(April 15, 1989)

The days of the President General, since she assumed office last April, have been exceedingly busy ones and she has spent most of her time in the office carrying out the varied activities of our wonderful organization. It has been a rewarding year and she wishes to express her appreciation to the members for their loyalty, cooperation, and interest in the work of our National Society. The enthusiasm witnessed by her as she visited the State meetings in New England and the South was heartening as it denoted an increased desire to protect and safeguard our republican form of government and our entire American way of life. It was an inspiration to hear the reports of the state officers and chairmen as they outlined the work of their respective offices. Complete details of the President General's visits and activities have been carried in the minutes of the National Board of Management which are printed in DAR Magazines.

Much work has been done by the National Officers, Chairmen, and State Regents during this first year.

At this time, I would like to touch briefly on some of the projects which have been set in motion.

The continued rise in interest rates, 7 1/2 percent as of April 1, has made it imperative to reduce the indebtedness of Constitution Hall repayment as quickly as possible. One of the courses followed has been the curtailing, as much as possible, of unnecessary expenditures at National Headquarters, as well as establishing the national project at this time. This, plus the generosity of the members, has made it possible for us to reduce the amount owed from $141,000 last year to $56,000 this April. This is a remarkable achievement and much credit is given to all of you. With your continued support, hopefully, the indebtedness can be completely paid by next October.

A new IBM system is in the process of being set up, as a result of the highly successful one in the Magazine office. When completed, it will make the workload of a number of officers move faster and also provide better service to our members. Considerable time will be necessary to complete the change-over, but it is felt that the advantages gained and the savings realized will far outweigh the initial inconveniences experienced.

The updating of several publications is now in process. Every effort has been made to standardize the size, and it is hoped you will like the new format used, especially in the Membership Guide Book and the DAR Service booklet.

Two Moslems before were scheduled this past year. The first, in December, had as its guests patients from Walter Reed Army Hospital

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT GENERAL

(April 15, 1969)

The days of the President General, since she assumed office last April, have been exceedingly busy ones and she has spent most of her time in the office carrying out the varied activities of our wonderful organization. It has been a rewarding year and she wishes to express her appreciation to the members for their loyalty, cooperation, and interest in the work of our National Society. The enthusiasm witnessed by her as she visited the State Meetings in New England and the South was heartening as it denoted an increased desire to protect and safeguard our republican form of government and our entire American way of life. It was an inspiration to hear the reports of the state officers and chairmen as they outlined the work of their respective offices. Complete details of the President General's visits and activities have been carried in the Minutes of the National Board of Management which are printed in DAR Magazine.

Much work has been done by the National Officers, Chairmen, and State Regents during this first year.

At this time, I would like to touch briefly on some of the projects which have been set in motion:

The continued rise in interest rates, 7½ percent as of April 1, has made it imperative to reduce the indebtedness on Constitution Hall renovation as quickly as possible. One of the courses followed has been the curtailing, as much as possible, of unnecessary expenditure at National Headquarters, as well as establishing no national project at this time. This, plus the generosity of the members, has made it possible for us to reduce the amount owed from $141,000 last April to $54,000 this April. This is a remarkable achievement and much credit is given to all of you. With your continued support, hopefully, the indebtedness can be completely paid by next October.

A new IBM system is in the process of being set up, as a result of the highly successful one in the Magazine office. When completed, it will make the workload of a number of offices move faster and also provide better service to our members. Considerable time will be needed to complete the change-over, but it is felt that the advantages gained and the savings realized will far outweigh the initial inconvenience experienced.

The updating of several publications is now in process. Every effort has been made to standardize the size, and it is hoped you will like the new format used, especially in the Membership Guide Book and the DAR School booklet.

Two Museum Events were scheduled this past year. The first, in December, had as its guests patients from Walter Reed Army Hospital and the USO. These young men seemed to thoroughly enjoy seeing our State Rooms and learning more about the early history of our Country. We were happy to have them visit us. In February, a group of diplomatic wives who belong to THIS were entertained at an 18th Century Tea.

Last October members of the National Board of Management joined the President General in Yorktown for Yorktown Day Ceremonies, for which the Children of the American Revolution acted as hostess.

Three nursing scholarships as well as five occupational therapy ones have been awarded this year but, unfortunately, even more had to be refused as there were not sufficient funds in the accounts. To give you an idea of the number of requests received yearly, nearly fifty have come to my office just this year alone. It is disheartening to have to turn down these young people who are striving so hard to receive an education in the medical field.

Annual awards of a $100 savings bond or its equivalent were given to the service academies. Members of the National Board of Management assisted the President General in making these presentations.

It was your President General's pleasure to welcome the new President and Vice President and their families to our own Constitution Hall at the time of the Inaugural Concert. Many other notables have visited our Hall and listened to the lovely music played there.

Your President General has appeared on numerous television programs, both live and taped, as she has traveled officially, as well as on local radio and television. In fact, the latest of her taped appearances will be seen over WETA-TV throughout most of the eastern part of the United States on a special program entitled "Oh Say Can You Sing," which pertains to the singability of our National Anthem.

Many of our devoted and loyal long-time employees are reaching retirement age and it is paramount that young, competent workers be trained to take over when they retire. This is becoming increasingly difficult, however, as we cannot compete with the United States Government in salaries. Many offices are now understaffed but much praise should be given those faithful employees who have shouldered additional responsibilities so that the work of the National Society could continue without interruption.

Appreciation is expressed to all members of our staff for their fine work, and I especially wish to thank my own staff for its devoted support in this year of transition.

The theme for the coming year will be "God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it," by Daniel Webster.

BETTY NEWKIRK SEIMES,
(Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes),
President General.

NARRATIVE REPORT

The Sons of the American Revolution, meeting in Louisville, Kentucky, on April 30, 1890, voted to exclude women from membership. A lady in Washington wrote to the Washington Post expressing her resentment, not only because it discriminated against the female sex, but also because it failed to recognize the part women had in the Revolution.

The Registrar General of the Sons of the American Revolution, himself descended from a strong-minded and patriotic woman of the Revolution, agreed. He wrote a letter to the Washington Post offering to help in organizing a society for women descended from Revolutionary heroes. He suggested the name Daughters of the American Revolution.

During the summer of 1890, a small group of Washington ladies met to plan the details. On October 11, 1890, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, was organized, with the Registrar General of the Sons of the American Revolution and several other gentlemen present.

The choice of the date was no accident. The leaders would have preferred October 12, that being the anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, whose voyage had been made possible by a woman, Queen Isabella. But October 12 fell on Sunday in 1890; therefore, they met the day before, on October 11.

