ADDRESS TO THE 79TH CONTINENTAL CONGRESS BY MRS. ERWIN
FREES SEIMES, PRESIDENT GENERAL

The power of prayer has always given strength, courage, and comfort to Americans throughout the history of this great nation.

Prayer, banned from our public schools by the United States Supreme Court, was dramatically employed by millions of people of different lands, different tongues, and different faiths but united in one universal appeal to God to return the endangered and courageous American Astronauts Lovell, Swigert, and Haise safely to earth. Aiding in the complex maneuvers of the damaged spacecraft was the marvelous technology of our age in the person of flight controllers and spacecraft engineers.

But America is faced with perils on earth as well as in space. Violence stalks us on the streets, turmoil disrupts our college campuses, and anarchists attempt to blow up or burn down the canons, institutions, and ordinances which are the foundations of our civilization and way of life.

The DAR theme which will serve as the guideline for this administration from our 79th to our 80th Congress is "when law ends tyranny begins."

The Daughters should be ever mindful of the courage of their ancestors who fell at Lexington, suffered with Washington at Valley Forge, and stormed the breastworks at Yorktown. It was courage and prayer and little else that won the 13 colonies their freedom.

You must exercise courage today as your forebears did, if this country is to survive. Stand your ground on the issues of the day as your ancestors did at Saratoga; express your opinion as did Patrick Henry and Nathan Hale; but above all keep informed and exercise change through your individual and collective power at the voting booth.

Remember too, that protestors, demonstrators, and pickets can "do their thing" because your forebears protect their rights in those ageless and immortal documents the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, and the Constitution of the United States.

And remember too our brave fighting men of the Armed Forces of the United States, locked in mortal combat with a ruthless, relentless, and remorseless enemy. Our servicemen will take care of the enemies from without—you take care of our enemies from within.

ADDRESS TO THE 76TH CONGRESS BY MR. HIRSH
TREASURER, PRESIDENT GENERAL

The power of prayer has first given strength, courage and comfort to Americans throughout the history of this great nation.
It came down from our public schools by the United States Supreme Court was unanimously employed by millions of people in different lands, different congresses, and different faiths but united in one universal appeal to God to return the embittered and contentious American Association of Oval, Dwight, and Hans safely to earth. And in the complex maneuvers of the damaged speaker for the most valuable testimony of our age in the person of light congresses and universal prayers.

The American is faced with people on earth as well as in space. We take a step on the streets, turmoil disrupts our college campuses, the churches attempt to blow up or burn down the ground. Many systems and systems which are the foundations of our civilization and way of life.

The U.S. theme which will serve as the guiding for this nation nation from our 76th to our 80th Congress is "when law and custom change."

The Daughters should be ever mindful of the courage of their ancestors who left at Lexington, suffered with Washington at Yorktown, Foley and secured the peace with the 13 colonies their freedom, and prayer and hope that won the 13 colonies their freedom.

You must exercise courage today as your forefathers did. It is courage to survive. Stand your ground on the issues of the day as our ancestors did at Gettysburg; express your opinion as did Patrick Henry and Nathan Hale; but above all keep informed and exercise courage through your individual and collective power at the voting

Remember too that protesters, demonstrators, and pickets can "do their thing" because your forefathers protect their rights in those ages and important documents the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States.
And remember too our brave fighting men of the Armed Forces of the United States, locked in mortal combat with a ruthless, relentless and remorseless enemy. Our servicemen will take care of the enemies from without—you take care of our enemies from within.

NARRATIVE REPORT

Between April 20 and April 24, 1970, more than 2,500 members of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, gathered in Constitution Hall in Washington to hear reports of the activities of the Society between March 1, 1969, and March 1, 1970.

The reports of the Executive Officers showed that great progress had been made during the second year of the Seimes administration. Although administrative duties consume much of the time of the President General, she visited 20 state conferences and the chapter in Mexico City. She also was present at the launch of Apollo 12 as the guest of NASA. She attended a White House presentation of "1776." She kept speaking engagements in New York and West Virginia.

The Chaplain General was pleased at the response to her request to present certificates of honor to the families of servicemen killed in Vietnam. The certificates expressed the appreciation of the Daughters of the American Revolution for the sacrifice American men have made in defense of freedom. During the year, the Chaplain General sent 4,846 certificates to chapters in 39 states.

The Treasurer General explained in detail the financial position of the National Society. A glance at the annual report gives a false impression of the wealth of the Society because it is not immediately evident that the income from invested funds, the result of gifts and legacies to the Society, can be used only for the particular purpose for which the fund was established. Like so many educational institutions, the DAR needs more unrestricted funds which can be used for general operation of the National Society. (See Treasurer General's summary report in Appendix.)

The Treasurer General's office has kept pace with modern methods. The computer, installed in October 1969, has been programed to handle a multiplicity of tasks, but it still has not replaced people. The DAR has experienced difficulty in recruiting staff members because they are unable to compete with federal salaries. All members of the permanent staff are included in the DAR pension plan (see Appendix).

Constitution Hall, which since 1929 has been important in meeting Washington's need for a large auditorium, sustained a $9,000 loss due to a musicians' strike that delayed the opening of the National Symphony's 1969-1970 concert series. The DAR honored the dates reserved by the Symphony, although the hall was not used. The addition of air-conditioning has lengthened the season when Washingtonians can enjoy cultural events in Constitution Hall. The cost of renovation and air-conditioning, undertaken at great expense by the National Society, is completely paid at the end of this second year of the Seimes administration.

Even a building intended for genealogical records can find its available space for storage shrinking and its books of records cumbersome. To solve both problems, the Registrar General and the Librarian General together established a Microfilm Center where the records, which are rapidly being filmed, can be read. More reading and copying machines have also been added to the Library to facilitate research. A total of 8,450 visitors used the Library during the year. The Librarian General was able to procure valuable reference books through the State Societies and to purchase others.

The Library is open to the public, except during the month of April, on payment of a fee of one dollar per day. It is always free to members.

Free to members and nonmembers alike is the DAR Museum. The Curators General have been accumulating funds for some years in order to air-condition the Museum gallery. The present Curator General has been able to add substantially to this fund. She also started a Museum Reference Library.

A total of 12,204 people toured the Museum during the year. Guides conducted visitors to the State rooms, located in Memorial Continental Hall. The State Societies responsible for the creation and maintenance of the rooms are constantly improving them, and they are authentic in every detail. To the delight of young visitors, the New Hampshire Society enlarged the entrance to its Children's Attic to increase the viewing area, and it also improved the lighting.

