PART I

REPORT OF THE 77TH CONTINENTAL CONGRESS OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, HELD AT CONSTITUTION HALL, WASHINGTON, D.C., APRIL 15-19, 1968

REPORTS OF EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

PRESIDENT GENERAL

The main goal of this president general for the year 1967-1968 was to complete, successfully, each of the many "diamond jubilee" projects.

Little did she realize that the year would be filled with nationwide press, TV, and radio publicity regarding the stand and objectives of the National Society. However, this breakthrough in public relations resulted in much commendation by the public at large, from the man in the street to Members of Congress and from the Armed Forces—who were delighted in many instances to learn for the first time "What the Daughters Do!" The exposure to the public view has won the Society many new friends in addition to many new patriotic members.

Of course, to have envisioned that she would travel half way around the world to visit members of the U.S. Armed Forces in evacuation hospitals and in combat areas in South Vietnam would have been considered to be the wildest figment of one's imagination! This was the first time a president general of the DAR ever visited troops in a combat area. Today, these events have all become a part of the history of the "diamond jubilee" years of the National Society and represent a phase of activity for the DAR.

The final year of this administration began on an exciting note when your president general emplaned for Montreal, Canada, on April 24, accompanied by Mrs. Edward J. Reilly, New York state regent. The purpose of this goodwill trip was to present the Flag of the United States of America to the commissioner general of Expo '67, the Honorable Pierre Dupuy, for use at the Place des Nations at the Exposition. Following this presentation an escorted trip through the fairgrounds was made, with special attention to the United States pavilion. Later, another American flag was sent to the Exposition by the National Society to replace the one atop the United States pavilion, which has been torn accidentally at the time of the visit of President Johnson in May.

By invitation of the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, your president general attended a ceremony at the White House which introduced a new "beautification" poster devoted to conservation.

It was a pleasure to attend the commencement exercises at Kate Duncan Smith DAR School in Grant, Alabama, on the weekend of May 20 and to deliver the commencement address there. Later that week she participated in the dedication of the Memorial Bell Tower to American Women War Dead at the Cathedral of the Pines in Rindge, New Hampshire. Following this ceremony she placed a wreath on the "altar of the Nation" inside the Cathedral in memory of those gallant men and women who gave their lives in the War for Independence. She visited Rindge again late in August for "DAR Day" to address approximately 800 persons at the Vesper Service.

The denial of the use of Constitution Hall to Joan Baez received nationwide TV news coverage. The principal reason for the denial was that the public image of Joan Baez was not consonant with the objectives of the National Society. In August a special letter containing the complete facts of the matter was mailed to the members of the national board of management, state vice regents, chapter regents, state chairmen of public relations, and national committee chairmen.

Following this nationwide publicity the president general was asked to be a participant on the David Susskind Show. This one-hour interview, taped at NEW-TV in New York City in September before a public audience, has been seen nationally in color during the succeeding months over approximately 25 television stations. Hundreds of letters were received by your president general following this nationwide exposure, from members of the Society as well as TV viewers, including war veterans, young people, Members of Congress, officials of various U.S. Government departments, and women who wanted to know how to become a member. These letters were highly congratulatory and expressed appreciation to the president general for conveying to the listening and viewing audiences the important ideals of patriotism and individual initiative. Current questions of the day were discussed during the interview, including the Joan Baez and Marion Anderson incidents, immigration, riots, welfare, and the war in Vietnam. This was more than a stimulating experience; it was an historic occasion as it represented the first time in the history of the NSDAR that a president general appeared on a nationwide TV hookup.

This publicity was soon followed by requests from newspapers and magazines for interviews. Of particular note was the request of McCall's Magazine for your president general to state her views for an article (being prepared for the January 1968 issue) entitled "If I Were President." Among the 15 other "famous women" included in the article were Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Margaret Truman Daniels, Congresswoman Martha Griffiths, Leontyne Price, and Marianne Moore. The magazine has a circulation of more than 8½ million.

Probably the most outstanding article in the newspaper field was one by Miss Virginia Lee Warren, a feature writer for the New York Times. Covering nearly a full page, this article appeared in the issue of Sunday, February 11, 1968. It was entitled "DAR—A New Concern With Public Image." This was the first time that the NSDAR has received such coverage in that newspaper, which has a circulation of over 760,000.

The report of the national chairman of public relations reflects some of this increase in publicity. However, her report will give only the number of column inches of newspaper coverage reported to her. We know there is much more. There was an increase of 441,742 column inches over the previous year. To quote from Mrs. Minton's report: "Newspaper publicity for the entire 'diamond jubilee' administration . . . totals 2,615,291 column inches, which is equal to over 41 miles." Your president general had more than 60 interviews over the past year for TV, radio, newspapers, and magazines.

In September 14 she drove to Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland to make a "cheer-up" visit with U.S. Marine battle casualties just back from Vietnam—the patriots of '67—and also to cooperate with "Operation Appreciation," a program sponsored by the local post of the Catholic War Veterans of America and initiated by Mr. James Merna, a former Marine. Its purpose is to show our wounded men that their sacrifices are appreciated by their communities through making aid and recreation available to them. As a result of this visit your president general extended the use of her box in Constitution Hall to these men and made arrangements with some of the Hall's tenants to provide blocks of complimentary tickets to performances in Constitution Hall. This participation of the NSDAR in "Operation Appreciation" resulted in many letters of appreciation to the president general from commanding officers of the respective military hospitals.

In October, at the first museum event of 1967-68, 50 servicemen and women from the USO were included among the guests. They were received by Mrs. Frederick Tracy Morse, curator general, and by the president general.

In order to further aid the returning veterans a special committee was authorized by the national board of management on April 13, 1968. This committee, to be called "DAR Service for Veteran-Patients," will enable qualified members to assist at the Veterans Hospitals throughout the country in a service of dedication and reliability.

In keeping with this line of endeavor, awards have been made annually, and in some instances semiannually, during the past three years to the U.S. Naval Academy, U.S. Military Academy, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, U.S. Air Force Academy, Officer Candidate School of the U.S. Coast Guard at Yorktown, Virginia, U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, and U.S. Marine Corps at Quantico, Virginia—a total of 29 awards.

In June, accompanied by the national chairman of the DAR School Committee, Mrs. Fred Aebly; the national parliamentarian, Mrs. U. Amel Rothermel; and Mr. James Hunter Johnson, assistant curator of the DAR Museum, the president general flew to South Carolina to attend the Tamasee DAR School Board meeting. Mr. Johnson accompanied the party to check the new Adèle Erb Sullivan Administration Building prior to the ordering of the furniture, draperies, etc., so that all would be in readiness for Dedication Day in October.

In order to have as many members possible participate in these dedication ceremonies a second bus tour, called the "Mini-Bus Tour," was organized under the direction of Mrs. Sherman Watson, national chairman of the Transportation Committee. Accordingly, immediately following adjournment of the October meeting of the national board of management the members boarded two busses for this special tour, which took them to three states. We visited Williamsburg and Yorktown, Virginia, where your president general took part in the wreath-laying ceremony and where the tour members were entertained by the Virginia Daughters. Also, en route we visited Tryon Palace in New Bern, North Carolina, and were entertained by Miss Gertrude Carraway, honorary president general. Arrival at Tamasee, South Carolina, was made in time for attendance at the Tamasee DAR School Board meeting on October 21. The annual Dedication Day ceremonies took place the next day, when the president general gave the main address. The dedication of the new Adèle Erb Sullivan Building followed immediately. This modern, air-conditioned, fireproof building has been furnished and endowed through generous contributions during the past two years under the guidance and through the tireless efforts of the national chairman of the DAR School Committee, Mrs. Fred Aebly. This president general is grateful to each member who had a part in the erection and furnishing of this beautiful building and for the endowment fund created for its maintenance.

During the past year many additional requests were made for occupational therapy, nursing, and medical scholarships. It was regrettable that our limited funds for these scholarships made it possible to award only 15 occupational therapy and 19 nursing and medical scholarships, for the total amount of $8,825.

It was a privilege to visit with the 50 state organizations at an official meeting during this term of office. The states visited this past year were Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Hawaii, North Carolina, Illinois, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, and the District of Columbia. It was with genuine regret that the president general had to cancel her visit to Montana in March due to official emergencies at national headquarters.

Naturally, the most outstanding trip made by the president general during this administration was the one made to Saigon just before the "Tet offensive" in late January. The purpose of this trip was to visit the members of the Armed Forces of the United States of America in the combat area and in the evacuation hospitals. In her official itinerary received from General Westmoreland's USMACV Headquarters the trip was called a "Good-will visit to Military Personnel and to obtain firsthand information on operations." Although the NSDAR has been of assistance to the U.S. Government in every war in which it has participated, this is the first time a president general has actually visited the combat area. While in Vietnam she awarded 47 DAR Americanism medals to members of the armed forces selected by their commanding officers. She was proud to represent the members of this great service organization in that far-off land, but she also felt very humble when she witnessed firsthand the many sacrifices these young Americans are making for us at home. These men and women are familiar with our Society and its concern with patriotism and the welfare of our country. They deserve loyalty and support as they strive to carry out their mission.

During the year the president general traveled over 150,000 air miles in the performance of her duty as head of the National Society.

Two new publications were made available to the members in the past year: an attractive DAR engagement calendar for 1968, showing pictures of DAR buildings and activities and containing dates of special significance to DAR members; and a march, written by Mrs. Hank Fort, entitled "Look With Pride On Our Flag." Also, a booklet on Constitution Hall and its facilities, for distribution to possible tenants, was completed early this year.

Junior Membership Committee contributions were at an all-time high, and your president general is greatly indebted to this committee for its furnishing the flagpole and Flag of the United States of America for the new Adèle Erb Sullivan Building at Tamasee, as well as her portrait in oil.

The DAR Magazine is in better financial position than it has been for some years. It shows an increased balance over last year of $24,927.95, and an increased balance for the period February 1965-February 1968 of $69,708.97. This splendid balance is appreciated even more when one considers the increase in postage and operation costs during that period.

The project of the Conservation Committee last year was the beautification of the grounds of our national headquarters. We now have a full-time gardener for the first time in some years. We may well be proud of the results of this beautification program.

A new ROTC medal was designed, and it has been approved by the heraldy department of the U.S. Army.

When elected in April 1965 your president general stated that she had two principal goals. One was to increase the membership of the National Society to 200,000. Although this peak has not been reached we have markedly changed the membership tide from a declining one to an advancing one. We have achieved an all-time high in membership for the Society, which not only has added to its strength as an organization but a substantial increase to its treasury as well. The establishment of the DAR Membership Commission has done much to aid toward attaining this goal.

The second principal goal of your president general was to increase the prestige of the Society to the point where it would be considered the most outstanding woman's organization in the country. She feels you will agree that this goal, too, is well on its way to achievement.

A considerable portion of this record has been obtained as a result of the tremendous success of the "diamond jubilee" projects, which have received nationwide publicity.

Following is a summary of the activities and projects of the "diamond jubilee" administration.

The major project was the refurbishing and air conditioning of Constitution Hall, authorized so overwhelmingly at the 75th Continental Congress in 1966. This project was the largest and most successful of the many that have been undertaken by the Society in a number of years. Not only is our magnificent auditorium more beautiful, but the project is unique in that the air conditioning adapts the Hall for year-round rentals, resulting in a self-liquidating operation. Increased rentals have also brought about a substantial reduction in the bank loan necessary to complete the project. The loan of $315,000 has been reduced to $145,000 in less than 15 months. The over-all improvements to the Hall have resulted in many favorable comments of appreciation from the public to the NSDAR for its efforts to enhance this valuable building and make it one of the glories of Washington.

Rentals from 187 events in 1965 amounted to $103,350; in 1968 there were 288 events that brought rentals of $264,875.

A memorandum from Capt. Donald O. Lacey, managing director of Constitution Hall, to the president general states:

Since March 1, 1968, there have been 40 events held in the Hall at a rental of $34,275. Already there are 254 events booked for the next year (Congress to Congress) at a total of $230,000.

During the period of May 1st through September 30th during the years 1960-1965 there was an average of 17½ rentals per year. During the period May 1, 1967, through September 30, 1967, there were 70 rentals. This represents additional rentals of 52½ or, stated in another manner, a four-fold increase.

The air conditioning was used seven times during the hot weather at the end of March. On six of these occasions we had a full house and the audience would have been miserable without the air conditioning.

As you will recall, the refurbishing part of this project was completed in time for the formal opening scheduled to take place October 11, 1966, the 76th birthday of the National Society. The Washington National Symphony cooperated with the National Society to make this opening night a gala occasion.

To honor the 75th birthday of the National Society on October 11, 1965, a gala "Jubilee Week" was held from October 9 through 14, with many special events being scheduled to honor this important milestone in the history of the Society. A special concert was given by the members of the Washington National Symphony on Sunday evening, October 10, 1965, in appreciation to the NSDAR for the assistance given them through the years since 1930.

To further honor the 75th anniversary a special edition of the DAR Magazine was compiled and a 75th anniversary service plate was designed as a fitting memento of the occasion.

A best-seller was launched with the publication of the DAR Patriot Index, which is now in its second printing. This unique volume lists the names of over 105,000 patriots who aided the cause of American Independence in the period 1774-1786. In October it was a pleasure to present a copy of this index to Dr. Robert H. Bahmer, Archivist of the United States.

The DAR School Committee had as its "diamond jubilee" project the erecting of a new administration building—now known as the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building—at Tamasee DAR School, Tamasee, South Carolina. This project went way over the top.

Renovations were completed for the President General's suite, largely paid for by the New York Daughters in honor of the president general; the Conference Room; the Staff Dining Room; the Lafayette Room and the Director's Room, both "back-stage" at Constitution Hall; and the Hospital Room, just off the lower lounge of the Hall. Also, the gravel approach to the Founders Memorial Monument was replaced with a flagstone court.

Two outstanding awards were authorized. By invitation of the Secretary of the Army the National Society at its February 1, 1967, board of management meeting voted to provide an annual award to "The Army Nurse of the Year," as selected by the board of the Army Medical Service. This award will be presented by the NSDAR in memory of Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, who in 1898, as vice president general of the DAR, organized the DAR Hospital Corps, which became the nucleus of the Army Nurse Corps, and who was later appointed Acting Surgeon General of the U.S. Army. An $8,000 American History Scholarship Award was authorized by the national board of management on February 1, 1966. This is a major four-year scholarship open to senior high school boys and girls who seek a higher education in American history. It is pro-rated at $2,000 a year to each recipient. The first scholarship was awarded at the 76th Continental Congress in April 1967 to Joan Ellen Reynolds of Alhambra, California.

The sum of $30,603 was raised to complete the cost of building and furnishing the dormitory at St. Mary's Episcopal School for Indian Girls, a project initiated by the preceding administration. This president general had the privilege of giving the main address at the dedication ceremonies of this dormitory in August 1966.

A history of the oldest churches in the United States was compiled by the chaplain general, Mrs. Fred Osborne.

Several procedures were initiated in the interest of business efficiency and economy.

A full-time business manager was employed to supervise all business procedures and to be in charge of personnel. He has been instrumental in coordinating the installation of systemitized 24-hour security service in the buildings at national headquarters. All purchasing has been consolidated under one department under his jurisdiction, and in some instances competitive purchasing has resulted in as much as a 50 percent reduction in costs over prices formerly paid for identical work. A central ordering department for DAR supplies has been established, and a special order form designed. This has resulted in tripling the requests for DAR material by the members.