The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, was not at the beginning and never has been a society that chooses its members according to social or economic position. Miss Eugenia Washington, in her capacity as organizing Registrar General, wrote to the Washington Post on August 17, 1890: "Any woman is eligible to membership who is lineally descended from an ancestor who assisted in establishing American independence either as a military or a naval officer, a soldier, a sailor or civilian" and she earnestly requested that those women eligible to membership send her their names.

Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of President Benjamin Harrison, was unanimously elected the first President General of the new society. A gracious and elegant First Lady, Mrs. Harrison had a great fondness for orchids, which were grown in the White House greenhouses. In honor of Mrs. Harrison, DAR have ever since worn orchids on all formal occasions. The four founders of the society, Miss Mary Desha, Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, Miss Eugenia Washington, and Mrs. Mary Smith Lockwood, also held offices.

On February 20, 1896, President Grover Cleveland signed the Congressional Act of Incorporation, chartering the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. The Honorable Thomas B. Reed, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Honorable Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate, also signed the charter.

The Act "created a body corporate and politic . . . for patriotic, historical, and educational purposes." It set the course the Society should follow: "to perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence; by the acquisition and protection of historical spots and the erection of monuments; by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results; by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries; to carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, 'to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge,' thus developing an enlightened public opinion and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens; to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom; to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty."

The charter further required "That said Society shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution concerning its proceedings, and said Secretary shall communicate to Congress such portions thereof as he may deem of national interest and importance."

In 1890, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, had eighteen potential members in the District of Columbia. They held their meetings in a Washington hotel. In 1969, the National Society had 188,031 members and met in its own building. The value of the buildings the Society now owns between C Street and D Street and 17th Street and 18th Street is estimated at $7,000,000. This property comprises the largest group of buildings in the world owned and maintained exclusively by women. In 1969, instead of one chapter in the District of Columbia, there are 2,806 chapters in 50 states, and in Mexico, Puerto Rico, England, and France.

The President General and eleven executive officers, elected in April 1968 for three-year terms, direct the business affairs of the Society. These officers, together with 21 Vice Presidents General and the State Regents, comprise the Board of Management. Twenty-three National Chairmen appointed by the President General direct the work of their committees in developing the historical, educational, and patriotic objectives defined in the charter.

To perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American independence, the National Society has created and maintains the DAR Museum. The Museum gallery is in the Administration Building; the 27 State rooms and the Vining Colonial bedroom are in Memorial Continental Hall. The Curator General is the officer in charge of the Museum, and she is responsible for the care and supervision of all paintings, works of art, and period furnishings. The Society also employs a professionally trained curator and an assistant curator who advise the Curator General on technical matters. Trained guides conduct tours of the State rooms. The Museum gallery and State rooms are open to the public free.

The Museum was the scene of several special events during 1968-1969. Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, former First Lady and a member of the Gettysburg Chapter, was guest of honor at a tea in October. For this occasion, silver once used by George Washington at Mount Vernon was displayed, loaned for the event by a Washington descendant.

On December 8, Vietnam veterans from the local hospitals were honored at a Museum tour and tea. On January 29, diplomatic wives of Washington were entertained and served cakes and cookies such as were made in the 18th century. They received a folder containing copies of the recipes.

The Museum Reference Library on Decorative Arts has been enlarged by the purchase of 48 books and by gifts of books from chapters and individuals.

Many of the State rooms have been improved by additions and repairs. Wisconsin changed its room completely from a 19th-century parlor to an early New England interior. All the State rooms are maintained by the State whose names they bear. They are authentic in every detail.

The National Society has also undertaken, with the curator assisting in the project, the task of refurbishing the Surrender Room at Yorktown. In preparation for the 200th anniversary of the founding of our Nation, those objects in the room which postdate the founding are being replaced by other objects of the proper period.

The DAR Museum has loaned certain objects for exhibit in other museums, including the Eugene Isabey ivory miniature of Commodore Joshua Barney, to the National Gallery of Art, and a chair, belonging to the Maine Society and used at the inauguration of George Washington, to the Smithsonian Institution.

Of equal importance with the Museum in keeping alive the memory and spirit of the men and women of the Revolution, but in quite a different way, is the DAR Genealogical Library. The Library occupies the main floor and the balcony of Memorial Continental Hall. It contains more than 55,000 books and pamphlets and 23,000 manuscripts. Many state census records from 1850 through 1880 are available on microfilm. A Recordak reading machine in the Library is in such demand that appointments are necessary to use it. There is a fee of 25 cents per hour for its use. The Library is open to the public on payment of one dollar per day, except during the month of April. There is no charge to members. The Library had 6,500 visitors, including members, during the past year. The Genealogical Records Committees in the States and chapters assist in collecting material for the Library. This year, 25,983 pages of unpublished records were added to the DAR Library, and 141,417 duplicate papers were made available to other libraries. During the year, the Library received 665 books, 343 pamphlets, and 49 manuscripts. From a list of books needed for genealogical research and in the rare or hard-to-find category, State Societies were able to supply 124 titles.

A Lineage Research Committee was established in 1961 in response to many requests received from potential members for genealogical assistance. This committee works closely with similar committees in chapters. While it does not undertake to do complete research, it is able to use the extensive facilities of the Library and local Committees in different parts of the country to render valuable services. In the past year, 5,627 potential members were assisted; and 2,643 new members were acquired through this committee.

The DAR have taken seriously the injunction to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge.

The American Heritage Committee aids and encourages preservations of arts, crafts, drama, music, and literature. The office of the National Program Committee maintains a file of papers and sets of color slides on these subjects ready for immediate presentation. During the 1968-1969 year, 433 slide programs, 2,831 manuscripts, 10 films, and 4 tapes were rented. The most popular program subjects were the American Heritage group, with State and local history, genealogy, conservation, American Indians, and the DAR Museum following in that order. Material submitted by the chapters is reviewed by a special committee before it is placed in the rental file. Added were 18 new color slide programs and a large number of new manuscripts. Rental fee for a paper is 50¢; for a set of colored slides, $2.00.

DAR concern for interesting and suitable programs extends beyond its own membership. During 1968, a group of some 30 members living in and near New York City previewed 191 films in collaboration with nine other national organizations and the Motion Picture Institute of America. Their evaluation of the films is printed in the publication Film Reports, which is distributed free to schools, libraries, community centers, and the like.