On February 1, the Curator General was hostess at a Museum event honoring the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Children of the American Revolution and the dedication of the C.A.R. Museum. This new museum will appeal especially to children.

A small but valuable historical collection is located in the Administration Building office of the Historian General. Thirty years ago, this Americana Collection was begun under the direction of the Historian General, but as it grew, it was never completely indexed and cross-indexed. Under the present Historian General, the indexing has been completed, so that the 3,100 original documents relating to the Revolutionary period can be easily located. The cross-reference file contains more than 12,500 cards.

Reports of the National Committee chairmen reflect the interest and concern of the membership in carrying out the historical, educational, and patriotic obligations defined in the DAR charter.

The Genealogical Records Committee, which began as a "Query" section of DAR Magazine in 1913, is now the chief source of unpublished family records for the Genealogical Library. During the past year, the committee received and catalogued 52,066 pages of records from unpublished manuscripts, representing the work of 1,092 state and chapter Genealogical Records chairmen. Duplicate copies of these records have been distributed to local and historical society libraries in the various states.

The Genealogical Records room contains a special "grandparent file" of the records, beginning with the grandparent of a DAR member and going back to the Revolutionary ancestor. Last year 2,629 grandparent papers were used by researchers.

The Lineage Research and Genealogical Records Committees both rendered valuable service. The main purpose of the Lineage Research Committee is to assist potential members in their search for information which will establish their eligibility to become DAR members. To this end, the committee compiled a kit, on sale for two dollars, containing helpful suggestions and charts. Through the efforts of this committee, 3,042 new members were acquired; 6,460 potential members were assisted.

The American Heritage Committee aided and encouraged preservation of arts, crafts, drama, music, and literature. Individual chapters in every state showed great ingenuity in providing programs, exhibits, and tours, not only for the enlightenment of DAR members but also for other residents of the cities and towns where the chapters are located. DAR members, who are fully aware of the rapid disappearance of many tangible evidences of our historic past, have taken a lead in local preservation and marking of 1,848 buildings and historic sites. During the year 107 historical restorations were begun and 42 were completed. Members revived the cultivation of forgotten herbs and flowers; and they conducted original research in areas that once were remote parts of our country.

DAR Magazine contained articles relating to lesser known aspects of our history which a profit-making magazine would not be able to publish. Copies of DAR Magazine are given to school, university, and public libraries, and are placed free in many public places so that this historical material is widely disseminated. DAR Magazine is supported by subscription and by advertising obtained by local chapters. In many cases, the advertisements themselves are contributions to the cause of historic preservation and conservation. Each month, different groups of states are represented in the advertisements. Traveling members often carry DAR Magazine with them as a reminder to visit the spots of interest described and to patronize the businesses which purchased the advertisements. Not all members subscribe to DAR Magazine, but it is read in all of the 2,912 chapters that make up the National Society, thus reaching directly or indirectly over 189,000 members.

The Daughters of the American Revolution recognized many years ago the importance of youth in the maintenance of a free, responsible society. The Society has established from time to time various committees charged with finding means to protect, encourage, and develop the fine qualities that our young people possess.

Thirty members living in the New York City area were among the previewers of movies in cooperation with the Motion Picture Producers' Association. The evaluation of the previewers as to the suitability of the films for different audiences was published in the Association's monthly bulletin, Film Reports. Although Film Reports was discontinued in December 1969, the DAR will not abandon their efforts to evaluate films.

In looking for leaders for tomorrow, the Daughters of the American Revolution feel that many will be found in their own groups of Good Citizens. All DAR Good Citizens must have outstanding qualities of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. These are the qualities we seek in future leaders of America.

Approval for the DAR Good Citizen contest is first obtained from the Committee on National Contests and Activities of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, a department of the National Education Association. Each State Society conducts its own contest, with the approval of the state's department of education. The contest is open to girls in the senior classes of accredited public and private high schools. The total number of Good Citizens selected last year was 9,643, with 2,493 chapters participating.

Pins and certificates are given to each Good Citizen. Each state winner receives from the National Society a state winner's pin and a $100 United States Series E bond. Most states give smaller bonds or gifts to the second and third winners. Last year over $2,000 in bonds were given, in addition to the amount the National Society gave.

The National DAR Good Citizen is selected by a qualified committee of school officials. The National Society presents the national winner with a $1,000 scholarship, which is sent to the college of the winner's choice. In addition to this award, the winner is given a sterling silver bowl, Paul Revere type, engraved with "National DAR Good Citizen" and the year. Names of the state winners and the national winner are to be found in Part II of this report.

The National Society has several scholarship programs. Scholarships are awarded in nursing, occupational therapy, and medical training whenever sufficient income has accumulated from the particular funds so designated. Eleven scholarships, with a value of $1,200, were awarded by the Executive Committee this year, following a policy of smaller scholarships in order to aid more students.

The largest grant, an $8,000 award, goes to a student finishing high school who enters college to prepare to teach American History. It is paid at the rate of $2,000 per year, dependent on academic progress satisfactory to the college and the Executive Committee. To receive the full award of $8,000 the recipient must complete 20 semester hours of American history. Three students currently in college are receiving this scholarship. The national winner this year is Miss Judith Ann McArthur of Pocatello, Idaho, who will attend Idaho State University. The President General also presented Miss McArthur with an engraved medal from the National Society.

Individual states reported 455 scholarship programs totaling $65,753.22 and 481 student loan programs totaling $57,310.66.

The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, maintains two schools and gives financial aid to five others.

Tamassee School, at Tamassee, near Clemson, South Carolina, has been a project of the National Society since 1920. Kate Duncan Smith School, at Grant, near Guntersville, Alabama, was established in 1924. Both schools are totally dependent upon the DAR except for the financial assistance they receive from the state and county for teachers' salaries and transportation. Students who are old enough, do nearly all the housework, manual labor, and construction work. Student handicrafts are for sale.

