Washington (Mrs. Joseph Washington), and their associates and successors, are hereby created a body corporate and politic, in the District of Columbia, by the name of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for patriotic, historical, and educational purposes; to perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence; by the acquisition and protection of historical spots and the erection of monuments; by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results; by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries; to carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens; to cherish, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom; to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

SEC. 2. That said society is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the United States, so far only as may be necessary to its lawful ends, to an amount not exceeding $500,000, and may adopt a constitution and make by-laws not inconsistent with law, and may adopt a seal.

Said society shall have its headquarters or principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. That said society shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution concerning its proceedings, and said Secretary shall communicate to Congress such portions thereof as he may deem of national interest and importance. The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said National Society to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets, and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum, at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

Approved February 20, 1896.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

THOMAS B. REED,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

A. E. STEVENSON,

Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate.

I certify that the above is a true copy of an act of Congress, the original of which is on file in this department.

In testimony whereof, I, Richard Olney, Secretary of State of the United States, have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 5th of May, A. D. 1896, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twentieth.

[SEAL.]

RICHARD OLNEY.

PART I

PROCEEDINGS OF THE FORTY-SECOND
CONTINENTAL CONGRESS

MONDAY MORNING SESSION, APRIL 17, 1933

The Forty-second Continental Congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, convened Monday morning, April 17, 1933, at 10 a.m. in Constitution Hall, Washington, D.C., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

The chaplain general, Mrs. Raymond G. Kimbell, pronounced the invocation.

Mrs. Arthur D. Wall, national chairman correct use of the flag, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. After one verse of the National Anthem, directed by Mrs. Charles W. Fairfax, of the Capt. Molly Pitcher Chapter, District of Columbia, the American's Creed was repeated by the assemblage, led by its author, William Tyler Page. A verse of America was sung.

Capt. Howard F. Clark, Assistant Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia, extended a welcome to the city. The president general, Mrs. Magna, then spoke of the distinguished service of the advisory board, composed of 11 men, representative in their respective spheres, and presented one of its devoted members, her father, Col. Walter Scott, who has attended every session of Congress through four administrations. Colonel Scott brought a welcome from the advisory board.

The president general introduced Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, national president of the Children of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Van Orsdel voiced the greetings of that society.

Mr. Frederick W. Millsbaugh, president general of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, was then introduced and made a brief address.

The president general then presented the general vice president of the general society, Sons of the Revolution, Mr. Stanley Griswold Flagg, who offered his felicitations. The Honorable Edith Nourse Rogers, Congresswoman from Massachusetts, was next presented. A cornet solo, "The Lost Chord", was played by Mr. Arthur S. Witcomb, second leader of the United States Marine Band.

Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., chairman of credentials committee, reported that the total number of Daughters present at the Congress was approximately 3,000.

Hon. Ruth Bryan Owen, chairman of the program committee, presented the report of that committee, and the president general then presented the vice chairman of program, Mrs. G. Wallace W. Hanger. Miss Emma L. Crowell, chairman of resolutions, was introduced and read her report, and then followed the address of Mrs. Russell William Magna, president general.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT GENERAL, MRS. RUSSELL
WILLIAM MAGNA

It is my proud and happy privilege to welcome you, in April's springtime, at the Easter season, to your own Congress, held in the Sunshine Auditorium of your National Chapter House, and to greet all those from coast to coast who are listening in.

An address does not have a text. Were this so, I would choose this morning for you one word—Courage. That, combined with Faith, can perform miracles.

Coming as you do from every State in the Union, each Territory, and from eight foreign countries, you epitomize a great society, organized with definite objectives to build in thought, and work and deed, even as did the forefathers who had ideals, visions, and a sense of purpose. Because they adhered to them, we are gathered here today. To you who came from the farthest States a special welcome.

The women of the world—the makers of history, and in your case, the preservers of history—are builders of thought.

Under the name "America" her history has developed. As the young Nation has grown, by conforming to fundamental principles, the Constitution and its ideals, so this society, through representatives, is assembled in its Forty-second Congress because it too has adhered to the vision of its founders, its constitution and bylaws, and made the title Daughters of the American Revolution stand for Dauntless—America—and Right. A woman's great patriotic society, built and operated by women, through loyalty has gained an enviable place in the sun, through its own well-defined work and efforts, for close to half a century.

Guard well that which is yours, nor barter away your title, your identity, your prestige, or concepts. An organization which can point with pride to 42 years of endeavor and accomplishment, which has builded, operated, and financed within itself such a group of buildings in the Nation's Capital, has earned the right to title and opinion and cannot lessen its ideality or entity by becoming other than it is.

So this morning, I address you as Daughters of the American Revolution, and vision this society 50 or 100 years hence, greatly respected, still titled the same by its members, and by its officers who give devout, unselfish service to its continuance. I pray you guard well your heritage, your title, and your work, adhere to your fundamental principles, nor change the character of its society by word or deed.

The name Daughters of the American Revolution means something. Keep it so.

We have witnessed great concerns grasping for expansion, reaching out beyond the confines of their own activities, building towers too high for their foundations. The towers pinnaced, and the business reached a point far above its level, pirouetted, lost their balance, and crashed. Therefore, let us be thoughtful. Our own work is our own trust and responsibility. George Washington in his later years, rich in experience, warned America not to change the character of the country. He urged unity, he said, "Be American. Take pride in the name which belongs to you in your national capacity. Take just pride in the patriotism of the name America more than any appellation derived from local discriminations."

In these days when we are tempted in our enthusiasm to overreach, when other groups would all too willingly and eagerly have us operate under their titles, rather than our own, let us pause and take heed to ourselves. While being helpful toward all those who are organized for good, let us remain the great patriotic organization which the founders visioned for us, and which we are today in name and truth, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

"Tell me what your women are and I will tell you what your nation is", said a great man. As Daughters of the American Revolution ours is the heritage of the women who made the Revolution and freedom for America possible. We have all heard the story of the frugal and thrifty Martha Washington, who during the more than 8 years that General Washington was in the field, when at home busied herself with her household duties carrying on as the wife of a great man should. It is said of her as much as she loved fine clothes, that during the stress of the war her attire was the simplest and that she ceased to serve the accustomed luxuries on the table. It is said that she was busy from morning till night as the mistress of one of the largest plantations in the country. Whenever it was possible she visited the general at his headquarters, cheering him and his comrades, leading her companions in sewing, knitting, and mending for the ragged soldiers. This leader of the colonial troops could not have given his all, had he not had Martha from whom he received support and inspiration.

We know well the story of Molly Pitcher, who, following her husband to camp, carried water to the embattled soldiers and then, her husband killed, bravely took his place. These are some of the beacon lights in the story of the heroism of the women who made our Nation possible and there are countless more; but back of every man who battled for the freedom of our Nation, there was a woman, whose silent struggle was no less poignant than his. It was she who saw that he was fed, clothed, and that the course of living flowed on as normally as possible under such conditions. Always it was the women in the rear who supported the vanguard.

When the Revolution was accomplished, and confusion became worse confounded—those turbulent years when the Nation tried to organize for orderly living under the loose hung articles of the Confederation, and the country floundered through its first depression, the whole economic system seemed out of gear. Debt, failure, and stark need was present as it is today. When foreclosures and failures had robbed families of their substances, the women did not falter. It was these women, whose men had come home to shattered fortunes, who went side by side with their men into the great West and built up an empire.

Throughout the country today the women are demonstrating the same dauntless courage, the same amazing adaptability to circumstances. I have witnessed as I have traveled from State to State the splendid "carrying on" determination so indicative of genuine character, so essentially American.

Our history shows that women have ever been equal to the occasion. The heroines of a yesteryear and the girl of today may differ in many ways, may seem very far apart, yet in the progress of time woman demonstrates intuitive wisdom, endurance through love, and loyalty through service. History records no dramatic era without woman playing her consistent, constant role.

Ours is the heritage of the men and the women who made homes of wildernesses, of men and women who have met and conquered every foe. Ours is a proud heritage and a splendidly deep obligation. To whom much is given, of her will much be required, and we the daughters of the men and women who for hundreds of years have won through because of God and home and country will not fail those who wrought that we may enjoy. Ours is a sacred trust. As generation by generation, we have caught the torch of the Nation's ideals, so we must hold it aloft and keep the flame alight. Never faltering, we must pass it on to those who come after. There is no more powerful influence in our country today than this society of ours, and we must use it wisely and well.

Wherever a D.A.R. chapter is located the community is better because of it, and wherever there is a D.A.R. chapter there should be a corresponding C.A.R. society. We should demonstrate a mutual interest, for we look to the young people to learn from us and carry on.

Our founders built with wisdom, care, and vision, and our task is to be true to their trust. We are indeed pledged to conserve American life and see to it that the mold is never broken. The people of America must preserve us a Nation.

Study past proceedings of Continental Congresses and back numbers of your own D.A.R. magazine. As complete a set as possible is essential. The history of the society is bound between their covers and there the development of your own work unfolds with a clarity which you will find fascinating. Here are themes for papers, discussions, a diffusion of your own knowledge, of your own work.

What we know we love, what we love we work for, and in service lies happiness. Being familiar with your work brings added joy. Every line of committee work pulsates throughout the society. Through our work—in the approved schools for the most part, in the mountain vastnesses—young America looks to us for education. Through our club work, scholarships, and student loan funds, let us gratify their desires whenever possible.

I plead even further work in conservation and thrift, for there has been and still is a call and an immediate need for human conservation in all capacities.

As I have flown from State to State, the prevalence of devastating forest fires is amazing. They should be stopped, not only because of the havoc wrought to trees and shrubs, but to animal and bird life as well. There is no depression in nature, a Divine Power has given it to us in abundance. We should preserve it and protect it, using our influence to curb destruction and waste.

The various ramifications of conservation, thrift, and preservation are equally defensive measures for the future welfare of the country.

This society, and all its participating officers, are definitely committed to a well-defined program for the national defense, embodying patriotic education. The society committed itself some years ago to the National Defense Act of 1920, and ever since the conception of such a committee we have, are continuing, and will continue to adhere to the working principles for a 100-percent national defense program as America's insurance policy. Adequate preparedness is as necessary for America as are police and fire departments for public safety, and insurance policies for personal protection.

The aim of this committee is to help "insure domestic tranquility" and "provide for the common defense" of the Nation.

All of the defense measures, and they have many ramifications, are essential to the preservation and protection of a Nation and the welfare of our people.

We want our own form of government. We do not wish that of any other government thrust upon us. Many have been the resolutions which this society has passed relative to the nonrecognition of Russia. Many chapters and States have recently reiterated this same type of resolution. I am confident that this Continental Congress will wish to again pass such action.

I stand shoulder to shoulder with you in not recognizing a country which has for its avowed purpose the destruction of our system of government and the very fabric of our civilization. Its purpose is to destroy democracy, religion, family life, property right, freedom of the press and of speech. By its public acts and pronouncements it has proclaimed and is proclaiming that it will destroy our form of government under the Constitution. It would set up in its place a communist regime which is the flat negation of all the articles in the Bill of Rights.

The sooner we make up our minds that a bill should be passed making it unlawful to advocate the overthrow of our Government, the better. No amount of printed matter or oratory can stop the spread of communism. Only laws against it will be effective.

Any country has a right to any form of government it desires. We stand against recognition of their government because of her avowed purpose to destroy ours.

Any study of the subject of common defense, national security, and public safety, to be comprehensive and intelligent must embrace an educational program. In this society, this is naturally patriotic. If organizations are to be effective when they pronounce themselves either for or against certain angles of such subjects, the program of instruction should be studied throughout the membership by means of educational instruction.

The problems of present-day policies are very complicated. Men and women who have been keen students for years are either standing at debate or so entrenched in their own viewpoint they become critical of others. Differences of opinion are natural but not necessarily unpatriotic.

In furthering our program for preparedness or national defense, we believe in the C.M.T.C., the R.O.T.C., the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs and any and all groups of like nature, which through disciplinary teachings will make better men and women of the youth of our land, and trained, disciplined adults for the betterment of our country. Training in obedience means the consciousness of service, and service means unselfishness and respect for duty.

Citizenship and statesmanship are two fine types of patriotic craft in the fleet of the ships of state. Education and intelligent training will produce them. Only by teaching the youth of today along these lines, only by showing them the seriousness of their responsibility, only by helping them can we be helped.

It would be interesting to see how many adults who comment on the indifference of youth have given up anything they really wished to do in order to assist them.

I maintain that education in citizenship, and in any and all matters pertaining to an individual in order that government may be better understood, is part of a preparedness or citizenship program; and I advocate the introduction of study programs in civics and government as a part of chapter work.

There can be no finer work than that which we do for the approved schools. To have properly educated a child, to have contributed to make training possible, that is indeed a patriotic work.

Teach youth how, when, and why to use their knowledge rather than theories about specific subjects. Let adults forget for a while how it was done in their day and be interested enough to see that in the progress of the world youth looks for understanding. If you fail them in attentive interest they will inevitably turn where it can be had. The schools of the Nation's founders fit in with our conservation of the values of the past and the constructive growth of the future.

The best method by which to embrace the opportunities for work and service is by facing facts, thinking things through, and by using common sense and reason.

In answer to the oft repeated question, What do the Daughters do? I can answer that they are engaged in all endeavors which are of a practical, patriotic nature.

The study of the problems of the day, as applicable to individuals and families is a civic duty to promote personal welfare and for an enlightened public, in order that opinions when voiced may be based on intelligence.

What does it mean to be a citizen? What obligation do you derive because you are a citizen? And just what are your obligations?

The Nation's business is your business.

After all a country is a people, and this is America. A good American must care for the country. Indifference is as dangerous as ignorance.