The capability and internal utilization of the printing facilities have been increased to reduce some of the necessity for outside printing. This has resulted in the saving of hundreds of dollars, and in the long run will open the way for increased use.

Data processing equipment has been installed in the DAR Magazine office to increase efficiency as well as to conform with U.S. Post Office regulations. This is proving to be an excellent move and the equipment is now being made available to other offices in the building that are able to utilize this method of operation.

A new telephone switchboard system was installed to replace one that had been in service since the 1950's. Today the incoming and outgoing traffic is more than twice the volume for which the old system was engineered originally. The incoming traffic has increased proportionately. This expansion of "in" and "out" calling volume, together with a total lack of intercommunications ability and insufficient telephone instrument coverage, had made the old switchboard service more costly than the new system. The new system will relieve the operator of two-thirds of her present workload and thus allow her to assume the additional duties of a receptionist, thereby eliminating the expense of a new employee.

Other accomplishments of this administration include the highest earned interest income in the history of the Society. For the full three-year period earned interest income totaled $127,774. The nearest figure to compare with this for any three-year period is approximately $68,000. In addition, the Investment Trust Fund has had a net increase of $147,751 during the past three years, and the fund itself passed the half-million mark in the past year.

This administration was also responsible for the designation of the month of February in 1967 and 1968 as "American History Month" by the Congress of the United States and so proclaimed by the President of the United States.

During this administration several committees were authorized by Continental Congress or by the national board of management. The 75th Continental Congress divested the American Heritage Committee of the work regarding motion pictures and reestablished the Motion Picture Committee as a national committee. The national board of management authorized the following: DAR Speakers Staff, a new special committee; United States of America Bicentennial Committee, a special committee for the observance and celebration of the 200th anniversary of the United States of America by the NSDAR; a special committee for the DAR Patriot Index; DAR Service for Veteran-Patients, a special committee to aid the wounded of the war in Vietnam; and Election Ethics Committee, which will report to the national board in February 1969. In addition, a "Department of American Historical Research (1775-1783)" was established to serve many requests and inquiries of students, teachers, and scholars interested in this period of American history.

New or revised publications issued by this administration include the following: DAR Patriot Index; DAR Engagement Calendar, 1968; Constitution Hall Statement; Constitution Hall Booklet; The Flag March; Fact Sheet; Basics; Bylaws of the National Society; DAR Handbook; DAR School pamphlet; The DAR in Action; What the Daughters Do; and The Flag Code.

I am impressed—and certainly inspired—by the ever-increasing participation of the membership and the ever-increasing awareness that the eyes of the Nation are turning more and more to this Society and its resolute stand for the basic policies of our Founding Fathers. It is especially gratifying to see the younger members taking such an active interest in the National Society and its objectives. Because of this support, the National Society has grown steadily in achievement and stature and prospered in its service to the Nation.

FIRST VICE PRESIDENT GENERAL

Following adjournment of the 76th Continental Congress the first vice president general attended the C.A.R. national meeting, and, representing the president general, presented the Traveling Banner to the winning society. On June 5 she represented the president general at the U.S. Air Force Academy where she presented the Samuel Pierpont Langley Award to the outstanding cadet in aerodynamics.

On October 8 this officer gave a welcoming speech at the inauguration of Dr. Gerald Holstine as president of Bacone College, Bacone, Oklahoma. In mid-October she attended two meetings of the Executive Committee, a meeting of the board of management, a DAR Museum event, a C.A.R. dinner honoring the president general, and the national chairmen's forum—all in Washington. She then joined the mini-bus school tour, which included visits to the battlefields at Yorktown, Virginia, and at the home of Miss Gertrude Carraway, honorary president general, in New Bern, North Carolina, before culminating in the dedication of the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building at Tamasee, South Carolina.

Upon her return to Kansas she attended the state and district meetings there. In late January she presided (in the absence of the president general) at two Executive Committee meetings, and she joined the board of management in a briefing at the Department of Defense in the Pentagon. She attended the well-planned Oklahoma conference, where Mrs. Olen Delaney, the state regent, presided. In April she attended the informal and formal meetings of the Executive Committee and the board of management meeting, where it was her pleasure to present the board's gift to the president general.

CHAPLAIN GENERAL

During the past year the project of compiling the history of early churches was completed. The articles which began with the November 1966 issue of DAR Magazine ended with the October 1967 issue. The ramifications of the project were far-reaching. It was gratifying to note the increased appreciation for the contribution of our forefathers, for the recognition of the spiritual values emphasized by the National Society, for the large amount of research accomplished, for the many programs given on the subject of early churches, and for the joy of teamwork as every state chaplain in the National Society cooperated in a given project and endeavor.

In addition to the 51 accounts of early churches appearing in the DAR Magazine, 67 extra accounts of early churches were placed in the program office for chapter or individual use.

Largely as a result of requests from chapter chaplains, a compilation of Chapter Devotionals was published. It is composed largely of devotionals which chapter chaplains have found effective.

It was a pleasure for the chaplain general to perform the duties of her office and to accept all individual, chapter, and state invitations whenever possible. She visited 20 states and assisted in ceremonies whenever requested. She participated in the dedication of the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building at Tamasee DAR School, was elected to serve on the board of Hindman Settlement School, gave devotionals on numerous occasions, and prepared the programs for the events of the Memorial Day preceding Continental Congress. She also attended all formal meetings of the Executive Committee and of the national board of management.

Approximately 200 persons were present at the chaplain general's breakfast on Easter Sunday, April 14. Three buses transported members to Arlington and to Mt. Vernon. A wreath was placed at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The president general and the outstanding Junior of the District, Mrs. Benjamin Knapp, placed wreaths at Mt. Vernon in memory of George and Martha Washington. On Sunday afternoon the Memorial Service was held in Constitution Hall, where there was a record audience in attendance. The chaplain general reported 4,041 deaths. After the service the cross of flowers was placed at Founders Monument. The chaplain general then participated in a ceremony to dedicate the new 17th century American period room, the pride of the Wisconsin State Society.

A ceremony for the dedication of the beautiful stained glass windows given to the Kansas Chapel by the Kansas Daughters was held on April 15. The chaplain general offered the prayer of dedication.

Of the responses by the state chaplains to a request that they describe their most outstanding experiences as State chaplains the following four quotations are typical:

(1) The greatest reward to me is the feeling that some place, some one has received spiritual comfort from my devotions and prayers.

(2) I know my own understanding and appreciation of our National goals have expanded and will live to bless my own outlook for always.

(3) My richest experience has been coming to National, attending the breakfasts and the Memorial Services at Constitution Hall. Only then does one realize the great spiritual power of hundreds of women across our wide country, working and praying for causes in common.

(4) My richest experience as State Chaplain came from the 'soul searching' I found myself doing as a result of the research in the early church histories of my State.

In searching through numerous books, pamphlets and other materials to determine the oldest church still in use, I found myself so engrossed in the lives of the early pioneers, so imbued with their cause and so proud that they were MY ancestors that at times I seemed to transcend time and place and, in my mind, lived right there with them in that strange, new wilderness. What an experience!

Since they were essentially a religious people, the need to worship was almost as acute as the need for food, for the love of God permeated their entire being. Thus, almost before their rude homes were finished, the meeting-house, as they called it, was erected.

May we remember with the prophet of old that, "They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament: and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever." Thus shall we continue to sparkle.

RECORDING SECRETARY GENERAL

After the close of the 76th Continental Congress resolutions and letters as directed by that congress were sent to the President of the United States, members of the Cabinet, heads of the Defense, Army, and Navy establishments, chairmen of committees of the United States Congress, and others.

The resolutions adopted by the 76th Continental Congress were prepared and printed in pamphlet form for distribution.

The Bylaws of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, were reprinted so as to incorporate the amendments adopted by the 76th Continental Congress.

The proceedings of the Continental Congress was published in August.

Minutes of the regular and special board meetings were prepared for publication in DAR Magazine and proofread. Minutes and verbatim transcripts were indexed and recorded.

Motions and resolutions of the national board of management and Continental Congress were typed and copies delivered or mailed to each national officer, copied for the statute book, and indexed.

Copies of the minutes of the Executive Committee meetings were sent to all members of the committee; and the minutes also were copied for binding in book form and indexed. Motions affecting the work of each office and committee were typed separately and delivered.

During the past year 9,034 membership certificates were prepared and mailed to new members, and 39 commissions were prepared for national officers, state regents and vice regents. During the three-year term of this administration 24,088 membership certificates and 159 commissions were issued. The booklet "What the Daughters Do" was revised and reprinted.

During the past year your recording secretary general attended all Executive Committee meetings and all national board meetings, spoke at several chapter meetings, and attended several special celebrations of chapters in her own state.

She represented the president general and the National Society at Annapolis during June Week to present the DAR award to Midshipman Stephen Trygve Holl for achieving the highest multiple in the naval operations course.

In September she attended the special meeting of the Ohio Society to honor the president general, and then she attended the Massachusetts and Pennsylvania state conferences. Following the Pennsylvania meeting she attended the national board meeting in Washington, after which she enjoyed the well-planned mini-bus trip to historic spots and to the dedication of the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building at Tamasee. In March she drove to Memphis, where she was a guest of the Tennessee Daughters at their state conference.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY GENERAL

Between March 1, 1967, and March 1, 1968, the following mailings were made by the office of the corresponding secretary general: resolutions, 3,757; June packets, 3,235; revised bylaws, 3,032; proceedings, 239; directory of committees, 3,335; traffic safety brochures, 3,242; December packets (credentials and honor roll), 3,028; December mailing (American History Month spot announcements), 3,083; proposed amendments, 3,029; additional applications, school forms, and rules for NSDAR American History Scholarship, 1,610. These official mailings, sent from this office, were exclusive of free materials and orders.

More than 10,000 orders for supplies were handled. The orders have doubled since being transferred into the office of the corresponding secretary general in December 1966. This increase denotes an increasing interest in the programs of the National Society.

The two new items added to our order blank last year sold very well—3,341 DAR Engagement Calendars and 956 copies of the Flag March. The book In Washington—The DAR Story continues in demand, with 4,704 copies sold in the past year.

The office received many letters thanking us for our help. Because of our continued service to nonmembers in regard to scholarships, membership, general information, school children, and teachers, we feel that, in a small way, we are doing public relations work for the Society. Many of the letters were from young people throughout the country seeking information about the DAR, American history, and patriotic subjects.

This office received many letters and phone calls requesting information about membership in the DAR, and many persons visited the office. All received prompt and courteous replies to their requests. The names of all prospective members were sent to the respective state regents.

Additional duties of this office included work for the Honor Roll and Student Loan and Scholarship Committees and the handling of reservations for the 1967 DAR bus tour.

During the past year it was the sad duty of this office to report the deaths of two honorary vice presidents general—Mrs. Raymond C. Goodfellow and Mrs. William Henry Belk.

This officer attended all Executive Committee and national board of management meetings during her three-year term of office. It was her pleasure to accompany the president general and the members of the Executive Committee and the national board of management on the 1967 DAR Bus Tour to Williamsburg, Yorktown, and New Bern, and then on to Tamasee for the dedication of the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building.

This officer attended the briefing arranged at the Pentagon for the members of the national board of management who attended the national board meeting on the first of February.

Following the Continental Congresses in 1966 and 1967 your corresponding secretary general remained for a week in Washington where she assisted in the registrar general's department as one of the DAR genealogical volunteers helping to process supplemental papers.

On March 9, she was privileged to speak at the dedication ceremony and to dedicate the historic marker that was placed by the DAR chapter at New Smyrna Beach, Florida, in honor of Dr. Andrew Turnbull, the founder of the New Smyrna Colony in 1767-1768.

MAE M. STEWART

Corresponding Secretary General

ORGANIZING SECRETARY GENERAL

Your organizing secretary general attended all meetings of the Executive Committee and the national board of management held during this administration. During the past year she participated in the DAR Mini-Bus Tour and was banquet speaker at the fall meeting of the Massachusetts State Organization and at the opening night of the Tennessee State Conference.

The total number of chapters to date is 2,899. During the three-year period now ending, 91 new chapters were admitted and 74 chapters were disbanded, making a net gain of 17. Outstanding in the organization of new chapters were Tennessee with 17, Maryland with 15, and California with 11. During the past year 36 chapters were organized and 21 were disbanded. The new chapters are located as follows: Tennessee, 12; California, 5; Mississippi, 3; Florida, 2; New York, 2; Ohio, 2; Pennsylvania, 2; and Arkansas, Georgia, Iowa, Maryland, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, and Virginia with one each.

Following is the statistical report for the year 1967-1968. Organizing regencies: cancelled, 2; expired, 9; location changed, 1. Organizing regents: confirmed, 29; resigned, 1; reappointed, 7. Chapters: authorized, 3; given extension of time, 4; locations changed, 1; names changed, 2; disbanded, 21; confirmed, 36. State regents confirmed, 15; state vice regents confirmed, 15; charters issued, 10; chapter election reports, 2,870; membership cards filed, 28,879; chapter regent lists sold, 19; permits issued for national and state bars and 25-year and 50-year membership pins, 1,000; 50-year membership certificates issued, 338.

AMANDA A. THOMAS,
Organizing Secretary General

TREASURER GENERAL

At the close of the fiscal year the balance in our operating fund (Current Fund) was in excess of $1,152,769. The combined balance in the Current and Special Funds was approximately $2,329,885, with a net increase of $270,800 in the three-year period. More than half of this increase belongs to the Investment Trust Fund (our own endowment fund), which had a balance of $544,867 at the close of the fiscal year. It has increased by $147,751 in the three-year period.

From a financial viewpoint, the outstanding accomplishment of this administration has been the air-conditioning and refurbishing of Constitution Hall within the estimated budget and by means of a loan which never exceeded $315,000. Constitution Hall has been placed on a self-sustaining basis. It has contributed materially to debt reduction and has paid all interest charges on the loan.

Special projects such as the DAR Patriot Index and the Adèle Erb Sullivan building at Tamasee have been paid for in full. There is a modest surplus in both funds.

The cash balance in the Magazine Fund, which is almost double that of three years ago, closed above $121,000.

Careful supervision of cash flow has provided the highest earned interest income in the Society's history. During the past three years, earned interest income totaled $127,744, with $50,000 earned in the year just passed. That we are able to earn such interest income is due to present high interest rates, but it also attests to the soundness of the Society's finances.

Contributions to all DAR projects have been generous. Over a two-year period, contributions to the Constitution Hall project have totaled $107,511. Last year your treasurer general personally offered prizes to the states having the highest per capita contributions to the Constitution Hall project since it was first initiated. Michigan won the first prize of $200, and Wisconsin won the second prize of $100.

REGISTRAR GENERAL

To save the time heretofore spent in making abstracts of pension papers (often necessary in establishing the identity and service of the patriot) from the records in the National Archives, I was able to persuade officials to allow us to order photocopies at a nominal cost and by monthly voucher. An extra dividend is the fact that we now have hundreds of packets of untapped source material on Revolutionary patriots and their activities. Our librarians will prepare an index and file of this material for the use of genealogists and students of history.

Another time-saver was the initiation of the Short Form Application for use of applicants who can "hook on" to the line of a close relative, thus saving much time in preparation and checking.