The Daughters of the American Revolution nationally and locally take an active part in education. The DAR Good Citizens Committee, established in 1934, reaches into thousands of senior high schools, public and private. One senior girl is selected by her classmates and teachers as their "good citizen." In accordance with the aim to stress good citizenship in our schools, qualities determining the girls' selection are as follows: (1) Dependability, which includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality; (2) service, found in cooperation, courtesy, consideration of others; (3) leadership, shown in personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility; and (4) patriotism, the unselfish interest in family, school, community, and nation.

This year, there were 9,568 Good Citizens, each of whom received a pin and a certificate. From these, each State selected a winner, and from the state winners, a National Good Citizen was selected. All Good Citizens were honored locally. State winners received a $100 savings bond, series E, and a state winner's pin from the National Society. The National winner, Miss Mary Jeanne Fancher, Altus, Oklahoma, received a $1,000 scholarship to the college she chooses and a silver Paul Revere bowl.

The National Society has several scholarship programs: nursing, medical, occupational therapy, and one American History Scholarship of $8,000 that is awarded to a graduating high school student who plans a college major in history with emphasis on American history, or who plans an American history minor. The nursing, medical, and occupational therapy scholarships, being more modest, are greater in number. State societies follow the lead of the National Society in offering such scholarships either as gifts or loans. Money for the national scholarship awards is derived from State Society contributions or as income from investments bequeathed to the Society for such use. Seven scholarships totaling $1,650 were awarded in 1968-1969. Two students receiving $2,000 per year were in college on American History scholarships, one in California and one at the University of Michigan.

The national winner of the 1969 $8,000 award is Miss Terry Lee Wallace of Clovis, New Mexico. Miss Wallace will attend Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, New Mexico, and become a teacher of American history.

The National Society owns two schools, Tamasee School, near Clemson in South Carolina, and Kate Duncan Smith School, Grant, Alabama. It aids five other schools. Berry Schools, Rome, Georgia, received $1,848.50; Crossnore School, Crossnore, North Carolina, $19,570.78; Hillside School for Boys, Marlborough, Massachusetts, $9,372.73; Hindman Settlement School, Hindman, Kentucky, $3,321.69; Northland College, Ashland, Wisconsin, $639.04.

Referred to as "approved schools" for many years, these schools are approved for assistance by the State Society in the State where they are located, investigated by the National Chairman of DAR Schools, and, finally, approved by vote of the Continental Congress. To qualify, a school or college must be definitely for the underprivileged boys and girls, who otherwise would not have the opportunity for education, or for Americanization of foreign-born students or students of foreign parentage.

Greatest financial support is concentrated on the two schools for which the National Society is primarily responsible.

Tamasee, at Tamasee, S.C., was founded by the South Carolina Society in 1919 and made a project of the National Society in 1920. Tamasee is a boarding and day school, co-educational, grades one through eight. High school students go by bus each day to Tamasee-Salem High School. To be a boarding school pupil, a child must not live within walking distance of a highway. Current enrollment is 185 boarding students and 121 students who come by bus each school day. Cash contributions to Tamasee totaled $86,214.76 this year.

Kate Duncan Smith School, established by the Alabama Daughters in 1924, is a day school, grades kindergarten through twelfth grade. It is the only junior-senior high school in the 100-square-mile area it serves. In addition to the required subjects, the curriculum includes home economics, agriculture, industrial arts, and commercial subjects. The school has an outstanding basketball team.

A total of 773 students are enrolled at Kate Duncan Smith for the 1968-1969 school year. They are mannerly students who do good work. Cash contributions to Kate Duncan Smith totaled $78,159.96 this year.

At both Tamasee and Kate Duncan Smith, the students who are old enough do nearly all the housework and manual labor in construction and maintenance work. Student handcrafts are for sale. Both schools are entirely dependent upon the DAR except for the financial assistance they receive from the state and county for teachers' salaries and transportation.

In their concern for education, DAR have not overlooked the American Indian. They are concerned that all possible assistance for higher education be obtained for Indian youth whose families have insufficient financial resources to provide adequate education for their children. Every state has Indians within its borders.

The National Society aids St. Mary's School for Indian Girls at Springfield, South Dakota, and Bacone College at Bacone, Oklahoma, and gives scholarships to other Indians in need of help from the general fund. Twelve college students from California, Connecticut, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, New York, North Carolina, and Washington State received college scholarships from this fund.

St. Mary's School for Indian Girls received $16,759.77. Bacone College received $13,716.33. The State Societies of Alabama, Alaska, California, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, New York, Nevada, and Texas aided Indians within their borders with clothing, gifts, legal and medical assistance, and 27 scholarships.

The American Indian National Chairman reported a total of $53,690.55 contributed to Indians during the year.

Two DAR National Committees direct their attention to children. The Children of the American Revolution draw members mainly from the children whose parents belong to the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, or who would be eligible for membership. This is an active organization of over 15,000 members, with 717 societies organized and 82 societies organizing.

Since only a small percentage of children are eligible for membership in the Children of the American Revolution, the DAR have carried a patriotic education and citizenship training program to all children. It is open to all boys and girls from kindergarten through high school in the form of Junior American Citizens clubs, usually called JAC clubs. Over 9,000 clubs, with a membership of over 400,000, were in public, private, and parochial schools, schools for retarded children, crippled children's hospitals, schools for the deaf and blind, detention homes, Boy and Girl Scout clubs, church groups, community centers, settlement houses, and neighborhood children's groups.

Directors of the JAC clubs need not be members of DAR. Membership in a JAC club is free. Buttons are given to all members, directors, and club presidents. Supplies are furnished by the local sponsoring DAR chapter and the National Society.

A special pin known as the Thatcher Award pin is presented to JAC members for outstanding service and good citizenship. An embossed citation with impressive signatures accompanies the pin. There were 1,578 Thatcher pins and citations awarded in 1968-1969.

The largest JAC membership is in Texas. A Florida DAR chapter, John MacDonald in Miami, again received recognition from the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge with the awarding of the George Washington Honor Medal for 1969 to three schools for patriotic education, based on JAC activities.

Reports from JAC clubs indicate a vast area which has benefited from the awareness of its children in the needs of their fellow men. The JAC respond to community needs for assistance in projects; they visit hospitals and shut-ins; help in school libraries and cafeterias; assist teachers; collect gifts for the needy; and send gifts and cards to our men in Vietnam. They are learning to take the initiative and accept leadership.

Constitution Week recalls to the American people the true significance of the events that occurred during the week of September 17-23, 1787. Originally a project of the DAR, a resolution to make it a national observance resulted in the passage of Public Law No. 915 by the U.S. Congress. Although many organizations, of both men and women, now sponsor Constitution Week, the local DAR still lead in the activities. Through their efforts, 45 governors and 1,328 mayors proclaimed Constitution Week in 1968. Chapters secured 295 hours of radio and 182 hours of television time devoted to the U.S. Constitution.

