapter, of St. Johnsbury, 19 members, sent $5 to the D. A. R. war fund and one box of supplies to Company D of the First Vermont Regiment. In August a volunteer aid association was formed under the presidency of the regent of the chapter. About $200 was raised in this way and sent to Company D at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga. Another box was sent to those members of the company who returned sick to Fort Ethan Allen, and those who were home on furlough, too ill to work, were also aided. Hospital and physicians' bills were paid for them. A box of hospital supplies was also sent to a nurse in the hospital at Savannah, Ga.

VIRGINIA.

Virginia was among the very first states in the Union to respond to the call for help, and was constant in ministrations when the sick and wounded of our own army and navy and the wounded and desolate Spanish prisoners were brought to her shores. Many a man remembers these Virginia "Daughters" with a gratitude too deep for words, and the Spaniards felt so much the kindness they received that they purchased a piece of silver with their slender resources and gave it as a memento of their gratitude when they went back to Spain.

Beverly Manor Chapter, of Staunton, 25 members, gave many hospital garments and also contributed money for the sick and wounded, but the record of the amount could not be secured. The ladies evidently did not stop to consider the making of records.

Blue Ridge Chapter, of Lynchburg, 29 members, gives two annual medals in the high school for the best essay on American history.

Large quantities of sheets were sent to the D. A. R. hospital corps in Washington, and 300 books and magazines to the hospital at Fortress Monroe.

Dorothea Henry Chapter, of Danville, 81 members, sent $28 to Gen. Fitzhugh Lee for the relief work in Cuba just before war was declared between the United States and Spain. Much work was done by the regent individually in equipping the company of volunteers that went to the Spanish war from Danville. In conjunction with a committee of other ladies in the town $165 in money and clothing amounting to $50 were sent to the sick soldiers as needed.

Fort Nelson Chapter, of Portsmouth, 23 members, gave $200 to the War Relief Association, of Portsmouth, and provided literature, stationery, and entertainments for the sick at the naval hospital at Norfolk. A committee visited the hospital daily, taking comforts and writing letters for the patients. They also gave a concert for them.

Great Bridge Chapter, of Norfolk, 37 members, gave $50 for relief of local soldiers' families left destitute. On May 18 an entertainment was given for the same cause, realizing $155. In conjunction with the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues another entertainment was given, furnishing $600 more for relief work. Under the leadership of the state regent a committee of ladies visited the national hospital before the patients came and made arrangements to send supplies directly to the head nurse. When the hospital ship Solace arrived with its load of suffering men 4 large boxes were sent, containing 676 articles of clothing and quantities of writing paper, stamps, ink, and pens. Two or three times every week thereafter some member of this chapter visited the hospital, carrying flowers, fruit, pipes, tobacco, and cigarettes. Clothing was also sent to the Spanish prisoners, as they had lost everything in the destruction of their ships at Santiago, and were also very ill. A more grateful set of men was never seen.

One nurse went from this chapter to serve in the hospital ship Relief and another to the naval hospital at Norfolk. One wounded marine, when able to leave the hospital, had his traveling expenses to his home paid by a member of the chapter. The state regent sent three nurses to Jacksonville, Fla., and three more to Old Point Comfort.

The chapter is now planning to erect a monument to mark the battlefield of Great Bridge, and also intends to place a tablet on the wall of old St. Paul's Church to show the location of the cannon ball fired by Lord Dunmore during the Revolution and now embedded in the wall of the church.

Margaret Lynn Lewis Chapter, of Roanoke, 24 members, gave $145.50 to the D. A. R. hospital corps. Of this $141.50 were sent to the state regent of Georgia for the diet kitchen under her charge at Fort McPherson.

The chapter is now making plans to mark the grave of Gen. Andrew Lewis, "the hero of Point Pleasant," who is buried at Salem, Va.

Montpelier Chapter, of Orange, 12 members, sent $5 to the war fund and also contributed to the relief association.

The chapter is now preparing to place a bronze tablet on a large rock located on the site of President Zachary Taylor's birthplace.

Mount Vernon Chapter, of Alexandria, 29 members, contributed during the year $10.50 for the promotion of the work of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the state.

One hundred and twenty-six hospital garments were made and 134 cut out, and $18 in money were provided for war needs. One member gave a part of every day for three months to hospital and relief work, and furnished 3 dozen biscuits for seven successive weeks. Several ladies gave bread, lemons, tea, milk, fruit, and books, to the Soldiers' Rest at Alexandria. Trips to Camp Alger were made regularly by chapter members who never went empty handed, but kept no record. Lights were furnished for the chapel tent at Camp Alger, and two dozen men were fed by one member as they were on the march from Camp Alger to Thoroughfare Gap.