The matter of microfilming our application papers was one that could no longer be postponed. The large room containing the big bound volumes of papers was packed to the last stack, and the stacks ran almost to the ceiling. After much consideration it was decided to put the entire paper on film in an aperture card which, when inserted in a reader, would be magnified 16 times. The Illinois Daughters supported this project by donating practically all of the equipment of production and storage, as well as most of the readers. Their generosity extended to purchasing seven new office chairs. Important is the fact that the equipment for filming records can be used by all departments in the building. When the new process is in full use, there will be a great saving of time and energy of the staff.

While supplemental papers are important, the staff must give first attention to new members. Thus, a backlog of supplementals is always present, and it was decided to close their reception temporarily during this administration. The field was reopened in October but members must be patient in expecting verification. At the suggestion of one of our fine genealogists from New Hampshire, we organized the "DAR Volunteer Genies," a group which, at its own expense, devotes the entire week after Continental Congress working on supplementals under the supervision of our chief clerks and with cooperation from our library staff.

Some old motions (one made in 1910) that were at variance with current policy showed the importance of going over all of these directives. With the help and advice of the national parliamentarian, a few motions were brought to the attention of the board to be rescinded, and a few were made that incorporated present policy.

The following figures indicate the work of this office over the past year:

Applications received	7, 731

HISTORIAN GENERAL

State and chapter historians have increased their interest in securing documents for the Americana Collection, marking historic sites, and placing markers on graves of Revolutionary soldiers and deceased members. Many have complied with the request proposed by the historian general to make a complete survey of all sites, restorations, and so forth, that have been marked or preserved by their DAR chapter or state society.

In February 1968 a second lighted display and storage cabinet was installed in the Archives Room. This additional cabinet enables us to place on display many more of our rare documents, which are rotated at intervals. It has a beautifully illuminated display case of three shelves—one section for storage and two sections of filing drawers.

We have started a cross-file of historic sites, and it is partially complete.

A rare document dated 1 November 1847 and signed by the first governor of Florida, William D. Moseley, has been received on indefinite loan from the Florida Board of Archives and History through the courtesy of Mr. Tom Adams, Florida secretary of state. The loan of this rare signature was made possible through the efforts of Mrs. J. E. Rozier, Florida legislative chairman and member of Caroline Brevard Chapter, honoring Mrs. Jackson E. Stewart, corresponding secretary general, and Mrs. Lawrence R. Andrus, Florida state regent. Another rare gift and an invaluable reference work is "The American Drawings of John White, 1577-1590," a two-volume edition published by the Trustees of the British Museum and the University of North Carolina Press. It was presented by the North Carolina State Organization in honor of Mrs. Abner Milton Cornwell. In all, 32 gifts were presented for the Archives Room.

Permission was given for 688 markings: graves of deceased members, 614; graves of Revolutionary soldiers, 44; graves of daughters of Revolutionary soldiers, 7; graves of famous persons, 2; historic sites, 21.

Markings reported as placed totaled 611: graves of deceased members, 491; graves of Revolutionary soldiers, 70; graves of daughters of Revolutionary soldiers, 3; graves of wives of Revolutionary soldiers, 1; graves of famous persons, 4; historic sites, 42.

LIBRARIAN GENERAL

In July a list of requested books was sent to states that had completed the 1850 rerun census project. States that had not completed the project were not sent a list of requests, mainly to give them an opportunity to complete the important census project. All except one of the states have now completed that project.

Eleven states are 100 percent in chapter librarians. This is an important office, as it is the chapter librarian who receives instructions from the DAR state librarian for the year's work and passes them on to the membership.

The following state societies have presented all books requested: Alabama, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, and West Virginia.

During the year $4,657.57 was spent for the DAR Library and $7,648.88 for state work.

The library received 572 books, 293 pamphlets, and 43 manuscripts. Many of the books were presented as memorials to deceased members.

Other gifts included the following: from Mississippi, in honor of Clara Wright Forrest, librarian general, 1965-1968, a four-drawer filing cabinet; from Virginia, in honor of Mrs. Leo W. Utz, state regent, 1965-1968, a four-drawer metal filing cabinet; from Westport Chapter, Missouri, in honor of Alice Kinyoun Houts, a 50-year member, a lamp for the atlas stand; from Mrs. Owen Scott Lee of Lexington, Kentucky, in honor of Miss Marion Day Mullins, 61 shares of stock in the First National Bank of Dallas; from the General Society, Sons of the Revolution, $200 for library support and maintenance.

The Genealogical Records Committee, under the guidance of Mrs. Irvin C. Brown, national chairman, has turned over to the Library many valuable volumes, typewritten and bound. The Lineage Research Committee, under Mrs. Ivan T. Johnson, national chairman, has given hope to prospective members.

Reports show interest in building genealogical collections within the states for helping prospective members. Many states reported special projects that were helpful in both national and state work.

CURATOR GENERAL

Our special offering for the 77th Continental Congress was the exhibition of works by Anne Belle Rogers Minor, president general 1920-1923. Mrs. Minor, of Connecticut, studied with her father-in-law, Robert C. Minor, an artist of international note. She produced many oils and water colors, and a number of these were presented at the exhibition. The majority of the paintings exhibited belonged to the Elizabeth Fehr Galleries of New York City. The portrait of Mrs. Minor painted by Carl Frederick Van Saltner in 1900, when she was 36, and a recent gift to the NSDAR from the Lucretia Shaw Chapter of Connecticut, also was on exhibit.

A major accession of the past year is the Clark Mills bronze bust of General George Washington. A copy of the plaster life bust of Washington, made at Mt. Vernon by Antoine Houdon in October, 1785, and one of three made by Mills in 1849, this bust came to the NSDAR through the generosity of the Trustees of the Lida R. and Charles H. Tompkins Foundation, who presented it in memory of Lida Roberta Tompkins, a direct descendant of Captain Robert Tompkins, an officer who served during the Revolutionary War.

A gift of importance was a handsome Japanned tilt-top English table, about 1770, that was presented by Mrs. Harry Clark Boden, IV, Cooch's Bridge Chapter, Delaware, in honor of Mrs. Erwin F. Seimes.

Kansas gave a girl manikin in honor of Mrs. Elmer Huffman, the state regent. It is garbed in a gown of 18th century design to accompany the especially beautiful gown owned and worn in the 18th century by Mrs. Peter Muhlenberg, whose husband was known as the "Fighting Parson."

An unusual, large, solid-silver bowl and tray, embellished with gold, was presented to the Museum in April 1967. Originally presented to Mrs. Donald McLean, New York, president general, in April 1909 in recognition of the completion of Memorial Continental Hall, Mrs. Nelson M. Downes, Philadelphia Chapter, gave it to the National Society in memory of her mother, Mrs. Harry M. Riddle, regent of Peggy Warne Chapter, New Jersey, 1926-1929.

An American dropleaf table, of cherry, made by Samuel Bellerjeau, Trenton, 1795-1828, was given by the New Jersey State DAR in memory of Mrs. Raymond C. Goodfellow, honorary vice president general, 1964-1967.

Museum acquisitions of note include a rare American silver tea caddy measure in the form of a jockey cap, by Saunders Pitman, Rhode Island, 1775; an English teapot and stand which once belonged to Commodore John Barney, U.S.N.; a silver cup, Irish, made by Matthew West; two silver tablespoons formerly belonging to the family of Governor Deneen of Illinois; a silver pap boat, English, by Hester Bateman, 1779; an English silver sugar basin, with lid, by Ann and Peter Bateman, 1797-1798; a pair of fine Sheffield argand lamps; three pieces of Chinese Export porcelain in the so-called tobacco leaf pattern, about 1780; five Chinese Export porcelain vases forming a garniture, about 1780; and several pieces of English Whieldon and Whieldon-type pottery.

Numerous manufactures were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cyrus Underwood, through the Jamestown Chapter, New York. Among these are a chest on chest, Chippendale design, American maple, about 1770; an American looking glass, about 1720; a rare English pewter trencher, large, 1620; and a leather-covered money box.

Renovations and improvements were made in connection with several of the State rooms. The Wisconsin Room was completely remodeled to represent a 17th-century interior, and the furnishings provided are appropriate to the period. The Iowa, Alabama, and New Jersey Rooms and the Kansas Chapel were remodeled. Illinois, North Carolina, and Virginia made significant additions to the furnishings in their rooms.

Four special events were held: on April 17, 1967, in connection with the 76th Continental Congress; on October 15, with 50 members of the Armed Forces as honored guests; on December 7, for the purpose of presenting the Clark Mills bust for public viewing; and on April 15, 1968, the curator general's annual reception.

Fifty tours of the Museum and State rooms were conducted, with 19,000 visitors recorded.

Articles added to the memorabilia of the First Ladies are a French evening bag made of fine metal beads, and a coin purse to match, given by Mamie Doud Eisenhower; a German china plate, hand-decorated by Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of President Benjamin Harrison; and a circular linen cloth with handmade lace which belonged to Florence Kling Harding, wife of President Warren G. Harding.

REPORTER GENERAL TO THE SMITHSONIAN
INSTITUTION

Letters and statistical forms were sent to the state regents and national chairmen regarding preparation of material for inclusion in the National Society's annual report that is transmitted by the Smithsonian Institution for publication as a Senate document. Also, the state society historians were instructed as to locating graves of Revolutionary soldiers and the manner in which the records should be reported for our information and guidance in completing our files.

Excellent cooperation was given by the state regents in using the questionnaire sent to them requesting statistics in each category of the projects of the National Society.

A total of 329 graves were reported as located in 20 states and Canada.

REPORTS OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEES

AMERICAN HERITAGE

A total of 2,115 chapters reported 4,526 American Heritage Committee programs, representing an increase of 244 chapters and 814 programs over the previous year.

As the enthusiasm in preserving our cultural past in the fields of art, crafts, drama, literature, and music has grown, so has the enthusiasm of the communities grown. Nearly 500 communities cooperated with the American Heritage Committees in projects to preserve the early American culture of our Colonial times.

Chapter programs covered every phase of this committee's work. With the cooperation of other national committees, displays were presented of antique jewelry, silver, pewter, rare books, clocks, fans, shawls, quilts, coins, snuff boxes, old household utensils, musical instruments, miniatures, daguerreotypes, paintings, deeds, wills, account books, manuscripts, and many other valuable items. These displays at chapter meetings, banks, stores, libraries, museums, historical society meetings, restorations, and at county and state fairs aroused great public interest and resulted in the searching of many attics and storage places for similar items, many of which were given to museums for preservation.

American heritage committees assisted state historic commissions and bicentennial, resources planning, and genealogical survey committees and other community committees as well as art festivals, music festivals, restorations, museums, and historical societies in research on town histories, historical sites, renovations, and restorations. Their members have acted as hostesses; arranged pageants, pilgrimages, and study courses on Colonial cultures; written manuscripts; and engaged in depth research on many aspects of our American heritage in the fields of this committee. In one state, 58 chapters cooperated in sponsoring and maintaining local museums.

Thousands of valuable antiques were given to the DAR Museum and to other museums, restoration societies, and historical societies through the efforts of this committee. These include a Chippendale mahogany side chair, circa 1770, with an appraised value of $1,000; lustre pitchers; a set of silver spoons; gentleman's shoe buckles, circa 1780; cup and saucer of English Staffordshire; Sunderland lustre; seven deeds dated 1797 to 1834; a Martha Washington plate; a bracket clock, circa 1740; and several rare books.

For the first time, the home of a descendant of Martha Washington was opened to a state regent, her officers, and 58 American Heritage Committee chairmen by the great-great-grandson, who showed the treasures of this historic home.

An old cemetery chapel with marble floors and stained glass windows, being used as a store house, was saved and restored to its original beauty by an American Heritage Committee with community assistance.

A demonstration on dyeing, spinning, and weaving was given for many groups other than DAR, and a program on early American recipes and remedies had clever audience participation.

Again, the dramatic "Action Line of March" was given, with a 1775 Field Ration dinner served. Slides and pictures were made of this historic march, which has been made an annual event. The showing of these slides and pictures has caused a great upsurge in patriotic feeling among the audiences.

The awakening of our communities to our past has shown the value of our American Heritage Committee, proving that our cultural preservation is no longer the interest of a few dedicated persons. It is now a nationwide cause.

AMERICAN INDIANS

Donations for the American Indians Committee this year totaled $49,210. Of this amount the General Indian Scholarship Fund received $3,000. Bacone College was the recipient of $13,000, a sum which included $1,700 for its dormitories and general fund, $266 for its library, and $10,000 for scholarships. A stock certificate in the amount of $1,959 for nursing scholarships was sent by an Oklahoma DAR. Clothing to Bacone's Thrift Shop totaled 2,686 pounds, and books valued at $297 were donated to the library. Six states contributed more than $1,000 each to the college.

St. Mary's School for Indian Girls received $33,713. Of this amount, $11,000 was earmarked for scholarships and $10,000 for the national project. Donations for bricks, furnishings, and other causes totaled $12,000.

Reports from 44 states indicate that 1,215 Indian programs were given and that 18 states have their own special Indian scholarship funds.

Ten Indian students from eight different states received scholarships from the general fund, but four others were turned down due to lack of funds.

Outstanding work with Indians in their own or other states was accomplished by Alabama, California, Florida, Illinois, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, and Washington. Florida gave $927 to public school and college students of the Miccosuk and Seminole Tribes, sent a set of 14-year-old twins to summer camp for two weeks, and increased its state fund to $2,000. Illinois sent 100 pounds of clothing to a Navajo reservation, $229 and 1,181 pounds of clothing to the American Indian Center in Chicago, and its state chairman made two 15-minute radio tapes for a Chicago radio station on "Illinois DAR and the American Indians."

The goal of $30,000 for the DAR wing at St. Mary's has been achieved. Work done by outstanding states was recognized at the American Indians Committee Breakfast, when awards on a per capita basis went to Michigan, honorable mention, with $.52 per member; Rhode Island, third place, with $.62; Nevada, second place, with $1.0751; and New Jersey, first place, with $1.0757. Awards for the highest contributions went to Illinois, honorable mention, with $4,059;

Pennsylvania, third place, with $4,828; New Jersey, second place, with $5,291; and Ohio, first place, with $6,639.

AMERICANISM AND DAR MANUAL FOR CITIZENSHIP

More than 47,000 copies of the DAR Manual for Citizenship were given to prospective citizens and to schools, libraries, and service men overseas who are married to foreigners. Sixty-seven tapes of "Citizen—U.S.A." were sold and one complimentary tape was given. One hundred sixty-two chapters scheduled the tape to be heard in public schools, at chapter meetings, and by Scout troops.

Ninety-one Americanism medals were presented in 34 states to outstanding naturalized citizens of five years' standing who have shown leadership, trustworthiness, service, and patriotism.

Many chapters increased their efforts to contribute to the Occupational Therapy Fund. More than $750 was donated by states and chapters to this project.

A total of 665 chapters reported working at naturalization courts, and 497 chapters reported visits to Americanization schools where 83 prizes were awarded to students. In addition, members took new citizens to church, invited them to chapter meetings, arranged for historic tours, and sponsored teas following naturalization ceremonies.

New York received the top national award, and the Sarah Copus Chapter won the chapter award.

CHILDREN OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Between March 1, 1967, and March 1, 1968, the C.A.R. transferred 377 of its members to the DAR. During that period new C.A.R. societies were sponsored by 32 DAR chapters; however, 44 societies were disbanded and 45 sponsored societies failed to organize within the time limit. There were 52 appointments of new organizing presidents and 14 reappointments.

Most chapter chairmen answered the questionnaires sent to them, but many of the reports indicated a defeatist attitude on the part of the reporting chairmen in the recruiting of senior leaders.