Tamassee is a boarding and day school, grades 1 through 8. High school students go by bus each school day to the Tamassee-Salem

High School. Tamasee has 185 boarding students, the maximum for which there are accommodations. The school buses bring in 120 elementary students each day. The boarding students are those who do not live within walking distance of a highway. Proof that the students in the elementary grades are doing excellent work lies in the fact that Tamasee students are leaders and many excel in their studies when they attend the consolidated high school. Tamasee received cash contributions totaling $119,272.99 from the DAR this year. Kate Duncan Smith School is the only junior-senior high school in the 100-square-mile area it serves. In addition to the required subjects, the curriculum includes home economics, agriculture, industrial arts, and commercial subjects. The school is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. This year Kate Duncan Smith School received $73,892.40 through the office of the Treasurer General of the National Society. A much needed new classroom, scheduled for completion next year, will bear the name Seimes-Thomas Building, honoring the President General, Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, and the national chairman of DAR schools, Miss Amanda Thomas. Miss Thomas is seeking contributions so that labor and materials are paid each two-week period.

The other DAR-assisted schools received varying amounts. Hillside School for Boys, near Marlborough, Massachusetts, is generously supported by the Massachusetts Daughters. This year it received $6,198.35 from the National Society.

The Berry Schools, at Mount Berry (Rome), Georgia, received $1,830.08 from the National Society. Hindman Settlement School, located in a remote area of Kentucky, received $5,000 from the Kentucky Daughters, to assist in building a new dormitory, and $5,738.68 through the office of the Treasurer General.

Crossnore School, at Crossnore, North Carolina, has received state approval as a child care center. The North Carolina Society has raised more than $100,000 to pay for a new dormitory for girls which the President General officially opened in October 1969. Crossnore received $54,558.68 through the office of the Treasurer General.

Northland College, at Ashland, Wisconsin, received $754.35. Several other schools, which are no longer on the list of those needing assistance, nevertheless received small amounts totaling $525.

The DAR are also concerned with education for the American Indians. Two Indian schools received assistance from the National Society in 1969-1970.

St. Mary's Episcopal School for Indian Girls at Springfield, South Dakota, has only two sources of income—the Episcopal Church and the DAR. Originally a church school, it received such inadequate support that it would have been forced to close except for DAR intervention; and it still would have difficulty in surviving were it not for DAR support. St. Mary's is a boarding school, accepting Indian girls for the fourth grade through high school. Under the inspired direction of the headmaster and his wife, both naturalized American citizens, the Indian girls receive an excellent education which prepares them to attend college, to be homemakers, and to make valuable contributions to their own people if they return to their reservation. St. Mary's can accommodate less than 100 girls. Every girl must pay something to attend, even if it is as little as five dollars. The girls are responsible for all housekeeping work within their competence. St.

Mary's School received a total of $25,818.25 from the National Society in 1969-1970.

Bacone College in Muskogee, Oklahoma, which has greater means of support, received $16,854.87.

From its general Indian fund, the National Society was able to grant scholarships to eight students from Arizona, Montana, New York, South Dakota, and Wisconsin. Twenty-three State Societies aided Indians residing within their own and adjacent states.

The American Indian chairmen reported $51,582.25 contributed to the Indians from the State Societies. The largest contributions came from the following states, and in this order: Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and New Jersey.

Another program directed toward both boys and girls is that of Junior American Citizens. Those children whom this positive program touches have been proved to show greater respect for their school, their country and its government. Regardless of race or religion, a child is welcome in the JAC, as it is called. There are over 9,000 JAC clubs with a total membership of almost 400,000 in existence this school year. They are located in public, private, and parochial schools, schools for retarded children, orphanages, schools for the deaf and blind, detention homes, boys' and girls' clubs, Scout troops, church groups, community centers, and settlement houses.

JAC clubs have been active in promoting patriotism in all fields, from individual participation in Constitution and American history essay writing contests to group actions in community projects. JAC members recognized for outstanding work receive banners, citations, and a handsome decoration known as the Thatcher pin. A total of 2,200 Thatcher pins and engraved citations and 300 banners were presented by sponsoring chapters.

Directors of the JAC clubs need not be members of DAR. Membership in a club is free. Supplies, including JAC buttons, are furnished by the local DAR sponsor and the National Society.

JAC clubs stress love of country and appreciation of the Constitution. Their meetings follow parliamentary procedure. The members are taught the proper respect for the United States Flag and how to display it properly. They learn patriotic songs. In West Virginia, the JAC sponsors a two-week summer camp project for girls that is completely staffed and operated by DAR members.

The JAC program has now been extended by invitation into junior colleges, universities, among young adult groups, and into some pre-school groups. Although the activities vary with the ages, the purpose is the same—to train our young people to perpetuate freedom.

These are some scattered statistics concerning the JAC clubs: Texas has 1,919 clubs with 143,802 members, but one DAR chapter accounts for 90,100 members; Georgia has the most clubs, 2,021; Oklahoma and Louisiana had the most new clubs; 77 percent of Virginia DAR chapters sponsored JAC clubs.

The DAR continues to promote Constitution Week and to urge that the month of February be recognized as American History Month.

Constitution Week is always celebrated September 17 to 23, in accordance with Public Law No. 915. The National Society develops and distributes interesting, factual, and useful material relating to the Constitution. DAR chapters celebrated Constitution Week by such events as presentation of Good Citizenship medals in the schools and Americanism medals to adults. Many schools were given illustrated and framed copies of the Constitution. Ohio placed a copy of the Constitution in the hands of every high school student. A total of 386 Constitution posters and displays were placed in airports, police stations, city halls, and county fairs; over 15,000 displays were reported altogether. Publicity and programs on the Constitution included 772 hours on television and 448 hours on radio.

House Joint Resolution No. 481, to designate February of every year as American History Month, was passed by the House in February 1970 but was amended to be effective for 1970 only. It was nonetheless proclaimed by some governors.

The subject of the DAR American History Month Essay Contest for the 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grades was "The Declaration of Independence and Its Signers." A total of 64,427 children from 4,388 schools submitted essays. The American History Certificate of Award was presented to 6,681 students; Certificates of Appreciation were given to contest participants; and 2,498 History Medals were presented. In addition, 1,361 children received medals for excellence in American history.

Contest winners were chosen by states and received state awards. From the state winners, 28 divisional winners were selected. Each of these children received gold American History Medals, engraved with their names and the date, from the National Chairman of American History Month. Finally, four national winners, selected by a male committee, received $100 Savings Bonds from the National Society. Their names and essay subjects appear in Part II of this report.

DAR members and others in the communities where they live seem to like the idea of a month devoted to emphasizing American history. Newspapers, radio, and television all used historical material extensively. The National Society prepared for local distribution a series of interesting, short (average, 30 seconds) radio or TV spot announcements, one for each day. Local merchants took advantage of the community interest in American history to have special displays of relevant merchandise. Local historians searched for untold stories. There was a resurgence of interest in maps and in framed and unframed pictures of historical figures and events; and library circulation of history books increased. The reports received by the National Chairman of American History Month showed that Americans are more interested, not less interested, in what has already happened than they were a few years ago.