Like Constitution Week, American History Month is coordinated by the National Society but carried out by State Societies and local chapters. February as American History Month was first proclaimed by the governor of Kentucky in 1952, at the request of the Kentucky DAR. The American History Month Committee is working to obtain passage of a Congressional Resolution for national observance of American History Month as well as of state legislation permanently designating February as American History Month. In February 1969, H.J. Resolution 481 to so designate February of each year was introduced by the Honorable Robert Wilson, Congressman from California.

The objective of the American History Month Committee is to help preserve our freedom by stimulating a deeper understanding of American history. Each year it conducts an American History Essay Contest for the 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grades. The essay subject chosen for this year was "Heroines of the American Revolution." There were 52,392 essays submitted. Cash prizes totaling about $1,400 were presented in addition to eighteen $25 U.S. savings bonds. The office of the Historian General furnished chapters with 5,912 bronze and silver American History Medals to be awarded to essay winners. Twenty-eight children were divisional winners and received gold medals. From these, four national winners were selected. Each winner received a $100 U.S. savings bond.

Over 50 years ago, the DAR founded the only Americanization School in Washington, D.C. In 1920, the first DAR Citizenship Manual was compiled. Since 1921, over 9½ million copies of the Manual have been given free to applicants for American citizenship. The Manual has been placed in the libraries of schools and colleges and in public libraries. A tape titled "Citizen—U.S.A." is based on the Manual. The DAR distributed 45,319 copies of the Manual in 1968-1969. Local chapters welcomed new citizens in many ways; by receptions and teas, by gifts of flags, welcome cards, and historical documents, and by taking them on historical pilgrimages and to vote for the first time.

A prized award, presented only after exhaustive research into the recipient's background, is the DAR Americanism Medal: It is presented to an adult naturalized citizen who has been a United States citizen for five years and who has demonstrated outstanding ability following naturalization in: Trustworthiness, Service, Leadership, and Patriotism. Fifty-four Americanism Medals were presented this year by chapters in 21 states.

Respect for the Flag of the United States of America has always been a matter of concern to DAR. Not only do they encourage flying the flag, but flying it correctly. The Society publishes a Flag Code following the rules set forth in Public Law 829. Copies distributed in 1968 totaled 42,363. DAR chapters presented 39,412 small flags and over 1,600 large flags. One of the most original presentations occurred at the Kentucky School for the Blind. Stripes were of white satin and red cotton, the field of blue was of woolen material. Thus, for the first time, the children could feel their Nation's flag and see it in their own way.

The National Defense Committee of the DAR works ceaselessly to keep the members informed by publication of documented material.

This committee has from the beginning advocated an adequate defense for the Nation. Every DAR member, upon application for membership, pledges allegiance to the United States and agrees to support the Constitution. This pledge is incompatible with support of any form of government or participation in any group which would destroy or supersede the Constitution.

An article on national defense is a featured part of each issue of DAR Magazine. Other articles, and the National Defender, a publication of the National Defense Committee, are sent to each chapter. Nonmembers may subscribe to DAR Magazine for $3.00 annually and to the National Defense Committee mailings for $2.50 annually.

It is customary that one evening of the Continental Congress be devoted to national defense. Each state regent may invite the congressional representatives of her state to attend. These guests are presented to the assembly by the National Defense Chairman. On April 15, 1969, twenty-nine members of the Congress were present. Speaker of the evening was Mr. M. Stanton Evans, editor of the Indianapolis News.

The National Defense Committee recognizes the importance of our youth in the future security of our country. Boys or girls in elementary schools and junior and senior high—public, private, or parochial—who fulfill the qualities of honor, service, courage, leadership, and patriotism are eligible to receive the Good Citizenship Medal. Local chapters presented 4,500 such medals during the year.

Local chapters may also present ROTC Medals. These medals and accompanying campaign bars are awarded as a means of recognizing and rewarding student cadets of outstanding ability and achievement in secondary school, junior college, college, or university ROTC programs. To qualify, a student must be in the upper 25 percent of his class in ROTC and academic subjects. Selection in each school is made by the professor of military science, who must also request that the medal be presented. Not more than one student in a graduating ROTC class may receive a medal. In 1968, the first year these medals were available, 291 medals were presented to junior ROTC cadets and 215 medals to cadets in college ROTC programs.

Membership in the DAR is becoming increasingly attractive to younger women. One out of every three new members this year was under 35. These young women—called junior members—are particularly active in programs involving children. This year the Junior Membership contributed over $16,000 to Tamasee and Kate Duncan Smith schools and raised the total of its scholarship fund to $17,904.32.

An Outstanding Junior Member is selected in an annual contest in each state. Seven Divisional winners are chosen from the state winners, and from these the Outstanding Junior Member of the National Society is chosen.

The new DAR Committee of Service for Veterans-Patients was authorized in April 1968. Its purpose is to promote the theme "Operation Appreciation" among veteran-patients. Members have located veteran-patients in private hospitals, convalescent and nursing homes, private homes, and in the obvious place, veterans hospitals. They have given them useful gifts, and gifts not so useful; they have taken crafts materials to hospitals; they have taken books, sent cards, written letters, and had birthday parties for lonely veterans. They have made personal visits to men without families. They have welcomed ambulatory veterans into their homes for special holidays and weekends. Best of all, they have enlisted non-DAR members into a wider "Operation Appreciation" to these veterans of all wars, so that more men feel less forgotten.

Some DAR activities cannot be placed in the historical, educational or patriotic categories because they are too inclusive.

DAR Magazine, while directed particularly to members of the Society, contains material of interest to historians everywhere. Published ten times a year—monthly except for June-July and August-September—it contains the earlier mentioned articles on national defense, articles on little known aspects of American history and American personalities whose performances never reached the conventional history books, and a variety of short articles and book reviews. DAR Magazine is entirely supported by subscriptions and the advertising it contains. Many DAR say that they carry the magazine in their travels and patronize the places that advertise in it.

Ordinarily, books on genealogy are not considered best sellers. The DAR Patriot Index has been exhausted in its first and almost exhausted in its second printing. The Patriot Index contains the names of over 103,000 patriots of the American Revolution, identifies each by dates of birth and death, place and type of military service, and name(s) of spouse(s). The first Supplement, published in 1969, contains the names of 1,220 newly identified patriot ancestors.