I believe education is essential to the maintenance of proper government. Individual thinking is a worthy achievement but today it is a boast. Study, learn, think for yourself, then act because you believe and have faith. America is our big business. Let us invest in her.

The women of America can and must answer the challenge flung to them by recent developments in the crime conditions of their country.

Crime in America today is a well-organized and a well-financed force; it is a flourishing business.

Bring intelligent pressure to bear upon legislators as your individual voice to insist that crimes and racketeering of all types be put out of business.

Individuals, groups, societies, and even business takes a certain stand for definite reasons and it is folly for any one of them to cast aspersions on others who have a perfect right to disagree. Hence, we should build up our own constructive, affirmative program—so declarative and convincing, intelligent, and constructive, that people will accept it because of its own merits and worth. As a salesman cannot make his prospect buy that which, for some reason, he does not want, so no sale can be made of ideas unless they are constructive, sane, sensible, and intelligent.

Civic interests and national questions should have consideration through thoughtful study.

On the one hundred and fifty-seventh anniversary of the Battle of Lexington, those patriots in spirit must know that American character stands sure.

The problems of the present day are grave, serious, and complicated. Little advance can be made if we decry all who do not agree with us.

Again the patriotic education of our people, resultant in intelligent electorates will better support the function of government.

Everyone has an indisputable right to an individual opinion. The question of the hour which touches the lives of all lies in the hands of those whom we, the voters, have placed in office.

The will of the majority still prevails. Let us, through proper procedure, uphold government, not dictate to it.

Nor would I have you entrench yourselves in a past, no matter how worthy; rather do I advocate adhering to principles and fundamentals, at the same time keeping step with progress.

The womanhood of America can and does mold, create, and educate character. Theirs is the responsibility and opportunity.

There is something so definitely fine, so superbly individual in the sportsmanlike character of the American people that America will ever be able to depend upon them. The character of the people and the character of a country demonstrates its positive side.

This position gives a trophy to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and one to the United States Military Academy at West Point at their respective commencements each year, and it is noticeable that the recipient is distinguished for positive character. Positive means declarative and affirmative.

How healthy it would be if people would adopt affirmative thought and positive ideas.

I have often urged, through my experience in writing, particularly to chairmen who are sending out letters of inspiration, to start them with an affirmative sentence. Better results are obtained by planting an affirmative thought, just as better plants are grown from healthy seeds.

Everything has been spoken of in this superlative age of ours in enlarged terms. We were invited to a big dance, or a big dinner. The occasion was simply grand. The event the biggest and best ever. The apparel the costliest, and displays lavish. Even as I speak, illumined signs declare future events will be the most superlative of all. We are overfed with overstimulation, highly seasoned words, phrases and actions. We have grown weary of being swept off our feet and of breath-taking events. Not being able to afford the extravagances we have turned with deliberate appreciation to the things at hand, and recognized them as infinitely dear and precious.

A pendulum which has swung too far will return. It is a proven law. National equilibrium will return! But the readjustments call for sanity, wisdom, calmness, and common sense.

We are living in a dramatic age. Shakespeare, in his reference to life's stage, would have indeed said that the individual thinker today plays a vital role—but the actor is no longer a prop for scenic effects. Life is so dramatic, so alive, so colorful, no wonder the public has demanded that their form of entertainment be of a startling variety—their literature colorful—dress extreme. The resultant effects have produced the new, the bizarre—vibrant with disharmonies—developing those things termed "ultra." And then with these pulsating, whirling, rushing, excitable days—everything a step ahead of schedule—came a jolt. Like a high-powered car racing on, and a flat tire stopping progress and throwing speed out of line.

Depression? Well, if you like. Rather would I say opportunity. The opportunity to meet facts—face them—find our moorings and keep to them. We talk of economic depression but a depression in ideals and religion is worse.

It has not been so long, in point of time, from the covered-wagon days—but the distance traveled is commensurate with many cycles of time. Life has come to be interpreted in terms of not "How far have you traveled?" but "How quickly did you arrive?"

This recent pause in our madness for material things has been as the wayside sign, "Stop, look, and listen." And it has taken courage—but best of all—and we knew it all the time—American people have plenty of that—the courage that is indicative of our people—the stamina that is America.

The dramatic period has been a superlative one.

Balanced minds go with balanced budgets. The sooner we reject extremes for temperate thought, superlatives for honest descriptions, wise cracks for simple truths, the sooner will radical thought on any subject become reasonable and sane. Time and loyal friendships can adjust a world. If individuals and groups holding extreme views on any subject would temper these with calm judgment and each give to the other an exchange of thought rather than censure, each would derive benefit.

The woman power of such a group as this has the capacity for a great constructive program for good. Each chapter is a school in which the member contributes her individuality.

As the American woman on the prairies enriched the pages of our history so you members enrich the world in which you play your part. Have faith in your own worth—believe in your own society, believe in yourselves, translate it in terms of true constructive value to each community and thus to the Nation. The world's opinion of this society depends on the members' attitude toward the world.

Those who would decry an educational program have forgotten that only death stops education. Only through education in any field can intelligence be gained, and only through intelligence will civilization better itself.

Only rested minds are productive of rested decisions. If, in these hectic times throughout the world, individuals could stop, look, and listen, the frantic desire to match opinion with opinion, ideas with counter ideas, might give way to reason, respect, and rested conclusions. If the world and its people could rest a little while, contemplate, then act, the sanity of judgments would be indeed wisdom.

It lies within our power to teach and thus develop an enlightened public opinion founded on a knowledge of and a respect for the institutions of our country.

This is a time for intelligent deliberation, careful consideration, wise council, and common sense on the part of women and men as well.

Adherence to duty on the part of women will ever be illumined on the page of progress. Your presence in this assembled Congress is indicative of the carrying-on quality. Your fine spirit as State conferences were held recently according to schedule under difficult circumstances and your journey to Washington at this time is a further demonstration of loyalty, fine and sure and dependable.

We are a practical people, noted for business ability, but until we cultivate the big business of investing in those upholding all that Americans hold dear and sacred, our boast is in vain.

A traveler from State to State fully realizes that this young Nation is grown up—that we have American music, American architecture, American art, and in fact in all the various phases of life there is a something tangible and real that is distinctly American.

We have grown up so fast that we have not had time perhaps to notice it. But it is here, and is having recognition from the world over.

Here in America we have much to be thankful for. We can fuss and scold and criticize, urge changes and suggestions, but with it all it is a great America, and it is our country.

We are a land of liberty, not license. Abuse of liberty should not be tolerated.

The blessings of liberty can only be preserved if civic responsibilities are assumed. Know your country, its history, and take pride in it. Your government is yours to understand. Your laws require obedience. Constituted authority carries respect. Service to country in any capacity whatever is a requisite of duty, even at personal sacrifice.

In the name of America as a nation, let us return to the spiritual values as taught by the Great Teacher. Stability can come out of this chaos. The magic touch of American womanhood can help to enforce proper laws.

Be patriotically loyal, not apathetically critical. Those in office must have loyal support to serve you as you would be served. And this is pertinent not only in national politics but in organization work as well.

Leaders of any group today have a tremendous task and must practice sanity, calm reason, and conservative judgment. Sanity is the only hope for any reasonable solution of the grave problems which beset us.

Think of going from State to State in freedom, without a charge at each State line. Think of traveling over miles and miles of gorgeous country, wondrous in scenic beauty, unsurpassed in roads and accessibility, rich in produce of every description.

America the beautiful—from sea to shining sea—and it is yours and mine.

I believe that the values of life, the gestures of giving, sharing, and making others happy is one of the greatest privileges we have. It is a difficult time to ask anyone in terms of money. But everyone has a little time, a little thought, and something which they can do for others during these trying and serious times. A cheery word and good morning may do much to ease a troubled heart. Thoughtfulness, friendliness, neighborliness, and an unutterable faith in the Golden Rule, the wording of which remains the same even though the world is changing.

Courage built America.

Courage has carried her on, and courage will be her stabilizer. Upon you and me, and on our tenacity of purpose, adherence to ideals and determination depends our Nation's future. Courage without faith is hopeless.

We are the inheritors of the dauntless courage and faith of our foremothers. In their name I beseech you to be courageous, faithful, and loyal and have faith in yourselves, your country, your organization, and your God.

"He that doeth the truth cometh to the light."

The resolutions committee presented resolution no. 1 on nonrecognition of Soviet Russia, which was unanimously adopted.

Mrs. James G. Peabody, vice president general, took the chair, and the president general presented her report.

REPORT OF PRESIDENT GENERAL, MRS. RUSSELL W. MAGNA

As your chief executive, and as chairman of the National Board of Management, it is my privilege and pleasure to render to you an accounting of my stewardship for the past year.

From the time I took office last April, until the present, practically every day has been devoted to some phase of the activities of the society.

This past year, critical and serious as it has been, has demonstrated anew the tremendous loyalty and great devotion of the members to the fundamental principles of this society.

With a keen realization that no outstanding monumental achievement could be hoped for at this time, my main objective has been to keep the work going, to hold fast to faith, and to try, as far as possible, to assist the entire membership in keeping steady and holding to a constructive policy, at the same time concentrating on intense work.

The office of the president general in this society demands constant attention, and the need of ever being on the alert, for each and every day brings its problems, and the necessity for quick decisions. While I speak of daytime activities, I might refer also to the wee small hours when mail must be attended to.

The cooperation which the membership constantly gives is a tremendous force in the growth of the organization. This cooperation extends, not only from the members of my own personal family, and my home office, where a secretary whom I have had for close to 9 years is working constantly on D.A.R. work, to my secretaries in the Washington offices, and the devoted service and untiring efforts of those who give of themselves to the society. It also permeates the members of the National Board of Management, and the members of States and chapters. The joy of working together makes that which might be difficult much more easily accomplished.

Those who give us service in our administrative office, constantly demonstrate a heart-felt interest and devotion in the welfare of our society. This is a priceless possession for any organization to have.

Five regular and two special board meetings—the latter for the admission and reinstatement of members, and confirmation of State regents and State vice regents and chapters only, have been held. It was a privilege to preside over each one, with the exception of the special meeting held on February 1, when I was quite ill with the flu. Every hour that I spent in working for the society has been a veritable joy, and I love it with the same consistent enthusiasm that I have had through the many years of close contact with the national board.

Each executive and board meeting has been marked with thoughtful deliberation, wise discernment, always with the best interest of the welfare and future of the society at heart. As president general, I welcome this opportunity to pay a high tribute to every member of our national board.

I am, of course, deeply interested in having the debt on Constitution Hall paid. I refer to our group of buildings often as our National Chapter House, but this past year has certainly been no time for an intensive drive for funds.

All of our national committees have functioned efficiently, intelligently, and I am sure you will be proud of the splendid results which you will hear. Each one has taken hold of the work and displayed keen interest, and they should be heartily congratulated on the results, especially in view of conditions.

Aside from the attention given to conducting the affairs of the office, I have visited the State conferences in 21 States: Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, and Vermont, and in addition attended the White breakfast given by the General Henry Dearborn Chapter of Chicago, Ill., which closely resembled a State meeting, having 29 chapter regents present and also guests from Indiana. I have also addressed many chapters and groups, formally and informally and written many messages and greetings and speeches to be delivered, as well as radio broadcasts.

I firmly believe more and more in the operation of the work of the society in the years to come, that some arrangement must be made whereby the president general can be represented at State conferences. With this thought in mind, I have asked all the vice presidents general to keep me informed when they have been asked to represent the society at particular functions, other than social. By letting me know in advance, I have gladly written messages which they could deliver as representing the president general and the National Society. I think this has worked very favorably during the past year, and I am in hopes even more work along this line can be done in the months to come.

The society can well congratulate the State regents and members upon holding the State conferences as usual, and adhering to regular work during this very trying winter, and particularly this spring. Many meetings were due to be held just when the banks closed in the early part of March. Without hesitation I urged that all carry on, in the true patriotic American spirit. I started in March on my trip to cover 11 States, on borrowed money, so gladly lent me by thoughtful, generous friends, which made my trip possible. At each State conference, and at every meeting, I have gathered veritable inspiration, and much information which will be of added help to me in the months to come. Each State is as individual as a person, each one interesting, vital and alive to the needs and work of the society.

Time does not permit more than a brief résumé of important events during the year. All most interesting, and I should like to mention just a few of the outstanding ones. Almost immediately upon my entrance into office, a very great honor was conferred on me, in being presented to the United States House of Representatives, through the courtesy of Representative Allen T. Treadway.

Another event which it was my privilege and pleasure to attend was the Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution, at which I made an address. Also their banquet, and out of courtesy to our brother organization, we entertained at a tea for the women members of the Congress—the wives and mothers.

I enjoyed being the guest of honor at the Newspaper Women's Club, which was a marked courtesy.

Numerous broadcasts have been given, and interviews with Senators, Representatives and men associated in our national defense work, and I am firm in the conviction there is much work for all of us to do for the further protection of our country, and to prevent such crimes as the Lindbergh tragedy.

The personal pleasure was mine to present to Midshipman J. Harry Hayes, of New Jersey, the sword which is annually awarded at the United States Naval Academy for excellence in seamanship, and later the George Washington saber to Cadet Rush B. Lincoln, Jr., for excellence in philosophy at West Point.

A distinctive honor came to me from the American International College in the conferring upon me of the degree of the doctor of laws.

Plaques for antiaircraft gunnery were presented during the year to the U.S.S. Houston, U.S.S. Arizona, and the U.S.S. Delroit, which were made with due ceremony.

Fort Necessity, I cannot overlook, as it was here that we had the honor on July 4, of placing a tablet within the stockade. This event was so outstanding it gave me inspiration for my entire year's work.