Old Dominion Chapter, of Richmond, 106 members, sent one nurse to the hospital at Old Point Comfort, Va., and gave about 624 articles of clothing, food, fruit, and supplies.

WASHINGTON.

Mary Ball Chapter, of Tacoma, 46 members, bears with honor the name of the mother of Washington.

A committee was appointed early in the summer of 1898 to cooperate with the D. A. R. hospital corps, and the credentials of 10 nurses were examined. The first transport ship that left Tacoma with soldiers carried a package of reading matter donated by this chapter. A contribution of $15 was sent to the D. A. R. war fund, and the delicacies and literature sent brought the value of the relief work up to $158. The making of jellies and blackberry cordial for the soldiers was a special feature of this chapter's work. One hundred glasses made by the willing hands of these ladies were sent to Manila through the Red Cross organization at San Francisco.

Plans are now forming for a memorial to Narcissa Whitman, the heroic wife of that famous Whitman who saved Oregon to the United States.

Rainier Chapter, of Seattle, 23 members, interested the teachers and pupils of the public schools in the Francis Scott Key Monument and raised $61 for that object. They have contributed to the Mary Washington Monument, to Cuban hospital work, to the Continental Memorial Hall fund, and to the monument to Marcus Whitman.

WISCONSIN.

Janesville Chapter, of Janesville, 43 members, offered in April, 1898, a prize to the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades for the best essay on George Washington, and gave the children a fine entertainment when the prizes were awarded. During the war the best efforts of the chapter were devoted to the needs of the Janesville company in the First Wisconsin Regiment.

Kenosha Chapter, of Kenosha, 25 members, sent a box of literature to the Wisconsin soldiers on June 6, 1898. On July 9 $10 were sent to Chickamauga Chapter through the chapter at Milwaukee. Money amounting to $72 and 113 articles were collected and sent to Chickamauga Chapter on August 20, in response to its appeal.

La Crosse Chapter, of La Crosse, 31 members, appointed in the spring of 1898 a committee to cooperate with another acting under the governor for the relief of Cuban sufferers. Before the committee could act war was declared between Spain and the United States, and work was naturally diverted to the relief of the families of La Crosse soldiers gone to the front. A contribution of $5 was sent to the war fund of the national society. The ladies also enlisted the interest of the mayor, and a citizens' committee was organized through their efforts to carry on the work of relief wherever needed. Over $1,000 was received and distributed by this means during the war.

A large box of literature was sent to the two companies of La Crosse soldiers in camp at Chickamauga Park, and 78 articles of bedding were sent to the hospital at that place. In conjunction with a committee of the Sons of the American Revolution, much work was also done for invalid soldiers returning to the city or passing through it on their way elsewhere.

Milwaukee Chapter, of Milwaukee, 176 members, collected for the relief of soldiers and their families $1,354.22, and sent 1,091 articles of bedding, food, and clothing to the sick soldiers at Chickamauga Park.

The chapter is still conducting an active campaign in favor of Senate bill 3174, Fifty-fifth Congress, second session, and House bill 5491, Fifty-fifth Congress, second session. These bills are essentially the same and if passed would punish all forms of desecration of the national flag and cause it to be held in respect by our foreign-born citizens. The whole expense of this campaign in printing and postage has been borne by this chapter.

As the Congress of the United States has not yet seen fit to pass such a bill, the Milwaukee Chapter has started an agitation among the chapters in other states, which has resulted in the passage of laws in several states against the desecration of the flag. The South Dakota legislature has the honor of passing the first of these laws, on February 26, 1897.

Oshkosh Chapter, of Oshkosh, 36 members, sent a tent valued at $60 for the use of the sick soldiers at Chickamauga Park and the members were foremost in preparing for the peace jubilee at the close of the war with Spain.

LIST OF NURSES.

All nurses are classed under the hospital at which they first served, although large numbers were afterwards officially transferred to other hospitals. The formal address of all the nurses is "Miss," unless otherwise specified. The place appearing after each nurse's name is her residence; the last column gives her places of service.

The lists include those whose names were, in response to calls, sent to the Sugeon-General for contracts, and also those who, by authority later given, were ordered by telegraph to go directly to certain hospitals or camps at which their contracts would be made.