A small but fascinating display of Americana can be found on the second floor, Administration Building, in the Americana Collection. Since 1940, this collection has been growing with the addition of documents pertaining to the American Revolution, and also with important later material of historical value. The documents have been cataloged and indexed, thus becoming available for scholarly and historical research. Sixty-six new and valuable accessions have been made this year.

As the year 1976 approaches, the celebration of the bicentennial of the United States captures widespread attention. With the creation of the United States of America Bicentennial Committee, the DAR are beginning to plan now to encourage a rebirth of patriotism and appreciation of the blessings of liberty which we have enjoyed since 1776. As a prelude to 1976, the Conservation Committee has undertaken, as a project for the Bicentennial, the creation of a rose garden in Independence National Historical Park in Philadelphia.

All activities of the National Society are directed from the Administration Building in Washington. In addition to the nonpaid leaders, the Society had 140 employees during 1968-1969. For employees having permanent status, the Society maintains a pension plan. The experience of the permanent staff is invaluable in supplying continuity to an organization where the administration changes completely every three years.

In all matters of policy, only the President General can speak for the National Society. The Society's name is never permitted to be used in commercial or political campaigns. Members who take part in such campaigns must do so as individuals, not as members of DAR. Infringement of this rule can result in termination of membership.

Each year in April, the Continental Congress considers resolutions that have been submitted by individuals, chapters, and State Societies. The hundreds of resolutions received are consolidated and condensed by the National Committee on Resolutions, which meets daily for the two weeks preceding Continental Congress. The resolutions are then submitted to the Continental Congress, where they may be amended, rejected, or accepted by a majority vote of the delegates. Once voted by the Continental Congress, the resolutions become a part of the policy of the Society. Only the Continental Congress can approve resolutions. The President General may direct their implementation, but she can neither change them nor refuse to abide by them.

The greatest single change in 1968-1969 has been the use of computers. It is expected that by use of such mechanical means the accuracy that has been assured by painstaking clerical means will be continued with less human effort and at a speed only possible with machines.

In summary, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has increased in size during the past year. It has continued to spend all available funds for historical, educational, and patriotic purposes. Constitution Hall, redecorated and air-conditioned, has continued to serve as a cultural center for Washington performances. Only during one week in April, when the Continental Congress is in session, is Constitution Hall unavailable. The DAR Museum has brought pleasure to thousands of visitors. The DAR Genealogical Library, one of the best in the United States, has assisted many researchers. Local DAR chapters throughout the United States and in England, France, Puerto Rico, and Mexico have increased the historic and patriotic awareness of the public.

Like all philanthropic organizations, the DAR would like to do more. They accept their limitations, however, as they strive to extend their resources as far as possible in carrying out the obligations established in the charter.

New ones recorded now usually average more than 250 per year. Location of graves is not confined, as might be supposed, to the east coast and the 13 Original States; a number have been verified west of the Mississippi, even into Canada. The number of states represented yearly now ranges between 15 and 30.

Between March 1, 1968, and March 1, 1969, the DAR located 193 graves of soldiers of the American Revolution in 16 states. Data on those located graves are provided in the following tabulation:

PART III

GRAVES OF SOLDIERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION
LOCATED FROM MARCH 1, 1968, TO MARCH 1, 1969

The gathering of data on unmarked Revolutionary soldiers' graves commands special attention, as this is not just a public service but constitutes a continuing task entrusted to the DAR long ago. It is done specifically for the U.S. Government, no federal bureau, department, or other agency having this responsibility. (Wars other than the American Revolution are covered through the Government for this service.)

Locating and marking Revolutionary graves by DAR was started in 1897-1898. During the first year 32 graves were reported; in the interim the number has run to 8,000 in one year. New ones recorded now usually average more than 200 per year. Location of graves is not confined, as might be supposed, to the east coast and the 13 Original States. A number have been verified west of the Mississippi, even into Canada. The number of states represented yearly now ranges between 15 and 30.

Between March 1, 1968, and March 1, 1969, the DAR located 193 graves of soldiers of the American Revolution in 16 states. Data on those located graves are provided in the following tabulation:

REPORT OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY, CHILDREN OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, 1968-1969

The 73rd Annual C.A.R. National Convention, held in the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington, D.C., April 19-21, 1968, elected new national officers headed by Thomas Walter Scott. The senior national board elected Mrs. Byron M. Vanderbilt to head its new slate of officers. Activities of the convention began with an opening concert by the U.S. Marine Band under the direction of Drum Major James Donovan. Highlights of the convention included the well-attended Coffee on Friday morning; the presentation of the George Washington Honor Medal from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge; the appearance of Smokey Bear through the courtesy of the National Association of State Foresters and the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture; and the presentation of C.A.R. endowment pins. The

C.A.R. Chorus, directed by Mrs. Robert L. Jackson, presented a program of American Music.

There were eight entrants in the Oratorical Contest, titled "Living Patriotism." The Historian's Essay Contest, titled "Youth's Responsibility to Self and Country," brought a large response from across the nation.

The four issues of C.A.R. National Magazine featured general interest articles, state and local society activities, and showed an increasing number of advertisements and pictures.

National cabinet officers traveled extensively to represent the N.S.C.A.R. at many patriotic events as well as the State and Regional C.A.R. conferences and meetings.

Fifteen national contests were offered by chairmen of the various committees.

Conservation, one of the required topics on every regular local meeting program, received considerable attention in 1968, with practically all societies active in the anti-litter campaigns and emphasis on protection and preservation of wildlife.

Interest in and dedication to the programs and needs of the Indians, including the Mountain and Indian Schools, were exhibited by generous contributions of money, clothing, and coupons.

Patriotic education was emphasized across the United States as members participated in special programs, parades, bell-ringing, wreath-laying, pilgrimages, radio programs, and television appearances. Patriotic Education Week in October presented a fitting climax for these activities. Yorktown Day, October 19, 1968, found the N.S.C.A.R. in charge of the annual impressive program in Yorktown, Virginia, under the auspices of the Yorktown Day Association.

The national project of the 1968-1969 year of the C.A.R. was a cooperative effort with the U.S. Forest Service in placing an historical marker on "El Camino Real" in Carson National Forest, New Mexico. The marker indicates the Taos-Santa Fe section of a prehistoric Indian trail that for three and a half centuries was the only north-south route of commerce in the entire Southwest.

With the organization of many new societies and the renewed efforts to increase membership, the N.S.C.A.R. is now looking toward its Diamond Anniversary Year in 1969-1970.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION
Washington, D.C.