In 1970, the DAR Manual for Citizenship was 50 years old. Since its beginning, more than 9,500,000 copies have been distributed. The number issued in 1970 was 42,870. The manual is free to prospective citizens of the United States. Anyone can buy it. It has been placed in school and public libraries. Boy and Girl Scouts use it. A college student confessed to using it as a "cram" book for a course in United States government. Clubs and individuals buy copies to use for quick reference. The manual is now printed only in English. Previously, it was printed in several other languages, but since it is intended primarily for preparation for citizenship and English is the language the new citizen must know, foreign language printing was discontinued.

The Americanism and DAR Manual for Citizenship Committee encourages attendance at naturalization courts to welcome new citizens personally with welcome cards and United States flags. A total of 27,593 new citizens received flags from the DAR this year.

An important award is the Americanism Medal. This medal and an accompanying miniature pin are presented only after exhaustive examination to an outstanding naturalized citizen. Sixty Americanism Medals were given this year.

Millions of United States flags fly in the United States. The Flag of the United States Committee is concerned with their proper display and treatment, and with the restoration of our Flag to its proper position of respect. Through this committee, there were presented 1,918 large flags, 45,629 small flags, and 32,619 flag codes. DAR members know how to recite the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag correctly and can detect errors. The student leaders in a public school did not realize they were reciting the Pledge of Allegiance incorrectly until a DAR member pointed out that it ended "with liberty and justice for all" and not "with liberty and equality for all."

Many community groups and service clubs promoting use of the Flag have asked for cooperation from DAR members, who always respond. They have joined in sales of flag decals, flag pins, Fly the Flag campaigns, and programs on the correct use of the Flag.

Every DAR member, upon application for membership, pledges allegiance to the United States and agrees to support the Constitution. When she repeats The American's Creed she accepts the duty to defend her country against all enemies. In order to inform the membership and "develop an enlightened public opinion" as charged by its charter, the National Society established a National Defense Committee. This committee publishes the National Defender, a monthly digest of news articles and other pertinent statements. A copy of this publication is part of a monthly National Defense mailing which also includes longer articles. Members and nonmembers may subscribe to these mailings. Each issue of DAR Magazine also contains a lengthy article on national defense written by the National Chairman or by an authority on the subject. The material distributed by the National Defense Committee is carefully researched and verified. [It is a strict rule of the National Society that it not take part in any political activity. Political participation by a member as an individual is a matter of personal decision, but to do so as a DAR may result in termination of membership.]

It is customary for one evening of the Continental Congress to be devoted to the subject of national defense. Each state regent may invite the congressional representatives of her state to attend. These guests are presented to the assembly by the National Defense Chairman. On April 21, 1970, 28 members of Congress were present to be introduced. Others were platform guests. Speaker of the evening was Mr. Robert Morris, president of the University of Plano (Texas).

The National Defense Committee recognizes the importance of our youth in the future security of our country. Boys or girls in elementary schools and junior and senior high schools—public, private, and parochial—who fulfill the qualities of honor, service, courage, leadership, and patriotism are eligible to receive the Good Citizenship Medal. Local chapters presented 4,200 of those medals.

Local chapters may also present ROTC Medals. These medals and accompanying campaign bars are awarded as a means of recognizing and rewarding student cadets of outstanding ability and achievement in secondary school, junior college, college, and university ROTC programs. A student must be in the upper 25 percent of his class in ROTC and academic subjects. Selection is made by the professor of military science, who must also request that the medal be presented. Not more than one student in a graduating ROTC class may receive a medal. In 1969, the second year these medals were available, 319 medals were presented to junior ROTC cadets had 305 medals were presented to cadets in college ROTC programs.

Membership in DAR begins at the age of 18. Many young women transfer from the Children of the American Revolution at that age. Members between the ages of 18 and 35 are referred to as junior members. Understandably, since many of them have young children of their own, these young women are particularly interested in the DAR schools. Last year, the junior members gave $5,000 to Kate Duncan Smith School to provide medical scholarships and $5,000 to Tamassee School to provide 40 medical and 10 general scholarships. Junior members pledged $45,000 to the library in the Seimes-Thomas classroom building at Kate Duncan Smith School.

The year 1970 marks the eighth year of the Outstanding Junior Member Contest. The outstanding member in each state is selected from chapter nominees by a non-DAR committee. A divisional winner is selected from the state winners, and from these the national outstanding junior member is chosen. The names of the remarkable young women chosen for the past are listed in Part II of this report. To list their achievements would make one wonder how they could do so much, for they are chosen not only for DAR service but also for their contributions to community, church, home, and profession.

The 1970 membership of the National Society stood at 189,328 members in 2,906 chapters in the 50 States and the District of Columbia, England, France, Puerto Rico, and Mexico. How many of these are junior members has not been computed, but figures show that in recent years there has been a steady increase in membership and that over one-third of all new members are junior members.

The newest committee of the DAR was authorized in April 1968. From the beginning, the Committee for Service to Veteran-Patients has worked closely with the Veterans Administration. The National Society now has 49 nationally certified representatives on various Veterans Administration Voluntary Service Boards. Daughters all over the nation have shown imagination and initiative in promoting "Operation Appreciation" by aiding and entertaining our veteran patients in numerous ways and by hours of work in hospitals. The members of this committee do not send gifts to the veteran patients. They take the gifts. The chapters do not allocate money to pay for extra hospital attention. The members themselves give this attention. This is not an impersonal committee. The response from the hospitals and their patients and from nonhospitalized veteran patients shows that they, too, have appreciation of "Operation Appreciation."

Some Americans have always been aware of the need to conserve our national resources. Events of the past few years have focused attention on conservation as never before. For sixty years the DAR have paid attention to the wild life, plant and animal, of our environment. They have not neglected to encourage the preservation of a good environment for man himself, and so, as others become excitedly aware of conservation for the first time, the DAR chapters continue as before. They have planted trees when trees were needed.

They have tried to save historic trees. They have landscaped ugly spots and have cleaned unsightly ones. They have encouraged conservation studies in the schools, sometimes surprising the school authorities. DAR in Alabama brought to the attention of the authorities that a 30-year-old law requiring conservation study in the schools had been ignored for years. Conservation has been coupled with kindness. Bird baths and bird feeders were placed where residents of retirement homes could enjoy the birds' activities. Programs of camping safety were introduced where carelessness had been costly.