During the latter part of the summer a pilgrimage was made to Paris, France, by officers and members of our society for the purpose of presenting and placing the Yorktown tablet, report of which will be made to you later. It was a keen regret that I could not be of the number going over for this purpose, but the society was ably represented; Yorktown and our society having such close associations.

This calls to mind the death of our loyal friend, Ambassador Jules J. Jusserand, and in a letter from Madame Jusserand in reply to my cable, she states "If the Ambassador were speaking to you, his message would be that we prosper and continue our work of preserving for future generations the memorials of our country's past and keeping the flame of patriotism burning, and to continue to cherish and foster the amity which has existed between France and America."

Another event which took place in West Virginia was the unveiling of a marker commemorating the bee-line march of Capt. Hugh Stevenson's company of Virginia Riflemen, a march of 600 miles from Morgan Spring to Boston, linking West Virginia and Massachusetts.

Time does not permit the recounting of many outstanding occasions, constructive activities and many delightful events. These, in almost diary form are chronicled in our D.A.R. Magazine.

On every occasion I considered it a high privilege and honor to represent the society. The inauguration and its several history-making events was most impressive, and unforgettable.

Notwithstanding a difficult year for all of us financially, reports testify to loyal work. I stand before you, renewing my pledge of service and loyalty, and to the fundamental principles of this great patriotic organization.

With a sense of the great power which we hold, I urge you to become more conscious as educators in patriotic duty, in fostering the love of that which in our proud and priceless possession—America; and I constantly urge you to continue this society as the founders intended it to be, and as it has been for a long period of years.

I give you again the one word "courage", which I used as a text for my address this morning.

The summing up of the year's work has been an unutterable joy and a beautiful service. Could these women who founded this organization be conscious of our work—and I doubt not at all but that their spirits hover close—I am sure that their souls would rest quietly, knowing that we have "Kept the Faith."

EDITH SCOTT (Mrs. RUSSELL WILLIAM) MAGNA,
President General.

Prayer and benediction by Rev. Nathan A. Seagle, D.D., rector of St. Stephen's Church, New York City, closed the session, which recessed at 12:50 p.m.

MONDAY AFTERNOON SESSION, APRIL 17, 1933

The meeting convened at 2 p.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

Greetings were given by the following former presidents general: Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, Mrs. Grace H. Brosseau, Mrs. George Maynard Minor, and Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey. Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook was unable to be present, and greetings were sent her.

All the following reports in this volume are presented in abbreviated form in the interests of printing economy.

REPORT OF CHAPLAIN GENERAL

As chaplain general, I have attended all the regular meetings of the National Board, and 1 special meeting, preparing devotions for them, 2 State conferences, and 4 divisional meetings, besides a great many chapter meetings.

I shared in the ceremonies when Mrs. Marshall McDonald's portrait was placed in the president general's reception room, when the sundial was dedicated at Kenmore, and when a Washington elm was planted on the campus of Chicago University.

On different occasions I presented the work of our approved schools, our place in the Century of Progress Exposition, and the accomplishments at Kenmore.

To the chapters reporting deaths I sent the society's formal card of sympathy until the supply was exhausted.

I acted as chairman of the memorial services committee, and have prepared the program of devotions for this forty-second Congress.

EDITH SMITH (Mrs. RAYMOND G.) KIMBELL,
Chaplain General.

REPORT OF RECORDING SECRETARY GENERAL

Immediately after the Continental Congress of 1932 work was begun on the compilation and indexing of the verbatim proceedings and was completed before the increased postage laws went into effect.

The resolutions were printed and also the bylaws as amended.

All minutes of the National Board of Management have been transcribed, indexed, and a summary of each meeting prepared for the magazine. The executive committee minutes also are completed.

All rulings prepared and sent to the necessary officers or chairmen.

During the year the certificate department has issued 5,107 notification cards; 5,136 membership certificates; 19 commissions to officers, 63 to State regents and State vice regents; and 18 reelection cards to State regents and State vice regents.

The work of the office is up to date.

All regular and special meetings of the National Board and executive committee have been attended.

It is with pleasure that I give my thanks to Mrs. Berry who has worked to make this my first year in this office easy.

HELEN NEWBERRY (Mrs. HENRY BOURNE) JOY,
Recording Secretary General.

REPORT OF CORRESPONDING SECRETARY GENERAL

It is my privilege to bring to you a report of the work accomplished in the office of the corresponding secretary general during the past year.

The demands on this office have been great, both from the membership and the general public, as our records show that the number of letters and pieces of literature sent out since the last congress amounted to 433,531, an advance of 22,875 over last year.

Probably due to conditions throughout the country, the demand for application blanks has fallen below that of last year but it is encouraging to know that 29,281 application blanks and 28,458 working sheets and ancestral charts have been sold.

During the year the following material was sent to the members of the National Board and chapter regents: The resolutions adopted by the Forty-first Congress, the address of the president general, the constitution and bylaws, the national committee lists, together with copies of the proposed amendments to the bylaws amounting to 13,500 pieces, and we have also addressed 2,625 wrappers for the Proceedings of Congress.

In addition to the application blanks, working sheets, and ancestral charts the following supplies and printed matter were mailed from this office upon request:

Leaflets of How to Become a Member	3,067
Leaflets of general information	2,257
Pamphlets of necessary information	638
Constitution and bylaws	1,425
Transfer cards	2,441
Pamphlets of What the Daughters Do	14,325
Gift lists	1,100
Official lists	1,000

The demand for the Manual for Immigrants has been most gratifying—330,200 having been sent out, showing a gain of 74,952 over last year. The manuals are available in 18 languages and the ever-increasing interest in them shows the efficiency of the manual committee and the great value of this work.

HATTIE M. (Mrs. JOHN M.) BEAVERS,
Corresponding Secretary General.

REPORT OF ORGANIZING SECRETARY GENERAL

The statistical report for the past year is as follows:

State regents confirmed	1
State vice regents confirmed	2
Resignations of State vice regents	1
Organizing regents confirmed	29
Organizing regents resigned	4
Organizing regencies expired	20
Organizing regents reappointed	10
Chapters presented for confirmation	21
Chapter names presented	6
Chapter names changed	4
Chapter locations changed	4
Chapters disbanded	16
Chapters authorized	8
Chapter authorizations expired	1
Chapter incorporations	2
Charters issued	9
Total number of cards filed	25,719
Permits for national and ex-national officers, State and ex-State officers, State and ex-State regents, chapter regents, ex-regents, and organizing regents	492
Mailing lists of chapter regents issued	16
Chapter elections reported	2,418
Total number of chapters to date, including 1 organized at San Juan, P.R., in June, is	2,468

Although fewer chapters have been confirmed this year, the organizing secretary general is by no means discouraged. Organizing regents and organizing members deserve special commendation for their courage in forming chapters during this year of stress and uncertainty.

May I remind you, however, that our national bylaws require that names of chapters must be confined to the period preceding 1825. I therefore suggest that chapters now in process of formation be named for signers of the Declaration of Independence or their wives. Make it possible for us to say that there is in our society a chapter named for every signer and for the wife of every signer. Their names are to be found in the article in the January issue of our magazine.

ELISE HOXIE (Mrs. FRANK HOWLAND) PARCELLS,
Organizing Secretary General.

REPORT OF TREASURER GENERAL

In submitting my first annual report as treasurer general, I think we can feel justly proud of the way our society finances have weathered these troublesome times, and as has always been the case in this country, we are coming out with heads up and pushing ahead to greater achievements.

This has been a tremendously difficult year for us all and naturally our society has felt it a great deal. So many people have been forced to resign and even be dropped because they could not meet the dues, so our membership on February 1 shows a big loss as compared with last year. It totals 161,465. We have reduced the number of our employees because the number of members coming in did not warrant so large a force and then later we were obliged to cut the pay roll and this was met in a splendid way.

The general disbursements of the society include the following items worthy of special mention: Tablet at Fort Necessity, $246; swords, United States Naval and Military Academies, $295; D.A.R. Salon, Paris, France, $3,000; Chicago Exposition, $1,807.40; Washington plates, $2,788.67.

The gifts for Constitution Hall included a $1,000 bond from Eschscholtzia Chapter, California. The debt has been reduced $139,100 and all interest payments made. There remains an outstanding indebtedness of $427,400.

(Miss) KATHARINE ARNOLD NETTLETON,
Treasurer General, N.S.D.A.R.

We hereby certify that we have verified the statement of receipts and disbursements in the foregoing report of the treasurer general, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1933, and that they are in accordance with the books of the society. We examined the securities representing the investment of $168,814.84.

THE AMERICAN AUDIT Co.,
By C. R. CRANMER, Resident Manager.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 10, 1933.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

As chairman of the finance committee, I have the honor to submit my report for the year ending March 31, 1933.

Vouchers were approved to the amount of $580,010.38, of which $42,966.62 represents contributions received for approved schools and Americanism; $14,229.61 for student-loan fund; $7,519.36 for preservation of historic spots.

Disbursements were made to cover the following:

Balance of calendar account	3,000.11

For a detailed statement, I would refer you to the report of the treasurer general.

The finance committee has held four meetings during the year, and I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to the members for their interest and faithful attendance; also to Miss Jackson for her assistance as clerk to the committee.

MINETTE G. MILLS (Mrs. FRANK M.) DICK,
Chairman.

REPORT OF AUDITING COMMITTEE

Your auditing committee has carefully compared the reports of the treasurer general and the American Audit Co., public accountants, for each of the past 12 months and found them all in accord, with the exception of 50 cents, which, upon investigation, was found to be a typing error.

HELEN NEWBERRY (Mrs. HENRY BOURNE) JOY,
Chairman.

REPORT OF REGISTRAR GENERAL

Your registrar general presents for the consideration of the national congress the following annual report of the activities of her office. It will be found to be an index of the times through which we are passing and is respectfully called to your attention, as dealing with a department which is an important adjunct of national headquarters, not only because of the work performed in tracing lineages but as the final depository of the ancestral records of tens of thousands of those who glory in their heritage of Revolutionary blood. In its archives are preserved for posterity genealogical data gathered from crumbling stones and fading sheets; historical facts rescued from oblivion by patient searchers; and family history which, but for this source, would be forever lost from the memory of man. These are priceless because irreplaceable.

It is my pleasure to present the following statistical report:

Number of applications verified	4,472
Number of supplementals verified	2,630
Total number of papers verified	7,102
Total number of new records verified	1,478
Total number of papers returned unverified	429
Total number of papers returned for proper endorsements, signatures, and attestations	639
Total number of letters	13,950
Total number of postals of notification	11,339

Total number of permits issued:

Insignia.....	644
Recognition pins.....	879
Ancestral bars.....	1,266

The last national number is 281,362.

WINIFRED E. (MRS. STANLEY FORMAN) REED,
Registrar General.

A talk on the subject of Revolutionary Records in the War Department by Col. John P. Wade, of The Adjutant General's Office, followed.

REPORT OF HISTORIAN GENERAL

As historian general and chairman of historical research, I am proud to report a great amount of high-grade historical work accomplished this year by the chapters in the various States and to express my appreciation to the national vice chairmen and the State and chapter historians for their cooperation. Besides the 46 States reporting, we have also heard from Cuba, Hawaii, and Italy. Massachusetts, Florida, and Arizona have this year completed their State histories.

General interest is shown by the fact that 721 chapters used the study program as outlined by your historian general on the Formation of the Government of the United States. Eight hundred and ninety chapters had programs based on the history of their States. Special anniversaries were celebrated by various chapters with 2,338 programs.

The major work of the office of historian general is the compilation and publication of genealogical records of lineage books. The president general is especially interested in the acceleration of this work so that our lineage books may be brought up to date.

Through the splendid cooperation of the office force under the direction of Mrs. Hendricks eight volumes have been completed instead of the customary six. Sales of lineage books from April 1, 1932, to March 31, 1933, have amounted to $7,585.30. Cost of publishing and shipment of books, $8,419.48. Approximate number of books sold, 2,520. Receipts for indexes are $40. The purchase of these books by all chapters should be encouraged.

Believing that the study of history serves both as an inspiration and as a warning, your historian general selected as study that period of American history immediately following the Revolutionary War. Victory had been won. Peace had come at last, and the work of organizing a stable government to take the place of the old was to be faced. Your historian general has tried to tell you in the seven articles published in the magazine the story of that critical period immediately following the close of the American Revolution when the Ship of State wallowed in heavy seas, beset on every side by bankruptcy and at times mutiny. The titles of these articles almost convey the story of each part of the struggle between victory and peace: Between Victory and Peace, When Pitfalls Beset a Nation, The Constitution United the Confederation, Federal and State Laws Under the Constitution, Framers of the Constitution, Twentieth Amendment of the Constitution, and Adoption of the Constitution.

AMY CRESSWELL (MRS. WILLIAM LOUIS) DUNNE,
Historian General.

Following the above report, the president general presented Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, who spoke on the James Monroe law office, that historic shrine in Fredericksburg, Va., restored through her efforts.

Mrs. B. F. Fleming, president of the Kenmore Association, and mother of Mrs. H. H. Smith, was introduced, and told of the splendid work accomplished in restoring Kenmore, the home of Betty Washington, George Washington's only sister, and wife of Col. Fielding Lewis, who made the first guns for the Revolutionary War.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN GENERAL

To follow as I did in the footsteps of our president general in the field of work she cultivated with such enthusiastic diligence during her 3 years as librarian general has been at once an inspiration and an incentive not to allow the field to grow fallow. Now I have the honor and privilege to submit my first report of the work being accomplished in the library since last April.

From a small beginning the library has grown to be a real power in the organization. That treasured possession of the pioneer, the Bible, with its family records did invaluable service by preserving for us the names of the children and grandchildren of these builders of an empire. The manuscript file case in the library contains many certified copies of these old Bible records.