DAR chapters reported giving assistance to C.A.R. in the following ways: serving as senior officers and chairmen on society, state, regional, and national levels; assisting in the sending of dues statements and meeting notices; taking registrations at state and regional meetings; serving on national convention committees; furnishing music for processions and programs; sponsoring programs for society meetings; contacting local historical societies and conservationists for tours and talks; helping to obtain mayors' and governors' proclamations and in carrying out local and state projects in conservation and patriotic education; assisting in marking historic sites, in erecting memorial markers, and in presenting flags; helping with press, TV, and radio presentations and window displays; giving opportunity to

C.A.R. to present programs at DAR chapter meetings; providing time for programs at state conferences and the space for and manning of C.A.R. exhibits; inviting C.A.R. members to special events; preparing application papers for membership; helping with exhibits in C.A.R. booths at state fairs; saving coupons and trading stamps; assisting in mimeographing; obtaining supplies for news sheets, announcements, and programs; addressing and mailing; offering homes and refreshments for meetings; and furnishing transportation to meetings and for tours.

Financially, the DAR has helped C.A.R. by making contributions for the endowment fund, C.A.R. Museum renovation and acquisitions, patron and promoter fees, travel, magazine advertising, the printing of tickets, programs, and invitations, and the renting of historical and educational films for meetings. These donations were in addition to state DAR per capita contributions.

There were 1,241 state promoters, with the southeastern division leading with 228. Percentagewise, New Mexico led the state societies with 4 percent of the DAR membership as promoters. There were 349 national promoters and 54 life promoters. Five DAR members became major benefactors of the C.A.R. Museum renovation by contributing $1,000 each.

To promote the increase of new C.A.R. societies and members the national chairman offered two $15 prizes—one to the state having the greatest number of DAR chapters sponsoring new C.A.R. societies (winner: Illinois, with three) and one to the state with the most new members admitted to the NSDAR (winner: Virginia, with 143).

CONSERVATION

State societies reported that they are keeping in close contact with their Representatives at home and in Washington in regard to the problem of water and air pollution. Each state has reported many plantings that will counterbalance erosion that has taken place.

The beautification program has been advanced. City parks have been created. An especially outstanding improvement is a city block that has been taken over by the DAR in Toledo, Ohio.

Many graves of Revolutionary soldiers have been reworked and beautified.

Several of the northeastern states are collecting money to send teachers and students to conservation summer camps.

We have devoted our attention mainly to the beautification of our own grounds. A large tree planted in honor of our president general was a gift of the New York DAR. Iris plants received from Athens, Georgia, came from the gardens of the first president of the Garden Clubs of America.

The Conservation Committee is working toward replanting and replacing all shrubbery that will not thrive in this area. The driveways will be marked with 24 urns filled with flowering plants.

DAR GOOD CITIZENS

This is the twentieth year that the work of this committee has been approved by the National Association of Secondary Schools, a department of the National Education Association.

The purpose of the DAR Good Citizens Committee is to encourage good citizenship in senior high school girls. This is the first year that accredited private high schools have been included. The response to this opportunity has been gratifying, as 432 private schools took advantage of this opportunity. This year a total of 10,773 schools participated.

A DAR Good Citizen must demonstrate to an outstanding degree the qualities of service, leadership, dependability, and patriotism.

The awards given by chapters, districts, and states, in addition to the $100 savings bond and state winner pin with certificate from the National Society, amounted to a total of $6,170 in Series E bonds. A Good Citizen Pin is given to each Chapter Good Citizen. A total of 2,883 copies of In Washington—The DAR Story were presented. In addition, winners were given flag pins, silver bowls, bracelet charms, anniversary plates, silver spoons, corsages. Each state winner received an expense-free trip to state conference. The individual chapters entertained the winners, their parents, and high school representatives at luncheons, teas, and dinners. Each DAR Good Citizen was presented with a certificate from the National Society at special assemblies, chapels, and graduations.

All contests received excellent publicity.

The National Good Citizen was awarded a $1,000 scholarship to the college of her choice and a five-inch sterling silver Paul Revere bowl engraved "National DAR Good Citizen 1967-1968". Honorable mention certificates were given the first and second runners-up.

DAR MAGAZINE

In July every chapter received a list of its current subscribers, and 98 percent of these lists had been corrected and returned to the magazine's office by September.

Because of fine promotion by state and chapter DAR Magazine Committee chairmen all but two states reported subscription increases. There was a gain of 14.5 percent over the preceding year's total.

The October contest resulted in 5,474 new subscriptions—at 46.5 percent increase over the 1966 contest increase. Winners in the seven divisions were Montpelier Chapter, Virginia; Picayune Chapter, Mississippi; Chief Whatcom Chapter, Washington; Agnes Woodson Chapter, Texas; Fort Hartford Chapter, Kentucky; Ellicott Chapter, New York; and Benjamin Tallmadge Chapter, Wisconsin. The state winner was Utah, with 5.5 percent increase. Other states winning awards for subscription increases were New Mexico, Maryland, Kentucky, Texas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Alabama, New York, Hawaii, and Texas.

During an editor's seminar last fall, copies of the Diamond Jubilee and October 1967 issues of DAR Magazine were placed in a time capsule dedicated at the new offices of McCall Printing Company, Mid-Atlantic Division.

Although costs, including postage, have increased, the financial statement of the treasurer general indicates that DAR Magazine has $24,927.95 more than last year's annual figure.

By contract with the National Society, Children of the American Revolution, the magazine's IBM system now provides general mailings for the C.A.R. The magazine's staff also runs the cards and labels for DAR national headquarters general mailing list, which has more than 3,000 names.

The April 1968 issue featured the first full-color cover in more than 25 years.

As a fitting climax to our Diamond Jubilee Year, the DAR Magazine and its editor were presented with George Washington Honor Medal Awards from Freedoms Foundation for "outstanding achievement in bringing about a better understanding of the American Way of Life." The presentation was made during Continental Congress by Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, USA (Ret.), Vice Chairman, Trustees, Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

DAR MAGAZINE ADVERTISING

Financial sources for the magazine continue to be subscriptions and advertising revenue. The ads come through the membership, which receives commission on all ads over $15.00. Income revenue comes from each of our fifty states and the District of Columbia.

The year 1967-1968 saw a record income of $96,932.55, which did not include revenue from cuts, mats, or additional color used in the ads. Three hundred new chapters had ads for the first time during this administration. Commissions are returned to the chapter treasurer. The revenue is used for the promotion for our historical, educational and patriotic work in NSDAR. Prize monies, which are used in the work of the DAR, went to Delaware, New Mexico, District of Columbia, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, California, Texas, and the following chapters: Commodore Joshua Barney, Maryland; Abigail Hartman Rice, District of Columbia; Samuel Sorrell, Texas; Caesar Rodney, Delaware; John McKnitt Alexander, Texas; Andrew Houser, Georgia; Tuscaloosa, Alabama; and Cincinnati, Ohio. Cash awards for 100 percent chapter participation went to California, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Alaska, Hawaii, Delaware, New Mexico, Nevada, Montana, Vermont, and Wyoming.

Contributions for the seven DAR Approved Schools showed a gain of $7,229.41 for this fiscal year. These schools not only teach students the mechanics of an education but also teach them their duties to society as patriotic, useful citizens.

The state chairmen heard from 2,718 chapters that reported 2,298 programs on the schools. Many of the states featured one or more of the schools at conferences or at special meetings. Total contributions as compiled from the state chairmen's reports are as follows: scholarships, $71,215.60; endowment funds, $2,626.06; general fund, $26,923.26; library, $2,729.79; Christmas, $3,313.14; national school project, $30,257.83; undesignated, $14,441.16.

The chapters reported that 4,489 packages weighing approximately 101,860 pounds and valued at $113,694.55 were sent to the DAR Approved Schools. The mailing cost of these packages was $5,925.98.

Revenue from the sales amounted to $28,317.79. Tamasee's sales amounted to $13,232.00; Kate Duncan Smith's, $15,085.79. Free freight has been established by 26 state DAR organizations.

The national DAR School Committee project for this administration was the construction of the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building at Tamasee. This air-conditioned building is completed and has been occupied since July 1967. By popular demand, a mini-tour was organized and 74 members of the Society attended the school's dedication ceremony on October 22, 1968. The building has been completely furnished with functional and attractive furniture, a parking lot has been added, and simple landscaping and walks surround the building. Every state contributed to the building fund. Approximately $17,000 has been established to maintain the building.

Many major projects were undertaken by various states: New York, the conference room and its furnishings and the two outside doors; Ohio, business manager's office and furnishings (business office and furniture contributed by Mr. Walter English, Ohio); Georgia, reception room and furniture; Indiana, secretary's office and furniture, also the parking lot; Texas, east facade; California, record room and landscaping; Maryland, storage room; Illinois, vault; Kentucky, utility room; Florida, front walk; District of Columbia, steps; New Jersey, steps; Michigan, windows and shutters; South Carolina, three columns, back walk, drinking fountain; Pennsylvania, column and lavatory; Virginia, column; Mississippi, column; Kansas, two columns; Junior Membership Committee, portrait of president general and United States of America Flag and pole.

Tamasee has had a profitable year. The sum of $21,352.74 and the following bequests were sent directly to the school; $5,000 J. W. Kirkpatrick (Kansas); and $48,331.48 final payment of Pouch bequest (New York), totaling $74,684.22. In addition to the construction of the Adèle Erb Sullivan Building at Tamasee, many improvements were made at the school. New York painted, completely carpeted, and furnished the New York State Cottage and purchased 15 new desks for the Sarah Corbin Robert Elementary School; Michigan painted and repaired the interior of the Mooney-Goddard Cottage; Pennsylvania installed a new kitchen, serving area floors, exhaust fans, and furnace in the Hobart Dining Hall. Also, the campus was beautified by the planting of the Gressette Garden and the Lipscomb Garden.

At the Tamasee board meeting in June 1967, Rev. J. Louis Fowke was appointed director of student affairs and public relations.

There are 165 boarding students at Tamasee; of these, 115 attend the elementary school and 50 attend Tamasee-Salem High School. Of the eleven students in the senior class, six have expressed a desire to attend college. There are 129 day students attending the elementary school at Tamasee.

Kate Duncan Smith DAR School had a constructive year. The accreditation debt has been reduced to approximately $7,500. It was necessary to borrow $35,000 for current expenses. This debt has been repaid. The accreditation of Kate Duncan Smith School continues to be a great asset to the school and the community. There are 56 students in the high school graduating class this year, the largest graduating class in the history of the school. More than half the members of this class plan to seek higher education. The enrollment at Kate Duncan Smith is 773 students. In June 1967 Mr. John P. Tyson returned to the school as executive secretary. Both the national society and the school are fortunate to have the services of this dedicated administrator.

The outstanding improvements at Kate Duncan Smith DAR School were the purchase of a teacher's cottage by Philadelphia Chapter; repair to the Dick Health House, Maryland; a teacher's cottage by the Lang Estate and a "Walsh Walkway," Iowa; recreation center and lights for science room, Georgia; renovation of Nell Fallow House, Alabama; renovation of Minor Cottage, Connecticut; tools for the Mechanical Art Building, bookcases, a projector, carpports, storage room for Cuff Cottage, milk cooler for Pouch Dining Hall, redecorating of Mitchell Auditorium, and the purchase of two lots, all by New York; improvement of Ball teacherage, Indiana; enlargement of home economics department, California; improvements to Heaume-Patton Houses, Ohio; educational television, Nebraska; reading project, enlarged rummage room and stairway, Michigan.

The ten best reports from the standpoint of contributions on per capita basis came from New York, South Carolina, District of Columbia, North Carolina, Michigan, Georgia, Ohio, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Pennsylvania.

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS

The far-reaching work of the Genealogical Records Committee is two-fold.

First, we collect unpublished genealogical records, type them, and assemble them into books. These records are obtained from county courthouses, church registers, cemeteries, family Bibles, etc., and the books are available to those who use the DAR Library for family research. Collection of the records is carried on in all states. During the past year, a total of 55,485 pages of source records (the greatest number since 1950) were received in our office and are now in use in our DAR Library. The individuals and the chapters that compiled these records usually made one or more copies, which were distributed to state and local libraries, historical societies, and genealogical libraries. Approximately 177,000 duplicate pages were placed in libraries throughout the United States. It is recognized that this phase of DAR work, which has been carried on for the past 35 years, is of great assistance and importance to the ever increasing number of persons who are interested in family research.

Secondly, the committee assists those interested in family history through an ancestor file which is kept in our office. If a person knows the ancestor from whom he is descended but does not know the exact line of descent or the places in which the generations lived, the lineages we have in volume form are often of great help. This service that we offer is known as the "Grandparent Form Project," as it shows the descent of a DAR member from the Revolutionary ancestor down to her grandparent. Our files are not 100 percent complete, but we have 200,700 forms available for reference.

An additional service is given by the genealogical department in DAR Magazine. The column contains unpublished source records, selected to be of most help to our readers, and a "Queries" section.

From time to time we receive duplicate genealogical material which is already on the DAR Library shelves. We share this material with libraries who are trying to build up their genealogical sections. Recipients during the past year were the Iowa State Department of History and Archives at Des Moines and the Florida State Library at Tallahassee.

The goals of the Genealogical Records Committee are to collect source records not found in published books and to assist inquirers by the use of the "Grandparent Forms." We welcome any of the interested public as well as prospective members.

HONOR ROLL

The Honor Roll Committee encourages chapters to carry out specific activities to fulfill the objects of the National Society. The report of the Honor Roll Committee reflects these varied activities.

Of the 2,889 chapters, 2,575 returned questionnaires, and 63 percent of these won merit awards.

States with more than 80 percent of their chapters gaining recognition were Hawaii, Virginia, Illinois, and New Mexico. In the 70 percent range were California, District of Columbia, Arkansas, Maryland, Indiana, and Missouri.

A total of 114 chapters from 29 states have received awards for 15 consecutive years. Five chapters have a 15-year Gold Honor Roll record, two each from Indiana and Texas and one from Georgia.

JUNIOR AMERICAN CITIZENS

"Justice—Americanism—Character," the motto of the Junior American Citizens, was submitted by the Abraham Lincoln Club, a 7th grade group from Kingston, New York, in a competition in 1943. That motto was selected as best exemplifying the principle of this committee, which has remained constant since its inception as a state committee in 1901 and as a national committee in 1906. The committee, working through JAC clubs sponsored by DAR chapters, teaches boys and girls loyalty to and respect for the United States of America. Children of all races and creeds, from kindergarten through high school age, are welcome. An adult, not necessarily a DAR member, serves as director, but the meetings and activities of the clubs are conducted by the children. Membership is free. National JAC handbooks, creed leaflets, and member pins are supplied by the National Society. Expenses for field trips for parties to celebrate special occasions or of materials needed for projects undertaken by the club members are met by the sponsoring chapters. JAC members incur no mandatory expense.

Each year the national committee conducts a contest in seven categories based on a predetermined theme. This year, 1,050 entries from 32 states and the District of Columbia on the theme "Progressive Heroes Build a Great Nation" were sent by state chairmen to the national vice chairman of contests. These entries were in the forms of essays, poems, songs, plays, programs, posters, and club projects in five grade divisions. They constituted the work of approximately 5,000 children, as plays, programs, and club projects usually represent the combined efforts of group members. The contest participation alone can be conservatively estimated at 100,000 children at the club level. Cash prizes and certificates made possible by contributions from chapters and states are awarded to the national winners, and their entries are displayed at the DAR Continental Congress in Washington each April.