We have examined the financial statements of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution listed below:

- Statement of current and special funds for the year ended February 28, 1969 (Pages 2 and 3)
- Supporting statements of current and special fund cash receipts and disbursements and supporting schedules for the year ended February 28, 1969 (Pages 4 to 25)
- Schedule of investments as of February 28, 1969 (Pages 26 and 27)
- Statement of cash receipts and disbursements of the Trustees, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Pension Trust Fund for the year ended February 28, 1969 (Page 28)

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included confirmations from depositories and custodians of cash and investments held at February 28, 1969, and such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements have been prepared generally on the cash receipts and disbursements basis and therefore do not purport to present the results of operations as they would appear had generally accepted accrual basis accounting principles been applied. Cash receipts and disbursements do not include dispositions and acquisitions of securities respectively except for gains or losses thereon. Cash receipts in the special funds include securities received by bequest during the year.

In our opinion, the aforementioned statements and supporting schedules present fairly the cash balances and investments at February 28, 1969 and the information set forth therein for the year then ended on the basis indicated which is consistent with that of the preceding year.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Seventy-Eighth Continental Congress

National Society

Daughters of the American Revolution

April 14-18, 1969

REDEDICATION

Whereas three hundred years ago a new ideal found root on these shores, and through trial and tribulation a new government and Constitution, founded on Faith in God, man, justice and opportunity for all, ultimately evolved; and

Whereas the current theme of our National Society is "One Country, One Constitution and One Destiny"; and

Whereas to perpetuate the blessings accrued to mankind under the Constitution—the greatest charter of individualism—the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution was founded to preserve history and to educate citizens not only in the privileges but also in the responsibilities of citizenship in this Republic; and

Whereas despite the sophistication of our age and the skepticism that has come to blight and weaken our Faith, Liberty under God remains the prized blessing of mankind;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution carry forward the original spirit of America, surrendering to no foe the sacred trust committed to our hands, a trust we are honor bound to pass on unimpaired to future generations;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution rededicate themselves to the fundamental principles that impart wisdom and reason, justice and unity, courage, and faith in God.

APOLLO 8 ASTRONAUTS' READING OF GENESIS

Whereas America was founded as a Christian Nation; and

Whereas the majority of Americans respect their God for His protection and guidance through the centuries; and

Whereas the epic accomplishment of the Apollo 8 Project on December 24, 1968, is now history; and

Whereas the awesome, perilous flight of the three Astronauts proved without doubt what Americans working together toward a common goal can achieve; and

Whereas the reading of verses from Genesis by the three courageous Astronauts proved their fealty to the Country they serve, "One Nation under God";

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express their joyous pride and warm admiration to these brave men of science, for expressing their Christian faith as they became the first human beings to look upon God's creation—Earth—"small and beautiful and blue in that eternal silence where it floats," and they found it good.

ANTI-BALLISTIC MISSILE SYSTEM

Whereas it is folly to rely on treaties with the Soviets who have broken more than 100 major agreements; and

Whereas the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in August 1968 (which violated 17 agreements, one of which was only 17 days old), proves that "peaceful coexistence" is a fraud and that the Soviet communists have never abandoned their goal of world domination; and

Whereas Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee in March 1969, that:

- 1) the Soviets "are going for a first-strike capability";
- 2) the Soviets now have more than 200 "accurate" missiles of 20 to 25 megatons (which are 20 to 25 times the size of 95% of United States missiles);

- 3) the Soviets have caught up with and passed the United States in numbers of land-based nuclear missiles, and are continuing to deploy more at a rapid rate;
- 4) in slightly more than two years, the Soviet nuclear missile force has increased more than threefold, while the size of the United States nuclear missile force has been frozen;
- 5) the Soviets have "deployed" and "launched" orbital bombs (the FOBS), which could be equipped with nuclear warheads;
- 6) at the present time, the United States has no installed anti-missile defense, but the Soviets have been deploying their anti-missile system for the last three years, and are currently spending $3.70 on defensive nuclear forces to every $1.00 spent by the United States;
- 7) the Soviet are "going forward with the deployment" of Polaris-type nuclear submarines at the rate of seven per year and it is anticipated that they will be "comparable" to our Polaris fleet by 1971-74;
- 8) our Polaris-Poseidon submarines will be vulnerable to a Soviet attack in about three years because of Soviet weapons advances;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of American Revolution in the interest of a strong National Defense, support the restoration of United States nuclear weapons superiority and urge the rapid deployment of anti-missile defenses which can protect our Nation from any Soviet or Red Chinese nuclear attack.

TARIFF AND TRADE

Whereas in seeking to rebuild war-torn Europe and Asia and to aid emerging nations, the United States taxed her people and industries so heavily that many small and marginal firms failed; and

Whereas the United States Government has created a critical situation in several industries by permitting a series of wage increases not justified by production increases and by cancelling government contracts in various industries which attempted to raise prices to cover production costs; and

Whereas both the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 and the proposed Trade Expansion Act of 1968 frankly state that whole industries may be seriously injured; and

Whereas many earlier trade laws (still in effect) to prevent the dumping of foreign over-production have loopholes which permit evasion of the law while, at the same time, many other nations continue their restrictive tariff policies; and

Whereas the flood of imports contributes heavily to an ever mounting unfavorable balance of payments which has weakened our dollar, drained away our gold and diminished our national prestige;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge that the United States adopt a policy of enlightened self-interest and establish import quotas until foreign nations remove their costly non-tariff devices.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Whereas in providing the Electoral College, it was the intent of the Constitution of the United States of America to give American voters the same numerical representation in selecting a president as they enjoy in their representation in Congress, but this objective has long been thwarted by application of the unit rule or "winner take all" of the electoral votes to which a given State is entitled; and

Whereas the State of Maine by its recent action has demonstrated that it is within the power of the States, without Constitutional amendment or federal legislation to eliminate the unit rule, and Maine has now substituted a district plan of selecting electors, under which electors will be chosen by Congressional Districts and will vote for the candidate with the winning margin in the district, with two electors chosen at-large who will vote for the candidate with the popular majority in the State; and

Whereas the District Plan, by giving each voter one vote in his district together with the two votes of the electors chosen at-large to represent the vote of the State would be consonant with the provisions of the Constitution of the United States of America, in that it would retain the Electoral College and would require electors to represent the will of voters by Congressional Districts as well as the State; and

Whereas the method of direct election would mean abandonment of the federal system of representation, would risk federal control of elections, and would deprive the small or less populous states of the protection now provided by the two electoral votes representing their senators;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution commend the State of Maine for adopting the District Plan of representation and voting in the Electoral College;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge the several States to exercise their Constitutional powers; abolish the present bloc system of voting in the Electoral College; and adopt the District Plan, under which the body of electors comprising the Electoral College would represent the votes of each Congressional District and the two at-large votes to which each State is entitled, thereby giving American voters equal representation in a presidential election.