Study of other special libraries show that while they have genealogical departments, they are in conjunction with other collections, while the D.A.R. specialize in history and genealogy only. Ours is a consulting library, not circulating. I believe that expert opinions rank us among the first six in this class in the country.

Many family records are buried in unindexed local histories, periodicals, etc. Often only two generations are given, but they may supply that missing link needed to connect the past with the present. To bring to light these buried records, the work of special indexing, inspired by our president general when librarian general, and financed by means of special contributions from the States, was made an outstanding feature of her term of office. She was most interested and anxious to have the best kind of indexing and cataloging and I feel confident we are attaining and realizing this ambition. Thousands of cards have been made and 178,172 have been filed since last spring, the balance will be finished after congress.

Since April 1932 the following accessions have been presented to the library: 694 books, 150 pamphlets, 96 manuscripts, and 119 bookplates.

Summing up the reports received from the national chairmen, it is shown that in addition to gifts to the D.A.R. Library hundreds of books have been sent to the approved schools, to public libraries, to the American Seamen's Friend Society, and the American Merchant Marine Library.

Our collection of Revolutionary pensions now numbers 113 volumes, 7 of which have been completed during the past year.

We also have a very fine and steadily growing bookplate collection, representative of the best American artists. This collection includes 24 State D.A.R. bookplates.

MINNETTE G. MILLS (Mrs. FRANK MADISON) DICK,
Librarian General.

The president general then introduced the president of the American Merchant Marine Library Association, Mrs. Henry Hazard, who told of the work of that association, often called "The Public Library of the High Seas."

Mr. William Elling, librarian of the American Seamen's Friend Society, was presented, and described the work of his society.

REPORT OF CURATOR GENERAL

Seventy-five gifts have been accepted during the year from California, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Washington. Three cases have been given.

Gifts of money have been received from the following States: Florida, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, and Virginia. We are trying to make our museum educational as well as beautiful, and to this end we endeavor to give on our label cards as much information as possible as to dates. This requires much research work, and we are very grateful for the gifts of reference books received during the year; we are gradually accumulating an invaluable reference library.

We still have collections of interesting canes, handwoven linens, gavels and historic wood not at present on exhibition, and it has not seemed wise to continue accepting duplicates unless of special historic value. Although the friends of the museum have been most generous to us we are still in need of cases. Each case is carefully planned for before being ordered and great consideration is given to the installation. As yet we have no example of Paul Revere silver; surely in such a collection as ours there should be at least of one these rare treasures.

(Miss) MYRA HAZARD,
Curator General.

Mr. Theodore Belote, curator of history of the National Museum, was presented by the president general and spoke on the Importance of the Historical Museum. He defined two types of historical museums. One of these is concerned with material relative to military, naval, and numismatic history, and the other, equally important, is concerned with material that gives a description of the early American home. He congratulated the Daughters upon the splendid example of their museum in reproducing and presenting the early American home.

In the absence of the reporter general to the Smithsonian Institution, Mrs. Frank Phelps Toms, her report was read by the recording secretary general.

REPORT OF REPORTER GENERAL TO THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

In compiling the report to the Smithsonian Institution, for the year April, 1932-33, I have followed the plan set forth by my predecessor, Mrs. Lyman B. Stookey, and I here and now make grateful acknowledgement of the helpful suggestions I have received from her.

This plan contemplated that all data for the report be secured from the report of the continental congress, after it has been issued, each year. Here are to be found the annual reports of the historian general, national chairmen, and State regents. These three sets of reports seldom agree exactly when checked, one against the other, but, in such cases the figures of the national chairman have been accepted.

May I suggest that, in making reports to the continental congress, the national chairmen submit their department activities, classified by States, as it is used in this form, for the Smithsonian report?

It is of vital importance that the lists of graves of Revolutionary soldiers be exact, and that the instructions printed at the head of these blank forms be followed in minute detail. If this is done, these reports can be forwarded to the printer, as received, and thus save time and expense. These blank forms are supplied to each State historian, to be filled out by her and returned to the reporter general.

Your reporter general has represented the president general and the national society on various occasions, such as the presentation of two bronze plaques to two Navy vessels on the Pacific coast, given by the national society, for excellence in antiaircraft gunnery.

As a national officer of the society, your reporter general was invited by the mayor of Los Angeles to be a member of the committee to welcome Old Ironsides as she entered the harbor at San Pedro.

She has also given radio talks and public addresses, constantly holding up to the public the comprehensive patriotic program which our society is carrying on.

In performing, however imperfectly, the duties of this office, I am reimpressed with the opportunities and responsibilities which confront the society, and I wish to thank you, Madam President General, for giving me this opportunity to participate in this expression of patriotism.

LARK L. (MRS. FRANK PHELPS) TOMS
Reporter General to the Smithsonian Institution.

MONDAY EVENING MEETING, APRIL 17, 1933

The meeting convened at 8:30 p.m., Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding, Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington, pronouncing the invocation.

The president general read a letter received from the President of the United States, Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, expressing regret that because of pressing public business he found it impossible to carry out his intention of being present this evening and conveying greetings and appreciation to each member for the cooperation of the national society.

The audience rose in a body to express their regret and their loyalty.

The president general introduced the Honorable Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, who, in his address, urged the spirit of toleration and willingness to see the problems of agriculture worked out in a definite quantitative way.

The Honorable Tom Connally, United States Senator from Texas, was presented by the president general, and after paying glowing tribute to George Washington and the lessons of his life, urged every citizen to draw inspiration from these lessons in this time of economic stress.

The president general then presented the Honorable Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, and former Member of Congress from Florida. Mrs. Owen has the distinction to be the first woman to represent America on foreign soil and is the American Minister to Denmark and Iceland.

Mrs. Owen's inspiring address on Education for Citizenship followed.

The colors were retired and recess taken at 10:45 p.m.

TUESDAY MORNING MEETING, APRIL 18, 1933

The meeting convened at 9:30 a.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

Scripture reading and prayer by the chaplain general, Mrs. Kimbell, was followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and one verse of the national anthem was sung by the assemblage, led by Mrs. Holt O. Fleetwood, of American Liberty Chapter of the District of Columbia.

REPORT OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS COMMITTEE

At the close of the first year of the present administration it is my privilege to report the work accomplished by the buildings and grounds committee in the care and upkeep of the three buildings which comprise our national headquarters.

Fortunately for us in these days of financial stress and depleted incomes, no major repairs have been necessary. Routine repairs have all been made by our own force under the supervision of our superintendent, and only such work was done as was absolutely necessary for the welfare of our buildings.

The colonial kitchen is nearing completion and was opened for inspection in December. Oklahoma is to be congratulated on their contribution to the colonial household. The many gifts for the kitchen which have come from all over the country have been placed, but there is room for more.

The States have shown their same interest and cooperation in the upkeep of their rooms. [Here followed a list of improvements and distinctive gifts.]

Last fall, in order to add to the safety of our buildings and to decrease our insurance charges, 36 additional fire extinguishers were placed in the buildings.

Memorial Continental Hall has had its usual share of the commencements of schools and colleges in the Capital City. The Interstate Commerce Glee Club has held two concerts, and other events were the Conference of the Association for Childhood Education; the overflow meeting the night of the Notification of Mr. Hoover's Renomination in Constitution Hall; two Christian Science lectures; the joint celebration of the Birthday of George Washington by the S.A.R., the S.R., the D.A.R., and the C.A.R.; the twenty-first birthday celebration of the Girl Scouts when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt addressed the troops and lighted the candles on the birthday cake; the opening session of the Red Cross Convention, and the meeting of the State Conference of the District of Columbia Daughters.

On the Sunday following Inauguration Day, Memorial Continental Hall was opened to the public for 2 hours. Assisted by the national officers, who were in town, and the State regent of the District, the president general, Mrs. Magna, received the many strangers who seemed to greatly enjoy the opportunity to visit our building.

We are still adding to the equipment of Constitution Hall where experience shows us such additions are wise. This year extensions have been made to cover the marble steps leading up to the stage, thereby adding to the size of the stage and also preventing easy access from the main floor. Further protection has been provided by iron gates at each end to prevent access from the tiers.

A few of the outstanding events of the past season are all orchestral concerts given by the National Symphony Orchestra; New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra; Philadelphia and Boston Orchestras, as well as concerts by all of the world's outstanding artists, including such names as Paderewski, Kreisler, Rosa Ponselle, Rachmaninoff, etc.

The George Washington Bicentennial Commission had a week of music here last season; the National and International Oratorical Contests; three convocations of George Washington University; the presentation of the National Geographic Society medal to Amelia Earhart Putnam by President Hoover; the Notification of President Hoover's Renomination; the American Bar Association meetings, addressed by President Hoover and Lord Reading; several Christian Science lectures; the great Inaugural Concert for President Roosevelt; an unemployment benefit concert sponsored by Mrs. Roosevelt, when Mr. Paderewski donated his share of the receipts, almost $7,000, to the American Red Cross; and the American Chemical Society, addressed by Dr. Irving Langmuir, the 1933 Nobel Prize winner. There is a constant demand for Constitution Hall and those who spent so much thought and time in the planning and completion of our hall would feel well repaid if they could know, as we do who arrange for each event, the great appreciation the general public has of the beauty and comfort of our auditorium.

It is with pleasure that I call to your attention the fact that the income from Constitution Hall covers the entire operating cost of the hall as well as the liability insurance, care of pipe organ, a large contribution toward heat, light, general insurance, building pay roll and our manager's salary, and also a contribution toward the interest on our debt. These items are no expense whatsoever to the current fund of the national society.

HATTIE M. (Mrs. JOHN M.) BEAVERS,
Chairman.

REPORT OF CONSTITUTION HALL MEMORY BOOK COMMITTEE

The question of compiling and preserving in permanent form the names of all donors to Constitution Hall is one which has been agitated by the various committees who have had the building and its furnishings so near to their hearts for 7 years.

The president general was much intrigued by a book of this sort that she saw during a visit to Maryland, and from that idea we have borrowed a thought which we shall present to you in the form of an appeal.

The clasps of this particular State book, I am told, are made of silver, and the interesting feature is that the women of Maryland contributed the pieces of old silver, which were melted and wrought into the ties that bind.

The proposition which we submit to you is that the Daughters of the American Revolution in every State collect and send in to us pieces of old and useless gold.

No gift would be too large or too small for us to accept, and all such may be sent either direct to me or to the vice chairmen in the several divisions. I might add that some of my chairmen were so enthusiastic over this gold idea that they thought we might collect enough to bind the book, make the covers of gold.

(Mrs.) GRACE H. BROSSAU,
Chairman.

REPORT OF FINANCIAL STATUS OF CONSTITUTION HALL

In bringing this statement as to the actual status of our indebtedness on this wonderful hall of ours, I want to go back to the very beginning. Our hall actually cost us a little over $1,670,000, and at the time it was finished it was necessary, in order to take over our hall, to borrow $500,000 which was arranged through the H. L. Rust Co., the rate of interest to be 6 percent.

We had bills that amounted to over $170,500, so that when we started out to use our hall we had an indebtedness of over $670,500. By borrowing from the current fund $75,000 in addition to the contributions on hand, we were able to pay the final bills for construction and furnishings and to meet our interest. Through a loan from the Liberty Loan fund of $100,000, one of the notes of the H. L. Rust Co. was taken up and our indebtedness as of April 1, 1931, was $575,000.

During 1931 in addition to the contributions on hand, we borrowed from the current fund $25,000, $12,000 from the event fund, and $54,500 from special funds to take up another of the H. L. Rust notes, and on April 1, 1932, our indebtedness stood $566,500. This last year we took up two more Rust notes by borrowing from the National Metropolitan Bank and investing in ourselves money accumulated from special funds as in each of the other loans mentioned, at a lower rate of interest. We also paid a little on the principal, so that on April 1, 1933, our indebtedness is $527,400.

The interest paid in these 3 years amounted to $76,830.56. Had we been obliged to keep the H. L. Rust notes at 6 percent, that interest would have amounted to $90,000, so as a result, $13,109.44 was saved.

At present our indebtedness is summed up as follows: $100,000 note bearing 6 percent (H. L. Rust Co.), $150,000 note bearing 5 percent, $165,400 note bearing 4½ percent, and $112,000 without interest, a loan from the current fund.

The interest to be paid on the above amounts to $20,529.50 each year.

Since writing the above, the National Board of Management passed the following motion:

"That the $100,000 loan, voted by the June 5, 1930, board from the current fund to the Constitution Hall fund, be canceled at this time, thereby reducing the Constitution Hall indebtedness to $427,400." And this morning the congress has ratified the above vote.

So that it is now my pleasure to report that our indebtedness is $427,400.

(Miss) KATHARINE ARNOLD NETTLETON,
Treasurer General.

Following several announcements, Mrs. Charles H. Carroll, vice president general of New Hampshire, took the chair, while the president general reported as chairman of the Constitution Hall committee.

REPORT OF CONSTITUTION HALL COMMITTEE

Constitution Hall! Your edifice in name, in activities, and in reality, dedicated to the great patriotic principles to which the society is committed.

Constructed out of material necessities, but built with the finest fabric man or woman can find—loyalty!

The amazing manner in which you continue to contribute through the chapters and States bespeaks your tenacity of purpose.

Until our debt on Constitution Hall is paid, your treasury cannot be considered in a healthy condition. You owe it to yourselves who are the national society to have consistent, constructive, decisive programs to obliterate debt, where interest is devastating. I urge the penny-a-day plan, 1 penny, a cent a day for a year, $3.65, will make your national chapter house your own.

You will hear the final report from the treasurer general.

I will simply add—the debt is shrinking perceptibly. As the new year's work begins, I urge a deliberate organized effort, a wide-awake, interested chairman, a "go-getter", if you will, for each chapter—formulate definite plans and put them into immediate operation.