Not all states having JAC clubs participate in the contest. During the past year 38 states and the District of Columbia promoted the program. The majority of the clubs are organized in public, private, and parochial schools. However, they also are prevalent in settlement houses, church groups, Scout troops, and in many other organized and unorganized groups of children. Five chapters reported clubs in detention homes. In one large city juvenile authorities have publicly lauded the JAC program. They said that, for the first time, many children are learning that working with and for others can be interesting, challenging, and fun. The esteem of school officials for the program is illustrated by a bulletin issued by the principal of an elementary school. It read:

The DAR will gladly sponsor any teacher interested in organizing a Junior American Citizens Club. Their material is wonderful and free to you. If you are interested, Mrs. M., will answer questions. The prayer and creed are posted on the bulletin board. The purpose is to teach loyalty and respect for the United States. From reading newspaper reports it appears that these ideals have been neglected in the education of many of our young Americans.

An example of the long-range effect of JAC is shown in a state chairman's report:

One rewarding experience I had this past month was seeing a proud ROTC cadet return as a counselor to help with younger children in the JAC Club at a Settlement House. In his uniform he demonstrated posting of colors; he had asked to do this. Last year he received the JAC Thatcher Award and Citation bearing the President General's signature. He lives in a community where there are many juvenile offenders and racial problems. Younger members of his family belong to the JAC Club in which he participated for five years.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, through the JAC program, are trying to guide the Junior American Citizens of today to be responsible senior American citizens of tomorrow.

JUNIOR MEMBERSHIP

The Junior Membership Committee, encompassing all DAR members between the ages of 18 and 35, reports an excellent year. The objectives set for the year were to obtain a greater number of new Juniors; to increase the activities of the Juniors; to increase contributions to the Helen Pouch Memorial Scholarship Fund; and to obtain full participation in the Outstanding Junior Member Contest.

New Juniors admitted to the National Society totaled 2,559, an increase of 82 over last year's total. Twenty-nine percent of the new members accepted were Juniors. Illinois once again led with 173 new Juniors, followed by New York with 163, Texas with 132, Virginia with 119, and Mississippi with 118.

Increased activity among Juniors in the states is reflected in the fact that there were 16 state officers, 60 state chairmen, 43 state vice chairmen, 52 chapter regents, 491 chapter officers, and 1,058 chapter committee chairmen—all an increase over last year's totals. National committee work, ranked by Junior participation, was as follows: DAR Good Citizens, DAR Schools, C.A.R., National Defense, American Indians, American Heritage, and Public Relations.

The only national fund-raising project of the committee is the Helen Pouch Memorial Scholarship Fund. Last year another new high of $16,447.40 was contributed through the patronage of Junior bazaars and the purchase of patriotic jewelry and stationery. Florida led with contributions totaling $1,952.88, followed by Illinois with $1,680.76, Pennsylvania with $1,570.19, Texas with $1,083.81, and Ohio with $871.77. The Junior Bazaar of 1967 netted the committee $1,650, the greatest amount earned to date.

The Juniors were privileged to have a part in the furnishing of the new Adèle Erb Sullivan Administration Building at Tamassee by contributing the flag and flagpole and the portrait of the president general.

The Outstanding Junior Member Contest, now in its sixth year, honors a Junior member for her contributions to DAR, C.A.R. senior leadership, and her community. Thirty-six states participated this year, and the winners were honored at the Junior dinner on April 15, 1968, when seven divisional winners were announced. The three national judges for the contest were Mr. Hugh O'Brien, actor; Mr. Fulton Lewis, III, lecturer and news commentator; and Mrs. Martha Rountree, TV producer.

A newly published fact sheet, free to the membership, has been made available to explain the purposes and aims of the contest. Also, there is a free fact sheet on the Helen Pouch Memorial Scholarship Fund that describes its origin and the aid it provides to the two DAR Schools.

LINEAGE RESEARCH

The past year proved to be almost twice as busy as the previous one. This increased activity was due largely to the aroused interest and appeal created by our president general with her interviews on television and her trip to Vietnam.

Requests for assistance in proving eligibility for membership have poured in from every part of the country. Fortunately the backlog of former years had been cleared during the first year of this administration, and with greater assistance from state and chapter chairmen we have been able to cope with this problem; a significant increase in membership has been the result.

Because of the publication of the excellent DAR Patriot Index, workshops and seminars given in the states, and the sale and use of the lineage research kits, more potential members have become interested in working on their own lines assisted by chapter lineage research chairmen. Several state chairmen scheduled regular hours each week at large libraries for the purpose of assisting potential members.

The state chairmen have made many excellent suggestions for increasing the usefulness of this committee. All have expressed their belief that this is a most important committee, and they have indicated their wish to cooperate in every way.

MEMBERSHIP

Reports received by this chairman prove the value of workshops, seminars, and clinics, which produced rich rewards during the year. My sincere thanks and appreciation to the many dedicated Daughters who responded to the membership growth plan and worked at the grass roots, giving individual instruction to prospective members.

We have had a consistent increase in membership in this administration, with 25,191 new members admitted in the 3-year period. It is interesting that 8,274 of the new members were Juniors, under 35 years of age. Several states had "Emphasis on Youth," where Juniors spoke on their projects and plans at a state conference luncheon.

My report, covering the period from February 1, 1967, to February 1, 1968, shows a membership of 186,926, indicating a net gain of 2,514 for that period. Thirty-eight states had net gains, and only 13 states had losses. Three states suffered a loss of only one, and six states sustained a loss of under eight.

The "top ten" states in net gain, securing new members, were Texas with 336, Tennessee 274, California 205, Florida 186, Mississippi 180, Virginia 145, Maryland 125, Missouri 104, Illinois 98 and Arkansas and Georgia with 92. The "top chapter" in each state receives the National Membership Award.

The south-central division, under Mrs. Carlton E. Melton, Jr., national vice chairman, was the only division in which each state had an increase. Tremendous improvement, however, was noted in the work of the other divisions.

The only fair way to award a prize is on the basis of net percent gain, where the large and small states have equal opportunity. Alaska, in the western division, was the top state winner with a net gain of 11 (10.3 percent) and won the president general's award of a $100 bond. Each of the following winners in the other six divisions received an award of $10: New York (northern division), 0.69 percent; Maryland (eastern division), 4.9 percent; Tennessee (southeastern division), 5.8 percent; Kentucky (east-central division), 1.5 percent; Wisconsin (north-central division), 3.02 percent; Arkansas (south-central division), 5.4 percent.

In the past year your chairman compiled the "Twenty-Four Points to Increase Membership" and "Twenty Ideas to Aid and Stimulate Our DAR Program in Your Leisure Hours at Very Little Cost." Our "Membership Growth Plan, DAR Style," which applied the magic keys of investigate, invite, inform, instruct, inspire, include, and involve, was used to great advantage.

MOTION PICTURE

This committee consists of a national chairman, seven regional vice chairmen, an editorial vice chairman, and a vice chairman of previewers.

The editorial vice chairman summarizes the reports of the previewers, and the vice chairman of previewers assigns weekly work for the previewers. The work of these officers provides an informed viewpoint to be presented at the meeting of the Film Estimate Committee, whose monthly organ is "Film Reports," formerly called the "Green Sheet."

The work of the Motion Picture Committee is divided into two parts—one in New York City and the other throughout the United States. The former deals with the previewing of motion pictures done by the previewers (a fluctuating number around 25) who give at least half a day a week to the work. Their opinions are sent to the editorial vice chairman, who writes a résumé and also sees some of the pictures herself. The national chairman consults with her on the audience rating and attends the film board meeting, which takes up most of the Mondays of each month. The meeting is attended also by the editorial vice chairman.

In addition to the usual work of encouraging good pictures locally, helping in visual education in schools, and performing various types of community work dealing with the movies, the committee sponsored last year an essay contest for the Daughters to offer suggestions that would be helpful to the New York chairmen and previewers in the discharge of their duties.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Since the activities of the National Defense Committee have been an extension of those of preceding years and of former chairmen, it seems appropriate to briefly outline the objectives of this committee during the more than forty years of its existence.

It was established by DAR members who were alert to the serious threats to our American form of government following World War I and the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. Its purpose was, and is, to inform our members, and arouse them to action in opposing the dangers to our Nation from within as well as without. Even at that time the threat within was caused by the growing number of organized socialists, communists, so-called peace groups, anarchists, atheists, organizations opposed to preparedness and adequate military training, and student and youth groups of questionable background and purpose. A national DAR officer serving the Society at that time wrote of the National Defense Committee:

It is not concerned with only an adequate military defense of our Country. It deals with the defense of our ideals, the ideals of our forefathers. They are a belief in a Supreme Being, in the American home, in property rights, self-government, and in unqualified support of the Constitution of the United States of America.

Our first national chairman stated, "By its own constitution, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics declares its aim is the destruction of all capitalist governments. Moscow refuses to live by the law of any nation, it is a law unto itself." The National Defense Bulletin of 1930, published by her, contains detailed information on communist, socialist, and other subversive group activities within the United States.

Through the years, under dedicated leadership, a positive DAR program of support for American traditions has been carried on. The increasing activities and plans of destructive forces have been followed and reported. It can be said of the National Defense Committee that it has repeatedly called attention to impending dangers to the continued maintenance of our free government.

A total of 4,505 DAR Good Citizenship Medals have been sold to chapters.

The ROTC Medal project was established by the national board of management in February 1967 and assigned to the National Defense Committee. After extensive consultation, a distinctive DAR ROTC Medal was designed and is now available. The bronze medal is for outstanding cadets in the junior ROTC program. The gold medal is for college and university cadets. A descriptive leaflet which outlines the criteria and rules of presentation has been published.

National Defense material was mailed out September through May to all national defense state chairmen, regents, and national officers. We have 1,200 paid subscribers to our monthly mailing.

Annual reports have been received from 48 state chairmen of National Defense. It is usually for chapters to allot 10 minutes at each meeting for the report of the National Defense Committee chairmen.

Each issue of DAR Magazine has included an article pertaining to National Defense topics.

PROGRAM

During the year 544 reservations were made for slide programs and 4,329 requests were received for manuscripts from the files of the program office.

Seven cash awards were made for outstanding new slide programs. First place winners were the New Hampshire DAR and the Wausau Chapter, Wisconsin. Second place winners were Morrison Chapter in Illinois, Job Winslow Chapter in Michigan, Cayuga Chapter in New York, Bethlehem Chapter in Pennsylvania, and Spirit of '76 Chapter in Louisiana. Cayuga Chapter has won an award every year of this administration.

The following new slide programs were received: Work of Early New Hampshire Furniture and Clock Makers; Wonderful Wood—Our Useful Heritage; Jamestown, Williamsburg, Carter's Grove, Virginia; Eighteenth Century Federal Style Houses of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and Salem, Massachusetts; Wild Flowers of the Midwest; Wild Flowers of North America; Teton Wilderness Area; Butler County, Pennsylvania; Upper Loudoun County, Virginia; Chester County, Pennsylvania; New Orleans and Vicinity; Coopers-town, New York; The Indian Wars in the Ohio Maumee Valley, 1790-1795; a Flag Day program; a western trip showing the Illinois home of Lincoln, the Truman home in Missouri, Eisenhower's boyhood home, the capitol at Topeka, Kansas, Garden of the Gods in Colorado, Santa Clara Indians, cliff dwellings, pit houses, Navajo reservation, Pueblo Indians, Place of the Governors, Mission of San Miguel, Painted Desert, Newspaper Rock, South Dakota Badlands, Mount Rushmore, Sioux Indians, and western scenes illustrating the first verse of "America the Beautiful."

Among the many new manuscripts turned over by the Program Reviewing Committee, the following deserve special mention: Heritage of American Language; American Quilts; Quilt Art; Indian Cookery; Fine Prints and Wood Sculpture; several papers on American Music; Colonial Diseases and Treatment; two talks given to DAR Good Citizens; The Revolutionary War, an abbreviated, comprehensive account of the settlement of this country, causes of the Revolution, and the War itself; Constitutional Politics; Law and Order; United States Coast Guard Activities; God and Man and Natural Resources; Conservation Education; Our National Capital Profile; Problems in Education; Christmas Traditions.

The theme of the National Society for the year, "Progress Is the Activity of Today and the Assurance of Tomorrow" (Emerson), was exemplified in all phases of the work of this committee. There was a marked increase in the number of chapter yearbooks. All reports mentioned the striking improvements in program content, general usefulness, and appearance, all of which were attributed to the detailed instructions that were provided. A number of new chapters had yearbooks in their first year, and some of these won blue ribbons. The consideration shown this committee by the president general in having the Honor Roll Questionnaire printed in DAR Magazine before the program suggestions and instructions were sent out greatly helped the chapters in program planning.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

During the past year new records were set in favorable publicity for the DAR. The progressive and forward-looking positions taken by our president general and supported by the membership have greatly improved the public image of our Society. The past year was one of great activity in DAR affairs.

Contributing heavily to the favorable attention the DAR received from the press was the president general's extensive travel throughout the country, during which she made many addresses before state DAR meetings, many of which were reported over local and national media. Community cooperation by the chapters in promoting DAR objectives was also responsible for much good publicity.

The public heard of DAR activities through the cooperation of 1,660 radio stations; the broadcasts totaling 3,042 hours, of which 841 are credited to North Carolina. The chapter record was set by Point Coupee Chapter of Louisiana with 203 hours.

The public saw the DAR in action through 380 television stations that gave 210 hours of time to reporting on the DAR. This does not include the David Susskind program and other TV appearances of the president general. Elizabeth Maxwell Steele Chapter of North Carolina led in TV time with 37 hours.

The public read about the DAR in 4,563 newspapers and other publications. Indiana led all states with 58,962 column inches of newspaper space. Colonel Hardy Murfree Chapter of Tennessee was high with 4,780 column inches.

Reported press lineage for the year totaled 1,166,924 column inches, an increase of 441,742 inches over the previous year.

Another factor in achieving these impressive results was the incentive created through the best feature story contest. Winners were Dewalt Mechlin Chapter, Chicago, Illinois; Captain Abraham Hite Chapter, Louisville, Kentucky; Eulalona Chapter, Klamath Falls, Oregon; and Ruth Hart Chapter, Meriden, Connecticut.

There were 24 entries in the press book contest. Awards went to Texas, North Carolina, and Ohio. Second-place winners were Virginia, Louisiana, and West Virginia.

STUDENT LOAN AND SCHOLARSHIP

The NSDAR American History Scholarship Award, the annual four-year $8,000 scholarship, inspired the interest of high school seniors, and there was an increase in the number of applications submitted this past year.

A review of the applications of state winners showed that these boys and girls have excellent scholastic records, and have overcome many physical and financial handicaps while placing high in large graduating classes. Winners were presented by 43 states, and each was given a certificate of merit. All applications were judged by states, and the state winners are being recognized with honors and given monetary awards.

Sincere appreciation is extended to our three national judges, who served for this second year: Mr. Raymond Fogler of New York, Dr. Robert Morris of Texas, and Dr. Richard S. Brownlee of Missouri.

The winner of the first NSDAR American History Scholarship, Joan Ellen Reynolds of California, writes that she is enjoying her work at UCLA. Her grade reports are excellent.

The states reported active work by the Student Loan and Scholarship Committee, with continued interest in furthering educational aid to our American youth.

THE FLAG OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

This committee has continued its efforts to protect the Flag from misuse and disrespect. A total of 893 such instances were tactfully corrected. To promote honor for the symbol of our nation, 1,133 programs on the Flag were given by chapters throughout the United States.