The funds for the proposed Rose Garden in the Independence National Historical Park in Philadelphia are complete. The park authorities will landscape the 18th-century bushes at the proper time and the Rose Garden will be dedicated to the Signers of the Declaration of Independence at the convenience of the President General. The cost of the garden will be $12,150.

A report of the activities of the National Society would be incomplete if it did not mention the items the Society distributes which are valuable to nonmembers as well as members. Information concerning these may be obtained from the office of the Corresponding Secretary General, 1776 D Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

DAR Magazine, already mentioned, is interesting and useful to anyone with historical or genealogical curiosity. The hard-cover Patriot Index and the paper-bound Patriot Index Supplement list Revolutionary veterans whose service has been established by members, together with names of their spouses and states where they served. These lists provide valuable information to many researchers indulging in the now popular hobby of ancestor searching. Two other aids in this research are the ancestral charts and the booklet Is That Lineage Right?, a helpful training manual for the examiner of lineage papers, with hints for the beginner in genealogical research. The 75th Anniversary publication, In Washington—The DAR Story, beautifully illustrated history done in the format of the book on the White House, is available in hard or soft cover. Postcards or slides of DAR Museum exhibits are colorful lessons in history. The State room pictures are particularly useful to students of period furnishings. Flag code leaflets explain flag use and etiquette. There is a stirring march in sheet music, "Look With Pride On Our Flag." The Rembrandt Peale "porthole" portrait of George Washington is available as a color print (9 by 11½ inches).

In summary, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has more members, more of them young members, and more chapters than it had a year ago. Constitution Hall has been a cultural center for events Washingtonians have enjoyed. The DAR Museum entertains and instructs, and the DAR Library provides genealogical materials found in no other place. The programs designed to interest and inform young people and to give attractive rewards for their accomplishment continue to be successful. Historic sites have been located and saved from oblivion or restored. In almost every community where a DAR chapter exists, something permanent has been added.

The National Society does not end the year from March 1, 1969, to March 1, 1970, with a large sum of unspent money in its account, but rather with visible proof that its money was well spent "to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty."

PART III

GRAVES OF SOLDIERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION LOCATED FROM MARCH 1, 1969, TO MARCH 1, 1970

The gathering of data on unmarked Revolutionary soldiers' graves commands special attention, as this is not just a public service but constitutes a continuing task entrusted to the DAR long ago. It is done specifically for the U.S. Government, no federal bureau, department, or other agency having this responsibility. (Wars other than the American Revolution are covered through the Government for this service.)

Locating and marking Revolutionary graves by DAR was started in 1897-1898. During the first year 32 graves were reported; in the interim the number has run to 8,000 in one year. New ones recorded now usually average more than 200 per year. Location of graves is not confined, as might be supposed, to the east coast and the 13 Original States. A number have been verified west of the Mississippi, even into Canada. The number of states represented yearly now ranges between 15 and 30.

Between March 1, 1969, and March 1, 1970, the DAR located 472 graves of soldiers of the American Revolution in 24 states. Data on those located graves are provided in the following tabulation:

Graves of soldiers of the American Revolution located from Mar. 1, 1969, to Mar. 1, 1970

REPORT OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY, CHILDREN OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, 1969-1970

The 74th Annual C.A.R. National Convention was held in the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington, D.C., April 18-20, 1969. The traditional Friday morning "coffee" was held in the N.S.C.A.R. Museum, which was in the process of being renovated—a national project of the organization.

A concert by the U.S. Army Band furnished an inspiring beginning for the opening session Friday evening. Mr. Burton M. Langhenry, representing Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, presented the National Society with the encased George Washington Honor Medal. The C.A.R. Chorus, directed by Mrs. Ralph Sims, offered a "Tour of American Cities," narrated by the National President. A group of members dressed in colonial costume presented a painting to the National Society. Many endowment fund pins were presented to members and friends of C.A.R. Eight orators spoke on "The American Patriot Defined"; and the essay contest title, "The Evolution of American Democracy from 1776 to 1968," interested a good number of writers. Miss Sharon Kay Krueger, Indiana, was elected new National President to work with Mrs. Byron M. Vanderbilt, Senior National President.

National board and regional officers began traveling in late June to regional meetings as far west as Reno, Nevada. A joint Northwestern-Southwestern Regional Meeting was held July 8, 1969, in Taos, New Mexico, in cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service. At this time a host of dignitaries, including the Honorable David E. Cargo, Governor of New Mexico, participated in an impressive and meaningful ceremony dedicating "El Camino Real" at Observation Point in Carson National Forest, New Mexico. Adding to the authenticity of the day was the group of conquistadores dressed in colorful costumes which included armor and plumes. El Camino Real is the oldest and most historic road in the United States. Once again N.S.C.A.R. achieved basic objectives of the Society: (1) preservation of sites which have contributed to the development and culture of the Nation, and (2) conservation of natural resources of our country.

National officers of C.A.R. assisted in the 188th Anniversary of the Victory at Yorktown commemorated on Sunday, October 19, 1969, in Yorktown, Virginia. The French ambassador and his entourage were guests.

Still another highlight of this 75th Anniversary Year was the dedication of the new N.S.C.A.R. Museum on February 1, 1970. More than 400 members and friends attended the Special Museum Event and reception, hosted by the NSDAR, and enjoyed a tour by C.A.R. members who explained our 56 cases of exhibits telling a story of the early history of our country based on the "faith of our fathers."

The diamond-studded Anniversary Year brought an unusual number of invitations to the National Presidents, climaxed by one from President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon to a reception at the White House on February 22, 1970, followed by a presentation of "1776."

A summation of reports and activities of members and officers showed that they had enthusiastically followed the theme for this all-important anniversary year: "Resolve what you ought, perform without fail what you resolve."—Benjamin Franklin.

Washington (Mrs. Joseph Washington), and their associates and successors, are hereby created a body corporate and politic, in the District of Columbia, by the name of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for patriotic, historical, and educational purposes; to perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American independence; by the acquisition and protection of historical spots and the erection of monuments; by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results; by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries; to carry out the injunction of Washington in his Farewell Address to the American People, "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens; to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom; to foster true patriotism and love of country; and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

SEC. 2. That said Society is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the United States, so far only as may be necessary to its lawful ends, to an amount not exceeding $500,000, and may adopt a constitution and make bylaws not inconsistent with law, and may adopt a seal.