The Constitution Hall meeting was held last Sunday evening, April 16, with the remarkable attendance of 128, after 7 years of devoted service.

They decided that November 15 would be a birthday party for the debt, when definite contributions would be made.

Let us put our house in order and pay the debt.

EDITH SCOTT (Mrs. RUSSELL W.) MAGNA, Chairman.

Following this report, pledges to Constitution Hall fund to the amount of $16,962.15 were reported.

Mrs. Herrick, of Illinois, stated November 15 had been set as the date for final payment of pledges because it marked the birthday of the president general, Mrs. Magna.

Miss Richards, of the District of Columbia, reminded the members of the balance remaining unpaid and the heavy interest payments thereon, and urged every member to get to work to save the $3.65 of the penny-a-day plan.

The president general requested that Miss Richards and Miss Solomons accompany her for the ceremony of placing the wreath on the monument of the founders. The audience, led by the president general, retired to the Founders' Memorial Monument.

The meeting recessed at 12:15 p.m.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1933

The meeting convened at 9:30 a.m., the president general presiding. After invocation by the chaplain general, the congress joined in the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and sang one verse of the national anthem, led by Mrs. J. Frank Rice, of Columbia Chapter, District of Columbia.

The resolutions committee presented a resolution on national defense, which was read, discussed, and adopted.

REPORT OF D.A.R. MAGAZINE COMMITTEE

I have the honor to bring you the following report for the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine committee:

Receipts.....	$34, 981. 43
Expenses.....	29, 222. 95
	5, 758. 48

The $5,000 which is given us annually by the board to cover the cost of printing the board minutes has been returned to the treasury, leaving us a net profit of $758.48.

I must qualify this very excellent report with the statement that a part of this money was brought into the treasury of the national society through the special offer of a 2-year subscription to the magazine for $3, and therefore a certain amount is due next year's budget.

I have received reports from all but one vice chairman and from 39 State chairmen, every one a document of courage, optimism, and sound achievement. The most encouraging note is that of a real growth in the use of the magazine through the reading of Mrs. Magna's message and of the articles and reports of national officers at chapter meetings, and of the support of our advertising project which through the mention of our advertisers at all such meetings brings them before the entire membership instead of a limited subscription list.

Time does not permit me to say any more but it is with a heart full of gratitude for the past and hope for the future that I look forward to next year. If we have done this today with conditions as they are, surely with the coming of better times we shall not be found wanting.

MARIE STEWART (Mrs. JEAN J.) LABAT, Chairman.

REPORT OF EDITOR OF D.A.R. MAGAZINE

The last 12 issues of your magazine have carried each month the splendid messages of your president general and special articles contributed by your national officers and national chairmen. These have all proven invaluable links in binding the magazine more closely to the society. It is an integral part of your great organization and as such carries to all parts of the country your policies and the ideals for which you stand.

We have, whenever possible, enlarged the regular departments, giving more space to our genealogical department, conducted by Mrs. Edith Roberts Ramsburgh, thereby assisting many prospective members in their search for Revolutionary service; more space to chapter reports and State conferences which tell of the society's constructive work at home and abroad, and more space to our important department of national defense.

More than ever before we have used color work in our magazine thereby greatly improving its typographical appearance. The June, July, and October magazines were enlarged to 80 pages and we included in other issues separate folders of the National Board of Management and a panorama view of our national headquarters here in Washington. The latter has brought forth so many requests for copies unfolded so that they might be framed that we have had extra copies struck off which are now on sale for 10 cents at our magazine booth in the west corridor of Constitution Hall.

Our historical sketches have also stimulated interest in the magazine and we are especially grateful to the writers who have generously contributed such articles, among them Hon. Edith Nourse Rogers, United States Representative from Massachusetts; Miss Ella Loraine Dorsey, charter member of the D.A.R.; Mr. Edward W. Cooch, of Delaware; and Mr. Wallace E. Moessner, American vice consul, Manchester, England.

Of the $800 set aside for articles, $551.50 only has been used. This fund is expended most carefully and numerous articles so purchased have yet to appear in the magazine. Most of these are of a genealogical nature, giving hitherto unpublished family data.

(Miss) NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN,
Editor.

Mrs. Jean J. Labat announced that Koussinic Chapter, Augusta, Maine, had won the $10 prize offered by Mrs. Amos G. Draper to the chapter which reported the largest percentage who memorized the names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The regent of Koussinic Chapter has given this prize money to Constitution Hall debt.

The president general presented Mr. Frederick William Wile, who spoke on The D.A.R. Magazine and Its Mission. Mr. Wile urged continuous and active interest in all that pertains to national defense.

REPORT OF MANUAL FOR IMMIGRANTS COMMITTEE

The Manual for Immigrants committee is an important division of our patriotic education work. Through the information given in the manual, the prospective citizen is taught the ideals of American citizenship. During the year April 15, 1932-April 1, 1933, the national society has distributed through its various chairmen 330,200 manuals. Of this number, Mrs. J. Warren Perkins, national chairman of Ellis Island, has placed through the librarian, the Rev. John Kweetin, 1,990 on the Island. One hundred copies in English were sent to London at the request of a member of the Walter Hines Page Chapter. At the request of Mrs. William H. Pouch, national chairman of approved schools, 17 copies in English were sent, one to each of our endorsed schools. We propose to place more in these schools, because this is an important part of our Americanism work. The ideals instilled by the use of the manual will foster a spirit of loyalty which will act as a valuable line of national defense.

This year we have replenished our English, Italian, Bohemian, German, and Spanish Manuals at a cost of over $16,000. This will show you why the committee may appear insistent at times in urging the necessity of the 10 cents per capita quota. Forty-nine States reported, as well as Cuba, Hawaii, and Philippine Islands.

SARAH CLARKE (Mrs. ARTHUR W.) ARNOLD,
Chairman.

REPORT OF MEMORIAL CAROLINE SCOTT HARRISON LIAISON COMMITTEE

The liaison committee is a memorial committee to Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of President Benjamin Harrison, who served 2 years as the first president general of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

She was born in Oxford, Ohio, where her father Dr. John Witherspoon Scott, was a member of the faculty of Miami University.

It was thought wise by the faculty of the university to establish a seminary of higher education for girls, the roll of the first year containing principally the names of daughters of Miami University faculty, with Dr. Scott acting as its first president.

In 1929 Oxford Female College was merged with Miami University and its name was dedicated to the department for women of that institution.

At this time—during the administration of Mrs. Grace H. Brosseau, honorary president general—the national board wishing to use the $65,000 given by the Daughters for a memorial to Caroline Scott Harrison, turned this amount over to Miami University, on condition that the Oxford College for Women should be known as the Caroline Scott Harrison Memorial. This money augmented by $200,000 from the university has been used in making it a modern college building.

The liaison committee has kept in touch with President Alfred H. Upham, of the university, and is able to report that the memorial building is realizing all of the fine hopes Miami had for it.

It is increasingly beautiful each year as the planting around it matures. The building is being occupied to capacity as a residence hall for freshman girls, which means that 145 young women and several instructors are in residence there throughout the college year.

In addition, about 50 girls who room nearby make this building their social headquarters and are there for their meals, so that the dining room is regularly accommodating nearly 200 people. In addition, the building is used more than any other of the University halls for special events, the records showing 70 of these between April 1932 and April 1933.

The local Oxford Caroline Scott Chapter holds all of its meetings in the attractive Brant Memorial room—named for a former Ohio State regent and the first national chairman of the Caroline Scott Harrison memorial fund.

The State of Indiana has a Caroline Scott Harrison student loan fund and reports to date 27 loans—5 being taken out this year.

We wish every State in the Union would thus honor our first president general.

FANNIE SMITH (Mrs. WALTER L.) TOBEY,
Chairman.

REPORT OF PRESERVATION OF HISTORIC SPOTS, INCLUDING NATIONAL OLD TRAILS COMMITTEE

It is with pleasure that the national chairman submits the report of the Preservation of Historic Spots Committee, including National Old Trails. The chairman feels that this committee has accomplished much despite the financial situation and the strain through which the Nation has been passing.

The reports show that 2,192 graves of Revolutionary soldiers have been located. 2,009 graves of Revolutionary soldiers have been marked. Seventeen chapters have copied inscriptions, 3 chapters alone have copied 496 inscriptions, the other 14 chapters failed to report the number copied. Twenty-nine graves of daughters of Revolutionary soldiers have been located, 15 of those marked and 275 other historic spots were marked.

Interest in old trails, old post roads, and other historic roads has been stimulated by the publication of articles concerning the old trails, by the offering of prizes to school children for best papers on the trails, and by the planting and marking of trees along the highways and trails. Thirty or more old trails have been located or traced and 80 or more marked.

The amount spent in this work is approximately $22,626.33. All States have not reported the amount expended.

Here follows a detailed report by States, covering all divisions.

(Miss) LUCILE FOSTER,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Three outstanding factors contributed to a wider interest in D.A.R. publicity since the last Continental Congress. First, the planned programs in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial continued through the spring months, down into the summer and until Thanksgiving. Practically everywhere local chapters had community leadership in bicentennial celebrations, which, from the publicity standpoint, brought recognition of your purposes in patriotic education. As a fitting corollary to the Washington Bicentennial there was everywhere a revived interest in things colonial, so that we were called upon for articles dealing with colonial history, with the founders of the Republic and the Revolutionary period. We found much interest in material dealing with the geographical expansion and political development of the Nation from the earliest days. Then there have been calls for service in very many centers and in various relief undertakings that have had their need in distress.

An aggregate of hundreds of thousands of inches of news stories, features and special articles published by the thousands of American newspapers about the D.A.R. during the past 12 months is something of which we may be proud. We are prouder that our society is constantly growing in the acquaintance of newspaper makers with our aspirations and achievements.

(A résumé followed of work done by States in all divisions.)

AMY CRESSWELL (Mrs. WILLIAM LOUIS) DUNNE,
Chairman.

REPORT OF RADIO COMMITTEE

The Daughters of the American Revolution have been "on the air" since the Forty-first Continental Congress more than 150 hours. The radio committee has been directly responsible for more than 728 programs, varying in length from 10 minutes to half an hour.

A detailed report by States covers many types of programs; Alabama, Connecticut, and Illinois featured their approved schools.

It was quite fitting that California's report should be first because they feel they are the "real mother" of the Daughters of the American Revolution radio broadcasts since it was on April 12, 1923, that Tamalpais chapter sponsored a program from the High Tower Radio Station, on Telegraph Hill, in San Francisco.

Massachusetts—where Mrs. James Charles Peabody, the retiring vice president general, when State regent, appointed in 1928 the first State radio committee, before such a committee had been established by the National Society, D.A.R.—has produced this year two historical plays.

The national chairman of D.A.R. student loan fund, Mrs. Walter C. Tobey, spoke on the work of her committee from an Ohio station in January and personally "made arrangements for her seven divisional chairmen to have a talk on the student loan movement on the air from a station in each of their divisions, thereby covering the entire radio network of the United States."

The committee is indebted to Miss Lincoln for the privilege of announcing their programs in each issue of the D.A.R. Magazine.

Number of States reporting broadcasting	33
Number of programs reported	728
Approximate number of hours on air over	150
Number of stations giving services more than	81
Commercial value of service in excess of	$22, 887. 50

JESSIE DOUGLAS (Mrs. CHARLES) WILFORD,
Chairman.

REPORT OF REAL DAUGHTERS COMMITTEE

Seven Real Daughters constitute our list. The usual Christmas gift of $10 and Easter gift of $5 has been sent to each. Gifts also are sent on these occasions, as well as cards. Thanksgiving and Valentine days are remembered.

The summary shows: Graves of Real Daughters located 72, marked 31. Graves of Daughters of Revolutionary Soldiers located 179, marked 54. A résumé of work done by all divisions follows.

LYDIA P. (Mrs. BENJAMIN L.) PURCELL,
Chairman.

REPORT OF SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF THE REPUBLIC COMMITTEE

The Sons and Daughters of the Republic committee is interested entirely in the youth of America and this work is confined to organizing clubs for boys and girls who have reached the age of 6 years. The clubs are free from dues and membership is open to all regardless of ancestry. Mrs. Alice Murphy, of Ohio, presented this subject to the Ohio State conference and made an urgent plea that the Daughters of the American Revolution give of their time and influence to teach all children patriotism and to form plans to give every child training for citizenship.

The purpose of this committee is to instill right principles in the hearts and minds of those who are to be our future citizens, those upon whom will devolve the duty of maintaining America for Americans.

During the year 315 clubs have been organized with 13,098 members. The State chairmen have reported 428 old clubs with 14,361 members. Total number of clubs is 743 with 27,459 members.

ELLA W. (Mrs. ROBERT) BAGNELL,
Chairman.

REPORT OF STATE AND CHAPTER BYLAWS COMMITTEE

The chairman of this committee gave sound advice in a short paper which she designated "Do's and Don't's in the Making of Bylaws." Expressed affirmatively some rules are as follows: Familiarity with the constitution and bylaws of the national society is essential. Write corresponding secretary general for copy of national bylaws. Every State and chapter should be classified as a part of the national society; membership should not be limited; work for new members; be governed by Robert's Rules of Order Revised; a parliamentarian should never be an officer; always state clearly the authority of the board of management; always specify the number necessary for a quorum.

LOUISE B. (Mrs. J. ROBERT) REED,
Chairman.

REPORT OF TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE

In October, the correspondence was begun with the five great passenger associations which cover the United States, about rates and dates of sale for the Continental Congress in April 1933 and the chairman's annual letter was sent to Washington, November 15, in time for copies to be sent out with the credentials.