The distinguished National and Schools Awards Jury of Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge gave an honor certificate to one state DAR organization for a 1967 radio program titled "History of The Flag."

To further honor the Flag, the National Society presented a new Flag march, in sheet music form, titled "Look with Pride on Our Flag," by Hank Fort. Copies of this spirited new song were given to chorale groups in high schools and colleges, to Scout groups, to societies of the Children of the American Revolution, to DAR-sponsored Junior American Citizen clubs, and other groups.

The distribution of over 40,000 Flag Codes (Public Law #829) necessitated reprints in September 1967. For these a new front and back cover were planned. On the front is a beautiful full-color cut of the Flag; on the back is a list of places where the Flag flies day and night by authority derived by law, by Presidential proclamation, or by interpretation of the Flag Code, or by custom. This list was compiled in consultation with the Architect of the U.S. Capitol, the Department of Defense, and the Division of Heraldry.

TRANSPORTATION

The work of the Transportation Committee is concerned with transportation and traffic safety.

Transportation includes getting the members to chapter, district, state and national meetings. This has accounted for better attendance and for increased interest. The committee is interested in seeing that our older members have a way to attend the meetings and also to see that our younger members, who may not have access to a car on meeting days, also are included.

The Transportation Committee should be utilized and involved in the work of almost every other committee.

Pilgrimages and tours seem to have hit an all-time high. More than 700 pilgrimages were reported within the states. Some have been to historic monuments, to interesting and old homes, to parks, and to national shrines. Twenty-five different bus tours were reported.

Our members continued to have intense interest in traffic safety. This year an especially interesting and successful Traffic Safety Contest was conducted. The response was gratifying. Women must take an active role in traffic safety, and the reports show they are doing so. A total of 1,500 programs on traffic safety or allied fields were reported. Members reported working with school safety patrolmen, sponsoring safe-driving programs for high school students, and visiting traffic courts.

REPORTS OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEES

AUDITING

The Auditing Committee met Thursday, April 11, and Friday, April 12, 1968, in the office of the treasurer general to compare and study the reports of the treasurer general, Mrs. Henry Stewart Jones, and of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, independent public accountants.

After careful examination, the reports were found to be in accord.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

In the past year many necessary improvements were made.

The first floor and basement corridors in the Administration Building were painted.

A new modern switchboard replaced the obsolete one, modernizing and speeding the telephone system by permitting direct interoffice calls.

The Americana Room air conditioner was replaced with a dehumidifying system suitable for the needs of that room.

The second floor sun deck over the Museum was replaced.

Two new concrete ramps were installed, one at the entrance to the O'Byrne Room, the other at the mail room entrance.

In Memorial Continental Hall, the west hall of the Library was repainted; and the north and south powder rooms on the second floor were painted and papered.

The room opposite the "new" Wisconsin Room was refitted and painted for the patriot index files and work.

Three air conditioners were installed: one in the public relations office, one in the lineage research office, and one in the C.A.R. office.

The Banquet Room closet for our fine linens was refinished and painted.

Two new water coolers were installed in Constitution Hall for use during Continental Congress; later, these will be used where needed on the first and third floors of the Administration Building.

All-bronze doors were refitted and new door closers were installed in Constitution Hall.

National Symphony library storage rooms numbers two and three in Constitution Hall were painted, as well as the executive kitchen.

Vandalism in the form of obscene words cut into the marble pillars at the 17th Street entrance of Memorial Continental Hall were ground out so the pillars could be properly restored.

Rentals for Constitution Hall increased from 235 in number to a new high of 288.

New shrubs were planted on 18th, C, and D Streets.

All floors were cleaned by our own staff, thus effecting considerable saving.

INSIGNIA

As many of the states do not have chairmen of the Insignia Committee, material and requests for reports were sent to all state regents. Reports or responses were received from 26 states. Exceptional reports came from Kansas, Maryland, Ohio, the District of Columbia, New Mexico, Louisiana, and Washington.

In addition to special presentations on the insignia at regional meetings, many chapter programs were reported, and the importance of obtaining and wearing the insignia by new members was emphasized. Reported purchases included more than 1,000 pieces of insignia, as well as stationery, medals and markers of various kinds, and many Diamond Jubilee plates. Good use was made of these and other attractive articles marked with the DAR insignia as awards, prizes, and special gifts. A large number of 25-year and 50-year membership pins were purchased. There seems to be an increasing interest in the knowledge and use of the DAR insignia of all kinds, and of pride in membership in our great patriotic society.

Difficulties and problems in connection with obtaining desired items from our official jeweler continue to cause inconvenience, annoyance, and disappointment. It is a matter of deep concern to us that matters have not improved. The urgent need for changes in policies and procedures on the part of our jeweler is apparent, and we are trying our best to make it clear to the company that there must be much improvement.

PERSONNEL

This is a committee which cannot plan too far in the future. Changing conditions and competitive salaries in our area often retard securing proper help when needed. We have many dedicated workers. They cooperate and assist their national officers and members alike, but rising costs continue to be our big problem.

It is helpful that we have a business manager who handles personnel problems during the intervals between the Executive Committee meetings.

Many of our workers are members of the Society, and we are sure they do their utmost to keep abreast of the immense amount of mail reaching them.

BETTY NEWKIRK SEIMES
(Mrs. Erwin F. Seimes)

PRINTING

If the printed and processed material issued during any fiscal year were listed and summarized, members would be surprised at the number and variety of publications represented and the quantity involved. Moreover, year after year important additions are made to the list of available items, many of which are valuable tools for handling DAR objectives.

It is not too much to hope that each chapter regent will have at hand for ready reference and guidance a library of DAR publications. These should include copies of the Act of Incorporation and the By-laws of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution; the DAR Handbook, the DAR Manual for Citizenship (to which might be added the tape recording, Citizen-USA, which is handy for presentation at grade, high, and Americanization schools), the DAR School Handbook that answers many questions about the DAR school program; the Book of Meditations, "Let Your Heart Sing"; What the Daughters Do; Is That Lineage Right?; and other material. Many chapters give a copy of In Washington—the DAR to each new member.

The first edition of the DAR Patriot Index, comprising 2,500 copies, is already exhausted. Perhaps, in future, each chapter library will include a copy of this volume, which was compiled through the devoted work of a 7-member committee headed by Mrs. Frank L. Harris.

Quite a number of printed items were issued during the year. One of these was the beautiful Engagement Calendar, which proved such a boon for Christmas giving. There was also a booklet of devotionals supplied by chapter chaplains in accordance with the chaplain general's request. An unusual addition was the new march song, "Look with Pride on Our Flag," already used at several state conferences. To these should be added a pamphlet on Constitution Hall, reviewing its history, describing its decor, stating the services supplied, and explaining its advantages as a meeting place and concert hall.

The correspondence and other business of the National Society consume vast quantities of letterheads, envelopes, questionnaires, order blanks, etc. For many years these have been provided promptly and carefully by Charles Hughes.

At the beginning of this administration, the president general voiced the hope that the annual letters of the Executive Committee and of the national chairmen, giving instructions for the coming year, and frequently the questionnaires on the year's work, would be made available to the chapter regents earlier than had been the custom. It is a pleasure to report that each year since 1965 the distribution date for this mailing has been advanced; by 1967, at least two months had been gained. Some chairmen send out their questionnaires in December.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Seventy-Seventh Continental Congress

National Society
Daughters of the American Revolution

April 15-19, 1968

REDEDICATION

Whereas our forefathers by their inspired wisdom declared their freedom as an independent nation and gave expression to certain unalienable rights with which all men are endowed by their Creator; and
Whereas they designed the Constitution of the United States which has been, and is, revered as the greatest charter of liberties ever written; and
Whereas under this Constitution our American way of life has advanced beyond the most exalted hopes of its founders; and
Whereas the substance of our American heritage of freedom under God is being destroyed by those who would surrender our sovereignty, dissipate human and material resources and enslave us under alien standards and edicts;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution dedicate itself anew to strengthening the fundamental principles expressed in the Constitution of the United States, and to rekindling in the hearts and minds of its people a firm determination to preserve the priceless Spiritual heritage of freedom bequeathed us by our Founding Fathers.

CONTROL OF THE OCEAN FLOOR

Whereas the United States of America has properly invested incalculable sums in oceanographic research to determine the geological, chemical and biological resources in ocean space—as vital to our own future existence; and

Whereas the United States of America also has explored and is studying the ocean floor as important to underwater communications and to national defense; and

Whereas in the past year proposals have been advanced to transfer and to give control over the ocean floor and its resources to the United Nations;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express their agreement with the combined statements of respected civic and scientific groups as printed in the Senate Hearings under date of November 29, 1967, that any proposition to transfer control of the seabed and ocean floor and revenue from it to the United Nations would be monumental folly, premature and ill-advised as would a United Nations seaguard be impractical and undesirable.

BIASED NEWS REPORTS

Whereas the great American tradition of freedom of the press has carried with it a proud distinction of integrity; and

Whereas there is an apparent tendency to color or shade the facts in reporting current events, and, by selective process, to distort the news;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express concern for the preservation of honest, unbiased news reporting.

NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY

Whereas the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution for years has warned that reckless and irresponsible federal spending was a grave threat to national solvency; and

Whereas national solvency and national sovereignty are essential to the maintenance of liberty in this Republic; and

Whereas the people of the United States of America now stagger under a burden of confiscatory taxation to meet the insatiable demands of astronomical federal budgets that include domestic and foreign aid programs which have been largely responsible for bringing the Nation to financial crisis; and

Whereas paper gold is said to have been designed to establish a new world monetary system and could be an important step toward establishment of a world order in which all nations would fall under the complete domination of one totalitarian world government;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support immediate and drastic curtailment of federal spending at home and abroad; and

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution pledge dedication to the cause of preserving this free Republic, but oppose any increases in federal taxes unless and until drastic reductions in federal spending have been accomplished.

PRESSURE TO REWRITE STATE CONSTITUTIONS

Whereas our system of separate and individual State Constitutions is one of the greatest defenses against the final triumph of socialism; and

Whereas the National Municipal League in its attempt to hasten and to promote similar revision of all State Constitutions has published a "Model Constitution" designed to increase the power of the executive, substitute appointed for elected officials and establish the institution of regional government.

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution alert citizens who would maintain our established form of government to guard it jealously against intrusions of the "Model Constitution" with its lessening of the historic rights and powers of the sovereign people at the local level.

UNITED NATIONS

Whereas the United States of America is the only nation in the world where treaties become the supreme law of the land; and

Whereas the United Nations Charter is a treaty under which many other treaties have been negotiated such as SEATO and NATO, and these international alliances deprive the United States of the freedom to act in its own interest; and

Whereas a responsible national leader, referring to the United Nations and a host of related organizations, has stated, "In these and many other institutions and cooperative undertakings we begin to see the bones of the structure of a NEW WORLD ORDER"; and

Whereas foreign policy officials have stated that we are now in Vietnam because of the United Nations and SEATO commitments, and these world-wide entanglements have cost countless American lives and contributed to the largest national debt in history; and

Whereas high government officials have advocated that we should make United States military bases available to the United Nations for both training and actual use in "peacekeeping" emergencies contributing to our complete disarmament and to the establishment of a United Nations Armed Force;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge their members as individual citizens to exercise their Constitutional right to inform congressional representatives and to urge them to declare the United Nations Charter and the United States Participation Act null and void.

URBAN RENEWAL—METRO—MODEL CITIES PROGRAM

Whereas the Model Cities Program has vastly expanded the Urban Renewal idea and many cities are now engaged in City Planning Programs, resulting in injustice to the displaced families of low and fixed incomes; and

Whereas private property in an Urban Renewal area—whether slum or otherwise—is condemned, then resold at below cost to private developers for projects pleasing to Federal planners; and

Whereas the Model Cities Program will use tax money to help transform our Union of States into a regionally-planned, monolithically-unified Nation, divided into areas which sprawl across boundary lines; and

Whereas greatly increased powers and authority have been delegated to the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, and his decisions are final in many instances;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution oppose federal financing of Urban Renewal and the Model Cities Programs as an unnecessary increase in federal spending, with its accompanying centralization of federal power over our cities and its violations of private property rights.

BUREAU OF CENSUS INVASION OF PRIVACY

Whereas the census of the United States every 10 years from 1790 has been authorized by Congress to determine the number of members of the House of Representatives from each state, and to determine how many American citizens and aliens are residents of the United States; and

Whereas there is a unfortunate tendency to utilize census takers as poll takers, and to ask long lists of personal questions not connected with establishing populations of states and other political subdivisions; and

Whereas in 1970 the Census Bureau is preparing to collect much extraneous data with some 120 personal questions such as how are you fixed for plumbing; what door of your house do you usually enter; do you share your bath with anyone; how much do you earn; what rent do you pay; which questions must be answered under penalty of a $100.00 fine or 60 days in jail; and

Whereas legislation has been introduced in Congress which would limit mandatory questions to those necessary for our constitutional requirements for congressional districting, answers to all other questions to be voluntary ;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support an accurate simplified census in 1970 limiting the mandatory questions to cover only : Address, names of all residents in household, relationship to head of family, sex, date and place of birth, race, marital status, and visitors in home at time of census ; placing all other questions on a voluntary basis, and eliminating a penalty for failure to answer the voluntary questions, thus obtaining all essential information necessary for Federal, state and local governments, and at the same time protecting the rights of individual privacy as guaranteed in the Constitution of the United States of America.

SWITCHING HISTORIC HOLIDAYS

Whereas serious proposals are being made to switch arbitrarily the established celebration of our national historic events to any Monday thus making a long weekend and at the same time confusing the meaning and original purpose of these national holidays ; and

Whereas such arbitrary selection resembles the compulsory controls over leisure time and recreation imposed by authoritarian governments ; and

Whereas such three-day holidays would apply to only a proportion of our population while at the same time forcing a large percentage in the service industries to work during these three-day periods ; and

Whereas such proposed Saturday-Sunday-Monday holidays would result in less attendance at religious services ;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution decry these unwarranted attempts to confuse the meaning and to diminish the importance of our traditional national holidays and denounce all efforts at compulsory regulations of leisure time in the United States of America as indicative of authoritarian, socialist and atheistic governments rather than the concern of a representative republic ;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution advise their members to watch for and expose the dangers of the promotion of legislation in their respective states establishing such three-day holidays.

INTERNAL SECURITY ACT OF 1968

Whereas citizens of the United States of America are becoming increasingly concerned about the internal security of their beloved country and about the need for balanced legislation to strengthen such internal security ; and

Whereas the Senate of the United States has before it an omnibus subversive control bill aimed at closing internal security gaps in some 100 categories ; and

Whereas the Internal Security Act of 1968, if enacted, would bar communists from our national defense facilities and from federally funded schools ; reactivate centralized Security Administration to investigate and to evaluate federal personnel security ; strengthen State Department authority to enforce travel restrictions and to deny passports to communists when intended for subversive use ; extend the statute of limitations regarding treason, espionage, sabotage, sedition and subversive activities ; redefine treason to mean any overt act to obstruct the flow of military manpower and supplies even in time of undeclared warfare ; provide effective riot control ; prevent executive retaliation against government employees who testify before Congressional Committees ; and deny the right to United States credentials to individuals refusing to take the Oath of Allegiance ;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express their appreciation to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and congratulate it on its percipient patriotism.