SEABED ARMS TREATY

Whereas a draft treaty recently introduced by the Soviets at the 17-member nation United Nations Committee on Disarmament in Geneva would ban all weapons from the seabeds of the world; and

Whereas this plan prohibits placing on the seabed and the ocean floor and the subsoil thereof, objects with nuclear weapons or any other type of weapons of mass destruction, and the setting up of military bases, structures or installations, fortifications and other objects of military nature; and

Whereas such a sweeping elimination of all seabed military installations would include electronic directional devices for submarine, listening devices and other instruments vital to United States undersea operations; and

Whereas the Soviet willingness to cooperate in this treaty suggests the importance which they attach to seabed controls; and

Whereas the Soviets have never signed an agreement or treaty that did not at least temporarily advance their plans for world domination, nor have they kept their pledged word whenever it suited their purpose to break it;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution in the interest of a strong national defense, urge that the United States retain control of all necessary military seabed installations.

CONSERVATION

Whereas man is part of the ecology of nature and through the decades has endangered the balance of nature by his exploitation and misuse of natural elements of air, water and land; and

Whereas it is imperative that those persons determining land use must take into consideration indiscriminate acquisition for highways, industrial complexes, housing developments, air ports and the destruction of the marsh lands, and for minerals, strip mining and oil recovery policies, watersheds and erosion, reclamation and irrigation, esthetic values and recreational needs; and

Whereas the future development of the national wealth and the standard of American life will depend upon adequate supplies of clean, usable water and a high percentage of environmental pollution derives from wasteful, antiquated, unsafe methods of city and industrial waste disposal, farm use of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides resulting in the deterioration of water quality; and

Whereas the air is becoming increasingly polluted by jet planes, motor vehicle fumes, industrial smoke and gases, uncontrolled fires and dust bowls threatening the well-being and even the existence of whole communities; and

Whereas careless cutting of magnificent forests, including the majestic monarch, the Redwoods (a national heritage), has resulted in loss of vital water-sheds contributing to soil erosion and uncontrolled floods; and

Whereas man by indifference, by greed or by necessity, has been responsible for the decimation or extinction of countless species of wildlife and unwarranted destruction of fish life;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support effective studies and laws to implement pollution controls of air and water, better use of land and prudent conservation of all natural resources, and cooperation among national, state and local authorities, in order to find a common solution to these problems.

ATTACK ON POLICE

- Whereas militant groups have openly announced their intention to destroy the local police forces of the United States as a necessary step toward their goal of creating anarchy in this Country; and
- Whereas leftist efforts to destroy the effectiveness of the local police and to stimulate demand for a national police force are being abetted by court decisions and propaganda; and
- Whereas widespread anti-police propaganda discredits efforts of the local police to protect citizens from bodily harm and their property from looting and arson, and derides the policeman who attempts to protect himself from vicious attacks; and
- Whereas police departments are often inadequately equipped and undermanned and police are often so restricted in their use of arms that they must risk their lives unnecessarily; and
- Whereas a bold, escalating plan for the destruction of local police has reached the stage of numerous bombings of police headquarters;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution commend the local police of this Country for their efforts to protect law-abiding citizens and pledge them our support;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution warn of the dangers of any plan for a nationalized police system.

LOSS OF INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS

- Whereas the Constitution of the United States of America reserves all powers of government to the several sovereign states and to the people except those specifically allocated to the Federal Government; and
- Whereas Americans apathetically unaware of the magnitude of these losses, should be alarmed by the following partial list:
- Citizens have been deprived of the right to own gold by Executive Order; the coinage of the nation has been debased; Silver Certificates have been withdrawn; and the dollar is being progressively devalued by inflation;
- The right to know is abridged by bureaucratic practices of distortion or by classification of government information in order to withhold it, not only from the people but also from committees of Congress, and by Federal Communications Commission "guidelines" used to influence radio and TV programming;
- The United States has been involved in two foreign wars without a declaration of war by Congress;
- The right of parents to direct the education of their children is being increasingly curtailed by federal edicts; freedom of choice of schools and teachers is denied; children are being bussed in violation of the law;
- The right to read the Bible and to pray in public schools is denied;
- "Guidelines" in the implementation of the Gun Control Law of 1968 provide de facto gun registration by requiring detailed information from buyers of ammunition or materials for reloading shells for sports and recreation.
- The right to sell or rent property has been sharply curtailed, and dictatorial use of the power of Eminent Domain often amounts to actual confiscation of property;
- The right to conduct business is greatly hampered by numerous government regulations including: hiring and firing personnel; inspection of records; submission of innumerable reports; collection of withholding, sales, unemployment taxes and social security payments under severe penalties for noncompliance;
- Farmers restrained by bureaucratic edicts, are restricted in the use of individual ingenuity and initiative, thereby limiting use of land, productivity, and hope of profit, thus depriving the nation of cheaper food and fiber for domestic use and for export;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution stand firmly for the restoration and preservation of Constitutional rights of individual citizens.

CIVILIAN BENEFITS OF DEFENSE RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT AND SUPPORT OF ROTC

Whereas the military research and development work of our industrial and university laboratories—so often distorted and attacked—not only enables the United States of America to neutralize potential threats to our national survival but also has provided civilian life with “walkie-talkie” radios, computers, lasers (with their medical application), transistors, worldwide television and meteorological reports by satellite; with new developments in concentrated foods and in nutrition; and with materials never found in nature, withstanding the heats, speeds and pressures that technological progress generates; and

Whereas the ROTC programs at nearly 300 of our Nation’s colleges and universities not only supply the bulk of the Air Force, Army and Navy officers needed in times of national emergency but also strengthen the character traits of self-discipline, self-reliance and adult responsibility demanded of today’s businessmen, executives and statesmen;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution deplore the action of any member of a faculty, student body or news medium who joins through ignorance and/or intent in demonstrations against Defense Research and Development programs or the ROTC;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution commend and support Department of Defense Research and Development and every Reserve Officers Training Corps enrollee and instructor devoting his efforts to the survival of our Nation.