The passenger associations are very efficient and cooperative and we had the usual round-trip rate of one and one half fare, with a final return limit of 30 days, on the identification certificate plan, to members of the society and dependent members of their families.

HELENA (Mrs. CHARLES J.) BULLOCK,
Chairman.

REPORT OF YORKTOWN TABLETS COMMITTEE

There seems to be some misunderstanding about the French names on the tablets in Yorktown and Paris, so I will quote from a letter from Mr. Bickel of Caldwell & Co., who had full charge of all work on our Yorktown tablets.

"There were of course no names placed on the tablets that were not on the original list sent to you by the French Embassy directly from France, certified to by both the church and state."

In June 1932 our president general, Mrs. Magna, called upon your chairman to lead a pilgrimage to France, to bear the tablet, a replica of the French one in Yorktown, for dedication in France.

The tablet carried the names of the men who made the supreme sacrifice in the Yorktown campaign. "It was our inestimable privilege to have rescued these names from the obscurity of oblivion", said your chairman. She expressed her gratitude to Mrs. Bathrick, of Michigan, who brought the resolution concerning the tablet to the board.

The decoration of the chevalier of the Legion of Honor had already been bestowed on your chairman, and she carried it with her to France, where she, with 13 other Daughters, were received by President Le Brun, as well as by the members of the Benjamin Franklin Chapter of Paris.

Madame Jusserand, widow of Ambassador Jusserand, also welcomed her. The late Ambassador and Mrs. Jusserand always attended Continental Congress and were devoted to the D.A.R.

At the dedication the addresses were made by General Azan in French, and your chairman in English. She was publicly decorated with the decoration of the chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France, by General DuBall, counsellor of the Legion of Honor. Mrs. Caldwell was presented with the decoration of the chevalier of the Legion of Honor for Mrs. Magna, and one for herself. Mrs. Hopkins was made a member of the academy and received the Palmes Academique for herself. The rest of the committee on arrangements who could not go also received the Palmes Academique. They were Mrs. John M. Beavers, Mrs. Stanley Reed, Mrs. William Louis Dunne, and Miss Ada Johnson.

As a fitting culmination of the French tablet work done for Yorktown, members of the D.A.R. in Minnesota are sending an oil portrait of your chairman to the Chapter House of the Comte de Grasse Chapter in the old customhouse at Yorktown.

LUCY WILDER (Mrs. JAMES T.) MORRIS,
Chairman.

The president general could not go to France and was represented there by Mrs. David D. Caldwell, vice president general from the District of Columbia, whom she introduced at this time.

Further contributions to Constitution Hall fund were announced, bringing the total contributions for the 2 days to $19,274.24. Greetings were read from Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, honorary president general.

The meeting recessed at 12:10 p.m.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON MEETING, APRIL 19, 1933

The meeting convened at 2 p.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

REPORT OF D.A.R. STUDENT LOAN FUND COMMITTEE

At the beginning of the college year the committee requested every State chairman to arrange a broadcast over a State-wide hook-up. This address stressed the fact that many of our best students in colleges and universities were unable to continue in their work because of financial reverses beyond their control, and that those of proven worth and character should be maintained in college if at all possible.

The honor of being the first chapter to establish such a fund is claimed for King's Mountain Chapter of York, S.C. This chapter established a student loan fund in February 1913 and for 20 years this fund has been administered by Mrs. W. B. Moorer, treasurer student loan fund, and the records of the fund show that not one cent has been lost in the 20 years, since the fund was established.

The honor of being the first State to establish a student loan fund falls to the State of Georgia, where a State fund was first proposed in 1916 and established February 13, 1917.

In 16 years the total of State and local funds in the State of Georgia has grown to $39,097.36, the largest of any State in the Union, and more than 32 boys and 105 girls have been assisted in securing a higher education.

One chapter reports that it used these funds the past year to feed and clothe children in the public schools, who were undernourished and scantily clad.

It is a source of regret that many funds have been partially or totally lost in the orgy of bank failures. The national committee recommends to each State and each chapter that its student loan fund deposits be protected by an indemnity bond. Nothing must be left undone to safeguard such a trust fund.

Reports this year show a total of $280,154.67 in State and local funds, a gain of $19,059.82 over last year, a total of 436 boys aided, 1,190 girls, and of 221 boys and 515 girls using the funds this year.

[Here followed a statistical table, showing in detail the names of the various funds, the State in which located, the boys and girls aided.]

FANNIE SMITH (Mrs. WALTER L.) TOBEY,
Chairman.

REPORT OF AMERICANISM COMMITTEE

This report comes to you from 47 States, from Puerto Rico, and the Philippine Islands. Total number of chapters reporting is 1,524, chairmen of Americanism total 1,238.

Number of Daughters exercising their right of citizenship is 81,278, from 1,429 chapters in 43 States. Forty-three States have helped reduce illiteracy at a cost of $3,190.07. Forty-six States have helped in citizenship training among our own young people and among the foreign born at a cost of $2,373.22.

Number of subscriptions to the D.A.R. magazine given to libraries, schools, and rest rooms amounted to 1,116.

Forty-four States have distributed literature: The American's Creed by 32 States; My D.A.R. Creed by 10 States; The Constitution by 29 States; The Preamble to the Constitution by 7 States; also a great deal of other literature. Twenty-nine States report the cost to amount to $974.17.

Forty-two States have given prizes in grammar and high schools and in evening schools, at a cost of $9,021.63.

Nearly every State has contributed to keep children in school; 596 chapters in 41 States report costs of such aid to be $7,533.96.

In 27 States pageants, exhibits, sales of handicraft for foreign born have been promoted, at a cost of $931.97. Parties at settlement houses, clubs, or elsewhere have been sponsored, at an expenditure of $372.65. In all, 175 chapters report visits to foreign homes. Welfare work is reported from every State, the intrinsic cost of which cannot be estimated.

The 5 States making the largest contributions to Americanism work are: Georgia, $12,783.74; Pennsylvania, $5,152.74; New York, $3,972.92; Missouri, $3,622.40; Texas, $3,542.50.

The total expenditure as reported by State chairmen is $62,624.05.

[A complete summary of work by States followed.]

(Miss) MARY C. WELCH,
Chairman.

REPORT OF APPROVED SCHOOLS COMMITTEE

A newly named committee came into existence with the present administration; one which has the distinction of including in its scope three fine schools on Americanism, together with those schools which have formerly been part of the committee on patriotic education.

The three Americanism schools are: Schauffler, Northland, and American International College. One school is eliminated, Matthew T. Scott, Jr. Academy in Kentucky, which has been taken over by the State. Helen Dunlap School in Arkansas has closed.

State chairmen have been advised to encourage attention to the approved schools in their own States, and then to stress the two D.A.R. schools—Kate Duncan Smith at Grant, Ala., and Tamasee at Tamasee, S.C. These last-named schools were established and are operated and supported by the Daughters of the American Revolution in these respective States, and have no other source of income but the contributions from D.A.R. members throughout the organization.

The total contribution to our approved schools this year is $41,299.23. Total contribution to other schools, $15,362.23. Prizes, medals, and miscellaneous, $20,839.90. The grand total this year is $77,501.36. Total number of reports from chapters, 1,512. Total number of chapters having chairmen of approved schools, 1,196.

[A detailed report by States followed.]

HELENA R. (Mrs. WILLIAM H.) POUCH,
Chairman.

Following the report of approved schools, the chairman, Mrs. Pouch, introduced representatives and students from various schools, who brought greetings and spoke eloquently of their individual beloved schools. A program of intense interest was participated in by the following: Northland College, Hillside School, American International College, Schauffler School, Berea, Blue Ridge Industrial School, Hindman Settlement School, Carr School, Tamasee, Lincoln Memorial, Maryville, Kate Duncan Smith, and Crossnore.

The meeting recessed at 4:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY EVENING MEETING, APRIL 19, 1933

Meeting convened at 7:30 p.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding. Following the invocation and singing of America, reports of the State regents were read and filed.

Nominations of candidates for the office of vice president general were made. The meeting recessed at 11:30 p.m.

THURSDAY MORNING MEETING, APRIL 20, 1933

The meeting convened at 9:30 a.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

REPORT OF INSIGNIA COMMITTEE

No serious problems have arisen during the past year from the insignia committee to settle.

There is just one thing that needs to be emphasized, and that is to remind our members that our insignia is our dignified emblem and should not be used to decorate miscellaneous objects and must not be used commercially.

We appeal to you, protect our insignia, remembering always that it is the symbol of the standards and ideals of our great organization.

EVA V. M. (Mrs. CHARLES HUMPHREY) BISSELL,
Chairman.

REPORT OF GIRL HOME MAKERS COMMITTEE

A leaflet defining the committee was compiled, printed, and distributed. This information has created a clearer understanding of the girl home makers committee.

The award of merit has been used more during the past year than any time since it was adopted. The treasurer general has received $28 for 280 copies issued. In presenting these awards we are doing a constructive work; we carry into schools and organized groups the cooperation of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. It is the purpose of the girl home makers committee to offer the award of merit where domestic arts and citizenship are taught to show the appreciation of our society of work accomplished in other organizations. Reports show that this method of cooperation has created interest in the study of home making.

Forty-two States have reported, and 35 State chairmen. A complete summary by States is attached to this report, showing cooperation with Girl Reserves, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, 4-H Clubs, and other organizations where home arts are promoted.

The chairman is thankful for time, effort, and money given for education of the girls who are future home makers in America.

(Miss) ELEANOR MOORE SWEENEY,
Chairman.

REPORT OF GENEALOGICAL RECORDS COMMITTEE

Chapters everywhere are realizing that the very existence of our society depends upon genealogical records and are, therefore, stressing activity along that line as never before.

The eastern division, under the leadership of Miss Jean Stephenson, stands 100 percent, that is, contributions were sent in by every State in the division. Louisiana also stands 100 percent, with contributions from every chapter. That is a goal toward which the rest of us may work. New Jersey is the honor State in respect to the amount of work done. Special mention must be made of its beautifully illustrated, bound volume of Stockton records, pertaining to the family of Richard Stockton, the New Jersey "signer." Your national chairman will not attempt to decide which State has done the most important work, for every one has submitted records of very great value. She wishes she could continue special mention of the many, many outstanding accomplishments of each State. She is enthusiastically proud of them all and would bring them to your attention, if space would permit. The sum total shows approximately 30,000 pages of material placed upon library shelves during the past congressional year, a large part of which consists of unpublished records never before given to the public and unobtainable in other depositories.

There are a few States which have individual State projects meriting separate attention and worthy of emulation. The State chairman of Iowa conducts a genealogical column in the Grinnell paper, modeled after the Boston Transcript department, and is arousing much interest in pioneer history by this means. Nebraska and Kansas have traveling D.A.R. libraries which are of infinite help to chapters, especially those in isolated localities. The State chairman of Massachusetts published an article in the Boston Transcript entitled "Excitement in Chasing Ancestors," which was well received. New Jersey is promoting an exhaustive survey of the genealogical material already collected and filed with the national society. The District of Columbia likewise has a similar plan. Washington State is copying the 1850 census. Michigan has compiled an 8,000-card index of the St. Joseph County, 1850 census.

VIVIAN LYON (Mrs. D. K.) MOORE,
Chairman.

REPORT OF FILING AND LENDING HISTORICAL PAPERS, INCLUDING PATRIOTIC LECTURES AND LANTERN SLIDES COMMITTEE

The preparation and distribution of illustrated patriotic lectures was initiated by the society in 1908 under the direction of a special committee styled "The Interchangeable Bureau." Twelve years later the present title, "Patriotic Lectures and Lantern Slides" was adopted. There are available at present 17 complete lectures on varied subjects, each accompanied by lantern slides. The nominal rental fee charged for use of the lectures has enabled this project to become self-sustaining.

The reciprocity committee began in 1915 the work of collecting, filing, and lending historical papers, adopting in 1919 the name "Historical and Literary Reciprocity Committee." Chapters responded promptly in availing themselves of this service and the demand increased as the number of acceptable papers in the files grew. Fifteen years of growth saw this number increased from 14 to more than 3,000 papers; the annual circulation of papers has passed 1,000.

The year 1932 brought a number of important changes in these activities. Each period aimed to extend the scope of the service. The name of the historical and literary reciprocity committee was changed to "Filing and Lending Historical Papers including Patriotic Lectures and Lantern Slides Committee" and its functions were combined with those of the committee on patriotic lectures and lantern slides.

Several hundred papers have this year been received and read by the chairman, her assistants, and divisional chairmen. Three hundred and twenty-five have been accepted, and will be listed in our new catalog. Thirty-eight lectures went to 42 States. Fifteen States have organized filing and lending bureaus. It is hoped all States will so organize. A prize contest for the State having the most papers accepted by the national committee, and also for the chapter having the most papers accepted, will close February 1, 1934. One of our lectures—"Half-Forgotten Romances of American History"—should have a sequel. The lecture gives the romances in American history from Columbus to the time of President Grant. The sequel should be entitled "Romances in American History from the Time of Grant Down to the Present."

A prize of $50 will be given to the State contributing the best lecture to our patriotic lectures and lantern slides.

The total number of papers borrowed this year was 634.

(Mrs.) FLORA MYERS GILLENLINE,
Chairman.

REPORT OF CORRECT USE OF THE FLAG COMMITTEE

The province of the correct use of the flag committee is so extensive that it seems to compass the entire scope of the endeavors of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Correct use of the flag is national defense, it is patriotic education and Americanism, it promotes conservation and thrift, historical research is rewarded by knowledge of our national emblem.