Said Society shall have its headquarters or principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. That said Society shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution concerning its proceedings, and said Secretary shall communicate to Congress such portions thereof as he may deem of national interest and importance. The regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said National Society to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets, and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum, at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

Approved February 20, 1896.

GROVER CLEVELAND,

THOMAS B. REED,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

A. E. STEVENSON,
Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

I certify that the above is a true copy of an Act of Congress, the original of which is on file in this Department.

In testimony whereof, I, Richard Olney, Secretary of State of the United States have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 5th day of May, A.D. 1896, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twentieth.

[SEAL]

RICHARD OLNEY.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION
Washington, D. C.

We have examined the financial statements of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution listed below:

Statement of current and special funds for the year ended February 28, 1970 (Pages 2 to 5)

Supporting statements of current and special fund cash receipts and disbursements and supporting schedules for the year ended February 28, 1970 (Pages 6 to 27)

Schedule of investments as of February 28, 1970 (Pages 28 and 29)

Statement of cash receipts and disbursements of the Trustees, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Pension Trust Fund for the year ended February 28, 1970 (Page 30)

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included confirmations from depositaries and custodians of cash and investments held at February 28, 1970, and such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements have been prepared generally on the cash receipts and disbursements basis and therefore do not purport to represent the results of operations as they would appear had generally accepted accrual basis accounting principles been applied. Cash receipts and disbursements do not include dispositions and acquisitions of securities respectively except for gains or losses thereon. Cash receipts in the special funds include securities received by bequest during the year.

In our opinion, the aforementioned statements and supporting schedules present fairly the cash balances and investments at February 28, 1970 and the information set forth therein for the year then ended on the basis indicated which is consistent with that of the preceding year.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Seventy-ninth Continental Congress

National Society
Daughters of the American Revolution

April 20-24, 1970

SAFE RETURN OF THE APOLLO 13 ASTRONAUTS

Whereas the awesome week-long drama of the critically damaged Apollo 13 spacecraft has intensified world-wide appreciation of the consummate skills, the technological marvels and teamwork and the individual courage which helped achieve safe return to earth of the Nation's imperiled astronauts; and

Whereas the Nation in anguish has experienced a renewed sense of the infinite greatness and protection of Divine Providence in answer to our humble prayers and supplications for the endurance and delivery of these heroic men from hardships, tensions and dangers;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express admiration for the dedication, fortitude and resourcefulness of the Apollo 13 astronauts and those who manned the Spacecraft Center, as well as for the courage of the families of the astronauts and join the Nation in great thanksgiving for the protection and mercy of Almighty God.

Psalm 91

15 He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble;
I will deliver him, and honor him.

REDEDICATION

Whereas this Nation, founded by God-fearing people who dared to dream of liberty for all individuals, who "wearied not in well doing" (Gal. 6:9) through trials and suffering whose faith and courage made this dream a reality; and

Whereas upheld, sustained, and guided by a never faltering faith in Almighty God, they bequeathed to us a government of law—a written Constitution—that allowed each individual to worship God freely as he chose and to pursue his life unhampered by tyranny in any form, disciplined through this law by responsibility, duty, and respect for the rights of others; and

Whereas on this foundation of spiritual and moral principles, the United States of America became the greatest Nation the world has ever known—truly a "land of the free and the home of the brave"; and

Whereas this foundation has been weakened by forces introducing doubts not only of the presence of God, but also of His very existence—doubts that destroy all moral codes, turning liberty into license, ignoring the fact that only moral men can be free; and

Whereas "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it" (Daniel Webster);

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution dedicate itself to rekindling in the hearts and minds of men a staunch determination to preserve and to perpetuate the priceless heritage of freedom and liberty bequeathed to us by our Founding Fathers.

VOLUNTARY SCHOOL PRAYER

Whereas there are children in many public schools expressing the desire to hold voluntary prayer before classes begin each day; and

Whereas many of these children have met by themselves and read a prayer each day from the Congressional Record; and

Whereas these actions have been challenged as being against the ruling of the Supreme Court; and

Whereas our national tendency to rely upon the power of prayer is evidenced by the suggestion from our Senate for all of us to pray for the safety of the astronauts;

- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support these children who wish to hold voluntary prayer;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge proper steps be taken to clarify the ruling of the Supreme Court in order that all children, who so desire, may participate each day in a voluntary prayer before the opening of school.

MARXIST—SOCIALIST—COMMUNIST MANIPULATION OF YOUTH

- Whereas the United States of America is subjected to an intensified revolutionary Marxist-Socialist-Communist movement to overthrow the country; and
- Whereas this movement is waged through youth, through colleges and through religious and welfare organizations, also through loss of parental control and through college and court permissiveness, and a crime-led society which can destroy the younger generation; and
- Whereas the program of corruption involves:
- Street demonstrations masking as peace movements, but led by militant activists dedicated to the violent overthrow of our government and destruction of our society;
 - “Rock Festivals” characterized by music of hypnotic rhythm and subtle lyrics tending to break down moral restraints and to expose the young to the dangers of communal living and illicit sex;
 - Experimentation with drugs leading to moral, mental and physical deterioration and often to addiction and crime;
 - Rebellion throughout school systems attended by acts of violence against administrators, destruction of records, costly damage to buildings and serious disruption of education for the majority of students;
 - Permissiveness at all levels of education, depriving students of the control and leadership essential to effective preparation for life, abolishing moral standards and developing hedonism as the new life style; the destruction of draft records; teaching young men to avoid the draft; and
- Whereas, the costs of these activities are inestimable in terms of damage to property, destruction of moral purpose and loss of spiritual values;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge that citizens make themselves fully aware of the dangers to the individual and to the nation inherent in such activities, and exercise their responsibilities in training and leadership;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution regard as imperative that parents, legislators, courts, and colleges and other authorities exercise more strict moral and fiscal control over youth, associates and activities, that as individual taxpayers they force stronger college standards of admission and rejection and stress educational emphasis on the great moral, spiritual and historical values of this country.