VIETNAM

Whereas Vietnam peace negotiations in Paris have been in session since May 1968, and have produced no tangible results; and

Whereas American casualties have soared during these months of negotiations; and

Whereas the heavy loss of American lives combined with leftist anti-war agitation and lengthy peace negotiations may lead to an American demand for peace at any price;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution call for an end to Vietnam peace negotiations, to be followed by a public pronouncement of United States objectives in Vietnam, determined after full consideration and possible repudiation of any entangling alliances which may hamper United States freedom of action in achieving military victory in Vietnam under direction of United States military strategists for a prompt and decisive settlement of the Vietnam War.

STUDENT SUBVERSION

Whereas “militant activists” and “student radicals” not only have wantonly burned college and university buildings, with losses running into many millions, have unlawfully occupied administrative offices and have destroyed irreplaceable and invaluable records and property; but also have disrupted with physical violence, the educational pursuits of the great majority of serious and law-abiding students, all in the name of academic and intellectual freedom; and

Whereas the campus revolutionaries are now openly directing the violent disruption of education in the elementary and secondary schools across the nation, making demands which, if agreed to, lead only to more and unacceptable demands; and

Whereas the true purpose of most campus disorders is to tear down the existing structure of the educational institutions of the nation and to create a climate of anarchy in which to destroy the Republic of the United States; and

Whereas it is no secret that, to secure the downfall of the United States, the Marxist-Socialists have had long range programs to debauch American Youth; the success of these programs being manifest (1) in their rebellion against all authority, (2) in the widespread use of drugs, and (3) in the breakdown of religious and moral values;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge immediate discontinuance of the payment of any tax monies:

(a) To any student at any college or university who has participated in any action opposing administrative authority and in defiance of the law, and

(b) To any faculty member who has participated in or encouraged any action opposing administrative authority, and

(c) To any institution of learning whose administrative officials have not enforced the regulations of the institution;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge the thousands of Americans, who financially support the college of their choice, to consider the uses to which their money is being put and to withhold their support from those institutions which condone or compromise with student terror tactics;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution commend the many students and educators who have maintained high standards of academic achievement and who have adhered to the principles of decency, morality and religious faith upon which this country was founded and which have resulted in the greatest degree of freedom and the greatest prosperity ever known to man.

SEX EDUCATION

Whereas sex education is not new, most high schools having for years conducted courses which teach the biological facts of life; and

Whereas there is a new and comprehensive sex education program being promoted by a private organization for use in all schools from kindergarten through high school; and

Whereas leading promoters of sex education have published a brochure in which they state (we) "can be neither for nor against illegitimacy, homosexuality, premarital sex nor any other manifestation of human sexual phenomena"; and

Whereas a reputable psychiatrist has stated that sex education should not begin in grade schools because there is a phase of personality development from about ages 5 to 12 when a child develops his physical and mental strength, and premature interest in sex will distort the development of the personality; and

Whereas there is deep parental concern that such instruction unconnected with spiritual and moral values could cause a disintegration of character and moral standards in an entire generation of American youth;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution oppose any sex education in primary and grade schools because of the undesirable psychological effects and urge their members to do everything within their power to prevent the teaching of the physical aspects of sex unconnected with spiritual and moral values.

SENSITIVITY TRAINING

Whereas Sensitivity Training, incorporating self-criticism, is a form of instruction given small groups of persons by a trained leader who uses his power of persuasion to induce individuals to abandon self and personal privacy of body and thought and to submerge themselves into an homogenized group which then becomes an entity subject to the direction of the leader; and

Whereas Sensitivity Training under such names as T-Groups (Training Groups), Group Dynamics, Human Relations, Group Counseling and other pseudonyms is being promoted by educational, youth and rehabilitation groups and by many church, business, industry, government and civic organizations; and

Whereas in spite of the alleged goals of Sensitivity Training—which are love, trust, freedom of communication—the programs often result in the loss of moral and ethical standards, abdication from social and personal responsibility, subversion of parental authority and could destroy the ability to distinguish right from wrong according to God's Law; and

Whereas many specialists in the field of psychiatry recognize self-criticism to be an integral part of the brainwashing technique used so destructively against American war prisoners in the Korean War, having originated in the U.S.S.R. in 1929 with the Communist Party slogan "Through Bolshevik self-criticism we will enforce the dictatorship of the Proletariat";

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution oppose Sensitivity Training programs and urge their members to make a thorough study of Sensitivity Training and then sponsor educational programs to publicize its inherent dangers.

ON DRAWING A LINE (PORNOGRAPHY)

Whereas it has been said that "art, like morality, consists in drawing a line somewhere"; and

Whereas on every side in this Nation we see moral decadence, coarseness of conduct and a general desecration of tradition—as evidenced in the printed and spoken word; in the theatre of cruelty; in motion pictures and TV performances of brutishness, depravity and perversion; in the gyrations of popular dances in the crudities of Op Art; and

Whereas it is a recorded goal of the Marxist world conspiracy and one of its rules for successful revolution to destroy the moral values of those nations whose governments the international socialists seek to destroy;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express their interest in the work of the Presidential Commission on Obscenity and Pornography and hope the Commission will conduct a comprehensive study of and an investigation into planned decadence in this Country to ascertain what elements are promoting and profiting by this lucrative traffic, and to identify those elements whether within or outside our borders; and

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution suggest such an investigation should formulate stern measures to curb this despicable business, beginning with a simple definition of pornography—in the belief that to survive, this Nation must acknowledge that "art, like morality, consists in drawing a line somewhere."

APPRECIATION TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Resolved, That appreciation be expressed by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution to the President of the United States of America for his message to the Seventy-eighth Continental Congress.

APPRECIATION TO MRS. RICHARD M. NIXON

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express appreciation to Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, the First Lady, for her warm hospitality and the charm with which she welcomed the Daughters at the reception and tea given to the Society at the White House.

APPRECIATION TO THE PRESIDENT GENERAL

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express to Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General, their sincere and grateful appreciation of her efficiency, courtesy, dedication and courage and for her inspired leadership in furthering the objects of our Society.

APPRECIATION TO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Resolved, That the appreciation of the members of the Resolutions Committee be expressed to the President General for the privilege of serving under Mrs. William D. Leetch, Chairman of the Committee, who has shown such unusual tact, knowledge, ability and discretion in handling her assignment.

COURTESY RESOLUTION

Whereas the 78th Continental Congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution has been instructive, inspirational and enjoyable; and

Whereas the overall result is due to those who planned and took part in the programs;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express their deep appreciation to the Officers, Chairmen, their Committees, Pages, and all who participated in the programs, particularly:

1. The members of the staff, their loyal and courteous service during the year as well as during the Congress;
2. The United States Service Bands and their enjoyable evening concerts;