Last September, the national chairman placed before the chapters a definite group of aims to be accomplished during the year. This report is based on those aims, using the treasurer general's figures as a basis:

1. A flag chairman in every chapter. The treasurer general reports 2,468 chapters. Of these, 1,704 chapters have reported; this number of chapters has 1,271 correct use of the flag chairmen.
2. The pledge of allegiance to the flag is learned and repeated at every chapter meeting. In all, 1,461 chapters report that this is being done.
3. Belief that citizens as well as Daughters are becoming flag conscious through our efforts is strengthened by the number of letters concerning foreign-made flags. Let us continue to buy and use only "flags made in America by Americans for Americans." Uphold our own industries.

4. Many very beautiful decorations were described by various chapters. The flag of the United States had the place of honor but was not used as a part of the decorations.

Twenty-one thousand five hundred leaflets and 2,108 posters were purchased by the chapters at a total cost of $318.80. The majority of these no doubt were distributed. The extremely long list of youth organizations to whom these flag codes and also flags were given was most gratifying. Many chairmen are introducing the study of the code into the junior high grades.

MINNIE F. (Mrs. ARTHUR D.) WALL,
Chairman.

REPORT OF CONSERVATION AND THRIFT COMMITTEE

In no year within memory has it been so evident that there is a real need for a national program of conservation. No previous misfortune of our Nation has taught us quite so thoroughly the value of thrift. The great natural resources of America, so dear to the heart of the Indians, have been so dissipated by the white men that now we must not merely promote a program of conservation, we must plan and put into operation methods of restoration.

Ten States report flourishing Daughters of the American Revolution forests: Connecticut, Georgia, Iowa, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Texas, and Wisconsin. Arkansas has a plan for procuring a gift of woodland from the State that they will convert into a Daughters of the American Revolution forest. Kansas, Nebraska, and Vermont have well-formulated plans and New Jersey and New York have funds started for this purpose.

During Continental Congress last year a group of 13 cedar trees were planted at the entrance to Mount Vernon. These trees were taken from Ferry Farm, for a time the home of George Washington in his boyhood. They represented the 13 original States and were planted by the regents of the respective States. Two other plantings the same week were 25 trees on Hains' Point in Washington and the one by the national society, Children of the American Revolution, both being bicentennial memorials.

A total of 579,311 trees have been planted. The planting and marking of the General's Highway by Maryland and Pennsylvania is one of the outstanding achievements of the year. Forty-six thousand seven hundred and twenty-three dollars and ninety-eight cents has been expended in conservation work of all kinds. Relief work has received close attention.

In early December your national chairman received a message from Mrs. Magna, urging all chapters to carry on human conservation as an important part of this committee's work this year. Most chapters in every State were already doing this work, so it forms an important part of our report.

The Puerto Rico chapter was barely formed when the hurricane struck. Led by the chairman of conservation and thrift the members cut and made 56,991 garments, benefiting 40,112 families, and in addition, making 1,122 layettes. This is an example of the ready response characteristic of the Daughters.

BONNIE HENLEY (Mrs. ROY A.) MAYSE,
Chairman.

REPORT OF CENTURY OF PROGRESS COMMITTEE

The Century of Progress committee is happy to report splendid advancement in plans. Headquarters have been secured in the southeast part of the Social Science Building, overlooking to the south a lovely garden.

Over the main entrance will hang an electric D.A.R. sign. On the walls of our room will hang a picture of George Washington; pictures of our headquarters in Washington and a picture of the First Continental Congress. The furniture will be in keeping with the Revolutionary period.

The State regents of the central division will furnish two hostesses each day for the period of the exposition. This arrangement assures a warm welcome to all who come within our doors.

June 14, flag day, is to be the highlight for our society. The State Society of Illinois will be hostess with our president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, and the national board of management as guests of honor.

A luncheon on the grounds at noon will be followed by a colorful parade to a hall where a program will be given, with our president general as the principal speaker.

MABEL H. (Mrs. CHARLES E.) HERRICK,
Chairman.

REPORT OF BETTER FILMS COMMITTEE

For the past 4 years this better films committee has worked quietly, conscientiously, effectively, for definite objectives. These are: (1) Family night programs, now a generally adopted plan; (2) supervision of entertainment for children, or junior matinees; (3) patriotic films; (4) educational films; (5) a better type of short subject, especially cartoons; (6) better standards for theater advertising; (7) the use of visual education in our schools; (8) cleaner standards for feature length films.

We have constantly opposed the production and exhibition of gangster films, horror films, and soviet propaganda. We do not advocate double billing. We object to inappropriate and suggestive titles.

The D.A.R. reviewing committee has previewed nearly 400 pictures; reviews of these have been sent to all chairmen whose names have been sent the chairman, and to many groups cooperating with the D.A.R. chairmen in hundreds of communities. These reviews have been printed in the D.A.R. Magazine, and in hundreds of newspapers.

Economic conditions have so accentuated the importance and the wisdom of careful selection of motion-picture entertainment that not only the general public but theater managers as well have, with increasing interest, made use of the joint reviews sent from Hollywood by the previewing committees.

On the other hand, economic conditions tied up funds, this past year, that were needed for printing and mailing these reviews. Consequently, just when we had almost reached our goal—weekly reviews—we had to be thankful there was money enough for monthly bulletins. To meet this emergency, six organizations previewing in Hollywood united in editing this joint review. These groups are: National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, National Society of New England Women, West coast committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, California committee of Congress of Parents and Teachers, Los Angeles section National Council of Jewish Women, and the Women's University Club of Los Angeles. The work of hundreds of D.A.R. chairmen, who have aroused their groups to the importance of selecting the right film, is having a marked effect throughout the country. Reports from every State in the Union show an increased interest, and a greater demand for reviews of pictures.

During the next year I hope we may carry on as in the past; and may we add to our local work: More free entertainments for orphaned, crippled, or underprivileged children; each chapter might see to it that, once a week, or month, some lonely unfortunate has the joy of seeing one motion picture; that our flag be used more frequently in trailers on the screen. (An exhaustive report by States followed).

(Mrs.) MILDRED LEWIS RUSSEL,
Chairman.

The president general presented Miss Clara W. McQuown, who spoke on What Our Merchant Marine Means to the Women of America.

The meeting recessed at 12:30 p.m.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON MEETING, APRIL 20, 1933

The meeting convened at 2 p.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

The president general exhibited the life certificate of member-at-large, of Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, to be presented to her by the national society.

REPORT OF ELLIS ISLAND COMMITTEE, INCLUDING ANGEL ISLAND WORK

In the year of 1932, only 35,500 aliens came to this country for permanent residence, while 10,000 more left.

The immigrants who come to Ellis Island now are those with whom the boarding officer has found something amiss, such as visitors with no return date booked; cases of illness which cause the entire family to be detained until the sick one is discharged from the hospital; relatives failing to meet them at the dock; flaws in their passports and many other legal technicalities.

We are pleased to say those in the real criminal group are not large in number. This includes the Communist and those who have served prison terms. These people are in a class by themselves and detained apart from the others.

Your national chairman has written many articles and letters, spoken at many meetings, purchased supplies not received from the chapters and acknowledged 1,089 boxes personally. She has spent 1 day each week on Ellis Island, thus keeping in close contact with the work. One thousand nine hundred and ninety Manuals for Immigrants have been given out this year, in many languages, English predominating.

Daily our two salaried workers dressed in white go in and out of the five detention rooms serving about 150 a day.

The children are not forgotten for many a beautiful box of toys has come to us from our C.A.R. societies. Quoting from a letter just received by your national chairman from our Commissioner of Immigration, Mr. Edward Corsi, he says:

"May I say again what I have said to you personally on several previous occasions, that I consider the occupational program of the D.A.R. at Ellis Island of extreme importance and urge that every possible effort be made to continue it.

"In the last fiscal year we had as many as 1,000 aliens detained here on a single day and the daily average was never less than 200."

We have a new Ellis Island film this year showing our work in action which has created much interest and brought our work nearer to those at a distance. Many interesting radio talks have been given throughout the country.

The occupational work at Angel Island is supported by contributions from the chapters of the far Western States and the response this year has been most gratifying.

The total number of chapters contributing to the work of this committee is 2,460, and the value of the contributions amount to $12,606.30.

BLANCHE HAYNES (Mrs. J. WARREN) PERKINS,
Chairman.

REPORT OF NATIONAL DEFENSE EMBODYING PATRIOTIC EDUCATION COMMITTEE

We have consistently sought not only to preach the gospel of adequate national defense and to banish baneful foreign influence from within our gates, but also to strengthen the national fiber of the American people. We champion the home, church, and school as our most precious institutions, ever striving to stimulate the preservation and vigorous promotion of American principles. We loyally support the Government of the United States as founded upon the Constitution.

Let us see how we have tried to carry out our purposes. The office of the national chairman is a clearing house for the national defense activities of our far-flung organization. Reports, expressing courage, determination, action, have been received from the chairman of 48 States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and even from England and France. Together with these reports the work of seven able national vice chairmen enables a report to be brought to you laden with the record of unselfish labor. The information included in the various reports shows that the destructive forces working against our Government are very active, but it also shows increased effort in our organization to not only recognize these forces, but to counteract them through constructive measures.

We find the workers in the field primarily engaged in disseminating information. This information is broadly of two types, (1) that designed to build up the character of our citizens and to give them the information necessary for the full understanding of the needs and benefits of national defense; (2) information designed to expose influences detrimental to America's ideals and principles, so that these subversive forces may be counteracted. In education lies the safety of the Republic. Through it we combat indifference and bigotry. A vast array of literature has been placed at strategic points: in libraries, schools, churches, colleges, clubs, museums, meeting houses, and public buildings. Exhibits have been prepared and loaned for State conferences, district and chapter meetings, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and patriotic societies as well as many others. These have proven most enlightening and helpful. Pamphlets, books, and articles have been supplied upon request. Inventions of science such as the radio and movie have been used in pursuance of our aims, and we have not hesitated to invade the realms of art for assistance. Plays have been composed depicting our purposes, and much use has been made of posters. We are looking forward to expanding these means to help attain our ends. The more attractive and original the means devised to present our plea, the more results will be obtained.

One State has opened a national defense headquarters patterned after our national defense rooms. It is open to the public 1 day a week and has proven very satisfactory. From this headquarters over 5,000 pieces of literature have been distributed. One State has sent out over 30,000 pieces of defense data. The office of the national defense committee is investigating every phase of education in public schools, private schools, and colleges. Many wrongly influenced young executives, in various fields of work, have had their impressions corrected and their opinions redirected along true American channels. A conference with a public library board following a protest of the radical books in circulation resulted in a city-wide display and a publication of a special bulletin entitled "The Spirit of America."

Another development worthy of mention is the inauguration in August 1932 of the National Defense News. Thirty-five hundred (3,500) copies of this publication are printed monthly and sent to all national officers, State regents, chapter defense chairmen, and a large number of interested friends. Copies have been placed in public libraries, schools, clubrooms, and been given to ministers, teachers, and public officials. One of the chief functions of national defense is our active interest in legislative measures in conformity with our avowed purpose. We have urged building our Navy up to treaty strength. We have constantly insisted upon the increase and improvement of our Army so that we may be assured adequate defense on land. We have consistently disapproved of any measures to impair the provisions of our R.O.T.C., C.M.T.C., and National Guard. It is worthy of remark in this connection that 32,000 men in C.M.T.C. in 1932 cost each citizen just one 2-cent stamp. The entire cost of the National Guard costs each person but 5 cents, and 127,000 students in the R.O.T.C. in 326 colleges costs each citizen just 3 cents.

Three cadets showing the "greatest proficiency in senior units" were presented with medals by the Central District of New York at the final review of the R.O.T.C. at Plattsburg.

Two other districts, Chicago and Kansas, presented medals to officers in R.O.T.C. and C.M.T.C. camps. This work deserves commendation.

Our Los Angeles Daughters have been instrumental in forming a patriotic society for the purpose of cooperation with the public schools in instituting a definite course of patriotic education and citizenship. Such courses in the practical and adequate exercise of citizenship should be in every school. Such education should prepare for the intelligent and unselfish participation in the government of this land. One of the greatest contributions we can make is the investigation of what is being taught our young people in our schools, and the encouragement of the teaching of patriotism in every way possible. Let us keep the schoolroom a place of American ideals.

Education is necessarily a slow process, yet the mind and opinion of the entire Nation can be changed overnight by the radio. Consequently, by implanting in children a vital love and pride in their country and a knowledge of the functions of its government, they will grow into citizens whose views cannot be influenced by casual utterances.

FLORENCE HAGUE (Mrs. WILLIAM A.) BECKER,
Chairman.

Following this report the president general presented Maj. Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, Chief of Infantry, United States Army, who spoke on America's need of an adequate and efficient army. The president general then presented Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University. The subject of Dr. Walsh's address was "Soviet Russia and the United States". Mrs. James Charles Peabody, vice president general, took the chair during the address by Dr. Walsh.

The president general next presented the Ambassador from France, M. Andre De Laboulaye. The audience arose. Monsieur De Laboulaye bestowed the Cross of the Legion of Honor from the French Government upon the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, who acknowledged it in French, thanking the French Government for the great honor, in the behalf of the Daughters of the American Revolution. After announcements were made, the meeting recessed at 4:55 p.m.

THURSDAY EVENING MEETING, APRIL 20, 1933

The meeting convened at 8:30 p.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding. After invocation by Col. J. E. Yates, Chief of Chaplains, United States Army, the president general called for the report of the tellers committee, Mrs. Frank L. Nason, chairman of tellers, reported. The president general declared the following elected to the office of vice presidents general: Mrs. John Carroll Coulter, Mrs. James F. Trotman, Mrs. Lue R. Spencer, Mrs. Howard Bailey, Mrs. Victor Lisle Warren, Mrs. John W. Kirkpatrick, Miss Helen Harman. The president general then introduced the Honorable Frances Perkins, the Secretary of Labor, who addressed the audience on "Citizenship". Rear Admiral Wat Tyler Cluverius was presented by the president general and spoke on "The Nation and Navy Today". The Honorable Seth W. Richardson, United States Assistant Attorney General, gave an address on "The Man and The Woman", working together for the good of the country.