TOTAL ENVIRONMENT

- Whereas the real problem of pollution of our environment is being distorted by emotional declarations and by intensive propaganda; and
- Whereas many of the underlying sources of pollution exist because of the demands of the public for modern products and conveniences—not to mention individual thoughtlessness and neglect; and
- Whereas antagonism is directed toward American industry as the cause of pollution in spite of the fact that it is upon that industry that American strength depends; and
- Whereas the correction of the problem of pollution of our environment is not beyond the power of our technology to solve; and
- Whereas the new COUNCIL ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY may be the vehicle through which the Federal Government will assert vast new powers over our personal habits and create added controls over the individual; and
- Whereas consideration of the factors involved in pollution of our total environment completely ignores the most dangerous aspect of them all—pollution of the mind;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution call upon our policy makers to urge the Federal Government to refrain from adopting unnecessary and harmful control programs which the Nation would later regret;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution suggest personal responsibility of the individual citizen be emphasized as one of the most effective ways of decreasing pollution;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution recommend that the COUNCIL ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY direct attention and emphasis to the dangers of pollution of the mind in its considerations and studies of the dangers and threats to our total environment.

GENOCIDE CONVENTION

Whereas Article VI, Section 2, of the Constitution of the United States of America provides that "all treaties . . . made under the authority of the United States shall be the supreme law of the land" and treaty law may, therefore, be used to supersede the Constitution; and

Whereas contrary to general opinion, the United Nations Genocide Convention or Treaty is directed largely toward individuals rather than nations and opens a new concept of international law whereby domestic crimes would be converted to international crimes by treaty law; and

Whereas from the scope of the definition of genocide as contained in Articles II and III of the Convention, it is apparent that this Nation's handling of a broad field of internal matters such as civil rights, education and equal opportunity legislation would be subject to review by the International Court of Justice; and

Whereas the compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court in disputes relating to "the interpretation, application or fulfillment" of the Convention would be without benefit of any reservation whatever; and

Whereas the dangers inherent in the Genocide Convention are greatly increased because the accusation of genocide now is raised so freely that the word can no longer be fully or accurately defined;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution affirm that the Genocide Convention constitutes a threat to National Sovereignty and to the freedoms thus far secured by the Constitution of the United States.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Whereas the chances for real success in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talk- (SALT) are minimal and the risks of improvident agreement so great as to threaten national disaster, since there is no evidence that the Soviet Union will relinquish its ambition to achieve a global military capability; and

Whereas the Secretary of Defense has reported that the Soviet Union is pulling abreast of this Nation in many areas of military strength and is already ahead of the United States in others; and

Whereas our need for additional Safeguard Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) defense is dictated by the Soviet Union's growing arsenal of massive nuclear warheads which already threaten land-based missiles and nuclear bomber bases in the United States, and also our cities; and

Whereas a new nuclear strategy for America is now being urged which would include an expanded sea-based nuclear force to provide greater mobile protection against sneak attack;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution warn that Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) may end in disaster for the United States, support a more sophisticated strategy which would offer greater protection to the United States, and favor a massive effort which would restore the United States to full nuclear superiority.

REPUBLIC OF RHODESIA

Whereas the United States has not only joined Britain in backing the United Nations sanctions toward friendly Rhodesia, but has also closed the United States Consulate and ended diplomatic relations with Rhodesia; and

Whereas the United States makes no objections to other nations aiding the Viet Cong with continued shipments to the enemy; and

Whereas these sanctions, imposed without public knowledge or approval, penalize a friendly nation, are inimical to American defense and economic interests, and give an extraordinary price monopoly to Soviet Russia on a vital commodity, chrome, thereby rewarding the Soviets who are the chief source of supplies to the forces killing American men in South Vietnam;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support the economic and strategic interests of the United States of America and urge the immediate establishment of diplomatic relations and resumption of trade with the Republic of Rhodesia.

INTERNAL SECURITY

- Whereas the decisions of the Supreme Court in the past ten years nullified the treason and sedition laws of the United States, thereby allowing communists and saboteurs to infiltrate our defense facilities, including ports, harbors, ships and other installations thus impairing internal security; and
- Whereas defense-related industrial plants and laboratories are and have been a prime target for communist espionage, subversion, and possible sabotage and adequate safeguards are not possible if subversives are not screened from these sensitive installations; and
- Whereas official investigating committees have served as powerful weapons in protecting the United States against subversion by listing subversive organizations as an important guide in hiring government personnel, which listing has proved to be an effective tool in exposing disloyal aspects of various organizations; and
- Whereas there is mounting evidence that members of violence-prone organizations have been permitted to work for sensitive governmental agencies, in part, because such groups are no longer designated as subversive by the Attorney General;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution approve a personnel program of checking individuals in sensitive positions and urge the restoration of loyalty oaths for employees in defense plants, ports, waterfront facilities, and on merchant marine vessels;
- Resolved*, That since the principle of exposure is the most effective weapon against communism, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution urge that all official investigating committees reinstate and update the listing of subversive and radical groups.

SUPPORT OF OUR ARMED FORCES

- Whereas the many brave men and women of the Armed Forces of the United States of America in the fulfillment of their military duties, are under fire not only from the enemy abroad but also from dissident groups within this country; and
- Whereas serious accusations have been leveled against the conduct of certain soldiers on the battlefield, and irresponsible news coverage has virtually convicted them without benefit of formal trial; and
- Whereas there is evidence of Marxist penetration of the Armed Forces through various organizations and by determined revolutionaries; and
- Whereas many of these revolutionaries have joined the Armed Forces with the expressed purpose of demoralizing and sabotaging the military establishment;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution support the loyal and courageous members of the military who are performing their duty in the defense of our country in spite of the limitations imposed upon them and the subversive influences directed against them.

POPULATION CONTROL AND IMMIGRATION

- Whereas it is predicted the decade of the 1970's will be known as the Era of Ecology—in which, to survive, we must prevent the further pollution of our environment; and
- Whereas pollution increases in proportion to the growth of our population—the current crisis in housing, schools, welfare, unemployment and crime being the outcome of the “population explosion” of one hundred million persons in the past fifty years in the United States of America; and
- Whereas there are now proposals to limit our population by scientific or even compulsory measures, implemented by subsidies for birth control or by fiscal restrictions on larger families—to be under the newly established “COMMISSION ON POPULATION GROWTH AND THE AMERICAN FUTURE”; and
- Whereas these proposals are negated by requests to increase immigration into this country from the present 130,000 to 380,000 by 1974, on a “first come, first served” basis;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution advocate a reexamination of these critical but conflicting proposals;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution recommend first and foremost a substantial curtailment of all immigration until such time as corrective measures have solved our environmental dilemma and improved conditions for those now resident within our national confines.