DISARMAMENT AND NONPROLIFERATION TREATY

Whereas the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency established in 1961 has won a two-year extension and a $20 million appropriation in the United States House of Representatives ; and

Whereas the Agency has negotiated a disarmament treaty with the USSR which represents a blanket denial for all future time of United States' right to proliferate defensively if it becomes necessary for national security and which treaty is defective in enforcement and can only deprive the United States of freedom of action; and

Whereas the USSR, which historically does not honor its treaties, continues to arm and is supplying our enemies with deadly weapons in the current war, while we remain constant or fall behind in modern weaponry;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge rereading the Study of "Soviet Political Treaties and Violations" as documented by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (1955); and

Resolved, That the proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty as negotiated by the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency be rejected as dangerous to the national security of the United States and the free world; and

Resolved, That the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency's requested appropriations to perpetuate itself for two years be denied in the interest of the national defense.

AID TO AND TRADE WITH THE ENEMY

Whereas American men and women, as well as South Vietnamese men, women and children are being killed and maimed by weapons supplied to the North Vietnamese by Soviet Russia, Communist China and other communist countries; and

Whereas the USSR has declared its support for what the communists designate as "Wars of Liberation" wherever in the world they may occur and is supplying not only North Vietnam but also North Korea, the Middle East and Cuba with economic and military assistance; and

Whereas the United States maintains an embargo on exports of American goods to Communist China, North Korea, the communist controlled areas of Vietnam and Cuba, but actively promotes exports of allegedly nonstrategic American goods to Soviet Russia and other communist countries; and

Whereas more than 400 items formerly designated as strategic have been removed from the United States security export list; and

Whereas a resolution, endorsed by 117 members, has been introduced in the House of Representatives to create a committee to investigate the effects of trade with communist countries;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge its members as individual citizens to exercise their constitutional right and support legislation to create a select Congressional Committee to make a thorough investigation of all aspects of East-West trade, especially of the impact of United States exports on the communist ability to support aggression in Vietnam and in so-called "liberation" fronts anywhere; and further to support legislation to stop all trade with the USSR and East European communist countries until such Congressional Committee has made an investigation and has reported its recommendations to the Congress.

LAWLESSNESS

Whereas the shocking increase in lawlessness and crime and defiance of all legal government have become the paramount concern of law-abiding citizens; and

Whereas in many parts of the United States of America a woman is no longer safe in her home, a child on the streets, a man conducting his business, a law enforcement officer in the performance of his duty, nor private property from wanton destruction; and

Whereas failure to deal forthrightly with those guilty of committing unlawful acts has led to further serious disorders and, unless a firm policy of law enforcement is followed, mob violence, insurrection and anarchy may well destroy our Nation;

Resolved, By the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution that federal, state, and local governments be urged to use every available means necessary to end violence and crime and to restore order and justice so that all citizens of the United States may again live secure in their lives and property and enjoy the domestic tranquillity of a law-abiding Nation.

SUPPORT OF OUR ARMED FORCES IN VIETNAM

Whereas the men of our Armed Forces in Vietnam, sent there to meet the commitment of the United States under the SEATO Treaty and under the United Nations Charter, are displaying matchless bravery under unique conditions; and

Whereas among other difficulties, our Armed Forces have been harassed by dis-sidence at home and hampered by our political acceptance of sanctuaries for the enemy;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express boundless admiration for the men and women serving our Country in Vietnam and call upon the Nation to fulfill its responsibility by giving adequate material and full moral support to our Armed Forces; and

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution protest the commitment of our Armed Forces anywhere in the world to perpetual war with a "no-win" policy.

CHALLENGE TO UNITED STATES SEA POWER

Whereas to keep open the vital sea lanes of the world, to maintain the security of our own world-wide interests and to prevent the spread of communism, have become, by force of circumstances, the responsibility of the United States of America; and

Whereas to meet these responsibilities, control of the sea must be kept by superior sea power, which consists of a fighting fleet, advanced bases in distant areas and a Merchant Marine capable of supplying the fleet and all bases; and

Whereas since 1951 the United States Merchant Marine has been steadily declining in number of ships, and has dropped from second to sixth place among the leading merchant fleets of the world while USSR has risen from eighth to third place; and

Whereas in 1966 merchant ships under the Flag of the United States of America carried only 7.3% of our own overseas commerce and it is necessary to depend on foreign ships to carry supplies to our forces in Vietnam; and

Whereas the Soviet Union is advancing rapidly in naval construction of all types of ships to the point of challenging the United States' supremacy of the sea in certain critical areas.

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support the Government in measures that will enable the United States to maintain an adequate Merchant Marine, continue development of nuclear combatant ships including aircraft carriers, escort vessels, submarines and destroyers, and continue further improvements in guided missile and nuclear submarine programs which will enable it to keep open the vital sea lanes of the world, ensure its own national security and counteract the fast development of Soviet sea power.

APPRECIATION TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Resolved, That appreciation be expressed by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution to the President of the United States of America for his message to the Seventy-seventh Continental Congress.

APPRECIATION TO THE PRESIDENT GENERAL

Resolved, That the 77th Continental Congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution hereby record our deep appreciation of the untiring efforts of Mrs. William Henry Sullivan, Jr. to advance the primary aims of our Society. Mrs. Sullivan's pioneer appearances on nation-wide television programs, her morale-building visit to Vietnam, as well as her fine quality of leadership, have ensured the continued progress of the Society during her administration.

APPRECIATION TO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Resolved, That the appreciation of the members of the Resolutions Committee be expressed to the President General for the privilege of serving under the gracious and efficient leadership of Mrs. Harry Cline Ogden, Chairman, Resolutions Committee.

COURTESY RESOLUTION

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express its sincere appreciation to the United States Service Bands, the artists and speakers who have generously contributed their time and talents to this Continental Congress; to the Police and Firemen for their attention to all matters pertaining to the protection and safety of the members of our Society; and to each individual who planned and executed the innumerable details which have made the 77th Continental Congress a success.

Resolved, That we, the National Society, Daughters of American Revolution express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the entire personnel of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution for their faithful and loyal service to the Society and for the special work rendered during the 77th Continental Congress.

REPORTS OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEES

AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH

February 1968 was officially designated as American History Month by the Act of Congress (Public Law 90-160) which states: "Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That February, 1968 is hereby designated as 'American History Month,' and the President of the United States is requested and authorized to issue a proclamation inviting the people of the United States to observe such month in schools and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies and activities." The President of the United States subsequently issued a proclamation declaring February 1968 as American History Month.

At the request of DAR state societies and chapters, American History Month proclamations also were issued by the governors of 41 states and by the mayors or city managers of 1,078 cities.

The chief project of the American History Month Committee was again the sponsorship of the annual American History Essay Contest for students in grades 5 through 8. This year's subject was "An American Inventor," and 66,052 contestants entered through 4,776 schools. The national winner of the contest in each of the four grades was awarded a $50 savings bond, and each of 28 division winners was awarded a solid gold American History Medal. There were 9,561 contest prizes awarded on the state and chapter levels.

The subject, "An American Inventor," taught the participants many worthwhile lessons. In telling the history of a great inventor, the student learned to admire the man who overcame the handicap of a humble start in life or other obstacles and finally, because of American freedom, achieved his goal and benefitted his fellow men. The true stories of American inventors teach the virtues of hard work, determination in the face of tremendous odds, and personal self-discipline, which are the requisites of success. These true stories show the importance of freedom in permitting men to invent things which benefit all.

The American History Month Committee sponsors many thousands of awards for excellence in American history in schools all over the United States. During this past year, we gave 5,684 American History Medals and 8,056 awards of merit. There were 948 school assemblies, 424 articles in school newspapers, and 2,190 class discussions on American history.

The spot announcements on American history published by this Committee continued their spectacular increase in popularity and use. This year these vignettes on American history were 40 seconds in length, and there was one for use on each day during February. The spot announcements were used on 8,492 radio stations and on 806 television stations. In addition, the announcements were used in 4,138 schools, either in the classroom or over the loud-speaker system.

One of the favorite projects of many chapters was the arrangement of an American history display in such places as store windows, libraries, schools, banks, post offices, museums, chambers of commerce, town halls, churches, and DAR chapter houses. There were 1,293 historical displays arranged by DAR chapters during February.

A very important method of bringing American History Month to the attention of the general public is publicity. During the past year, the DAR was responsible for 3,797 newspaper stories and editorials and 1,636 newspaper pictures, with a total of 36,825 column inches. The DAR American History Month message was carried on radio by 304 DAR members and on television by 157 DAR members. DAR-sponsored programs consumed 17,700 minutes of radio time and 1,446 minutes of television time.

American History Month is popular with students, teachers, parents, newspaper editors, managers of radio and television stations, and the general public. It helps all of us to increase our knowledge and appreciation of our American heritage.

AMERICANA COLLECTION AND NSDAR ARCHIVES

When I reported for duty in the Americana Room, in the second-story hyphen between Memorial Continental Hall and Constitution Hall, I realized how few Daughters (including myself) knew much about this charming and important place or could give even a partial summary of its contents.

Enough material is on display in locked, glass-front cases to pique the curiosity of the Revolutionary researcher, but this represents only a fraction of the items carefully stowed away. Prima donnas among the exhibits are several collections of autographs—Presidents of the United States; First Ladies; members of the Federal (Constitutional) Convention; and a unique set of signatures of the rulers of Europe at the time of our Revolution, as well as of prime ministers, French military officers, etc.

Attractively displayed in locked cases on the south and west walls are interesting, and frequently important, documents written by those we love to call our Founding Fathers because they actually did build the foundations of the new Republic. One such document is a rather long letter written by Thomas Jefferson, as President, to Gideon Granger of Connecticut, urging him to accept the post of postmaster general, acknowledging that there had been much sniping against the Constitution, and vowing to surround himself with a phalanx of capable men qualified to combat this criticism. Jefferson had a rather unique way of writing—he never used a capital letter to start a sentence.

A prized possession is a letter from George Mason in Virginia to Elbridge Gerry in Massachusetts, explaining, article by article, why he would not support a constitution without addition of a bill of rights that would safeguard the rights of the individual. This letter begins: "There is great contrariety of opinion here." This letter, for which the DAR was given credit, was used as the frontispiece of the book Ordeal of the Constitution, by Robert A. Rutland of UCLA, cataloger of the George Mason papers.

Washington signatures are appended to documents of varying subject matter. Several of these are certificates of membership in the Society of the Cincinnati. You may remember that many in the French "expeditionary force" were members of that society. Washington's favorite general, Henry Knox, first secretary of war under the Constitution, also was a signing official.

After some familiarity with the contents of the Americana Room had been obtained, the first real project attempted was enclosure of every flat document in a transparent acetate protector sheet to permit examination without danger of tearing or even crumbling away. Incidentally, sheepskin documents seem to have worn very well, because, although stiff, they have not deteriorated. Some of our documents have reached the ripe old age of 300 years and must be handled tenderly. These documents, stored in boxes, by states and topics, may now rest somewhat more peacefully than in the past, yet both the front and back of each may be examined without damaging it. Unfortunately, earlier inhabitants of the Americana Room attempted to mend torn documents with old-fashioned acetate tape, which has turned brown, cracked, and otherwise ruined or blocked out the writing it covers. If the torn pieces had only been laid carefully in order on the rough black paper that comes between the leaves of the acetate covering, the roughness would have kept them in place without ruining them with the tape.

The category that contains the largest number of items (these are packed in boxes, according to states) consists of "indentures" (we would call them "deeds"). The deeded, or, more frequently, sold objects, run the gamut from salt marsh lands to cow rights and ox fences, or maybe cemetery lots and church stalls.

There are also boxes of letters, wills, household accounts, bills for ship equipment (including rum), signed statements giving the war service of applicants for Revolutionary War pensions, some diaries, Quaker marriage intentions, and a large collection of Colonial money. It comes as a shock to find, in one New York diary of the 1800's, that the local school board had voted against reading of the Bible in the schools.

Now what would be the best practical use to which this collection of "Treasures and Triva" (to quote a Washington paper) could be put? After a few hundred deeds had been examined, it occurred to me that they offered one means of attaining the president general's objective of building up membership by proving new lines. The method was simplicity itself. It was to check each of these deeds, as well as all other documents in the Americana Room, and to index all the names contained therein—names of places, of course, arranged so as to get a picture of a neighborhood geographically, as well as names of buyers, sellers, witnesses, justices of the peace who attested to the appearance of witnesses, and town registrars who had listed properties on the town land records, etc. Moreover, on second inspection, many of these deeds also included the names of persons who owned land adjacent to that given on the deed. There may be persons tracing family lines who need proof that an ancestor was living at a certain place at a certain time, that he (or she) owned property, or that he was considered reliable enough to be accepted as a witness on a document as important as a deed.

In addition, if the persons who signed as justices of the peace or as registrars did so between 1765 and 1791, giving 10 years on either side of the Revolutionary dates, these men could be considered "officials" and their descendants' applications for membership validated thereby.

Variations in spelling for both signatures and text frequently are amusing as well as puzzling. Often it takes quite a bit of sleuthing even to unscramble the names of persons and places when they are spelled three or four different ways on one document. Cross indexing is, therefore, virtually a "must."

In general, middle names were not in common use until after the Revolution. Many men and women signed with marks, sometimes indicated by a blob of sealing wax. The favorite given names for the Colonial period: Johnathan for the men; Abigail for the women. Incidentally, why did they name women, but never men, Experience?

The Index of Names, expected to be most useful to DAR members, will be completed first. It will be followed by indexes of accessions, donors, states and counties, chapters, and subjects.

If you would like to see something rare indeed, which may have been the "New Math" of its day, come to the Americana Room and see the Cyphering Book presented by Keystone Chapter in Washington, D.C., and prepared, with meticulous care, for Phillip Witten by his schoolmaster, John Weepe.

The Historians Committee of the District of Columbia DAR has presented the Americana Room with a filing cabinet to match other furniture in the room and honoring the retiring state regent, Miss Anna Mary McNutt.

CLEARING HOUSE

As our National Society grew, the work of the committees became more complicated. In 1948 the Clearing House Committee was established to clarify, simplify, and make more effective the work of the national committees by combining and rearranging.

In the last three years this committee has discussed with the national chairman the confusion that exists because the Good Citizen Committee gives one senior high school girl in each high school a pin, and the National Defense Committee gives a Good Citizenship Medal to a boy or a girl in any school, elementary, junior, or senior high schools, public, private, or parochial, who fulfills the qualities of honor, service, courage, leadership, and patriotism. No solution on this problem was worked out.

The reason for having the two committees "Genealogical Records" and "Lineage Research" was discussed.

The suggestion was made that the essay papers turned in on the subject listed by the American History Month Committee each year be numbered, and the names be kept by the room teachers until the papers were judged. This would avoid partiality in the judging.

Names of committees often confuse those asked to serve as local chairmen in chapters.

National chairmen may consult the Clearing House Committee to learn the scope of work so that the work of each committee is properly placed.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

Every year Constitution Week chairmanship becomes bigger and better. Chapters work tremendously hard to continue to tell the DAR story in their displays, programs, and publicity.

California stressed "Get a New Idea," and I found most other states had the same opinion. Each report brought in something new.

Massachusetts had unusual displays in libraries, and several ministers gave sermons on the Constitution and Constitution Week.

New Hampshire had patriotic music played over an amplifier for five days of the week.

Rhode Island dedicated a tablet honoring William Ellery, a signer of the Constitution.