The newly elected vice presidents general were presented. The colors were retired and the meeting recessed at 10:40 p.m.

FRIDAY MORNING MEETING, APRIL 21, 1933

Meeting convened at 9:30 a.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

After invocation by the chaplain general, the pledge of allegiance to the flag was given; followed by the singing of the national anthem, led by Mrs. Gertrude Lyons, president of the District of Columbia Federation of Music Clubs.

Amelia Earhart (Mrs. Putnam) gave an address on "Development of Aviation".

The Honorable A. C. Treadway was presented.

Expressions of loyalty to the president general were voiced on the stand taken on nonaffiliation, and a rising vote of confidence was given her.

The resolutions committee reported 14 resolutions, which were adopted.

Gifts to the library and museum were then presented by many States and chapters.

The meeting recessed at 12:30 p.m.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON MEETING, APRIL 21, 1933

The meeting convened at 1 p.m., the president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna, presiding.

The newly elected honorary vice presidents general Mrs. John L. Buel and Mrs. James T. Morris, were installed, the oath of office being administered by the chaplain general. Then followed the installation of the incoming vice presidents general. Following this ceremony the State regents and vice regents were installed.

The Forty-second Continental Congress, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, adjourned sine die at 1:50 p.m.

The Thirty-eighth Annual Convention of the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution was called to order by the national president, Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, in the auditorium of the national headquarters of the American Red Cross on Tuesday the 18th of April 1933, and continued until Friday, April 21, when we adjourned under the elm tree, at Mount Vernon, which was planted by the Children of the American Revolution in 1895.

Despite the fact that the Nation was in the throes of an economic depression, the convention boasted the largest number of registered delegates in its history.

Since the last convention, the following changes in the National Board have taken place:

The resignation of our national president, Mrs. Samuel Shaw Arentz in December 1932 was accepted with deep regret, being necessitated by her inability to continue her residence in the east.

Our honorary national president, Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, who so efficiently led the society as national president during the years of 1925-29, kindly consented at the unanimous request of the National Board to fill the unexpired term of national president until the regular election during the convention in April 1933. Mrs. Van Orsdel was elected national president at the January 1933 meeting of the National Board.

The death of the dean of our National Board and beloved vice president, Mrs. Violet Blair Janin, was a great loss to the society. She had served continuously since the organization of our society in 1895, for 28 years as national treasurer, and from 1923 until her death as a national vice president. Her good work will long be remembered.

The resignation of the national registrar, Mrs. W. Gwynn Gardiner in May 1932 was accepted by the board and during the summer months, Mrs. John A. Maxwell, at the request of the national president, acted as national registrar.

Mrs. William H. Wagner was elected national registrar at a special National Board meeting October 20, 1932.

Personal greetings were brought to the convention by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution; National Society, Sons of the American Revolution; District of Columbia Daughters of the American Revolution; District of Columbia Sons of the American Revolution; and the District of Columbia Sons of the Revolution.

The National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, through Mr. Thomas W. Williams, a member of their executive committee, presented a traveling banner which will each year go the State transferring the largest number of boys to the Sons of the American Revolution to be their proud possession during the ensuing year.

The report of the Harriett M. Lothrop Memorial Building fund given by the chairman, Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, showed progress, and it was voted to concentrate our efforts toward a permanent headquarters during the coming year as the growth of the society will soon make this imperative.

A splendid report was given of our work at the Ellis Island Kindergarten by our national chairman, Mrs. John P. Mosher. Americanization work is also being carried on by the societies at other ports of entry.

The National Society, Children of the American Revolution, are continuing their two scholarships at the Tamassee School, South Carolina, where mountain children are taught to be self-supporting. In addition to these scholarships, other scholarships are subscribed by individual States and local societies.

The third scholarship of the national society at Tamassee has been taken over by Mrs. Hugo Lange, one of our former presidents in New York. New Jersey State Society has established a scholarship for a boy. This is the first year boys have been admitted as boarders. During the year a Children of the American Revolution Society has been in the process of organization among the students and several members from Tamassee were in attendance at the annual convention. The Empire State Scholarship is being continued in the name of the State director of New York, Mrs. John P. Mosher.

The Children of the American Revolution Magazine continues as the official organ of our society and is published five times a year.

Much of the material for our magazine is contributed by members, thus giving expression to those literarily inclined.

The campaign for newspaper publicity for which our national vice president, Mrs. Lawrence H. Quirollo, offered a prize of $10 was won by Iroquois Society of Rochester, N.Y. The second prize of $5 given by Mrs. Harbeson, was won by John Foster Society of Columbus, Miss.

The membership prize of $10 given by our past national registrar, Mrs. W. Gwynn Gardiner, was won by Martins Fort Society of Kentucky.

The bicentennial report was given by the chairman, Mrs. Charles S. Groves and showed hearty cooperation throughout the States. As a national bicentennial work, the National Society, Children of the American Revolution furnished the Mary Ball Washington bedroom, representing the one in which George Washington was born in the rebuilt mansion house at Wakefield, Va. The chairman for this work, Mrs. John Morrison Kerr, reported this room has been completely furnished with the exception of a few details which will require much research. Mrs. Kerr presented the society with a book in which are inscribed the names of all societies contributing to this work.

The report of the chairman of the chronological history of the national society, Miss Aimée Powell, showed much valuable material has been collected since this committee was created in 1927.

Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel reported on the Preservation of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution in the churchyard of the Old Presbyterian Meeting House in Alexandria, Va., which the National Society, Children of the American Revolution erected and dedicated in 1929.

Mrs. Frank S. Ray, chairman of Founder's Day, which each year is celebrated on April 5 in honor of our beloved founder, Mrs. Daniel Lothrop, reported it is being observed by increasing numbers of societies each year. Proceeds from these celebrations are given to the building fund.

The members of the convention were delightfully received on Thursday afternoon in the White House by our gracious first lady, Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and were photographed with our hostess in the East Room. Members of the convention were received by Dr. Rowe, Director General at the Pan American Union Building on Tuesday. A reception and dance was given for the delegates on Thursday evening at the Congressional Club.

SUMMARY

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution has two salaried workers on Ellis Island. Dressed in white they go in and out of the five detention rooms, baskets filled with bright-colored yarn, shirting, denim, buttons, needles, thread, and other materials, also toys for the children, all gifts of the society and the Children of the American Revolution.

During last year the daily average was never less than 200 and on some days 1,000 people were in the detention quarters, many of them having to stay there from 2 weeks to 6 months. The D.A.R. is the only unit there engaged in definite occupational work.

The 1932 Christmas celebration of an hour's duration, arranged in cooperation with the Commissioner, immigration authorities, and the social-service division was broadcast from coast to coast and through Europe via Germany. Lucrezia Bori and Giovanni Martinelli sang and the National Broadcasting Co.'s symphony orchestra participated. Foreign consuls, home and foreign newspaper representatives, and interested prominent people from New York and Washington were present. Christmas carols were sung and gifts distributed.

At Angel Island the deaconess of the Woman's Home Missionary Society dispenses our materials.

One thousand nine hundred and ninety manuals in many languages, English predominating, were given out at Ellis Island; 100 copies in English were sent to London, England, at the request of a member living there. One important placement was in Oregon, where consent was gained to place copies in every parochial school in the State, and their State librarian mentioned our manual in her news letter to 115 libraries.

Manuals have been used in civic classes in schools, distributed in naturalization courts, post offices, libraries, community centers, settlement houses, to Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A., to firms employing many foreign-born, doctors, lawyers, through county clerks, public health centers, clinics, Seaman's Church Institute, the Red Cross, and many other channels through which they would reach those who needed or wanted information which they contained. This important work has been enthusiastically carried forward by nearly every chapter in the society.

SUMMARY

D.A.R. STUDENT LOAN FUND

Georgia has the honor of being the first State to found a State student loan fund, theirs having its inception February 13, 1917, now being the largest fund in any State; the first chapter to establish such a fund is claimed to be King's Mountain chapter of York, S.C., their fund being started in February of 1913.

Since so many funds were lost in recent bank failures the national committee recommends that they be protected by an indemnity bond.

Seven hundred and thirty-six boys and girls have received aid this fiscal year, and from reports every one of them is a credit to the community in which he lives.

The national chairman reports an increase in State and chapter funds of $19,059.82 during the fiscal year.

BETTER FILMS

From a close scanning of all State reports the fact seems to be clearly shown that there is a demand on the part of the public to have advance information concerning the type of picture they go to see, and that confidence is yearly increasing in the reviews sent out by this society.

MAGAZINE

The typographical appearance has been greatly improved this year by the use of color work; more space given to the genealogical department and to national defense articles; over $6,000 has been received from advertisers; 1,116 copies placed in libraries, schools, and rest rooms.

PUBLICITY

The press now really seeks D.A.R. news in many localities, an evidence of fine work on the part of publicity chairmen. Publication of D.A.R. activities responsible in many places for revival of interest in local history.

RADIO

One hundred and twenty-four more radio programs reported this year than last. In California an Indian chief was one of the speakers. The work and aims of the society has been broadcast from coast to coast by noted and splendid speakers. The value of these addresses to the nation is beyond computation.

SUMMARY

Every State made splendid progress in the compilation of records, New Jersey being the honor State in respect to the amount of work accomplished, one of its projects being an illustrated, bound volume of records of the family of Richard Stockton, the New Jersey "signer".

Michigan has what seems an outstanding project in its far-reaching benefits to prospective members. They are compiling a list of members who have, or will give permission to the registrar general's office to take data from their applications which will aid in the completion of pending applications.

The sum total for this year of genealogical records is approximately 30,000 pages of material placed upon library shelves, a large part of which consists of unpublished records.

D.A.R. LIBRARY

Expert opinions rank our library as among the first six in its class, history and genealogy only, in the country. During the fiscal year 694 books, 150 pamphlets, 96 manuscripts, and 119 bookplates have been added. The collection of Revolutionary pensions numbers 113 volumes. Indexing is progressing rapidly, States having responded freely to pleas for funds.

D.A.R. MUSEUM

Seventy-five gifts of relics have been accepted during the year, 3 cases in which to display relics, 10 money gifts.

LOCAL LIBRARIES AND MUSEUMS

There are many local chapter libraries, one chapter supporting the only public library in their city. California is establishing a State D.A.R. Library which will be housed in the California State Library at Sacramento. Several States have rooms in museums or pretentious displays.

FILING AND LENDING HISTORICAL PAPERS

The preparation and distribution of illustrated, patriotic lectures was initiated by the society in 1908. At present there are available 17 complete lectures, each with its illustrative lantern slides. In 1915 the work of collecting and lending historical papers was begun and there are now over 3,000 papers in the files, with an annual circulation of over 1,000. Three hundred and twenty-five new papers accepted this year. Fifteen States have lending bureaus, or libraries; one lecture with slides, "Yorktown" added this year.

CONSTITUTION HALL FINANCE

Thirty thousand nine hundred and seventy-four dollars and ninety-seven cents plus a $1,000 bond, per the reports of the treasurer general, was contributed by the various State's chapters to Constitution Hall fund during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1933.

April 1, 1932, the indebtedness was $566,500; April 18, 1933, the indebtedness was reduced to $427,400 by the cancelation of a $100,000 loan from the current fund to the Constitution Hall fund, by vote of the congress then assembled; by the sums contributed by chapters and money accumulated from special funds in the hands of the treasurer general.

Constitution Hall committee, Mrs. Edith Scott Magna, president general, chairman, designated November 15, 1933, for a birthday party for the debt, and urged the penny-a-day plan, suggesting that every chapter adopt it and send in their collections on the day fixed, which is also the birthday of Mrs. Magna. She then announced that she was ready to accept contributions, which came in on this and a succeeding day to the amount of $19,274.24 in money and pledges.

REAL DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

(Daughters of Revolutionary soldiers who are members of the Daughters of the Revolution)

Mrs. Maria (Storts) Allen, 92 years old, of New Lexington, Ohio. Died May 2, 1933.

Mrs. Angelina (Loring) Avery, born July 16, 1839, of Willimantic, Conn. Member of Anne Wood Elderkin Chapter.

Mrs. Annie (Knight) Gregory, born March 23, 1843, of Williamsport, Pa. Member of Conrad Weiser Chapter.

Mrs. Mary (Pool) Newsom, born April 15, 1850, of Gibson, Ga. Member of Nancy Hart Chapter, Milledgeville, Ga.

Miss Sarah Pool, born September 28, 1845, of Gibson, Ga. Member of Nancy Hart Chapter, Milledgeville, Ga.

Mrs. Caroline (Hassam) Randall, born September 19, 1849, of Greenfield, Mass. Member of Col. Samuel Ashley Chapter.

Mrs. Mary Priscilla (Reynolds) Tillman, born in Selma, Ala., daughter of Fielding Reynolds. At the time of her death, May 18, 1933, a resident of Berkeley, Calif., and a member of Esperanza Chapter, Oakland, Calif.

Mrs. Newsom and Miss Pool are known as the Sunbonnet Sisters because of the quaint starched sunbonnets they always wear. In 1932 they unveiled a marker on the grave of their father, Henry Pool, in the Warrenton Cemetery in Georgia.

The national society pays each of these Daughters a pension of $25 per month, sending checks the first of each month, and in addition sends each of them $10 at Christmas and $5 at Easter. They receive hundreds of cards, letters, and gifts from chapters all over the United States and Hawaii. The ladies are very appreciative. As will be noted, two of these Real Daughters have passed on since the Forty-Second Congress.