TAXATION AND THE GENERAL WELFARE CLAUSE

- Whereas the "promotion of the general welfare," mentioned in the Preamble of the Constitution of the United States of America, would seem to mean the welfare of the people as a whole—and not the welfare of any particular segment at the expense of the rest; and
- Whereas influential citizens have adopted the socialist philosophy of taxing the productive Middle Class (to which the majority of our population has belonged) to the point of confiscation of earnings and savings—and for the specific benefit of the less productive; and
- Whereas these influential citizens now talk of releasing any theoretical surplus left from de-escalation of the Vietnam War for use in a specific order of local welfare priorities; and
- Whereas history proves that confiscatory taxes for the benefit of an ever increasing unproductive segment of a nation destroys the Middle Class upon whom the stability of the national economy ultimately depends and results in the destruction of the nation itself; and
- Whereas any such theoretical surplus used to reduce the national debt would relieve the general population by slowing down and eventually stopping inflation and at the same time equally serve those in need of welfare;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution deplore the distortions of the general welfare clause and urge our national leaders to keep in mind the danger of weakening by excessive and relentless taxation that vast Middle Class—the target of international socialism—upon whose existence the general welfare of this Nation depends.

THOUGHT CONTROL

- Whereas throughout this entire century, collaborating Fabian Socialists and others are indoctrinating large groups of people to accept socialism under any name or guise as a way of life, and to discard as outmoded and useless such virtues as hard work and the love of God and country; and
- Whereas the unswerving goal to change the unique values of a free nation upon which this country was founded is being foisted upon an apathetic and uninformed citizenry through scientifically proved techniques which have been adopted in every phase of theology, education and economics; and
- Whereas an interlock of innumerable powerful organizations, corporations and various agencies pursues in every way the original intention: Thought Control through methods of brain washing in all areas of communications and publishing: textbooks for all ages, film, radio, TV, with emphasis on Educational Television (ETV), advertising, drama, the arts and sciences; and
- Whereas the progress of this design to destroy the United States of America is evident through the increasing acceptance of the semantic changes of the English language, of sensitivity training in its variety of forms, of sex aberrations and education, the growing use of drugs producing hypnotic states, and overt cries of "Revolution"—all with increasing rejection of moral and religious principles declared in the Bible;
- Resolved*, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution plead with its members to inform themselves fully of the clear and present danger to this Republic, and to take the leadership in exposing these "Masters of Deceit" and thwart their plan.

AMERICAN PRISONERS OF WAR

- Whereas unknown numbers of servicemen have suffered long terms of imprisonment or the ambiguous status of "missing in action" in North Vietnam and other parts of Southeast Asia; and
- Whereas apparently nothing stronger than the usual words and platitudes from United States and United Nations officials has led Hanoi to believe that in its treatment of American prisoners it has nothing to fear from the United States of America; and
- Whereas it is known that numerous members of the Armed Forces of the United States of America have been murdered or allowed to die from malnutrition, disease or wounds; and
- Whereas the North Vietnamese have stated that all captured Americans are regarded as war criminals and they will be tried by the "Peoples' Court"; and
- Whereas it is known that Hanoi is showing a complete disregard for the welfare of prisoners of war as outlined by the Geneva Convention, and with enemy action increasing, more servicemen are in danger of capture;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express grave concern for the treatment and fate of United States prisoners of war and other Americans wrongfully held;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution believe that this Nation must take all necessary steps to obtain the release of these American prisoners of war and in no circumstances abandon these brave men.

EDUCATIONAL TRENDS—THE DECLINE OF QUALITY

Whereas perceptible declines in educational achievement and standard proficiency norms are reported by major school systems, despite massive federal programming initiated in the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act or Head Start programs; and

Whereas the quality of education, which should be a primary national goal, has been ignored in proliferating or duplicative programs, misspent funds, and by bureaucratic preoccupation with costly busing or arbitrarily calipered ethnic ratios; and

Whereas literary standards, verbal comprehension and historic content are sacrificed to innovative ideas of dubious merit; and

Whereas the climate of learning has been impaired in many schools by a lack of discipline evident in needed armed protection for teachers, by the drug cult increase, assaults, rape, and rampant vandalism; and

Whereas education has not benefited by student attempts to dictate course contents, free time programming or to assert authority, or by a determined down-grading of American institutions by some disloyal teachers or young revolutionaries;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution find that federal pre-emption of education has been a massive failure for which proposed new billions of taxes will provide no basic cure;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution recommend that control of schools be restored to states and localities and that effective disciplines be re-established at local levels for students, curricular contents, and loyalty standards, so as to improve educational climate and achievement norms.

THE UNITED STATES SPACE PROGRAM

Whereas the successes of the United States Space Program have advanced the world's scientific and technological understanding of the universe and have provided the expanding population with a wide array of new products and inventions which represent an investment for present and future generations; and

Whereas the frontiers of the 20th Century lie in the hostile environment of outer space and under the sea where the nation's defense, and even survival, compel leadership in exploration;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, taking pride in the American creative genius which makes possible these historic achievements in space exploration, recognize and emphasize the national defense potential of the space program;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution extend deep admiration and gratitude for the valor of the astronauts and the courage of their families.

APPRECIATION TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Resolved, That appreciation be expressed by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution to the President of the United States of America, Richard Milhous Nixon, for his message to the Seventy-ninth Continental Congress.

APPRECIATION TO THE PRESIDENT GENERAL

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express to the President General, Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, its appreciation for her courage and dedication in furthering the objects of our Society, and for her graciousness and serenity in her role of leadership.

APPRECIATION OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Resolved, That the appreciation of the members of the Resolutions Committee be expressed to the President General for the distinct privilege of serving under Mrs. William D. Leetch, Chairman of the Committee, who has the respect and admiration of each member for the efficient and gracious manner in which she has handled her assignment.

COURTESY RESOLUTION

Whereas the 79th Continental Congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution has been instructive, inspirational and enjoyable; and

Whereas the overall result is due to those who planned and took part in the programs;

Resolved, That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution express its deep appreciation to the Officers, Chairmen, their Committees, Pages, and all who participated in the programs, particularly:

1. The members of the staff for their loyal and courteous service during the year as well as during the Congress;
2. The United States Service Bands for their enjoyable evening concerts;
3. The musicians, artists and choral groups for their contributions to the programs;
4. Our own All-American National DAR Chorus of which we are so proud;
5. The speakers for their fine addresses;
6. The coverage of press, radio and television;
7. The police and firemen for their courtesy and protection;
8. Each individual who contributed to the success of the 79th Continental Congress.