Programs had such titles as "Is Good Citizenship Obsolete?" "Responsibility of Citizenship," "What Happened to the Signers of the Philadelphia Convention?" "How Well Do You Know Your Constitution?"

Did you hear Lawrence Welk proclaim Constitution Week the Saturday night before? This was the result of an Indiana member writing to him. I wrote later to thank him.

Displays in banks, libraries, department stores, post offices, and schools and on billboards totaled 5,975.

Chicago had red, white, and blue floral displays in churches and hospital lobbies. The SAR, American Legion Auxiliary, and C.A.R. members distributed leaflets and a printed story on the DAR and Constitution Week to 80 department stores. School children learned the Preamble. In Maine students had a test on 100 questions and answers on the Constitution. A Lake Charles, Louisiana, paper printed a full week of questions and answers on the Constitution.

Oklahoma chapters performed an outstanding service in promoting use of the recording "Speak Up for America" by Dr. Kenneth McFarland (the speech he gave at Continental Congress Banquet last year). The recording was sent out by 12 chapters to civic clubs, schools, American Legion Posts, garden clubs, women's church societies, and young peoples groups. The military academy at Claremore placed a copy in the public library.

South-central division had over twice the publicity of any other division—with 11,000 column inches of type matter and pictures. The division includes Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Flags were presented to court houses, libraries, schools, and new citizens.

States submitting outstanding reports were Massachusetts, New Jersey, North Carolina, Illinois, Texas, and California.

DAR MEMBERSHIP COMMISSION

After three years, we can attest to the value of a membership commission at national, state, and chapter levels. Where such a commission has been established, excellent results have been achieved.

State regents, chairmen, and chapter members have applied themselves with enthusiasm to break our national membership records. The DAR Patriot Index has helped many applicants. Our microfilm project has helped speed the work of our genealogical staff. Our Juniors, helped by the new short-form application blank, represent 30 percent of our new members and are taking increased responsibility in DAR work. There is a surge of interest in lineage research and of enthusiasm in the Society.

Efforts to raise the NSDAR membership during this administration have resulted in the greatest decline in resignations in twelve years and a net increase in membership of 4,911, bringing our national membership to 188,093, the highest ever.

DAR PATRIOT INDEX

In January 1966 the Executive Committee authorized a special committee for the publication of a patriot index. In only two years this committee compiled, edited, published, promoted, sold, and mailed such a publication. By February 1, 1968, all copies of the index had been sold, all bills had been paid, and there was a cash balance in the DAR Patriot Index account of the treasurer general.

The DAR Patriot Index has been helpful in assisting prospective members. It has been favorably received by members and nonmembers.

A reviewer says of the book, "Never before since it was founded has the DAR brought forth such a helpful instrument of practical patriotism."

A demand for the book continued even after the supply for sale was exhausted. Over 300 unfilled orders are on file. A plan urged by the committee has been approved, and a second printing of 2,000 copies has been ordered. The books will be ready in late summer. The price will continue to be $8.50.

The manuscript for the first supplement to the index has been typed. It will include new Revolutionary ancestors verified and accepted since June 1966. The editing of the manuscript of the supplement will complete the work of this committee.

Future sales of the DAR Patriot Index will be handled by the office of the corresponding secretary general.

The numbered copy of the DAR Patriot Index which was to have been presented to the late Mrs. Howard Arnest, vice chairman of this committee, has been presented in her memory to the DAR Americana Collection.

DAR SCHOOL SURVEY

The detailed report of this committee was submitted in January 1967 to the president general for consideration by the national board of management.

The principal recommendation of the committee was that the schools on the DAR list be Kate Duncan Smith, Tamasee, Crossnore, Berry Schools, Hillside, Hindman Settlement, and Northland College. The national board of management approved this recommendation and the 77th Continental Congress has adopted it. This brings the total number of approved schools on the DAR list to seven instead of the former nine.

We are pleased to report that Lincoln Memorial University, in Tennessee, and Blue Ridge School, in Virginia, have progressed through the years and are now well established. They no longer are in need of support from the National Society, as stipulated in the ruling of Continental Congress in 1937.

Kate Duncan Smith and Tamasee Schools have fulfilled our recommendation to obtain a public relations director.

It was recommended that the DAR organizations in states in which there is an accepted DAR School carefully investigate the teachings in such schools, try to improve public opinion, and be certain the schools are living up to the views of the National Society.

DAR SPEAKERS STAFF

Many members complied with the request of this chairman to send copies of their more effective speeches so that they could be shared with other DAR members and be available through the national Program Committee.

Reports to this chairman have indicated a marked increase in speaking engagements within the communities on the DAR story and current events of the DAR. The majority of the members have spoken to various civic groups, school organizations, and groups of new citizens. Judging by the publicity accompanying the reports, these staff members have been highly effective in promoting good public relations.

FRIENDS OF THE MUSEUM

The primary purpose of the Friends of the Museum Committee is to acquire funds for the purchase of desirable acquisitions to the DAR Museum.

There are several categories of subscriptions for members: regular, sustaining, participating, sponsor, life, and memorial tribute.

There was a change of chairmen in two states in the past year.

In June, the letter of instructions and suggestions to be included with the "packet" letters to state chairmen, together with the forms for listing names and addresses of subscribers to the Friends of the Museum were sent to the president general.

Letters of welcome and copies of the "packet" letter and forms were sent to the new state chairmen of the committee. Letters also were sent to the division national chairmen of this committee informing them of the new bylaw passed by the 76th Continental Congress regarding the change in registration fees for Continental Congress.

Due to many requests the chairman, after receiving permission from the president general to do so, requested the official jewelers of the National Society to submit a design for a pin for life members of the DAR Museum. The design and request for a pin were then sent to the Executive Committee for its approval. Acceptance of the pin and design were voted favorably at the February meeting of the national board. The new pin is now obtainable from the jeweler.

Forty-six states reported the work of the Friends of the Museum Committee. There were eight life contributors, and five memorial tributes were given. These were $100 each. A total of $4907.51. was subscribed during the year.

PROGRAM REVIEWING

During the past year the Program Reviewing Committee received 149 pieces of material from 72 chapters in 25 states. Subjects ranged through the entire scope of DAR work, with special stress on historical topics. American music programs were in general use, and several good papers on national heroes were received. The greatest number of papers were on the Constitution. Christmas programs were excellent.

A number of chapters presented manuscripts with historical and educational backgrounds making a valuable addition to the files of the Program Committee.

The members of the Program Reviewing Committee have been gratified to note the high type of programs being given in our chapters and the interest displayed in every phase of DAR work.

REVISION OF BYLAWS

The Committee on Revision of Bylaws received a proposal to amend Article XI, Section 14, to provide for an increase in the fee for copies of application papers.

Upon consideration of the proposal, it was deemed desirable to submit a plan for fixing this fee so that it would be more flexible than by insertion of the amount in the bylaws although retaining determination of the amount by "legislative" action.

As cost or expense of rendering the service is paramount in arriving at an appropriate fee, and this cost fluctuates, and as the national board of management is an elected representative body, a proposal was submitted on February 1 to the national board of management providing that the fee be fixed by the national board of management. This would make it possible to increase or reduce the fee as changing circumstances require or permit.

The national board of management approved the following:

ARTICLE XI

Section 14. Amend by deleting the sentence in Section 14 and substituting a new Section 14 to read:

The amount of fees to be charged for copies of application papers shall be determined by the National Board of Management.

At the February meeting of the board, a member brought to attention that manufacturers of the official DAR Banner found the description as given in Article XVI, Section 5, confusing as to the shade of blue to be used and that the ribbons for insignia and official sash should be the same; the board forthwith approved the following proposed amendments:

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Amend by deleting the words "colors of Washington's staff" and substituting the words:

color of the official sash ribbon for National officers.

Section 5. Amend by inserting after the words "DAR Banner" the words:

of the color of the official sash ribbon for National Officers;

so that the sentence will read:

No writing or printing shall be used above the insignia, except that on an official DAR Banner of the color of the official sash ribbon for National Officers the insignia may be placed in the center with designation of National Society, State Society, or Chapter by name, above, below, or around the insignia.

Due notice of the proposals was given by the recording secretary general.

National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution
Washington, D.C.

We have examined the financial statements of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution listed below:

Statement of current and special funds for the year ended February 29, 1968 (Pages 2 and 3)
Supporting statements of current and special fund cash receipts and disbursements and supporting schedules for the year ended February 29, 1968 (Pages 4 to 25)
Schedule of investments as of February 29, 1968 (Pages 26 and 27)
Statement of cash receipts and disbursements of the Trustees, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Pension Trust Fund for the year ended February 29, 1968 (Page 28)

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included confirmations from depositaries and custodians of cash and investments held at February 29, 1968, and such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements have been prepared generally on the cash receipts and disbursements basis and therefore do not purport to present the results of operations as they would appear had generally accepted accrual basis accounting principles been applied. Cash receipts and disbursements do not include dispositions and acquisitions of securities respectively except for gains or losses thereon. Cash receipts in the special funds include securities received by bequest during the year.

In our opinion, the aforementioned statements and supporting schedules present fairly the cash balances and investments at February 29, 1968 and the information set forth therein for the year then ended on the basis indicated which is consistent with that of the preceding year.

WASHINGTON, D.C., MARCH 29, 1968.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA BICENTENNIAL

In 1976 the United States of America will observe its 200th anniversary, and the National Society DAR has set up a national committee to direct an appropriate celebration by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Since our ancestors were here at the birth of our nation, it is fitting that the DAR should take the leadership in celebrating the Bicentennial.

Our National Steering Committee has had two worthwhile and productive meetings in Washington which have generated more than 100 ideas worthy of DAR effort during the next eight years. We are selecting those projects which will best promote the patriotic, educational, and historical objectives of the DAR. We are planning programs which will inspire American youth. We are planning projects which will help give our nation a new birth of patriotism. We hope for effective cooperation with federal, state, county, and city bicentennial commissions.

The National Steering Committee is "thinking big" in devising ways to expand and publicize DAR services to our country. We have ideas for dramatizing the DAR message on television, radio, and in the press; ideas for community participation and historic commemoration; and ideas which will be fun for all members—such as pageants and skits at state conferences and at Continental Congress.

Later in 1968 this committee will publish a preliminary booklet outlining plans and projects for the Bicentennial. We request every state society and chapter to appoint a special Bicentennial Committee chairman to collect good ideas and send them to the National Steering Committee. Meanwhile, for immediate programming, each chapter could do nothing better than to expand the activities of the American History Month Committee so that our youth may grow in the knowledge and appreciation of our great American heritage.

PART II

DAR OVERSEAS UNITS UNITS OVERSEAS

The heavy tread of war and politics has demolished and scattered many of the DAR overseas outposts, but a few continue.

The Walter Hines Chapter in England lost two valued members by death in the past year but it gained two new members. Its regular meetings continue, as do its annual George Washington Birthday luncheon that is attended by both English and Americans, a special luncheon and sherry party for the members, and the election of officers. A citizenship medal was presented to the American School at Lakenheath and a wreath was placed in the American Cemetery. Donations were made to Tamassee and for the Capt. John Smith Window at St. Sepulchre's Church.

In France the DAR had a lively and interesting year, with outstanding and world-famous speakers, a growing membership—now 85, consisting of 41 members descended from French ancestors who fought alongside the Americans in the War for Independence and 44 members from American ancestors. Many patriotic observances, both French and American, were featured, and American graves were not forgotten. There is a growing C.A.R. Society in France. It is named in honor of a regiment of Auvergne men, commanded by Rochambeau, who fought at the Battle of Yorktown.

The John Edwards Chapter of Mexico City continues to feature such American standbys as Boston baked beans and cherry pie on appropriate occasions. The members not only contribute to our national projects but also continue to provide food weekly for 65 little girls at an orphanage, plus giving them a Christmas party, with food, clothing, and gifts. They have well-deserved radio and newspaper coverage.

The Daughters in Puerto Rico, although few in number and widely scattered, manage to hold together with an occasional meeting, keeping as they say "a seed well watered," hoping for a healthy vigorous tree sometime in the future.

An annual luncheon attended by members of Overseas Units who live in or near Washington is held during Continental Congress week. A copy of the excellent publicity for DAR that appeared recently in the New York Times was sent to each overseas unit. The Mexico Daughters had copies made for the members there.

PART III

GRAVES OF SOLDIERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION LOCATED FROM MARCH 1, 1967, TO MARCH 1, 1968

The gathering of data on unmarked Revolutionary soldiers' graves commands special attention, as this is not a public service but constitutes a continuing task entrusted to the DAR long ago. It is done specifically for the U.S. Government, no federal bureau, department, or other agency having this responsibility. (Wars other than the American Revolution are covered through Government for this service.)

Locating and marking Revolutionary graves by DAR was started in 1897-98. During the first year 32 graves were reported; in the interim the number has run to 8,000 in one year. New ones recorded now usually average more than 200 per year. Location of graves is not confined, as might be supposed, to the east coast and the 13 Original Colony States. A number have been verified west of the Mississippi, even into Canada. The number of States represented yearly now ranges between 20 and 30.

Between March 1, 1967, and March 1, 1968, the DAR located 330 graves of soldiers of the American Revolution in 20 States and Canada. Data on those located graves are provided in the following tabulation.

REPORT OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY, CHILDREN OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

In April 1967 at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington, D.C., one of the highlights of the 72nd Annual Convention was the presentation to the National Society for the 8th consecutive year of the George Washington Honor Medal by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge. More members of the C.A.R. band than ever before brought instruments to perform at all business sessions and at the formal banquet. The 1967 National President's Award was presented to the Department of Agriculture in appreciation of 100 years of outstanding service to the youth of rural America. Mr. John Baker, assistant secretary of agriculture, accepted the award.

Much progress was made in the improvement and modernization of the display facilities in the museum at the national C.A.R. headquarters in Washington, D.C. This was the national project for the year, and contributions toward it came from all states in which C.A.R. is organized.

The National C.A.R. Magazine, which is issued quarterly, kept members informed on local, state, regional, and national levels. This official publication of the National Society contains articles by members and encourages their interest in historical and patriotic writing and research.

Patriotic Education Week, October 12-19, 1967, was based on the theme "Early American Patriots: Elements of Greatness." The week was publicized throughout the country by press, radio, and TV coverage and by displays in schools, stores, and libraries. Most state and local societies procured governors' and mayors' proclamations, and many went on historical pilgrimages and held wreath-laying ceremonies. Yorktown Day, October 19th, the date which originally determined that of Patriotic Education Week, was observed as usual by national officers' participation in ceremonies at the Victory Monument and the battlefield at Yorktown, Virginia. Many groups observed "Bells Across the Nation" on July 4, 1967. Local programs also were given on patriotic holidays such as Flag Day and Washington's Birthday, and New York, Rhode Island, and many other state and local societies entered patriotic floats in local parades. Flags and flag codes were given to various groups such as schools, Boy Scouts, etc.

One of the national projects is study of American Indians and contributing to their education and welfare. Contests were sponsored by this national committee along with those on American literature, American music, and correct use of the flag. The Conservation Committee's contest emphasized reforestation and anti-litter. The Mountain Schools Committee featured programs on and support of the schools maintained by the DAR in the mountains of Alabama and South Carolina. The subject of the National Historian's Essay Contest was "Youths' Responsibility to Self and Country." The National Oratorical Contest theme this year is "Living Patriotism."

The 45 states with organized societies held state conferences. The state societies and members in unorganized states met in their ten respective regions under the leadership of the regional vice presidents.
